SEVENTH DAY OF HEAT SETS RECORD OF 87; 5 DIE, 8 OVERCOME

SHOWER FAILS TO HELP

RELIEF PROMISED TODAY

Records Set in Many Cities in East—Bolt Kills Boy, Injures 8 at Lawrence (Mass.) Ball Game.

The seventh successive day of the year's first heat wave saw the mercury rise to 87 yesterday afternoon, equalling the season's record established Tuesday and surpassing all previous records for May 7. With an average temperature of 78, twenty degrees above normal, there was widespread suffering, but the Weather Bureau held out hope of relief today with a forecast of thunder showers and cooler.

Five deaths and eight prostrations were attributed to the heat in and about the city, while reports from cities all along the Eastern seaboard indicated that there were many other victims of the unseasonable warmth.

The Dead.

BALDINELLI, LUIGI, 50, of 525 Breck Street, Scranton, Pa., was overcome in Westbury, L. I., where he was working for a contracting company, and died in the Nassau County Hospital in Mineola.

FREDERICKSON, VALDEMAR, 35 years old, a carpenter, of 47-12 162d Street, Flushing, who was overcome while at work on the third floor of a building at 46-15 158th Street and fell to his death down the stairway well.

HOLLYWOOD, CHRISTOPHER L., manager of the Long Branch office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, who died of heart disease superinduced by the heat.

HOLLANDER, HYMAN, 70, of 749 East 179th Street, Bronx; collapsed in front of 711 East Tremont Avenue and died while being taken to Fordham Hospital.

JEFFREYS, HARVEY, 50, a Negro stevedore, of 10 West Kinney Place, Newark, who collapsed while at work at City Dock 2 at Port Newark and died in St. James's Hospital, Newark.

The Prostrations.

HAGGERTY, WALTER, 27, of 102 West Seventy-fifth Street, who collapsed in front of 1,947 Broadway and was taken to Bellevue.

KLAGES, EDMUND, 42, of 24-29 Twenty-seventh Street, Astoria, was overcome at his home and taken to St. John's Hospital, Long Island City.

SULLIVAN, JOSEPH, 40, of 609 Grand Street, who was stricken on the steps of the elevated station at the Bowery and Houston Street and taken to Bellevue Hospital.

VOGEL, ROBERT, of 848 Newark Avenue, Elizabeth, N. J., who was overcome on his way home from work and taken to the General Hospital there.

WILLIAMS, OSCAR, 8, was stricken during recess at Public School 141. After treatment he was taken to his home at 74 Siegel Street, Brooklyn.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN, about 40, who collapsed at Clinton and Montgomery Streets last night and was sent to Bellevue.

One boy was killed and eight others were injured when lightning struck the wire screen in front of the grand stand during a baseball game between the Lawrence (Mass.) and Nashua (N. H.) high school teams at Lawrence yesterday afternoon. The dead lad was Donald Donovan, 17, right fielder on the Lawrence team. One death was attributed to the heat in Baltimore, where the temperature rose to 89, according to The Associated Press. Herbert Gee, 14, a Negro, was drowned in Deal Lake, Asbury Park, N. J.

Shower Fails to Help Here.

The record-breaking heat was temporarily relieved in some parts of the city and its environs late yesterday afternoon and last evening by local thunder showers, which, however, did not suffice to lower the thermometers for more than a few minutes at a time. The high for the day, 87, was reached at 12:45 and again at 4:20 P. M., while the minimum of 68 was recorded at 6 A. M.

The hourly temperature chart follows:

Midnight	73	Noon	84
1 A. M.	72	1 P. M.	86
2 A. M.	72	2 P. M.	83
3 A. M.	72	3 P. M.	83
4 A. M.	70	4 P. M.	86
5 A. M.	69	5 P. M.	86
6 A. M.	68	6 P. M.	86
7 A. M.	70	7 P. M.	86
8 A. M.	71	8 P. M.	84
9 A. M.	75	9 P. M.	84
10 A. M.	78	10 P. M.	82
11 A. M.	81

The previous record for May 7 was 83, recorded in 1876.

Others Cities Break Records.

New York was not alone in establishing a new high mark yesterday. Philadelphia saw its official thermometer reach 94.2, the highest mark ever recorded so early in the year. Unofficial thermometers in Providence rose as high as 109 in the sun, while the Boston weather bureau registered a record breaking mark of 95 degrees.

Summer resorts and beaches all along the coast had a pre-season spurt in business as great crowds flocked to them for relief. The sands at Coney Island were dotted

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 7.—Victor Martin, now employed by the French State Railways at Rennes, was severely wounded and made a prisoner while serving on the French front in 1915. A German soldier robbed him of his pocketbook and its contents.

Today Martin received his old pocketbook and with it a letter explaining that the writer had long suffered remorse and finally decided to make restitution.

The letter was signed by Franz Piter of Sorau, Brandenburg, formerly a private in the German imperial armies.

SPORADIC CLASHES OCCUR

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SIMLA, May 7.—Two full days have now passed since Mahatma Gandhi was arrested and it is possible to make some sort of an estimate of the immediate effects of that action on the country.

It is frankly admitted here that yesterday's outbreak at Delhi was an ugly matter, but, on the other hand, it might have been infinitely worse.

One inevitable but nevertheless unfortunate result of the newly imposed press ordinance has been that Delhi is left without a newspaper. Consequently those who add the business of rumor-vendor to their normal activities in the native quarter had plenty of opportunities to do a thriving trade.

In Delhi as elsewhere the Moslems absolutely declined to join the Nationalist rioters.

On the whole, the situation is infinitely more peaceful than the most optimistic could have prayed for a week ago. This is not, for a moment, to say the danger is over. Even before this dispattch reaches New York the old fires may have broken out again, or new fires may have flared up in unexpected quarters.

Ire Milder Than Expected.

One thing is plain and—whatever happens in the next few hours—cannot be contradicted. The spontaneous blaze of resentment which was so widely predicted as the immediate result of Mr. Gandhi's arrest has failed to appear. The British may still have trouble in widespread—in fact, it will be a miracle if they do not get it in some form or another—but the point is that the danger of spontaneous combustion is over for the moment, and if there is a conflagration now, it will be the result of more or less artificial stoking.

Herein lies a great measure of hope, as, owing to the far-seeing policy of the government, most of the chief stokers have preceded Mr. Gandhi, their leader, and have gone into imprisonment.

The government took no risks, once the first step was decided. Every local authority received at least four full days' notice of the zero hour. Consequently, the provincial authorities were prepared for anything, and a judicious display of force in the streets, where the sight of armored cars, troops on motor trucks and police pickets meditatively twirling their sticks acted as a most useful deterrent and scarcely encouraged violence.

No Sign of Disaffection.

Before anything else, it is most heartening and reassuring to the British that since the hesitancy of the Garwhal rifles during the pres-

BUTLER FEARS HARM TO US IN NEW TARIFF; CALLS IT UNECONOMIC

Proposed Schedule Exceeds Any Protective Need, He Tells Londoners in Speech.

CALLS IT LEAST SOUND EVER

President of Columbia Holds It Will Hurt Trade, Prosperity and Foreign Relations.

PEACE COOPERATION URGED

Noted Republican Says Consultation Must Replace War—Praises League Mandate System.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, president of Columbia University and a noted Republican, assailed the proposed American tariff today as "certain to do more harm to America's prosperity, America's trade and America's international relations than any tariff which has preceded it."

Dr. Butler was delivering the annual Richard Cobden lecture at the Royal Society of Arts to commemorate one of Great Britain's outstanding freetraders and internationalists of the nineteenth century. To a distinguished audience of present-day Cobdenites he cited Garfield, Blaine and McKinley as protectionists who saw clearly the evils of unbridled tariff-making. Then, departing from his manuscript, Dr. Butler declared:

"If I read the dispatches aright, the new tariff is in a form which varies more widely from sound economic policy than any previous tariff in American history."

His hearers applauded when he exclaimed: "It is so much easier to be prosperous than be civilized," and declared that a nation behind a high tariff wall was no more worthy than a nation behind the biggest army or navy.

The address was broadcast to the United States over the Columbia Broadcasting Company circuit.

Great Waste of Ideas Seen.

In his Cobden memorial speech in London, as made public here, Dr. Butler said in part:

"The path of civilization through the ages is littered with splendid but wasted ideas. The largest visions, the deepest insights, the most compelling arguments, have been spread before the minds of men by prophets and by seers, by statesmen and by nation-builders, and then let fall into the darkness of forgetfulness. Nearly everything that man has ever said well was best and most finely said by those ancient Greeks and Romans who, after 2,500 years, still rule the mind of the Western world. Material waste is as nothing compared with the intellectual and moral waste which follows upon our not heeding the counsels that have been offered us from generation to generation and from century to century.

"He who is in advance of his time is called a prophet and he who is behind his time is known as a laggard, but often the laggard appears to count for as much as the prophet. It takes time, much time, in a democratic society for the public mind to catch up with an idea. The inertia of habit is powerful indeed, and it struggles mightily against change even when that change is demonstrably for good.

"Perhaps no man who adorned public life in the nineteenth century better illustrates all this than does Richard Cobden. At the announcement of his death to the House of Commons, Lord Palmerston, then

Millet's Grandson Is Jailed For Selling Faked Masterpieces

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 7.—Jean Charles Millet, grandson of the famous French painter, was arrested today at Barbizon, where his grandfather founded a school of French art.

With his alleged accomplice, Paul Cazeau, whose works are said to have deceived experts and dealers throughout Europe, he was taken before a magistrate at Melun, where both were charged with fraud in the sale of false "old masters" by Cazeau.

After long questioning by the magistrate, in which both admitted having engaged in marketing Cazeau's copies as originals, the two men were committed to the Melun jail pending their preliminary hearing.

SENATE PUTS TARIFF BACK TO CONFERENCE

WARN HIM OF LONG DEBATE

Barkley Brings Out That Failure to Agree on Debenture and Flexibility Will Kill Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The tariff bill was sent back for conference with the House on eight disputed items, including the farm debenture and flexible tariff provisions, by viva voce vote of the Senate today.

This action followed objection by Democratic members to appeal by Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee that the Senate approve all features of the bill agreed upon in conference. This dual consideration of the tariff, once on the agreed measures and again on the separate controversial items, the opposition said would delay the bill. Senator Smoot later announced that the conference committee would meet Friday.

Senator Smoot's withdrawal of his proposal in favor of a resolution asking for another conference was made after Senator Simmons, Democrat, of North Carolina said:

"If the question is presented as proposed by the Senator from Utah (Smoot), we will discuss at great length the question of whether we will agree to these amendments, until we know what is going to be done to the reserved items."

Items Still in Controversy.

Mr. Smoot listed the exceptions to agreements reached by the conferees as "silver, lumber, cement, the debenture, reorganization of the tariff commission, the McMaster amendment providing that all information before the tariff commission be accessible to Senators, the cost of production investigation and the flexible provision."

Mr. Simmons said that his main objection to a vote at this time was based on the belief that some of the items on which there had been no agreement might be settled speedily in conference, now that the House had finished voting on the bill.

"We had them up, but the conferees on the part of the House wished to take the views of the House upon these eight matters," he continued. "They have taken the views of the House upon them. Now the matters come back to the conferees, and it is possible that we can agree upon six of them, leaving only two that will have to be brought back to the Senate."

These two, it was brought out in subsequent debate, are the debenture and the flexible tariff provisions. Another indication that there may be extended debate, if not strong opposition to even the agreed portions of the bill, came when Senator Dill, Democrat, of Washington, asked:

"Suppose the Senate refuses to agree to the conference report which has been submitted up to this point, what will then be the situation?"

"The bill would be defeated," said Senator Smoot.

"Would it not all go back to the conference again?" asked Senator Dill.

"Perhaps it would and perhaps it would not," Mr. Smoot said. "I do not know whether we could appoint conferees if a majority of the Senate were against it."

Senator Barkley, Democrat, of Kentucky, said it seemed that "we ought to make some effort to get together upon the obstruction to passage of the tariff bill before undertaking to consider that part of it which is incorporated in the partial report presented to us."

Bill Depends on Two Items.

Having been told by Senator Smoot that failure of the Senate and House to agree on the debenture and flexible items would mean that the tariff bill would fail, Mr. Barkley added:

"So members of the Senate then will be confronted with the situation where their vote upon the two items will determine whether or not there will be any tariff bill, and that is to

Marion Hollins, Golf Champion, Gets $2,500,000 As Her Share of Profit in Sale of Kettleman Oil

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 7.—Miss Marion Hollins, woman's national golf champion in 1921, is the largest single beneficiary in a profit of about $10,500,000 which has just been realized through the sale of the Kettleman Oil Corporation to the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company and the Standard Oil Company of California, it was learned here today. Her share is placed at $2,500,000.

Miss Hollins organized the Kettleman Corporation to exploit the arid and forbidding Kettleman Hills district, newest of California oil discoveries, and obtained for it the financial backing of Eastern capitalists. When the Marland Oil Company, holder of the government permits on the area, had been unable to finance deep drilling, Miss Hollins interested the late Payne Whitney of New York, a friend of her family, in the project.

Miss Hollins succeeded in obtaining for the Kettleman Oil Corporation a total capital of about $100,000, most of which, it is understood, was expended for government permits.

The principal stockholders, in addition to Miss Hollins, with the amounts they have now realized through the sale of the corporation are understood to be her brother, McKim Hollins, $750,000; Mr. Whitney's estate, $500,000; Harold E. Talbott Jr., $1,500,000; Walter P. Chrysler, $500,000, and Samuel McRoberts, $250,000.

Standard Oil of California, which through its ownership of 30,000 acres of fee land is the greatest beneficiary of the Kettleman deep zone discovery, is understood to have been among the companies which refused to back the Marland organization. The Standard is reported to have joined in the purchase of the Kettleman Corporation in order to shut out the Shell interests, which also were bidding for a share in the discovery.

Colonel Franklyn R. Kenney of Pebble Beach, former president of the Marland Company, and who first interested Miss Hollins in the project resigned after he had failed to interest practically every major oil company in the experimental drilling and later associated himself with the Kettleman corporation.

NAVAL TREATY IS SET FOR HEARING MONDAY; STIMSON SUMMONED

REED FOR 7-YEAR PROGRAM

$377,000,000 Supply Measure Is Reported to House—$57,365,000 for Construction.

CAUTION ON PACT'S SAVING

Committee Leaves Way Open for $400,000 for Beginning New Cruiser Work.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, who returned to his seat today after his duties at the London naval conference, declared in an interview that this country should embark on a seven-year building program entailing an average annual expense of about $100,000,000. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, also a delegate, has taken a similar stand.

Senator Reed's statement followed an announcement by Senator Borah, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, that the committee would begin hearings on the naval limitation treaty next Monday, with Secretary Stimson as the first witness. Also summoned for Monday are Secretary Adams and Admiral William V. Pratt.

No consideration of the merits of the treaty has taken place, Senator Borah explained after a private session of his committee, the sole consideration today being one of procedure.

Meanwhile, Senator Hale, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, set Tuesday as the date for his committee to open hearings. The first witnesses to be called there will be Secretary Adams, Admiral Pratt and Rear Admiral Jones, who accompanied Admiral Pratt to London as a naval expert, but whose health forced him to return home early. Senator Adams's appearance as a witness, however, is conditional on his having testified first before the Foreign Affairs Committee.

House Committee Cautious.

During these developments in the Senate the House Appropriations Committee, in reporting the annual Navy Department supply bill, totaling $377,036,086, declined to subscribe to an optimistic statement on any economies which might result from the naval treaty.

Senator Reed, in his statement to newspaper men, was enthusiastic in expressing his belief that the treaty will win public approval, and said one of its best features lies in the fact that it sets a definite goal in construction, replacing the old agreement which left "the sky the limit" in some classes.

"In substance," he said, "we have a chance to build up our fleet, while Great Britain and Japan more or less stand still."

He demonstrated his statement by an allusion to heavy cruisers. As things now stand, he pointed out, Japan has six of this type of vessels in commission and two building, compared with two owned by the United States. Under a maximum building program, however, the United States in 1936 would have eighteen to Japan's twelve.

Senator Reed emphasized Japan's and Britain's spirit of cooperation with the United States in the making of the treaty. The conference's results, he asserted, represented a just settlement of vexing problems, with no special advantages to any of the three parties to the treaty.

The Pennsylvanian received a ceremonious reception in the Senate. The tribute was paid on a motion

MIGHTY FLEET HERE WITH PARADE UP BAY

37 Vessels Steam Out of Haze and Anchor in Hudson After Salutes of Guns.

AIR FORCE IN VAST DISPLAY

134 Planes of Battle Fleet Awe Crowds as They Roar High Over City in Formation.

A low-lying sea haze hung over Ambrose Channel yesterday when the fleet steamed in from the south. The bow wave, curling away from the prow of the California, leading the parade, was tinged red by the mist-filtered rays of an early sun. Behind the flagship, stretched unit columns of battleships, cruisers, minesweepers and auxiliaries; thirty-seven vessels of the combined Battle and Scouting Fleets from the Pacific Coast and Atlantic ports.

The destroyers, slim scouts of the sea, had entered port Tuesday, and the eight battleships, the cruisers and other vessels which steamed up the Hudson yesterday, passed them as they lay berthed at Staten Island. By nightfall sixty-four vessels, which carry 30,000 officers and men, were swinging with the strong tides of the Hudson or were moored to the island piers or the docks of the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

After the fleet had come to anchor in the Hudson crowds in the city witnessed a spectacle similar to the war game manoeuvres enacted recently in Southern waters. From the haze of the lower bay shortly after noon appeared the first squadron of the Battle Fleet's air forces, flying northward. The 134 planes, in battle formation, droned past high above the warships. At Van Cortlandt Park they circled and came back again, passing over the city a little further east, demonstrating their efficiency as part of the program of the Aircraft Show in Madison Square Garden.

Parade Under Way Early.

The procession of the ships: ships with clipper bows and huge stacks, ships with rakish masts and fast lines, ships small and large, started early when the California, flagship of the battle fleet, signaled her charges to get under way from their

WALL ST. SKYSCRAPER MAY RISE 105 STORIES

TO BE READY IN 1932

Louis Adler Project Called the Largest Ever Attempted Here by an Individual.

As a site for a skyscraper that will mark a new peak on the skyline of Manhattan an entire block in the heart of the downtown financial district was purchased yesterday by Louis Adler, operator and builder.

The property, which embraces the area bounded by Wall, Water, Pearl and Pine Streets, is only one block from the National City Bank and two blocks from the Stock Exchange.

It is estimated that the project will involve well over $20,000,000.

Of this amount about $10,000,000 represents the value of the land, while the building, which will be not less than sixty stories high and possibly with a tower to 105 stories, is estimated to cost more than $10,000,000.

In the financial district, where the skyscraper growth has been phenomenal during the past year and three entire blocks have been assembled in the past two weeks for monumental office structures, values have increased in several instances to more than $800 a square foot. Square foot office rental values have mounted to as high as $8 a square foot.

The transaction just closed by Mr. Adler has been in process of negotiation for six months and the deal is probably the first on Wall Street where an individual has assembled so large a parcel for the erection of his own building.

Fourteen Buildings to Be Used.

On the block, which has an area of more than 30,000 square feet, are fourteen old buildings from five to twelve stories high. One of the twelve-story structures was formerly occupied almost in its entirety by the Pacific Development Company and the other by the Federal Sugar Company. A decade ago these buildings were considered to be among the best in the lower part of New York.

The Federal Sugar Company building bears the name of the Tontine Building, which goes back to early Colonial days, when the Tontine Coffee Shop was the gathering place for brokers in commodities as well as in the limited financial transactions then carried on. The New York Stock Exchange was first started by dealers and the Tontine Society, who traded in securities under the old buttonwood tree which was located directly in front of this property and at the door of the Tontine Coffee Shop.

Among the sellers of the fourteen parcels of property were J. S. and D. L. Reardon, Frederick Brown, Elias A. Cohen, H. L. Doherty, Alfredo Selgas, estate of Angelo Calcagnini, estate of E. K. and Olga Keletas Smith and Millard M. Manson.

The Charles F. Noyes Company, which negotiated the present transaction, previously sold in this block to the Reardons their Hanna Building, at 78-80 Wall Street, also the adjoining parcel, just sold by the Calcagnini estate and known as Angelo's Restaurant; also 164 Pearl Street, 130-2 Water Street, 128 Water

1,500 Students at Harvard Battle Police In Near-Riot, Celebrating End of Tests

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 7.—Fifteen hundred Harvard students, most of whom live in the dormitories along Mount Auburn Street, staged a near-riot late tonight, giving the police riot squad and firemen a lively battle for more than an hour.

One student was arrested for disturbing the peace and two others were taken to the Stillman Infirmary for treatment for severe lacerations on their heads, inflicted by flying bottles.

Most of the students were in high spirits at having finished their divisional examinations and when someone sounded "taps" on a bugle in front of Russel Hall it came as an unlooked-for signal for giving vent to these spirits.

Before the unidentified bugle player had finished his rendition, all windows were up in surrounding dormitories and he was applauded with wild cheers. In another moment, electric light bulbs went hurtling through the air, landing with minor explosions on the street. Then students, some half dressed, others in pajamas, poured out of the dormitories.

By this time Sergeant Charles Bradley, with a squad of twelve policemen, hurried to the scene. Their arrival evoked a more aggressive outbreak by the students. One of them turned in a fire alarm.

When the apparatus came, the police decided that they needed more help and summoned a riot squad of twenty men. By this time, bottles, fruit and other missiles were flying freely.

The police arrested Carleton H. Parker, 21 years old, a sophomore, whose home is in Cambridge and who is secretary of the Philips Brooks Association, the student religious and social service organization.

The two injured students were Samuel C. Davis, 19 years old ,a freshman, of St. Louis, Mo., who suffered deep cuts in the scalp, and John K. Bottomley, 20 years old, also a freshman, of Boston, who received slight cuts about the head and face.

The students, who had begun their disturbance about 11:45 P. M., dispersed about 1 A. M.

NOMINEE'S CAREER ASSAILED

RESULT IN DOUBT TILL END

Ten Regular Republicans Deserted the Administration on the Roll-Call.

WHITE HOUSE IS SILENT

But the President Is Expected to Make Some Comment on Result Later.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Senate today rejected the nomination of Judge John J. Parker to be an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court by a vote of 41 to 39. It was the first time in thirty-six years that such a nomination had been rejected.

While no comment was made at the White House today, it is probable the President may later issue a statement discussing the Senate's action.

Following Judge Parker's rejection, President Hoover conferred with Senator Allen of Kansas and Under-Secretary of State Cotton relative to the advisability of making a public statement. It was decided not to do so today, but the President is expected to analyze the situation informally at some later date.

There was no intimation today who would be nominated next, or whether the President would act until the next session of Congress.

The opposition to Judge Parker's confirmation was led by Senators Borah and Norris, while Senators Fess of Ohio and Overman of North Carolina directed the battle for confirmation.

Debate Started April 28.

The debate began on April 28, after the Judiciary Committee a few days earlier, by a 10-to-6 vote, had adversely reported the nomination.

Organized labor opposed the nominee because of his decision in the "yellow dog" case. Negro associations fought him because of a disparaging remark made about their race in a campaign for Governor in North Carolina ten years ago. These proved to be two powerful groups that caused many Republican Senators to abandon the administration

A third factor that carried weight with many Senators was the belief, held by such Senators as Borah and Norris, that Judge Parker represented the conservatives, and that his confirmation would strengthen the conservative majority in the court. They said the decision in the Red Jacket case showed he was against human rights, and stood instead for property rights.

The Senate galleries were packed with distinguished visitors today, and hundreds failed to gain admission. The debate lasted an hour and a half, and, under previous agreement, the vote was taken at 1:30 o'clock. Both sides approached the vote with a show of confidence, although the administration forces were not so hopeful as the opposition.

Result in Doubt Until End.

A few minutes before the roll-call, members of the House drifted into the Senate chamber and lined its walls three deep. The utmost silence prevailed as the Senators answered their names.

At the outset of the roll-call, the opposition led greatly, and it was not until Senator Swanson voted for confirmation and Senator Steiwer in opposition that the vote was tied. And it ran very close until the end, with Judge Parker rejected by a margin of 2 votes.

There was only one shift in the impartial poll made last night. Senator Steck, Democrat, of Iowa, had declared himself opposed. Today he supported Judge Parker.

These regular Republicans deserted the administration: Senators Capper, Kansas; Couzens and Vandenberg, Michigan; Deneen and Glenn, Illinois; McNary and Steiwer, Oregon; Pine, Oklahoma; Robinson, Indiana; Robsion, Kentucky.

Senator Glass of Virginia rose to the defense of Judge Parker when the Senate began the last day's debate. He pronounced Judge Parker fit and said the opposition based on the decision in the Red Jacket case did not weigh with him, as Judge Parker had followed the Supreme Court decision. He criticized those who were accusing the opposition to Supreme Court nominations of being Socialistic.

Johnson Leads Opposition.

Senator Johnson of California, in the chief speech for the opposition, spoke so rapidly, in his desire to compress his remarks into fifteen minutes, that the galleries scarcely heard all his words. He was very dramatic and employed many gestures in driving home his arguments.

"John J. Parker should be rejected," he said, "first because the background of the appointee is such that while not in the least bit discreditable to him, it does not commend him as a judge of the Supreme Court; secondly, because the appointment is purely political in character, and for an office of this sort that kind of appointment should not be made; thirdly, because the state of mind of Mr. Parker, as indicated by his decision in the Red Jacket case, is such as to preclude him from being a justice of the Supreme Court, particularly in those fundamental questions concerning which the line of cleavage has been drawn in the United States.

"In the ordinary appointee many things may be passed over. In an appointment to the Supreme Court the most scrupulous care should be exercised by this body. No man should be put upon that court unless he has the requisite legal attainments, a character of the very highest, vision and imagination and a statesmanship which will enable him to pass readily and accurately and in accord with progress upon those queries that come to him as a judge and upon which the court registers its decision in the passing events of the nation.

Parker's Background Sketched.

"In the first instance his background, while I do not criticize it, and I say that it is not discreditable to him at all, does not commend itself to us in the appointment of a judge of the Supreme Court. A thumbnail sketch of that is this:

"Perennially and biennially he has been a candidate, exercising a laudable ambition to be Attorney General, Governor and a member of Congress.

"Biennially he has been a candidate thus for public office, and then, culminating his political career, an appointee of Mr. Daugherty. Nothing distinguished during that period in his career at all; no background which should give him the requisite recommendation for a judge of the Supreme Court.

"In this instance you could go into any village, and among the profession you could find the replica of that kind of an appointee—all respectable, none to be criticized; but there is something more demanded and required for a judge of the Supreme Court than that one should have been a candidate for Governor, for Attorney General, for member of Congress, and then an appointee of the Attorney General in certain specific prosecutions.

"Time does not permit to discuss the political aspect of the appointment, but my credulity is strained to the utmost limit by the letter introduced here by the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. Stephens] from the Attorney General.

Refers to Dixon Letter.

"I know Joseph Dixon very well. He is a gentleman for whom I have the highest regard and with whom I fought the good fight in 1912. Mr. Dixon voices in his letter to the secretary of the President perhaps only a personal view, but nevertheless a view unquestionably that has been held by many of those who were sponsors for this nominee.

"Thirdly, the question arises as to the state of mind of the appointee and whether he ought to be permitted to sit upon the highest judicial tribunal in all the world.

"I read just a line of the 'yellow-dog' contract, so called, in order that it may be in juxtaposition to some words that I wish to read of a man whom it is unfashionable to quote nowadays here, or perhaps in this materialistic age to utilize as an authority upon any subject whatsoever. These are the controlling provisions of the contracts that have been the subject of discussion:

" 'That during his employment said employe will not become a member of any labor union, and will have no dealings, communication or interviews with officers, agents or members of any labor union in relation to membership of such employe in any labor union, or in relation to the employment of such employe.'

"Again: 'I agree, during employment under this contract, that I will work on efficiently and diligently, and will not participate in any strike nor unite with employes in concerted action to change hours, wages or working conditions.'

"Yellow-Dog" Contract Denounced.

"Words utterly fail me in characterization of contracts such as that. I care not whether they have been enforced by the one court or another; they are void as against public policy.

"Socially they are wicked and destructive of ordinary human relations. Economically they are unsound as resting upon necessity on the one side and coercion on the other; and morally they are infamous, denying fundamental rights and disrupting the dearest human associations.

"These contracts that are part of the discussion in this case, upon which the mind of this appointee has been indicated in the Red Jacket case, come before us now finally for our determination, at a tangent it may be and only incidentally, but finally for ultimate determination.

" 'Socialistic,' says my friend from Ohio [Mr. Fess], are assaults that are made upon the Supreme Court in this chamber.

" 'Socialistic,' re-echoes man after man in this body, in relation to what may be said about this applicant or another. Socialistic to stand here and denounce a contract such as that that has been upheld by Judge Parker in the Red Jacket case.

"Socialistic—and exactly the same epithet was hurled in the United States some years ago upon another case of like character, the Dred Scott decision, wherein human liberty was at stake; no more important than this, where industrial freedom is at stake.

Lincoln's Words Quoted.

"And I read with such taste as I may what was said by Abraham Lincoln on the occasion when he discussed the denunciation of Stephen A. Douglas of his characterization of the Dred Scott decision and the United States Supreme Court.

"How apt it is! How prophetic were the words then! No longer fashionable is it to quote Abraham Lincoln in this materialistic age. No longer is it apposite, in this era of ours, where everything apparently is devoted to exploitation and to the making of money—no longer is it the appropriate thing to speak of Lincoln and his humanity and his desire for equal opportunity for all men and for all women in this land.

"Lincoln dared criticize the Supreme Court. Lincoln dared criticize a decision of the Supreme Court. He said, coining a word, that it was an 'astonisher,' and that he 'went for reversing it.'

"I say to you, paraphrasing what Lincoln said, this decision upon the 'yellow dog' contract is an 'astonisher,' and I go for reversing it, as Mr. Lincoln said, in any fashion by which I may voice that endeavor to reverse; and here comes an opportunity finally for us, in the Senate of the United States, to voice our views upon this inhuman, this cruel and this wicked contract that rests upon the necessity of human beings and the hunger of innocent women and innocent children."

JUDGE JOHN J. PARKER,
Whose Nomination by the President as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Was Rejected Yesterday by the Senate.

Senator Charges Politics.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina told the Senate that nothing had been brought out in the long debate which reflected on Judge Parker's qualifications or personal character.

He said the opposition was based chiefly on extraneous matters, political considerations and not on the real issue—"Is Judge Parker qualified?"

Senator Fess spoke for five minutes, and developed the point that appointees to the Supreme Court have not reflected the political views of the appointing power. He denied that Judge Parker's was a political appointment.

"I can indicate by history that the present opposition to Judge Parker is not unlike opposition which has been expressed to nominations to the Supreme Court bench in the past," he said, "and therefore, in my judgment, the nomination is not justly subject to the criticism that is being made on this ground.

"A Senator yesterday insisted that Lincoln said he would undertake to secure a reversal of the decisions of the court. That is a perfectly legitimate procedure, but the reversal he had in mind was to be accomplished by legislation curing the defects as he viewed them in the decisions which had been rendered.

"His method was not to bludgeon the court because the court refused to reflect a particular sentiment or emotion that might have been expressed in debate. Lincoln never undertook to pack the court in order to reverse the decision, but his idea was to go to the root of the situation, and by legislative enactment to remedy the evil against which complaint was made.

"If the issuance of injunctions is a matter of criticism, the place to cure the defect is not in the Supreme Court but is in the legislative body. We insist that the court shall follow its rules, in line with proper interpretation, and then if we do not like the law, let the legislative department change it, but let not the court usurp power by itself changing the law.

"For that reason we ought not to permit the opposition to the confirmation of Judge Parker to succeed."

Borah Denies Attacking Court.

Senator Borah occupied the last fifteen minutes of the debate. His voice rang loud over the chamber and galleries.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the debate has been conducted upon the very highest plane, such as should characterize a discussion with reference to the membership of the Supreme Court of the United States, but there is one phase which, it seems to me, falls a little below the fair rule.

"It has been constantly and insistently urged that those who assume to pass upon the fitness and capability of a particular individual to sit upon the Court are by reason of that fact attacking the Court itself; that we are here engaged in undermining the great tribunal which ultimately passes upon the great constitutional questions which concern us as a people as a whole.

"It is not in accord with either the facts here or the facts in history. When the first Chief Justice was rejected, the rejection was led by Mr. Ellsworth, than whom there was no greater man in the constitutional convention and whose capacity is measured by his legal learning and knowledge.

"Mr. Ellsworth opposed the confirmation of the first Chief Justice because of the views which he entertained, and he was successful in defeating him. The man who was the author of the Judiciary Act under which we are in large measure still acting in this country, thought it within his province, and properly so, to oppose the nominee for the Chief Justiceship.

Taney Opposition Cited.

"Again, when it came to Mr. Justice Taney, such men as Webster and Clay and Calhoun and Ewing and other great leaders of the Senate opposed Mr. Taney. Why? They opposed him for the same reason that some of us now oppose the present nominee, because they believed his views upon certain important matters were unsound.

"They certainly did not oppose him because of his lack of learning, because of his incapability as a lawyer, and in no sense was he a failure except in their opinion that he was not giving the proper construction to certain policies which were then obtaining.

"The Senator from Ohio (Mr. Fess) takes refuge behind the fact, as he says, that Webster and Clay and Calhoun and Ewing were actuated by hatred. Those men, who were great leaders in their day, and one of them as free from personal hatred as any man who ever sat in the chamber, are not to be characterized as having attacked a candidate for that high position by reason of their personal hatred or their personal dislike for him.

"Let us put it upon a higher plane. They sat as lawyers and as patriots, and it was their duty to pass upon the fitness of the man, and in discharging that duty they did pass upon his fitness and measured it by his views upon public questions.

Lincoln Again Quoted.

"The Senator from Ohio speaks of Mr. Lincoln. Mr. Lincoln said he was not going to reverse the court.

He was not going to reverse the court, but he was going to reverse it by enacting legislation for the purpose of the change.

"Mr. Lincoln said: 'We think the Dred Scott decision is erroneous. We know the court that made it has often overruled its own decision—and we shall do what we can to have it overrule this.'

"Was that legislation? Let the scholarly historian stick a little closer to the facts. Mr. Lincoln advocated time after time and day after day the proposition that the proper way to deal with the subject was to place men upon the court who were in accordance with what he believed was sound policy.

"We are proposing to do the same thing today. We are insisting that here is a great problem involving human rights, a question of whether we shall embody into the jurisprudence of this country a principle which we believe to be at enmity with the welfare of the great working classes, and we say that we are not willing to place a man upon that bench who is committed to the doctrine.

"Is it any impeachment of the bench; is it an attack upon the bench? Why did the fathers make us advisers in regard to these appointments? Why were we placed here to pass upon the fitness of these appointees?

"Was it merely to sit here and record our votes, or were we, as sworn representative of our States, to exercise our judgment in regard to the fitness and the capability of the men who should sit upon the bench?"

Green Hails Defeat.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, made the following statement on being informed of the vote:

"The rejection of Judge John J. Parker by the United States Senate constitutes a victory for justice, righteousness and human rights. It will hearten and strengthen the minds purpose and moral fiber of the masses of the people. It will confirm the faith of the plain people in American institutions and the instrumentalities of a free government.

"No one will be disappointed over the outcome except those who believe in 'yellow dog' contracts, with the industrial servitude which such contracts impose upon helpless working people, and those numbered among the privileged class who enjoy the protection which indefensible injunctions provide.

"There will be great rejoicing in the homes and in the communities of working people over the defeat of Judge Parker. They will feel that a great moral victory has been won for them, and not only for them but for all classes of people who wish to keep inviolate the principles of the Constitution of the United States, upon which our government is founded, and to preserve and protect the liberties of all the people.

"Labor is inexpressibly grateful to these stanch defenders of human rights in the United States Senate who voted against the confirmation of Judge Parker. We are grateful for the service they rendered and we appreciate the bulwark of protection which the United States affords to the liberties, freedom and rights of the common people."

PARKER THANKS SUPPORTERS.

Nominee Expresses Disappointment at Rejection by Senate.

RICHMOND, Va., May 7 (AP).—Judge Parker said today that he had no comment to make on the rejection of his nomination to the Supreme Court, except to thank his friends in the Senate and elsewhere.

When informed that his nomination had failed of confirmation, Judge Parker said:

"I have no statement to make, except that I greatly appreciate the support of the friends who stood by me so loyally in the fight made on my confirmation.

"While I am, of course, disappointed on the result of the Senate vote, it makes me happy to think that so many of the foremost men of the country, as well as friends in all walks of life, supported me to the end."

Judge Parker was present today at the regular term of the court, which heard arguments up to 1:30 o'clock, just a few minutes before the vote in the Senate.

NEGROES HAIL SENATE VOTE.

Parker Defeat Is "Victory for the Constitution," Says Spokesman.

The Senate's rejection of Judge Parker is "a victory for the Constitution and for public respect for the Supreme Court," Walter White, acting secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said yesterday.

In a statement commenting on the Senate vote, Mr. White said:

"Negroes felt stirred on the issue of the Parker nomination as on no issue in recent years," said Mr. White, "because their fundamental citizenship status and that of all minority groups of the nation was involved in this struggle.

"It was felt that the nomination was nothing more than a political sop to that section and group which believes in nullifying the political rights of United States citizens because of their color.

"The Senate's action has justified our feeling that a man's private character and his individual opinions cannot be divorced from his judicial acts, and that the utterance made by Judge Parker in a 1920 political speech, contravening the spirit and letter of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution, disqualified him from sitting on the Supreme Court bench.

"More than this, Negroes have delivered an effective blow against the Republican party's lily white policy. Negroes know it. So do white politicians.

"Negroes have had a striking object lesson in the use of organized effort to defend their fundamental rights. They will not forget the lesson and will continue ready to act in a non-partisan manner when such rights are involved, as they were in this struggle over the Parker nomination."

BOOM PARKER FOR SENATE.

North Carolinians Seek Way to Have Him Run This Year.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 7 (AP).—A movement has been started to persuade Judge Parker to run for the Senate on the Republican ticket, Gilliam Grissom, Collector of Internal Revenue for North Carolina, said late today.

The movement is under way, he said, although the legal period of filing for the race closed over a week ago. It has been suggested that it might be arranged for the nominee to the Republican primary to resign, and for the executive committee to name Parker in his place, he stated.

Grissom said he did not favor such a move, but that he and other Republican leaders wanted Judge Parker to run for the Senate in 1932.

Parker Is 9th Supreme Court Choice Rejected, And First Since 1894, When Two Were Defeated

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The rejection of Judge John J. Parker's nomination today was the first rejection of a nomination to membership in the Supreme Court in thirty-six years. Since the creation of the court in 1789 only nine nominees have been rejected by the Senate and of these only one was for Chief Justice—John Rutledge of South Carolina.

Rutledge was nominated by George Washington in 1795 to be Chief Justice and actually presided at the August term, but the Senate on the following Dec. 15 refused to confirm him.

The list of persons nominated as Chief Justice and as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court who have been rejected since 1789, with the vote, follows:

Although only nine nominees have been rejected, there are a number of instances in which appointees to the Supreme bench declined office, with or without confirmation; also instances in which nominations were withdrawn, and other cases in which the Senate failed to act.

STATE DRYS REFUSE TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Groups Headed by Canon Chase Say That Democratic Party Is Too Wet.

APPEAL TO REPUBLICANS

Insist Candidate Must Be for 18th Amendment and for a Local Enforcement Act.

With the statement that they cannot support Governor Roosevelt for re-election because of the wet attitude of his party, coupled with the assertion that they would support only a candidate committed to the Eighteenth Amendment and a State enforcement act, a group of dry leaders issued yesterday a declaration calling on the Republican party to nominate a candidate for Governor "who will command the enthusiastic support of the drys of all parties."

The statement marked the first utterance of the organized dry forces on the gubernatorial campaign. Those who signed the statement avoided, however, the question of a possible independent candidate in the event of their inability to obtain satisfaction from both major parties.

The signatories of the statement were Canon William Sheafe Chase of Brooklyn, Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, State president of the W. C. T. U.; the Rev. O. R. Miller, superintendent of the New York Civic League; Fred A. Victor, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; Herbert Laflamme, Charles E. Manierre and Miss Elizabeth Collier.

The statement in part follows:

"Representatives of various dry organizations in the State of New York have held several meetings in preparation for the coming campaign. At a recent meeting the conference agreed that the Democratic candidate for Governor cannot expect the support of dry voters as long as that party in this State continues to oppose prohibition and its enforcement.

"The conference also unanimously agreed that the wet Wadsworth program is a defeatist program for the Republican party, because the Republican party cannot successfully compete with the Democratic party for wet votes.

"The only hope for the success of the Republican party lies in the nomination of a candidate who will command the enthusiastic support of the drys of all parties.

"The conference will support for Governor only a candidate who is openly in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment."

Canon Chase declined to elaborate upon the statement, saying, "We have all agreed not to discuss it," and adding that "other statements will be issued from time to time."

Canon Chase likewise would not discuss the possibility of an independent dry candidate.

"The statement will have to speak for itself," he said.

In response to a question as to whether he looked to the Republican party to nominate a wet candidate for Governor, Canon Chase said:

"We hope the party will lead us to victory by naming a dry."

BEGIN DRIVE AGAINST BREWING SUPPLIES

Dry Forces in Big Cities Are Instructed to Clean Up Wholesalers First.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—A nationwide drive was under way today to wipe out supply houses which deal in kegs, bottles, cappers and other paraphernalia used in the commercial manufacture of beer and liquors.

In the large cities squads of special investigators were at work to establish cases against the large dealers in liquor-making equipment, and Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced that many arrests are expected.

Prohibition administrators are cooperating in the drive, Dr. Doran said, believing that the concerted attack on the supply houses will greatly assist dry law enforcement.

Officials admitted that the elimination of the supply houses would not affect the production of corn sugar alcohol because the large stills used in this production are made by bootleggers. Nor is it expected that the war on the supply houses will affect the output of "moonshine" in the mountain districts of the South.

Commissioner Doran said that legitimate establishments, including chain stores, which sell beer-making paraphernalia are expected to voluntarily drop this line from their stocks because of the recent Supreme Court decision. He declared that the Prohibition Bureau would first go after wholesalers.

"There are plenty of the big wholesale bootleg supply houses to occupy the attention of the bureau for the present," he said, "and there are many of them in the large cities."

WOMEN OPEN DRIVE AGAINST DRY ACT

PLANS PLEAS TO CONGRESS

Campaign Will Be Conducted by Distribution of Literature, Speeches and Interviews.

A membership drive planned to put additional force behind the anti-prohibition movement was launched yesterday by the New York State branch of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform with the opening of new temporary headquarters, located in a shop loft at 303 Madison Avenue, where busy women may enroll quickly and will be urged to do so by literature, speeches and through interviews.

More than 300 new members were enrolled during the day, and a number of men present, who—not admissible themselves—were invited to take pledge cards to their mothers, wives, sisters and women friends.

The opening was announced by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national president of the organization, who, introduced by Mrs. Radcliffe Swinnerton, member of the New York Board of Regents, told the audience that after one year's campaign devoted to "fact-finding," the recent national convention in Cleveland adopted a program to urge Congress that voters of the various States should be allowed to settle the question of prohibition in conventions rather than through State Legislatures.

Mrs. Herbert L. Pratt, also a member of the board of regents, read the declaration of principles adopted by the national convention. Mrs. Emily Post, author, was applauded when she declared that, although an abstainer, she regards the prohibition law as "sopping wet," and said she would prefer to vote for a wet Democrat than for a dry Republican.

Mrs. Courtland Nicoll compared the present situation to that of the slavery issue, which, she said, was debated more than fifty years, but not solved until Harriet Beecher Stowe awakened men and women of the nation to the realization of the truth and moved them to a solution.

An increase of juvenile delinquency was depicted by Miss Martha Byrne, secretary of the Department of Correction, who said present conditions warrant fear for the safety of future generations. She urged that money now expended for enforcement be used to relieve unemployment.

Among those present were:

Mrs. Albert H. Harris, Mrs. Robert Weeks Kelley, Caroline Duer, Edna Woolman Chase, Elizabeth Perkins, Margherita De Vecchi, Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt, Mrs. Cornelius Bliss, Mrs. William C. Potter, Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames, Maud Wetmore, Mrs. Coffin Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Ernest Adee, Mrs. George French, Natica Nast, Mrs. J. Edward Lombard, Mrs. Hugh C. Wallace 2d, Harriet Johnson, Mrs. William T Emmet, Mrs. Edward King McCagg, Mrs. Paul Morton Smith, Mrs. J. M. Ferrer, Virginia Thaw, Mrs. L. Mead, Mary Morrison, Mrs. Dudley Phelps, Mrs. George Leary, Mrs. Robert Bartlett, Mrs. Bradish J. Carroll, Mrs. William Barclay Harding, Mrs. Henry W. Thaw and Emily Chauncey.

JERSEY WOMEN WEIGH MOVE FOR DRY REPEAL

State Federation of Clubs to Get Resolution Opposing Change at Session Today.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 7.—Continued opposition to any attempt to alter or repeal the Eighteenth Amendment is expressed in one of the two major resolutions to be introduced at tomorrow's session of the thirty-sixth annual convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs here.

The other resolution is one urging the entrance of the United States into the World Court.

When the convention was opened at the Hotel Chelsea tonight, following the president's annual dinner, nearly 1,000 delegates had registered, representing 48,000 club women and 300 clubs in the State. Tonight's general session was presided over by Mrs. M. Casewell Heine.

Other resolutions to be introduced tomorrow morning include one of protest against the prevailing type of motion pictures, charging that the agreement reached between the Federal Trade Commission and the motion picture producers whereby special care would be taken to eliminate vulgarity and suggestiveness has persistently been violated and ignored. Among other subjects slated for discussion are crime and police activities, vocational training, supervisors of playgrounds, educational activities, the wider use of the Bible as literature, memory contests, the proposed commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the world conference on narcotic education, pure milk supervision and the status of the New Jersey College for Women in the reorganization of higher education in the State.

MORROW TO IGNORE WARNING OF DRYS

SAID TO HAVE LIQUOR PLAN

Leaders Predict That as Well as Opposing Prohibition He Will Offer a Scheme to Control Sales.

The position of Dwight W. Morrow on prohibition will not be altered by the threat of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey to nominate a dry candidate against him if, as expected, he declares himself on the wet side in his fight for the Republican Senatorial nomination against Joseph S. Frelinghuysen.

Mr. Morrow, it was said yesterday, was going ahead with the preparation of his statement on prohibition, unaffected by the warning of the league, made after a meeting of the headquarters committee on Tuesday. The details of Mr. Morrow's position have not been revealed, but it has been reported that he may, besides opposing prohibition, offer a plan for liquor control.

The league annouced that it was withholding final decision until all candidates had announced their views on prohibition. As former Senator Frelinghuysen already has announced a wet position, the Anti-Saloon League statement was regarded as a direct threat to Mr. Morrow.

Mr. Morrow will announce his position in his opening speech of the campaign in Newark at Cruger's Auditorium next Thursday. At the same time he will give his views on international relations and other issues of the campaign.

Drys in Difficult Position.

It was pointed out that the drys of the State are in somewhat of a dilemma themselves in view of the statement. With New Jersey admittedly a wet centre, it was asserted that if, as anticipated, Mr. Morrow declared himself a wet, the drys would be compelled to put a candidate in the field who might draw a relatively small vote and thus serve to call attention to the growing wet sentiment.

On the other hand it was said national leaders of the drys feel that the New Jersey prohibition supporters cannot afford not to take a decisive stand against wet candidates and must cast affirmative votes for a prohibition advocate both in the primary on June 17 and the general election in November.

Dr. F. Scott McBride, national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, came from Washington to attend the New Jersey meeting and it was understood that it was at his insistence that the State organization issued its warning. Dr. McBride said that he regarded the New Jersey primary as one of the most important political contests in the country and that his organization intended to watch it carefully.

Morrow Meeting Leaders.

Mr. Morrow is spending most of his time at his Englewood home, where he is preparing his initial address. New Jersey leaders supporting him have been visiting him there and at his Newark headquarters where he goes occasionally. Former Governor E. C. Stokes of Trenton was among those to have a dinner conference at the Morrow home, although he denied reports that he was present at a general strategy meeting.

Governor Larson, it is believed, will visit the Morrow home or headquarters for a talk with the Ambassador some time late in the week and other outstanding backers are expected to confer with the candidate.

Former Senator Frelinghuysen will make an automobile tour of Warren and Sussex Counties today. The tour will be informal although it is likely that several brief talks will be made by Mr. Morrow's opponent. In the evening, Mr. Frelinghuysen will attend a reception to mark the opening of his new State campaign headquarters at 54 Park Place, Newark.

Mrs. Morrow is scheduled to be present today at a luncheon of Republican women at the Princeton Inn and also to attend a dinner in the evening in Trenton. Douglas G. Thomson, campaign manager for Mr. Morrow, will be the guest of honor tonight at a dinner in Englewood.

WOMEN HEAR MRS. MORROW

Wife of Ambassador in Ridgewood Tells of Experiences in Mexico.

Special to The New York Times.

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., May 7.—About 450 women living in Ridgewood and adjacent municipalities met Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, wife of the Ambassador to Mexico, at the Ridgewood Woman's Club this afternoon. The reception was under the auspices of the northern section of the woman's division of the Morrow campaign committee.

Mrs. Charles W. Stockton, president of the Ridgewood unit, New Jersey Women's Republican Club, introduced Mrs. Morrow, following an address by Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson of Red Bank, national State committee-woman for New Jersey.

Mrs. Morrow confined her talk to her experiences in Mexico.

FIVE MORE WET CITIES LISTED IN DIGEST POLL

Drys Get Small Pluralities in Two of Four Reported for the Second Time.

New reports yesterday of the Literary Digest on its nationwide prohibition poll showed substantial wet pluralities from nine towns and cities in the West, South, Middle West and East.

First reports from five cities, including Columbus, Ga., and Pittston, Pa., reveal an overwhelming wet trend with the ballots for repeal outnumbering those for enforcement two to one. Second returns from four other cities indicate continued wet sentiment although two of the four, Ithaca, N. Y., and Decatur, Ill., cast pluralities for enforcement.

Both Somerville, Mass., and Lansing, Mich., manufacturing centres which sent in extra ballots, gave repeal slight margins over the votes cast for enforcement. The Lansing vote for modification is greater than for repeal or enforcement.

The figures for the nine cities follow:

Maine Farm Destroyed, Loses $30,000—Rhode Island Danger Ended by Torrential Rain.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, May 7.—Dutchess County Legionaires, answering a general mobilization call, went into action this afternoon in the New York State section of Taconic Park to aid in fighting a forest fire raging there for three days.

State troopers, fire wardens from Albany and Columbia County authorities were maintaining a state bordering on martial law. Every person in the fire area was conscripted for duty as the flames broke out anew in six places.

Headquarters were established in Copake, two miles away, and every one was checked in and out of the area.

Motorists were conscripted for duty and schools were dismissed. Boy Scouts and older students aided the fire fighters, and the girls provided food.

The fire was brought under control last night, but flamed up again this morning with a shift in the wind that drove it back from the Massachusetts side of the mountain. The wall of flame was ten-feet high in the underbrush and in the tall timbers was shooting fifty-nine feet in the air.

Late tonight the fire was brought under control and it was expected that it would be out by midnight.

$30,000 Loss in Sloatsburg.

Special to The New York Times.

TUXEDO, N. Y., May 7.—Forest fires raging in this section since Sunday swept down into the village of Sloatsburg today and wiped out four houses.

Fire departments from Suffern, Hillburn, Sloatsburg and Tuxedo fought the blaze for three hours and before nightfall had it under control. The loss in buildings is estimated at $30,000. No one was injured.

Humphrey Hedgecock, chief forest ranger for Rockland, Orange and Sullivan Counties, issued a warning today to officials of the Erie and Ontario & Western Railroads to stop burning old ties and brush until rain comes.

The biggest fire in this area started anew today in State Park property near Lake Sebago and at daybreak Chief Ranger Tamsen sent 100 Bear Mountain Park employes to the relief of Hedgecock's men.

The Ladentown and Letchworth Village fires are well under control but fearing the return of firebugs said to have been responsible for fifteen outbreaks since Sunday, the State Conservation Department at Middletown sent a heavily manned truck equipped with a 500 gallon tank of water and 5 gallon knapsack spray tanks to patrol all the back populated country north and west of Haverstraw and Stony Point

25,000 Acres Burned in Bay State.

BOSTON, May 7 (AP).—With ten serious fires sweeping Massachusetts woodland, William A. L. Bazeley, commissioner of conservation, said late today that conditions had grown more alarming since yesterday.

The fire, which is estimated to have swept 25,000 acres in the region where Massachusetts, New York and Connecticut borders meet, had broken out again. Hundreds of men were rushed to the scene and their efforts were being directed to saving the Mount Everett State Reservation and other valuable timber land.

Fires listed by Mr. Bazeley as still serious included those at Uxbridge, North Bridge, Charlton, Taunton, Rockport and Freetown. Many lesser fires were extinguished during the day.

The heat of the sun and a brisk westerly wind had combined, he said, to dry woods to almost tinderbox inflammability. Only heavy rains could help the situation, he said, and such relief was not in sight.

Three Fires Rage in Maine.

CALAIS, Me., May 7 (AP).—Three big forest fires raged tonight in a heavily forested region within a 20-mile radius of Calais on the Maine-New Brunswick border.

One fire, starting at St. Croix Junction on the outskirts of Calais late today, destroyed the farm buildings of Oscar Lunn, considered one of the finest properties in the section. The loss was placed at $30,000.

Starting in meadow grass, the blaze raced through a clump of woods, rapidly spread over the Lunn Farm and tonight raged in a thickly wooded section near Voses Lake. All available men were hastily assembled to fight it.

Reports of two other great fires came by telephone from Alexander, fourteen miles west of here, and from Princeton, twenty miles to the north. Heavy smoke spread throughout the region.

Heavy Rain Visits Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 7 (AP).—A torrential downpour which soaked the smoldering brush land in South County tonight ended the fire menace for the time being and released hundreds of men who have fought flames this week in the towns of Richmond, Hopkinton and Exeter.

Blames Boys for Connecticut Fire.

EAST HAMPTON, Conn., May 7 (AP).—Fire Warden Carl Terp said today thta the disastrous East Hampton-Marlborough forest fire, which burned over a seven-mile front before it was conquered, may have been set by boys seeking employment as firefighters. The pay is 35 cents an hour.

He reported that a youth who acted suspiciously was seen in the vicinity at the time.

Riverhead Fire Starts Again.

Special to The New York Times.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., May 7.—The forest fire on the south side of the Peconic River, opposite the business and residential section of Riverhead Village, is burning briskly again tonight. It is only about half a mile from the Riverhead Postoffice. The village streets are filled with smoke and the local volunteer fire companies are on emergency duty.

JERSEY TOWNS COUNT LOSS.

More Than 200 Homes Believed to Have Been Destroyed.

State Fire Marshal Leonidas Coyle reported yesterday that the worst of the brush fires which have been sweeping over wide areas of New Jersey in the past five days had been extinguished or put under control. With the crisis passed, the State began taking stock of its losses.

The exact number of homes destroyed or seriously damaged has yet to be determined, but it is estimated that there were more than 200 in Ocean, Atlantic, Burlington and Camden counties. Red Cross relief workers reported, however, that few of the victims were in need of shelter, as nearly every one whose house went down before the fire had been taken in by neighbors.

Many of those whose homes were burned lost everything. Few will be able to recover anything by insurance. The high rates charged for insurance against fire in the localities bordering on brush and woodland make coverage rare. Those who were fortunate enough to have insurance, however, were planning to ask the State Department of Banking and Insurance to urge the insurance companies to make speedy payment on policies so that reconstruction might start at once.

Two Fires Still Threatening.

Although all the major blazes had burned themselves out or been turned away from homes and settlements by backfiring, two fires still were burning through the South Jersey timberland last night. Burlington County was the scene of the most threatening of these, near New Gretna, and the other was blazing fiercely near Batsto.

Fire fighters were successful in their efforts to save New Gretna, which has been threatened by eighteen fires, according to members of the Hammonton Fire Department who returned to Hammonton shortly after 9 P. M. They said that the forest fires had worked their way to a point about two miles from Tuckerton, near which is a wireless station with 800-foot aerials, used by the government in the World War.

The fire near Batsto destroyed the old Quaker bridge over the Batsto River on the Atsion-Washington road and attacked the 100,000-acre estate of Mrs. J. Bertram Lippincott, wife of the Philadelphia publisher. Fifty thousand acres of thick timberland fringe the estate and fire wardens in charge of the hot and weary volunteers trying to stem the advance of the flames, said only the most strenuous effort could keep the fire from the buildings unless the wind changed or died down.

Fire departments from Hammonton, Atlantic City, Egg Harbor, Margate and Pleasantville were called out to fight back the fire sweeping toward New Gretna. The town was believed in danger from a backfire started Tuesday to save the village of Wading River. A freshening wind carried the fire beyond control.

One end of the fire near New Gretna ignited four buildings in Leektown, an isolated hamlet about six miles west of Tuckerton. Arthur Bogarth's sawmill was destroyed and the homes of Frank Delevan, Hyman Arnold and a third man whose name was not learned were almost completely burned.

Asks Order to Navy Airmen Not to Smoke Over Forests

BOSTON, May 7 (AP).—As a precaution against the further spread of forest fires, William A. L. Bazeley, Commissioner of Conservation, today sent the following telegram to Secretary Adams:

"On account of disastrous forest fire conditions in Massachusetts and other New England States, please issue strenuous orders against cigaret smoking in the Navy planes planning to arrive here tomorrow and during their flight in New England."

Governor Allen issued a proclamation closing the woods to fishermen at midnight, but promising that the days so lost to the open season would be added to those remaining when the present ban is lifted.

SEES FOREST FIRE LOSS OF $16,000,000 IN EAST

Protection Expert Estimates 1930 Damage—Blames Motorists for Most Blazes.

Damage from forest fires in the Central Atlantic and New England States in 1930 may be double the average annual loss of about $8,000,000 in view of the recent devastating fires, William F. Steffens, chief fire protection engineer of the New York Central Lines and former executive committee member of the National Fire Protection Association, said yesterday after an address before the Cooperative Club at the Fraternity Clubs Building, 22 East Thirty-eighth Street.

"I am willing to predict," Mr. Steffens said, "that if all our forest fires were investigated thoroughly, it would be found that 90 per cent of them are caused by lighted cigarettes cast aside by careless persons, usually motorists.

"I do not put much stock in the suggestion that the numerous fires on Long Island may have been incendiary. Talk of 'natural' spontaneous ignition in the forest is nonsense. It never happens.

"Why are forest fires more numerous near population centres? Because of the automobile. The manufactured cigarette is treated to make it burn evenly and smoothly, and when thrown into dry grass, moss or leaves by a thoughtless motorist, there is every risk that it will ignite them."

Mr. Steffens told the club that the "ideal" extinguisher for general use is that made from liquid carbon dioxide.

OSSINING TRUSTEE ACCUSED

Inquiry Finds A. J. Yerks Removed Paving Blocks From Stores.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., May 7.—The committee which has been investigating charges and counter-charges by members of the Village Board of Trustees made a report tonight in which the three Republican members were exonerated except for an "error of business judgment" in one instance, while Austin J. Yerks, the sole Democrat, was censured.

Three charges were made against Yerks—removal of Belgian paving blocks from village stores without proper authority, continuing a business relationship with a contractor while on the Village Board, and accepting without compensation a sidewalk from a contractor. The committee, which was headed by Dr. Albert W. Twiggar, made no recommendations for action, but offered to do so if the board wished. The report will come before the board May 20.

Elks to Lease Clubhouse Hotel.

New York Lodge 1, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, received permission yesterday from Supreme Court Justice Gavegan to lease the hotel part of its clubhouse at 108-116 West Forty-third Street, from the fourth to the twelfth floor inclusive, to a private corporation for the operation of the hotel. The trustees of the lodge said that the lease is to be for ten years, at $60,000 for the first five and $65,000 for the second five, which will be more profitable to the lodge than if it operated the hotel itself. The total value of the real estate and personal property of the lodge is $1,307,809, and the total debts are $637,251.

DRY HEAD TO TESTIFY ON LOBBYING CHARGE

F. Scott McBride Will Be Questioned Today on Activities of Anti-Saloon League.

BLAINE GETS FREE HAND

Only Wet Senator on Committee Is Expected to Submit Witness to Searching Examination.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The first intensive investigation of the political activities of the Anti-Saloon League is expected to begin tomorrow with the appearance of F. Scott McBride, legislative superintendent of the league, before the Senate Lobby Committee. He is the first witness called to testify regarding the work of dry organization.

One question which it is expected Mr. McBride will be called upon to answer concerns a charge by Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts, that the Anti-Saloon League has spent $67,000,000 on the prohibition cause.

The examination of the dry organization leaders is expected to cover many phases of their work, especially after the intensive questioning to which Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, was subjected during seven days in the witness chair.

The Lobby Committee is preponderously dry, those of that belief including its chairman, Senator Caraway of Arkansas, and Senators Walsh of Montana and Robinson of Arkansas. The only wet member is Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, who has been promised a free hand by Senator Caraway in the examination of the dry witnesses.

"I think it is only fitting," Senator Caraway said recently, "that the questioning should be conducted that way, just as Senators Robinson and Walsh and myself questioned the wets."

In keeping with this promise, Senator Caraway postponed the beginning of Mr. McBride's testimony from yesterday, when it had been scheduled to start, until tomorrow, due to the unavoidable absence from the city of Senator Blaine.

The correspondence files of the Anti-Saloon League have been in the hands of John Holland, lawyer and investigator for the committee, for some time and it is expected that, as in previous instances, the questioning will be directed along lines indicated by the material so obtained.

Mr. McBride has long announced himself a volunteer witness, having been one of the representatives of dry organizations who asked some months ago that the Anti-Saloon League be given an opportunity to tell of its work, conditional on representatives of wet organizations being called.

DENIES "ISOLATING" REDS.

Whalen Says Communists Were Treated as Well as Veterans.

Police Commissioner Whalen, when asked yesterday if he had any comment to make on the charge of the American Civil Liberties Union that the Communists had been "isolated" in the May Day ceremonies, replied:

"The Civil Liberties Union is seeking publicity. There was no isolation of the Communists on May 1, or any other time. They were given two miles of streets from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. and the Veterans of Foreign Wars received about the same time. It seems to me that the Civil Liberties Union was disappointed that we didn't have a riot. The police cannot be held accountable for the nonsuccess of the Communist meeting, but they can be held accountable for law and order, and that's what prevailed at the meeting May 1."

A resolution recommending that the New York League of Women Voters cooperate in "Communism prevention" with the New York City Police Department was unanimously adopted by the Queens division of the league at the division's annual meeting yesterday in the Forest Hills Inn, Forest Hills, Queens. More than 100 women were present.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 7 (AP).—Vice Admiral Sir Cyril T. M. Fuller, with Lady Fuller and their daughter, sailed today for New York en route to England. Admiral Fuller, who had been Commander-in-Chief at this station, was recently promoted to the rank of Second Sea Lord of the Admiralty.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS HONORED AT SAILING

Whole Harbor Salutes as Ship Bearing Bereaved Women Leaves for France.

GEN. SUMMERALL IN TRIBUTE

Trip Starts on 13th Anniversary of Departure of First American Soldiers in World War.

The first group of Gold Star mothers sailed for France and Belgium yesterday to visit the battlefields where their sons died. Escorted from New York by national an city representatives, the women went to the United States liner America in Hoboken, where they were honored in a brief ceremony before the steamr departed.

While the somber note had its fitting place in the ceremony, recalling the death of American soldiers on various fronts, the sailing was a happy one. Mothers lined the rail of the America, and smiled and waved farewells to friends and relatives as the steamer's whistle sounded for a clear river lane.

Then to the accompaniment of whistles, sirens and the motors of more than 100 airplanes overhead, the liner started downstream and the first of a score of groups of Gold Star mothers was off for France.

234 Sail in Group.

A last minute check-up of the lists by the United States Line's agents placed the number in the group at 234. With these were War Department representatives who will see that the mothers visiting the various cemeteries will have capable guidance. The women came from scattered States of the Union, and will be followed over at intervals by approximately 6,000 more, all as guests of the government.

Yesterday's sailing was on the thirteenth anniversary of the sailing of America's first military contingent on the steamer Orduna. References to this first departure of soldiers, many of whom never returned, were made several times yesterday in addresses on the America's deck.

As the mothers approached the gangplank leading to the promenade deck of the steamer, white-frocked members of women's auxiliaries met them and presented to each a little bouquet of poppies and forget-menots. They were then shown to their cabins and later assembled on the after deck for the official ceremony. The speakers included:

General CHARLES P. SUMMERALL, Army Chief of Staff.
Major Gen. ROBERT LEE BULLARD, retired.
Major Gen. HANSON E. ELY, commanding the Second Corps Area.
PAUL CHAPMAN, head of the United States Lines.
Rear Admiral LOUIS R. De STEIGUER, commandant of the Third Naval District.
Major Gen. JOHN L. DE WITT, Quartermaster General.
Major Gen. R. F. CHEATHAM, retired.
Major Gen. WILLIAM N. HASKELL, commanding the New York National Guard.

General Summerall recalled the departure of the steamer Orduna and described the heroism in which many of those who sailed on it died. F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War, who was also scheduled to speak, could not be present and General Summerall delivered his message to the group. It read:

"Go, therefore, not in sorrow but in pride," he said. "You leave on this pilgrimage not only as those who were dearest to the men who gave their all for the perpetuation of our democracy. You go also as those who are most worthy to express the gratitude and the eternal memory of our country. When you bow your heads in homage to those illustrious dead know as they will know, that all that is finest in America is joining in your tribute. I bid you godspeed."

Gold Medals Presented.

Mr. Chapman, as head of the United States Lines, had cast a gold medal for each of the Gold Star mothers, and these were officially presented for him by Mrs. Virgul McClure, president of the American War Mothers. The face of the medal bears a star and replicas of the Statue of Liberty and the Eiffel Tower.

With each was given a certificate bearing the name of the recipient inscribed and messages from President Doumergue of France, President Hoover and General Pershing. Three of the Gold Star mothers were selected to receive the medals, which will be distributed while the steamer is at sea.

As the ship passed the Battery the fireboat John Purroy Mitchel joined the Macom and steamed from her slip spouting high streams of water toward the departing liner. The Macom, which had escorted the liner from her pier, continued to the Narrows past Quarantine, where Captain Fried, master of the ship, signaled a last farewell with the deep note of the America's whistle.

DISCLAIMS FULL SUPPORT.

Federal Council of Churches Explains Public Utterances.

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America issued a statement here yesterday saying that its utterances on public matters are put forward in the belief that they voice a general trend of judgment in the council's constituency, according to The Associated Press.

"No claim is made for any utterance," the statement continued, "that it has the unanimous support of all the individual members of the constituency. Actions of the council become the governing policies of any demonstration only to the degree in which they are adopted by that denomination."

The statement was issued "in the effort to dispel misunderstandings that have occasionally arisen" as to the sense in which the council regards its utterances as "representative" of the Protestant denominations.

WINE DISTRIBUTOR APPEALS

Buffalo Attorney Was Stopped by Police From Making Liquor Gifts.

ALBANY, May 7 (AP).—A. Stanley Copeland, an attorney of Buffalo, carried to the Court of Appeals today his appeal from the verdict of the lower courts in refusing to grant an injunction restraining the police of Buffalo from interfering with him when he attempted to give away liquor on the streets of his home city.

Copeland, who appeared in his own behalf in court, declared that the interference of the police when they arrested him in 1924 for distributing wine, contravened the teachings of Christ and the Constitutional guarantee of religious freedom.

RURAL MEDICAL AID URGED ON RED CROSS

PRAISES PRESENT SERVICE

Kansan Urges Its Extension in Address to Delegates—Junior Good-Will Message Broadcast.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Red Cross was urged today by Senator Capper of Kansas to go to the rescue of mothers and babies in rural communities where medical care is often unobtainable and expensive, and homes frequently are broken up by the preventable death of a farm mother.

Addressing the delegates at the luncheon, which was the day's feature of the convention now in session here, Senator Capper said that in spite of all that had been done by various health agencies, "the need still is great, and it is everywhere."

"In 1,500 of the 3,500 counties in the United States there is no form of public health nursing," he continued. "In many hundreds of counties there is not one hospital. The young doctor also does not like to settle in a rural communiy or a small town where his duties are more arduous, and perhaps the returns not so lucrative. The old type of family practitioner is dying out.

"This means that if standards of health in these sparsely settled rural districts are to be raised, epidemics prevented, the lives of mothers and infants saved, it must come through extension of public health nursing such as that sponsored by the American Red Cross."

Senator Capper spoke with feeling of the work now being carried on by the Red Cross, which, he said, was the largest employer in the United States of public health nurses, having more than 800, of whom two-thirds were at work in rural counties. He paid a special tribute to their preventive work with children, "which saves many a child from a great handicap that would otherwise follow him into adult life."

"Whatever the emergency, no human being is as deserving of help as the crippled child and no poor mother's baby should lack for it," he declared.

Carl Bickel, president of the United Press Association, also addressed the delegates and Major Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, read a paper prepared by Dr. Julius Klein.

The convention will adjourn following the adoption of resolutions tomorrow morning.

A good-will message to the youth of all nations was adopted at the morning session of the Junior Red Cross convention, broadcast at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon over the Columbia System, and cabled to the League of Red Cross Societies in Paris, which will broadcast it to the forty-four other junior groups in as many nations.

Secretary Wilbur was chairman of the broadcasting program, which was the closing feature of the junior convention, and Secretary Stimson delivered the concluding address.

This afternoon the Juniors visited Mount Vernon, selecting the two Indian boys, Paul Tsosie from the Eastern Navajo Reservation, Santa Fe, N. M., and José Gonzales of Phoenix, Ariz., to place a wreath upon the tomb of George Washington. To José Bengoa, the San Juan, Porto Rico, delegate, they gave the honor of placing a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

MRS. M'CORMICK DENIES KNOWING OF BIG FUND

Challenges Illinois Democrats to Give Evidence of $750,000 Spent in Her Campaign.

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP).—Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois today challenged assertions attributed to the Illinois Democratic State Central Committee that $750,000 had been spent for her from other sources in addition to the amount she spent in the primary campaign in which she won the Republican Senatorial nomination.

In a telegram to Thomas F. Donovan, chairman of the Democratic committee, Mrs. McCormick demanded that, if the committee knew of funds spent, aside from those she had reported, the evidence be sent to Chairman Nye of the Senate campaign funds investigating committee. tee.

In her telegram, Mrs. McCormick called attention to a resolution adopted by the committee yesterday "criticizing the alleged excessive expenditure of money in my recent primary campaign."

"I see in newspaper dispatches that the adoption of the resolution was preceded by statements, presumably made by members of your committee, that in addition to the amount which I have reported as having expended out of my own pocket in the primary campaign, $750,000 from other sources was spent in my behalf," her telegram said.

"I challenge these assertions. I earnestly insist that, if your committee or its members have any knowledge of funds spent in behalf of my candidacy outside of the amount which I reported expending, under oath, that such evidence should be at once submitted to United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman of the subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, which is now investigating primary expenses in various States.

"I shall call the attention of Senator Nye to the published reports of your meeting and suggest to him that the members of your committee should be given full opportunity to present the evidence which they claim to have."

NAVAL OFFICER WEDS.

One Marries, Another Gets License, Six Hours After Arrival.

Less than six hours after the fleet arrived yesterday, two naval officers, attached to a cruiser and a battleship, had found their way to the municipal marriage license bureau.

Lieutenant Arthur Gavin, 34-year-old aviator, attached to the U. S. S. Memphis, was married in the Municipal Chapel to Miss Mamie C. Rosser, 26, of Lynchburg, Va. Lieutenant Gavin is from West Ashland, Wis.

Lieut. Commander Leon O. Alford, gunnery officer of the 32,000-ton battleship New Mexico, obtained a license to wed Mrs. Margaret G. Lotz of San Francisco. Lieut. Commander Alford was born in Grangeville, La., but gave his address as the "U. S. Navy."

overnight anchorage off Ambrose Channel Lightship.

As the 32,000-ton flagship headed up channel, the leadsman in the chains swung his arm.

"An' a half—seven, sir," he called to the bridge, as he coiled the dripping leadline on the grating.

The tallow-shod end of the heavy lead had brought up a sample of the channel mud, the first bit of Eastern soil the blue-clad sailors of the battle fleet had seen since the fleet passed through the Panama Canal in 1927.

Behind the California, fleet guide, looking trim and shipshape and with the Admiral's flag floating from her main, steamed in column seven other great vessels of the battle line, perhaps the last of their kind.

Another Flagship in Line.

There followed the West Virginia, one of the three most powerful battleships in the American Navy, her eight 16-inch guns protruding fore and aft from the newly painted turrets. The flag of Vice Admiral L. A. Bostwick, commanding the battleship divisions of the Pacific Coast ships, with its three white stars in a fluttering field of blue, proclaimed another flagship.

Behind her, a thousand yards astern, steamed one of her sisters, the Colorado, and following her, the New Mexico, screws thrashing the water under the great power of her electric-driven turbines. The Maryland, third of the triumvirate of the mightiest, was fifth, followed closely by the Oklahoma and the old but proud Arkansas, sole battleship representative of the Scouting Fleet.

The Nevada, the eighth of the battleships to enter port, with her two tripod masts standing queerly astraddle upon her decks, lost oil suction for her boilers shortly after the fleet got under way. She was forced to drop out of formation and later followed the cruisers into port, the last battleship to anchor in the Hudson.

Light Cruisers Follow.

Astern of the "battlewagons" steamed the light cruisers, their knife-like bows cutting the water. Their light hulls seemed to restrain their powerful engines with difficulty, as if the ships were conscious of their recently achieved importance in things naval. The Detroit, flying the flag of Rear Admiral F. H. Clark, in command of the light cruiser divisions of the Scouting Fleet, led the light forces. The fourth in column was the Memphis, the ship that brought Lindbergh back from France.

The naval tug, Sagamore, black with photographers and newspapermen, cut across the cruiser's bow to reach a vantage point for a picture. A sound "movie" man called for noise and the skipper of the Sagamore, Chief Boatswain C. F. Chester, leaned on the steam whistle of the tug, just as the Memphis attempted to signal her crossing intentions. Her signal was not heard and the two ships came closer; the tug turned one way, the Memphis followed, the tug turned back; the cruiser backed furiously, put her rudder hard over and went on her way, her stacks belching smoke.

Some time after the men o' war had headed into port, the auxiliaries—"beef boats" as the gobs call supply vessels, the repair ships and oilers and the white-painted hospital ship Relief—steamed through the Narrows and up the Hudson to anchor in a long line above the battleships.

Arkansas Goes to Navy Yard.

As the first column passed Staten Island, the Arkansas dropped out and anchored off St. George, preparatory to taking aboard a pilot to take her to the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where she was docked later in the day. As the California, the flagship of Admiral Louis M. Nulton, commanding the Battle Fleet, passed Governor's Island, Fort Jay fired a seventeen-gun salute—official mark of courtesy and respect to a full Admiral. The shining little saluting guns of the flagship answered gun for gun.

When the vessels steamed through the upper harbor and toward the mouth of the Hudson they were greeted by huge amphibians and darting land planes. On the surface, speed boats scurried between the columns kicking up before their bows cascades of spray.

The crowds lining the Battery saw the usual salute of the city to distinguished guests as two fire boats poured streams of water into the air in honor of the fleet. The California started up the river about 8:30 A. M. The Nevada, last of the battleships, passed the Battery about 9:30, but for more than two hours the intermittent procession continued as the tiny minesweepers and the auxiliaries moved upstream to their anchorages.

The Salt Lake City, first of the "treaty" class, 10,000-ton cruisers to join the fleet, brought up the rear of the cruiser division and anchored off Tompkinsville with the Cincinnati, preparatory to entering the navy yard today. Two of the little minesweepers, the Tern and the Partridge, cut over into the East River and steamed into the navy yard basin, joining a sister ship, the Brant, which had preceded them. The V-boat division of submarines from the battle fleet anchored off Tompkinsville late yesterday evening and will proceed to the navy yard today. With the arrival of their tender, the Argonne, at the yard last night the total number of naval vessels in port was swelled to sixty-four. Two other vessels, the destroyer Humphreys, and the oiler Neches, are expected later.

As the California passed the anchored Texas, flagship of the entire United States Fleet, off Ninety-sixth Street, her saluting guns thundered seventeen times in honor of Admiral W. V. Pratt, the commander-in-chief. The Texas replied in kind in honor of Admiral Nulton; a string of signal flags were hoisted to the California's yardarm—"Request permission to anchor in berth assigned"—and the anchor chain rattled through her hawse pipes as permission was given. The fleet's twelve-day stay in New York had started.

Await Official Welcome.

The city's official welcome soon followed. While the sun-bronzed crews were impatiently waiting for the customs authorities to finish their inspections a full marine guard and a band were drawn up on the quarterdeck of the Texas to render honors to admirals in command of the various units arriving to pay their respects to Admiral Pratt and to Police Commissioner Whalen and Acting Mayor McKee, who were to deliver the city's welcome.

The city's welcome was to have been delivered at 11:30 A. M. Admiral Pratt was ready for it in full dress, cocked hat and epaulettes, and his staff and unit commanders gathered about him and waited in the hot sun. The Admiral's barge waited at the landing stage of the U. S. S. Illinois, the training ship for local Naval Reserve units. When the official callers did not appear the marine guard was allowed to fall out. At noon the meal pennant was hoisted to the fore yardarm of the Texas as the crew went to dinner. A little later the great "flying fleet" swept by. The planes, in echelon and line-of-bearing formation, circled and turned, and the gold-braided officers forgot the official calls and watched their comrades of the air.

Commissioner Whalen and Mr. McKee finally arrived at 12:20. Mr. Whalen was accompanied by two of his aides in the Police Department, Inspector Harry Lobdell and Inspector Thomas McDonald. The call lasted only a few minutes and most of it was consumed by impatient photographers. Then, just as the first liberty boats, full of sailors with broad grins on their faces and money in their pockets, were shoving off all along the river, Admiral Pratt left the Texas to return the call of Mr. McKee at the City Hall.

He was accompanied by Admiral Nulton, Vice Admiral Bostwick and other high ranking officers of the fleet. The naval officers were received by both Mr. McKee and Mr. Whalen and were again welcomed to New York. In a brief speech broadcast over WNYC, the municipal broadcasting station, Mr. McKee called upon all New Yorkers to accord every hospitality to the 30,000 visitors.

Men Get Shore Leave.

That ended yesterday's official ceremonies, but it only started the day for the enlisted men and officers, who poured ashore all afternoon at the various landing stages along the Hudson. Many of them received short leaves, and half of the crews got permission to stay ashore until 8 o'clock this morning. The large motor launches from the battleships did not return empty, however, for all of the ships allowed visitors until 5 P. M.

After supper persons along Riverside Drive were treated to a searchlight display from 9 until 10 o'clock. The display will be continued nightly for the same hours while the ships are in port.

No official party has been arranged for the visitors until tonight, when the officers of the fleet will be entertained at a dinner at the Hotel Astor. Many unofficial entertainments, however, have been planned and tickets to many amusements and resorts have been offered to the enlisted men.

According to fleet officials, visitors will be welcomed daily between 1 and 5 P. M. to any of the ships moored in the Hudson, or to the twenty-four destroyers, the light cruiser Concord and the destroyer tender Dobbin, berthed at Piers 15 and 16, Stapleton, S. I. The ships in the Navy Yard, including the battleships Wyoming and Tennessee, which entered port previously, will allow visitors at various hours as designated by their commanding officers.

The supply ship Arctic is anchored off Yonkers, far above the remainder of the fleet. It is believed that she will be joined shortly by the hospital ship Relief, which is now anchored off 120th Street, with the rest of the fleet.

CURTIS UNAFFECTED BY HOUSE 'COURTESY'

Vice President for All Leeway in Senator's Talk, Despite Thrust by Longworth.

STANDS ON FREE DEBATE

Members of Upper Branch May Continue References to Lower, but Not Vice Versa.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Vice President Curtis appeared in no disposition today to change his ruling allowing Senators in debate to talk about the House or members of the lower body, following Speaker Longworth's veiled thrust of yesterday. Thus the heads of the two branches of Congress seem definitely at loggerheads over parliamentary courtesy.

The last act was that of Speaker Longworth, who, yesterday, in an apparently staged affair, "turned the other cheek" to the Vice President by again refusing to let a member of the House speak disparagingly of a Senator. Mr. Longworth's ruling was against Representative La Guardia of New York, who gave a cue that he was about to launch into an attack on Senator Shortridge for withholding information disclosed before the Shearer committee, of which he was chairman.

A point of order was raised against Mr. La Guardia by Representative Snell of New York. Mr. Longworth, at the end of a 1,200-word statement, said in effect that so long as he was Speaker he would not allow Representatives to talk about Senators, no matter what the presiding officer at the other end of the Capitol ruled.

Mrs. Longworth, whose tilts with Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of and official hostess for the Vice President, over social precedence, have been a Washington event, witnessed the incident from the Speaker's gallery.

Vice President Curtis still contends that he was acting with ample precedent when a few days ago he declined to stop Senator Norris when, speaking rather directly, Mr. Norris imputed unworthy motives to Speaker Longworth in withholding from committee the Norris resolution to end "lame duck" session. The Vice President has made it evident that he does not intend to change his mind.

LINDBERGH TRIES PLANE.

Takes Guggenheim Up in New Amphibian at Roosevelt Field.

Special to The New York Times.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., May 7.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Harry F. Guggenheim, Ambassador to Cuba, visited this field today and spent nearly an hour in the air. Colonel Lindbergh first demonstrated the flying qualities of his new Lockheed Sirius. They made a half-hour flight in the big black and red record-holder and then landed.

As they were leaving the field Colonel Lindbergh noticed the new Sikorsky single-motored amphibian which was standing on the line. A. P. Seversky, Sikorsky test pilot, offered to let him take it up, and the Colonel, Mr. Guggenheim and Lieutenant Phillips Melville, Air Attaché at the American Embassy in Cuba, climbed aboard. They flew the amphibian across to the North Shore and the Colonel set it down on the waters of Long Island Sound. They returned to Roosevelt Field after twenty minutes of flying and left in an automobile.

NAVY AIR 'ATTACK' AWES CITY CROWDS

COVER AREA IN 30 MINUTES

Traffic Halted as Aerial Armada Appears First Time in Full Force—Officers at Air Show.

New York, the greatest city in the New World, learned dramatically yesterday how defenseless her millions are against an attack from the air. Between noon and 12:30 the air forces of the United States Navy, gathering from two bases 100 miles apart and after flying 200 miles more, concentrated over the city. They covered every part of it in a thirty-minute manoeuvre. The air fleet appeared first in the haze above the lower harbor and flew north to Van Cortlandt Park. Then the planes circled in perfect formations, flying for the most part in "echelons of Vs" and the spectacular "V of Vs" and flew southward.

Millions saw them from the streets, parks and the tops of office buildings. In congested areas traffic stopped while car drivers and traffic policemen quit their duties to watch the progress of the perfectly aligned ranks of the navy's fighting planes.

"What couldn't they do to us if they dumped some bombs and gas," a policeman wearing World War service stripes said as he gazed upward from Times Square.

Could Wipe Out the City.

"Such a fleet could wipe out the city in minutes," Lieut. Commander A. E. Montgomery, who led the parade in a big Hornet-powered Martin bomber, said in answer to the same question later in the day.

Since the opening of the Air Show at Madison Square Garden last Saturday night the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce has stressed its educational features. The lessons taught at the Garden have been drawn from commercial aviation. Yesterday's display over the city is believed to have emphasized a need for an adequate air force which can come only with a strong aviation industry.

The navy fliers were brought here, it was revealed, at the request of the chamber and the expenses of the fliers while they are the guests of the city were guaranteed personally by James C. Willson, C. M. Keys, Hugh Baker, Richard F. Hoyt, J. Cheever Cowdin, Stuart Reed, E. A. Pearce, W. Averill Harriman and Robert H. Lehman.

The first division of the aerial armada left Anacostia, the navy's field in Washington, shortly before 9 o'clock. Captain Kenneth Whiting, chief of staff of the aircraft squadrons attached to the fighting fleet, was in command and Lieut. Commander Montgomery led the manoeuvres yesterday. There were thirty-six Martin torpedo planes, capable of carrying nearly a ton each of high explosive, and twenty-seven Vought Corsairs, lighter and faster, whose load is 500 pounds each of bombs and torpedoes. In addition there were six attending planes, three Loenings, three Fords and a Sikorsky carrying mechanics. All in the fleet were equipped with radio and took their orders in the air from Commander Montgomery.

Flew Over Forest Fires.

Over Miller Field, S. I., they curved into a giant circle, arriving there at 11:25. A few minutes later they were joined by the fighters, Wasp-powered Boeings and Curtiss Seahawks, which took off at 8:30 A. M. from Hampton Roads, Va. As the small single-seaters came out of the forst fire smoke and haze over New Jersey, the leading V straightened the curve of its circle a trifle and the whole circle widened to let in the new arrivals. At 11:45 A. M. every one of the 134 planes was in its place, wing to wing and close behild its leader. For ten minutes more they continued in stately procession over Miller Field and then Commander Montgomery and his Martins headed for Manhattan.

"It was so hazy that we flew a compass course across the bay and did not pick up the city until close upon the high buildings," Commander Montgomery said.

Smoke from forest fires added to smoke from the city and a haze from the sea made visibility exceedingly bad. Every plane in the formation, every pilot at the controls in that parade had been flying for a year or more in just such formations, using as landing fields the decks of the Saratoga, Lexington and Langley, now in dry dock at Hampton Roads. It was the first time, however, that such a manoeuvre had been carried out over New York City, and the first time that so many planes had been gathered in a single action.

All Land at Valley Stream.

Twice covering Manhattan from river to river and from the Bronx to the Battery the air fleet turned over Brooklyn, proceeded to the Curtiss Airport at Valley Stream and landed. On the ground in charge of the temporary naval base there, was Captain Whiting who had flown with the parade in a Corsair, and Lieutenant R. F. Whitehead. The Martins, first to land, stirred up great clouds of dust through which the others had to come, but every plane came down safely and they all were lined up quickly. Mechanics piled out and at once started to wash down the ships and motors and to cover them for the night.

This morning they will take off for a day's "attack" on the principal cities of New England, going over Bridgeport, New Haven, Providence, Hartford and turning back toward New York at Boston. Late in the afternoon they will appear again over the city. They will parade once more at noon tomorrow and then go back to Hampton Roads.

In New York City the officers are staying at the Governor Clinton Hotel. During the evening many of the navy fliers visited the aircraft show. Their performance over the city turned what was scheduled as International Day at the show into "Navy Day," yet the international program was carried out.

In the afternoon Major George Thenault, wartime commander of the Lafayette Escadrille, and French Air Attaché at Washington, and Colonel Ralph O'Neill, president of the New York Rio & Buenos Aires Line, spoke. In the evening Colonel James Fitzmaurice, transatlantic flier, and J. T. Trippe, president of Pan American Airways, addressed the crowd in the Garden.

Captain Kenneth Whiting and Lieut. Commander E. A. Montgomery visited the show last night and broadcast brief speeches over the Garden radio station. They outlined their plans for today when they intend to fly their battle fleet over New England. A description of the flight over the city was broadcast during its progress yesterday over the National Broadcasting Company network.

Mrs. James Walker, wife of the Mayor, last night christened, on the main floor of the Garden, The Commodore, a huge twenty-passenger flying boat that will be used on the New York-Rio-Buenos Aires line.

HOOVER SEES FLIGHT START.

Stands at Attention at White House as Squadrons Pass.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—President Hoover stood at attention at the White House this morning as the sixty-six naval planes of the battle fleet, which had stopped here over night, left for the demonstration flight over New York City at noon today with sixty-eight other planes from the battle fleet, which had proceeded direct from Hampton Roads.

This was reported to Admiral W. V. Pratt, Commander-in-Chief of the United States fleet, on his flagship, the Battleship Texas, in the North River off New York City by Ernest Lee Jahncke, Acting Secretary of the Navy, in the following message:

"The President witnessed the naval planes as they left Washington for New York this morning. He was very much interested in the splendid demonstration and stood at attention until the last plane was out of sight. He wishes to congratulate the officers for the military precision with which squadron after squadron in formation passed over the White House."

Springfield New Link in Air Line.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 7 (AP).—Springfield will be linked by air with Boston, New York and Albany, beginning tomorrow, when twice-daily return trips to Boston and New York and one daily return trip to Albany will be inaugurated by New England and Western Airways, which for the last two months has provided twice-daily service between this city and Hartford and Bridgeport, Conn. Under the new schedule, the latter two cities will become flag stops on the New York line.

FLIES WITH SHIP MAIL 300 MILES OFF BRITAIN

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 7.—About 300 miles west of Land's End a seaplane was catapulted into the air from the deck of the German liner Bremen today and mail from America for Great Britain and Germany was delivered so much ahead of the usual schedule that the service will be used regularly whenever the weather is favorable.

Seaplanes will be dispatched both from the Bremen and the Europa, the newest vessels on the Atlantic, on the eastward crossing. They will call at Southampton to land any British mail bearing express air stamps, but the chief purpose of the service will be to reduce the time for American and German mail.

Dinner to Honor Dr. J. S. Roberts.

Mayor Walker, Superintendent William J. O'Shea and George J. Ryan, president of the Board of Education, are expected to attend.

HOP TODAY PLANNED BY GOLDSBOROUGH

FIRST LAP TO EL PASO

Junior Transcontinental Record Holder Is Guest of Leaders in West Coast Air Industry.

By FRANK GOLDSBOROUGH.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—I started the day off by being one of the honorary guests at the Breakfast Club, sharing the distinction with Governor Young of California.

After leaving there I had my plane inspected by Department of Commerce officials, who advised that, while the damage to the wing was not serious, yet it should be repaired before the return flight. The plane is now in the hands of the Aero Corporation of California, having the damaged wing replaced by a new wing. Also the motor is being serviced and conditioned for the take-off tomorrow morning.

I plan to take of at 7 A. M. on the return flight to New York.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce here and other civic organizations will be represented at the take-off. A letter has been given me by the aviation department of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce to be delivered in New York to the Junior Chamber of that city. The Standard Flying School, which is using the same type of plane as my craft, are planning a formation of five planes to escort me at the start.

While at the Aero Corporation Field, I have had the opportunity to meet many of the students and the faculty of this school.

I am surprised to find so many women fliers in the Southwest. At present there are thirty-one licensed women fliers in Los Angeles alone.

I had a long talk this afternoon with Edith Bond, a local aviatrix, who told me about the dedication of Marguerite Perry's Airport at Culver City, to be held Friday. She tells me that the air meet and dedication will be strictly a women fliers' affair. Girl fliers are coming in from all over the State to participate in the program.

The reception here has been most cordial and the hospitality excellent. C. M. Fuller, president of the Richfield Company gave a dinner in my honor last night, attended by over 500 persons active in the local aviation industry.

After the plane has been tested and fueled for the take-off, I plan on retiring early tonight, as, much as I would like to see more of the city, tomorrow will be a hard day and I want to get a good night's rest. I expect to be in El Paso by tomorrow night and from there will proceed over the same routs by which I came out.

SAYS CRUISING SPEEDS LIMIT AIR PROGRESS

Lieut. Williams, Former Navy Flier, Tells Engineers Industry Must Make Swifter Planes.

The series of meetings of the Society of Automotive Engineers held in connection with the New York Air Show was ended yesterday in the Park Central Hotel. Following discussions and lectures at the meetings Lieutenant Alford J. Williams Jr., formerly of the government air forces, predicted that any further advance in aviation must be limited by the increase in cruising speeds of aircraft.

Before an audience of 200 of the leading engineers of the aircraft industry the former Navy flier discussed speed in the air and its commercial possibilities. He declared that the problem of research in air speeds was one of the responsibilities of the industry and not of the Government bureaus, pointing out that this belief was contrary to popular opinion. He added that the recent conclusion of the experiments of the British Air Ministry which resulted in establishing 357 miles an hour as a standard for supreme performance in the Schneider Cup races and the subsequent turning over of the collected data to the British airplane manufacturing industry should be emulated here. The common American practice of adding higher powered engines to prevailing models will not solve the speed problem or help the American aviation industry to keep pace with foreign competition, he said.

In another part of his address he declared that speeds of 100 miles an hour within ten seconds of a standing start were practical and harmless even to uninitiated passengers.

Other features of the final day's session of the engineering society included a lecture on the giant Dornier Do-X of Germany, which took 169 persons into the air on its maiden flight, and a review of commercial aviation from the military point of view by Major Leslie MacDill of the Army Air Corps.

E. E. Wilson, president of the Sikorsky Aviation Corporation, speaking last night at the joint dinner of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce and the Society of Automotive Engineers, referred to the navy air manoeuvres yesterday as an indication of the development of air transportation.

Colonel Henry Breckenridge presided. Among those who took part in informal discussions were Major Lanphier, Commander J. C. Hunsaker and G. M. Bellanca.

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 7.—The death toll from the gasoline tank blast at the Fokker Aircraft Corporation plant at Teterboro Friday reached three today when Edwin Eberle, 17-year-old son of Jacob Eberle, president of the Board of Health, died early today at the Hackensack Hospital.

BILL FOR METAL AIRSHIP.

Concurrent Measure in Congress Asks Fund for Purchase.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The purchase of a metal-clad airship of 100 tons lifting power, and costing not more than $4,500,000, is proposed in a bill introduced concurrently in the Senate and House of Representatives by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Representative Florence P. Kahn of California.

The ship would be built to the specifications of the Secretary of War, but would be ordered primarily "for the purpose of further developing the art of metal-clad airship construction and increasing air transport facilities in the Army Air Corps."

The bill also specifies that the airship might be leased to private parties in order to demonstrate its commercial value.

YOUNG WARNS BANKS ON CREDIT EXTENSION

AMERICA'S PLACE STRESSED

Our Prosperity Gravely Concerns World, He Tells Bankers' Council at Old Point Comfort.

Special to The New York Times.

OLD POINT COMFORT, Va., May 7.—America is the very centre of the world picture, and its prosperity or depression is a matter of grave concern throughout the world, Governor Roy A. Young of the Federal Reserve Board declared here tonight in warning bankers of the United States that they have a heavy responsibility to the entire country to maintain the financial equilibrium.

Governor Young addressed the executive committee of the American Bankers' Association, opening his discussion with praise for the large commercial banks and the Federal Reserve System for its courageous and prompt action in the stock market slump, and concluded with a strong warning that the bankers had a responsibility to the country at large as well as to their individual customers in extension of credit.

"In practical and concrete language, we bankers have a responsibility beyond our own balance-sheets for the general course of events," Governor Young said.

"We must look beyond the safety of the collateral offered us for a loan to the safety of the aggregate volume of collateral that we know is being offered for loans at all the banks.

"When we see an unhealthy development getting under way, we must not only protect our own immediate institution but must take a broader view and act with reference to the interests of the entire community."

Discusses Brokers' Loans.

Governor Young declared that the key banks should remember that "brokers' loans, and security loans in general, are safe only because there is an insistent market for the collateral.

"Large sales of collateral, though they not impair the solvency of a particular bank, result in a drop in the value of the collateral back of more than one-half of the bank credit outstanding in this country, and there is no telling where such a drop may terminate and what catastrophe may follow in its wake.

"Let such a bank remember also that the resources of the Federal Reserve System are not inexhaustible; that such another three weeks like those that occurred last Autumn may come at a time when these resources will be more nearly use dup."

Governor Young said that this is not philanthropy, nor even public spirit, though "we can well afford to cultivate a public spirit," but merely enlightened self-interest.

The banker, he remarked, profits from general prosperity and suffers from general depression, and he can therefore "reconcile a course of action taken with a view to the preservation of general business stability with the most hard-boiled attitude toward life that some of us like to boast of in spirit."

"We can congratulate ourselves on at least a part of our activity during the period preceding the market break, during the break itself and the subsequent readjustment," said Governor Young.

"And yet there is food for serious thought in the fact that, under our excellent banking system and with our unexcelled financial strength, we nevertheless came to the brink of a collapse, had to resort to heroic action to prevent a panic and were not able to avert a period of violent disorganization, followed by severe liquidation and what appears to be a business depression.

"Is this unavoidable? Is it necessary for this country to go through periods of reckless exuberance, accompanied by enormous credit expansion and by fantastic levels of money rates that profoundly disturb the financial and business structure, not only here but all over the world? And to have these periods culminate in abrupt reversals, violent liquidation and a feeling of discouragement and depression?

"If all this is inevitable, it is very regrettable, for the cost of these excesses is borne throughout the land, with echoes across the ocean, in languishing enterprise, in unemployment and in general depression.

Finds Weakness Lies in Strength.

"We are no longer an isolated young country, with unlimited resources but with no important influence on world affairs. On the contrary, we are in the very centre of the world picture, and our prosperity or depression is a matter of grave concern throughout the world.

"We have two-fifths of the world's stock of monetary gold; we have financial claims on the rest of the world larger than any nation ever had, and we have a market for equities in enterprise which for breadth, volume of operations, as well as violence of movement, has no equal in the world.

"As bankers, we cannot but feel the heavy responsibility which this pre-eminence places on our shoulders.

"One weakness in our banking structure arises, paradoxically enough, from its very strength. Because we are strong and have great resources, because we have ample gold reserves, and because we have a Federal Reserve System that stands ready to help us in emergencies, we are a little inclined to depend on our ultimate power to pull ourselves out of difficulties, and not to exert our utmost efforts to avoid these difficulties.

"Prior to the establishment of the Federal Reserve System the great metropolitan banks were the last resort of the country's banking system; on them rested the ultimate responsibility for avoiding catastrophe," Mr. Young continued.

"And though these banks were not always able to avoid it, they were never entirely free from the feeling that it was their duty so to conduct their own affairs as not to endanger the financial fabric of the country.

"I fear that to some extent this feeling of joint responsibility has relaxed as the result in part of confidence that the Federal Reserve System is ready to stand by in the hour of need.

"The banks still feel the responsibility to their stockholders and to their depositors, but when it comes to responsibility to the country at large there is a tendency to 'let George do it.'

"And yet I am convinced that to an increasing, rather than a diminishing, extent the great key banks have a general public responsibility, less direct but no less binding than their duty to their own depostiors and proprietors.

Cooperative Action Is Urged.

"In other countries, where banking development has been longer, and banking concentration has proceeded further, certain methods of control have been developed. A customer in England is not granted unlimited credit on the basis of security offered as collateral; he is granted a line of credit in accordance with his credit standing and the requirements of his business, and he cannot easily exceed that line no matter how much collateral he may be able to present.

"I am not prepared to recommend to you this or any other specific course of action, but I do feel justified in calling your attention to our joint responsibilities and to suggest that what we need is cooperative action in the development of sound banking tradition, which alone will give assurance to the country of a lasting stability of its financial organization.

"To such cooperation I pledge my whole-hearted support."

INDIANA RENAMES HOUSE INCUMBENTS

All These Are Counted as Dry, but in Other Contests a Wet Is Close to Republican Place.

LONG BALLOT SHOWS TALLY

Most of Victors of Both Parties in Primary, However, Are Now Pretty Well Known.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 7.—In the latest unofficial returns from yesterday's state-wide primary, Ira M. Holmes, an Indianapolis "wet," tonight was only a few hundred votes behind Archibald M. Hall, a "dry," for the Republican Congressional nomination here.

Because of the unprecedentedly long ballot, the outcome of the elections still is uncertain in several contests. However, it is known that all thirteen sitting members of Congress from Indiana have been renominated.

Representative Louis Ludlow, former Washington newspaper man, was renominated, 15 to 1, by Indianapolis Democrats. Representative Harry Rowbottom has piled up a big lead over Bruce E. Cooper, Republican chairman in the First District.

John W. Boehne Jr. leads First District Democratic candidates. Samuel B. Pettingill, South Bend, running as an avowed "wet," won the Thirteenth District Democratic nomination. He will oppose Representative Andrew J. Hickey of La Porte.

All incumbent Representatives are supported by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserts that Indiana has not elected a "wet" to the House or Senate since the war.

Representative David Hogg of Fort Wayne is the Twelfth District Republican Congressional nominee. Thomas P. Riddle will be the Democrat opposing him.

Despite determined opposition, Representative Albert R. Vestal of Anderson apparently retains the Eighth District Republican nomination. He will be opposed by Claude C. Ball, Democrat, of Muncie.

Ray Sisson, Second District; Noble Johnson, Fifth; Richard N. Elliott, Sixth, and Albert R. Hall, Eleventh, appeared easy winners for the Republican nomination from their respective districts.

On the Democratic side Eugene B. Crowe of Bedford appeared to be the Congressional nominee in the Third District; Courtland C. Gillen of Green Castle, in the Fifth; Walter M. Meyers of Shelbyville, in the Sixth; Charles J. Murphy of Brookston, in the Tenth, and Glen Griswold of Peru, in the Eleventh.

Representatives Arthur Greenwood of Washington, in the Second District, and Harry C. Canfield of Batesville, in the Fourth District, were unopposed for Democratic renomination.

REPORT IN COOLEY CASE EXPECTED TOMORROW

Grand Jurors Declared to Have Disagreed on Number of Indictments to Be Returned.

The May grand jury, which is investigating allegations of conspiracy and pay-roll padding in the General Sessions Probation Bureau under Edwin J. Cooley, who resigned last Monday, ended the questioning of witnesses yesterday. It was understood the grand jurors would report tomorrow on their findings to Judge Donnellan in General Sessions.

A report of several heated discussions among the grand jurors on the evidence said that some of them disagreed on whether indictments should be returned. It also was reported that, that while there was a tentative agreement to return an indictment against one person, the grand jurors were undecided as to whether the evidence justified indictments against two others.

At the beginning of the investigation Assistant District Attorney Hastings announced he would ask for indictments against Cooley and two others in connection with the employment of Cooley's sister, Mrs. Marguerite F. Lawler, as provisional chief clerk of the bureau.

Mrs. Lawler was committed last Tuesday to an institution for the mentally unsound by County Judge Thorn in Buffalo. Ten days previously Cooley suffered a nervous breakdown and is a patient in St. Vincent's Hospital. He is not expected to be discharged from the hospital until Saturday.

A presentment also may be handed up to Judge Donnellan tomorrow by the April grand jury, which was held over by request of District Attorney Crain to continue its general investigation of conditions in the bureau under Cooley, it was said.

Magistrate Simpson in the Tombs Court yesterday postponed until Wednesday the hearing in the summons proceeding brought by two discharged employes of the Probation Bureau, alleging that Cooley caused a libelous statement to be published about them.

TO REVIEW 107TH TONIGHT.

Ambassador Tellez of Mexico Will Dine With Guard Officers Here.

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP).—Ambassador Manuel C. Tellez of Mexico, dean of the diplomatic corps, will review the 107th Infantry Regiment of the New York National Guard tomorrow evening at its armory in New York.

Accompanied by Señora Tellez, Dr. Pablo Campos-Ortiz, first secretary of the Mexican Embassy; Señora Campos-Ortiz, Colonel Francisco J. Aguilar, Military Attaché, and Señora De Aguilar, the Ambassador will go to New York tomorrow morning and will review the regiment, under command of Colonel Ralph C. Tobin, following a dinner for the diplomatic guests at Mayfair House. The dinner will be attended by staff officers and a few veterans of the 107th Regiment. A dinner was planned also for Señora Tellez.

Ambassador Tellez will return to Washington tomorrow night, accompanied by all of the party except Colonel Aguilar, who will proceed to West Point for the first stop on a several week's tour of inspection of the country's military schools.

Officials Honor Daniel J. Manning.

City and State officials and representatives of veterans' organizations paid tribute last night to Daniel J. Manning, chairman of the New York County Democratic Veterans' Committee at a testimonial dinner in Mecca Temple, 135 West Fifty-fifth Street. Among the speakers was Albert Conway, State Superintendent of Insurance.

7TH DAY OF HEAT SETS RECORD OF 87

with bathers yesterday afternoon and the total number visiting the resort was estimated at 100,000. A brief thunderstorm sent them scurrying for cover late in the afternoon, but within a few minutes it had passed and the heat continued without noticeable abatement.

Outdoor classes came into vogue at Rutgers University. At the request of undergraduate committees seven instructors adjourned their classes to the shady campus in front of old Queen's College, where the students took their ease on the grass with coats and neckties doffed.

Asbury Park and Atlantic City both reported unusual throngs for so early in the year. At the latter resort a shift in the wind brought the temperature down 10 degrees from the 90 recorded on Tuesday. It was one of the few spots in the East to benefit by a drop.

Severe thunder squalls, accompanied by a miniature tornado, swept over Eastern Massachusetts last night and broke the heat wave. Two airplanes were wrecked by the wind at the Boston airport, a coal lighter was sunk in the upper harbor and a trawler was blown from the fish pier into the Castle Island Breakwater, half a mile away, where tugs rescued it.

An eight-oared shell, in which Harvard undergraduates were practicing on the Charles River, was driven against the Beacon Street seawall by the squall and sunk. The oarsmen were picked up by a crew launch and the shell was later retrieved.

Snowstorm in Sierras.

VISALIA, Cal., May 7 (AP).—A heavy snow was falling today over the entire Sierra Nevada Range in Tular County as low as the Ash Mountains Sequoia Park headquarters, where "old timers" said they had never before seen snow in May.

FIVE ARE SENTENCED IN ARSON PLOT HERE

COURTS IN JOINT SESSION

Federal and State Tribunals Impose Concurrent Terms—Three Go to Atlanta.

Five defendants who pleaded guilty last month to Federal and State indictments charging mail fraud and arson were sentenced yesterday to terms in Atlanta Penitentiary and Sing Sing by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard and General Sessions Judge Max S. Levine, sitting at a joint session in the Federal building.

Joseph Eisenstein, "firebug," who according to his own confession kindled blazes on a contingency fee basis, charging $3,000 a fire, and received his pay from insurance, was sentenced to not less than twelve and a half years nor more than twenty-five years in Sing Sing.

Judge Levine also sentenced Ben Greenberg, one of the alleged conspirators in the fires started last June in Lerner & Greenberg's fur shop, 214 West Twenty-ninth Street, and in Louis Dachis's fur store at 213 West Twenty-seventh Street, to not less than three nor more than ten years in the same prison.

Louis Dachis, who it is charged conspired with the others to present false insurance claims of $142,000, was sentenced by Judge Goddard, on mail fraud charges, to serve three years in Atlanta.

Jacob Dachis, his brother, and Hyman Lerner, who with Greenberg confessed that they presented fraudulent claims of $21,000, were each sentenced to serve a year and a day in the same penitentiary. When sentencing had proceeded this far Judge Levine then sentenced the Dachis brothers and Lerner to terms parallel to those imposed by Judge Goddard, these sentences to run concurrently.

Judge Goddard then sentenced Eisenstein and Greenberg to terms of five and three years, respectively, specifying that these sentences should run concurrently with those imposed upon the same defendants by Judge Levine.

The five conspirators appeared before Judge Goddard and Judge Levine on April 16 and pleaded guilty to Federal and State indictments at the second joint session of these courts ever held. The first session of this kind was held at the trial of Clarke Brothers, following the failure of their private bank.

Sentences were imposed yesterday after the joint court had listened to the statements of Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy, Thomas J. Curran, Assistant United States Attorney, and James A. McDonald, Assistant District Attorney. The Fire Marshal told the judges that firemen had incurred great danger on June 29 when alcohol used to start the fire caused an explosion in the shop of Louis Dachis.

Former Judge Francis X. Mancuso and David P. Siegel, who appeared for the defendants, made pleas for leniency.

Bans Liquor Sales on Pay Days.

MOSCOW, May 7 (AP)—A decree prohibiting the sale of vodka, wines and other alcoholic drinks on workers' pay days was issued today by the Commissariat for Home Affairs. Such sale is prohibited when wages are paid out in all cities and towns. The decree also borbids the sale of liquor on revolutionary holidays.

HARVARD SCRUBWOMEN TO GET CONSIDERATION

Corporation, on Plea by Group of Students, Will Take Up Case of 20 Discharged.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 7.—The Harvard Corporation will reconsider the case of the twenty Widener Library scrubwomen, their back pay and their discharge just before Christmas, it was made known today after a conference between two members of the Harvard Square Deal Association and Charles P. Curtis Jr. of the corporation. A meeting of the corporation is scheduled for tomorrow and it is expected that the scrubwomen's case will be taken up.

Tilford E. Dudley of Charlestown, Ill., a second-year law student, president of the Square Deal Association, which consists of undergraduates of the college, the law school and the business school, and Edward B. Ginsburg of Brooklyn, N. Y., a sophomore in the college, who began the movement on behalf of the scrubwomen and is chairman of the executive committee of the Square Deal Association, were the student conferees.

"Because of the indefiniteness of the administration's intentions," Dudley said, with Ginsburg assenting, "we are continuing with our movement to raise funds to pay back these women. There is, however, a very faint possibility that the university will pay the women back itself, but the vagueness of the assurance and the remoteness of the possibility that it will pay them make it impossible for us to abandon our movement on the basis of what we have learned this afternoon.

"On May 14 we are running a ball and benefit entertainment in Brattle Hall, Cambridge, to pay them what we believe due them. We will pay them what we believe is due them on the basis of their time schedules."

The scrubwomen were dismissed soon after the State Minimum Wage Commission made public the fact that it had told the Harvard authorities the women were not getting the full legal scale. The college explained that it had been decided previously to replace the women with male employes.

BAR BRITISH FINANCIER HERE ON LONDON PLEA

Immigration Officials Exclude John Field—Must Face Charge in England.

John Field, English financier, who arrived late Tuesday night on the White Star liner Olympic and was detained by immigration authorities at the request of the British Consul General, Sir Harry Gloster Armstrong, was ordered excluded by a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island yesterday. The technical ground for the decision was that Field might stop in the United States beyond the permit granted on the visa obtained by him at the United States Consulate in London for a six months' visit.

A representative of the British Consulate, acting upon instructions from the Foreign Office in London, had obtained a warrant signed by Federal Commissioner Cotter for his arrest on the charge of having kept $300,000 from creditors, in bankruptcy proceedings in London.

Edward H. Lockwood, 32 Broadway, lawyer for the British Consulate, said the warrant had not been used, as the immigration officials had ordered Field excluded and he made no appeal. He will return to England on the Olympic tomorrow night.

Mrs. Field, who also was on the Olympic, accompanied her husband to Ellis Island yesterday and was permitted to land. She had intended to visit friends in Canada, but decided to return with her husband.

REICH GROUP PASSES ITEMS FOR DEFENSE

Groener Foils Left's Attack—Budgetary Commission Votes Confidence in Him.

SEES MEN BETTER TREATED

Minister, Replying to Socialists, Says He Demands Soldiers Shall Receive Respect.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 7.—The number of suicides in the Reichswehr dropped from 184 in 1924, to 79 during 1929, according to a statement made by General Groener during today's hearing on the budget of the Ministry of Defense by the Reichstag Budgetary Commission.

A Communist Deputy, who directed a vigorous barrage of criticism concerning the funds demanded by General Groener, was requested to submit data on the number of suicides in the Soviet Army. The radical hecklers who brandished their pruning knives, seeking to curtail the Reich's defense expenditures, made no headway today and most of the items in the budget were allowed, among them being one providing 1,000,000 marks (about $238,000) to "be placed at the disposition of the Minister of Defense, for special purposes." "This appropriation," General Groener said, "calls for implicit confidence in the Minister, and I request such confidence." This was favorably voted.

One Socialist charged preferential treatment was being accorded to officers in connection with health allowances, as a result of which their wives were enabled to get better dental treatment than those of men of lower rank.

Denying charges of the mistreatment of Reichswehr soldiers, General Groener said to the commission:

"We roundly condemn every degrading treatment of a German soldier and every instance that comes to my notice is severely dealt with. The offenders are summarily removed.

"With the exception of a few rare cases, conditions in the Reichswehr in this respect have had a most favorable development. A non-commissioned officer is not entitled to inflict punishment, nor can such a privilege be conferred on him by his superior. We demand that our soldiers be treated as human beings—with respect and consideration. I expect of my superior officers that they be men of character and that they shall not seek to conceal their shortcomings by abusing the men in the ranks."

The commission will investigate the naval budget tomorrow, when the proposal to set aside $700,000 for beginning the work on the second of Germany's 10,000-ton armored ships will probably be rejected without much debate, as the majority of the parties represented on the budget commission, including the Centrists and Democrats, will support the Socialists in opposing further naval expansion.

Prince Louis of Monaco Voids Council's Election as Illegal

By The Associated Press.

MONTE CARLO, May 7.—Prince Louis of Monaco has issued a decree annulling the election of the entire National Council as "having been carried out contrary to the Constitution."

Prince Louis designates May 17 and 18 as dates of a new election.

The general elections of the principality were held on March 30, when the party of the Prince, represented by Mayor Eugene Marquet, won overwhelmingly. The delegates chosen then met on Sunday last and elected the National Council, which Prince Louis today averred was not the one which the population had instructed them in its mandate of March 31 to choose.

OPTIMISTIC ON THE CHACO.

Paraguayan Paper Forecasts Agreement With Bolivia.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, May 7.—El Diario, which is in close touch with the government, commenting today on the renewal of diplomatic relations between Bolivia and Paraguay, says there is every reason to expect a satisfactory issue of the approaching negotiations for settling the boundary dispute in the Chaco.

"Although the Bolivian and Paraguayan theses are directly opposed to each other, Continental opinion weighs heavily in favor of a peaceful settlement," says the newspaper. "If war did not result from the Fort Vanguardia incident, which was the result of a violent condition, or from the incidents which followed the skirmish, there is every reason to expect that the present peaceful and friendly atmosphere will offer even greater resistance to any belligerent tendencies."

MUNICH HONORS AMERICANS

Awards Gold Rings for Services in Aid of Technical Museum.

MUNICH, Bavaria, May 7 (AP).—The Bavarian Government today awarded the gold ring of the Deutsche Museum to Felix Warburg of New York, Julius Rosenwald of Chicago and to Dr. Hugo Eckener. The rings are awarded periodically for especially meritorious service in support of this technical museum, a leading European institution.

President von Hindenburg bestowed upon Oscar von Miller, founder of the museum, the Eagle Plaque of the Reich, the highest decoration within the gift of the German Republic. The occasion was the seventy-fifth birthday of the founder. The gift was accompanied by an autograph letter in tribute to Herr Miller's conspicuous furthering of the Fatherland's technical achievements.

Chile Welcomes American Navy.

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 7 (AP).—Two hundred members of the crew of the United States Navy cruiser Pensacola arrived here today and were enthusiastically greeted when they paraded in front of the Presidential palace. Later they went to the country club before returning to Valparaiso.

FAVORED WILL VIEW PASSION PLAY TODAY

Reichstag Members, Press and Others to See Last Dress Rehearsal at Oberammergau.

ANTON LANG IS TAKEN ILL

Former Christus, Now Speaker of Prologues, Has Strained Throat—Village Quiet on Eve of Event.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria, May 7.—Anton Lang, former Christus of the Passion Play and this year's speaker of the prologues, lies abed today with a strained throat and a hoarse and weakened voice, and there is considerable doubt as to whether he will be able to speak his part in tomorrow's final dress rehearsal, to which members of the Reichstag, the national and foreign press and those whom the community of Oberammergau wishes specially to favor have been invited.

Although tomorrow's performance will mark the opening of the thirtieth series of the famous Passion Play in the fulfillment of a 300-year-old vow, there is not the slightest visible indication in the streets or houses of this little tucked away village in the Bavarian Alps that anything out of the ordinary run is about to happen.

On the eve of the recurrence of the greatest event in the community's life two actors clad in overalls and distinguishable by their long curling locks and beards ride down the main street on bicycles en route to work, another sits in the window of his little shop doing wood carving and still another apostle-to-be sits gleefully atop Oberammergau's handsome new motor street sprinkler, earnestly endeavoring to wet the ankles of friends and acquaintances as he dashes about the curving little streets, only one of which is macadamized.

Busy With Housework.

Anni Rutz, the Mary of the play, came to the door of her cottage to greet the correspondent, still wiping her hands apparently from dish drying. Johanna Preisinger, known as Hannsi, the Magdalene, left her housework at her father's inn to chat with him. She promptly wanted to know whether he had seen the pretty "pictures" of her in THE NEW YORK TIMES, betraying an infectious girlish enthusiasm at the recollection.

Her pleasure, however, in no wise obscured the seriousness with which she regards her rôle. As soon as she began to speak of the Passion her face subtly changed, betraying how highly keyed up she actually is.

"I don't know now how it feels to be Magdalene," she explained. "You see, we are two quite different persons. When I am playing I forget all about Hannsi."

Alois Lang, the Christus, striding homeward in a Norfolk jacket unbuttoned, with his curling hair—fourteen months of it—blowing in the wind, stopped to chat a moment with the correspondent. Laughingly disclaiming any special sensations, he went on to point out the underlying seriousness of the situation as far as the town is concerned.

"So many thousands want to see the play that we have been forced to great expense as a community to rebuild the theatre, improve the motor road, provide lodgings and what not, so that the success of the play from the financial point of view becomes, willy-nilly, highly important," he explained. "As you know, we are now more than $500,000 in debt, including the deficit from the 1922 inflation-period performance. That is a big burden for a little village of 2,400 inhabitants, and times have been hard here, as elsewhere in Germany. We need a new start."

Laments Crush of Visitors.

Much the same words came from Anni Rutz.

"Personally, I wish there were none of this fearful crush of visitors," she said. "Our arrangements to care for them necessitate prices comparatively high for this district. Then they say we are grasping, and that is not pleasant.

"I think those little postcard kiosks by the railway station, the first thing the visitor sees, are perfectly hateful. They are all operated by non-natives, who come from Munich and other towns, but every one thinks it is we who are making our town look like a fair ground."

It may be fairly said that the players, wholly absorbed in the religious significance of the Passion, regard the spectators as a more or less necessary evil. As two Americans stopping at the hotel observed to one another: "Their faces positively shine. They radiate something which is certainly not far removed from holiness."

This keyed-up tenseness and concentration are the only visible indication that Oberammergau is aware of the importance of tomorrow to its future welfare.

SOLDIERS WIN PREFERENCE.

Australia Again Puts Them Ahead of Unionists for Government Work.

CANBERRA, Australia, May 7 (Canadian Press).—Price Minister Scullin announced today that the government would restore the regulation which gave first preference to returned soldiers on government work contracts and second preference to trades unionists.

The recently announced decision of the government to abolish the preference to ex-soldiers unless they were also trades unionists roused a storm of indignation, and veterans' organizations all over Australia were commencing to organize a campaign to fight the government's action.

CONSTANTINE, Algeria, May 7 (AP).—Chiefs of the tribes of Eastern Algeria, their horses covered with drapes of colored silk, greeted President Doumergue when he arrived today in continuation of his journey commemorating a century of French occupation.

At the station a regiment of Zouaves rendered Presidential honors, while a squadron of airplanes circled overhead.

MAX REINHARDT HEADS GERMAN FILM CONCERN

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 7.—The negotiations in regard to the Terra Film Company have been concluded and the shares will pass into the hands of a syndicate headed by Professor Max Reinhardt, who recently bought 51 per cent of the shares, and Curtis Melnitz, former Berlin manager of the United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., of America. The other shares are controlled by United Artists, which delegated Raimond von Hofmannsthal to be a member of the board of directors, and Berlin State Theatres, which will be represented by Heinz Tietjen, general stage manager.

In a special contract the syndicate has agreed to buy all film material, including negatives for use abroad, from the German dye trust, which formerly controlled the Terra concern. German interests are further protected by a condition that all German talkies must be produced with German apparatus exclusively. Herren Reinhardt and Melnitz, who recently founded the Curtis Melnitz Productions Company with a limited partnership and capital of $5,000, signed the pooling agreement.

Professor Reinhardt intends to produce master operettas, while Herr Tietjen plans to reproduce operas in sound films. These film operas will not be reproduced in the ordinary moving picture theatre but will be reserved chiefly for the provincial theatres to relieve their financial difficulties. Special contracts will be made with members of the State opera houses, which will receive special fees. The contracts will prevent them from emigrating to America.

20 HURT IN HAITIAN FIGHT.

Two Political Groups at Jacmel in Battle Over Incendiarism Charges.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, May 7 (AP).—Word reached here today that charges of incendiarism passed between two groups of politicians at Jacmel Monday night resulted in a disturbance that caused minor injuries to twenty persons. The National Guard had restored order by yesterday morning.

The charges followed the outbreak of several fires in Port au Prince last month. The home of Colonel Richard Cutts, United States Marine Brigade commander, was destroyed the night of April 25, while a motion picture theatre and two adjoining houses burned April 30.

It was said that the Jacmel affair was in no way directed against the American occupation, but was merely a local quarrel.

Lasky to Film Pirandello Plays.

BERLIN, May 7 (AP).—Jesse Lasky, the American motion picture producer, today announced that he had obtained an option for filming four leading plays by Luigi Pirandello, to be selected. Mr. Lasky said he would try to induce Signor Pirandello to go to Hollywood and write original scenarios for the Paramount-Famous Lasky Company.

PAPAL BULL OPENS CARTHAGE CONGRESS

Cardinal Lepicier Reads Pope's Message at Tunis, Starting Eucharistic Sessions.

MAKES VISIT TO THE BEY

Eleven Ships Arrive With More Pilgrims, Including Many Americans, for the Ceremonies.

CARTHAGE, Tunisia, May 7 (AP).—In this ancient city of North Africa, where crusaders once warred against the followers of Mohammed and where thousands of Christians were made the prey of lions, the 1930 International Eucharistic Congress of the Catholic Church was officially opened after the reading of a papal bull at Tunis, ten miles away.

That ceremony, conducted by Cardinal Lepicier, the Papal Legate, began five days of prayer and pageantry in honor of the Holy Eucharist. A total of 16,000 pilgrims from all over the world is attending the congress.

A first glimpse of the splendor of the occasion was had this morning when Cardinal Lepicier with a retinue of high ecclesiastical attendants went to pay his respects to the Bey of Tunis.

Eleven more great ships arrived at Tunis today, bearing their quotas of pilgrims. Among them was the Araguaya with a large party of Americans.

Twenty-seven centuries of history looked down upon the vast assemblage which thronged this little town, once among the greatest cities in the Western world.

Carthage, which at its zenith had a population of 700,000, today has only about 200 houses, mostly the homes of Arabs. Its streets, lined with palm trees, are dominated from its highest hill by the Cathedral of St. Louis, where most of the ceremonies will take place.

The pilgrims will tread ground where more bloodshed has occurred than probably in any similar area on earth. Only Rome has seen more Christians massacred, and even Rome probably has not been the scene of more fighting.

Modern history contains no outstanding records concerning activities at Carthage. From 533 A. D. until the end of the seventh century its possession was handed about frequently. In view of the numerous wars, it is not so hard to visualize the slaughter of 450,000 inhabitants of ancient Carthage in the six days which marked Rome's final triumph in 146 B. C.

The archaeological treasures of Carthage have scarcely been touched.

Arab Students Released.

TUNIS, May 7 (AP).—Eleven Arab students arrested during the week-end for planning an anti-Catholic demonstration were released today at the request of Cardinal Lepicier, the Papal Delegate.

SUDDEN ILLNESS SAVES SINGER FROM ARREST

Mme. Rethberg of Metropolitan Finds Summons in German Suit Waiting After Concert.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DRESDEN, May 7. — Elizabeth Rethberg, the well-known Metropolitan Opera singer, spent several uncomfortable hours last night in the custody of a bailiff who demanded the immediate payment of $20,000 on behalf of the Berlin concert agency of Franz Aufrecht, failing which he served a warrant for her arrest and threatened to take her to prison.

The singer, who had just finished a concert, was taken by surprise and said she naturally was unable to produce such a large sum in the middle of the night. A Dresden lawyer, Hans Wilhelm Richter, who was in the audience, assisted Mme. Rethberg. He tried to obtain the intervention of Saxony's new Premier, Herr Schieck, Mayor Blücher and several other prominent persons, including the judge who issued the warrant, but who banged a window in the lawyer's face. His efforts were finally successful at 3 A. M., when the official court physician attested that the singer could not be detained on account of an attack of tonsilitis.

Mme. Rethberg then went to the clinic of Professor Salzberg, after promising she would await there further developments while friends were trying to raise bail.

Upon complaint of the agency's lawyer, the judge renewed the warrant today, holding that the physician's statement did not suffice. Mme. Rethberg's arrest was prevented again at the last minute late this afternoon when a telegram from a Berlin court arrived saying the amount did not need to be deposited in cash, but that a bank guarantee would be adequate, and this was finally obtained.

Mme. Rethberg said her differences with the concert agency date back to 1922, when she gave it an option. Soon afterward she received a favorable offer from an American agency, she said, and, assuming that no German firm would be able to offer the same terms, signed a contract.

In 1925 Herr Aufreecht filed suit against Mme. Rethberg, who won the case in the lower and higher courts, but was defeated in the Supreme Court at Leipzig, which decided in 1929 that she must render an account of her income.

The new hearing of the case was set for the beginning of this month. Mme. Rethberg's manager is on his way to Dresden to confer with Mme. Rethberg and her lawyer.

Mme. Rethberg hopes to recover from the tonsilitis in time to sing "Tannhäuser" Friday in Dresden.

The local press sharply criticizes the treatment of the singer.

COL. ROOSEVELT FLYING BACK FROM PORTO RICO

Island's Governor Radios From Plane He Will Seek Hoover's Interest.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 7.—While flying to the United States today Governor Theodore Roosevelt radioed from a Pan-American plane back to acting Governor Beverley to tell the people "Porto Rico is now, for me, my own home," and adding that he hoped to be able in Washington to make the island better known and understood.

In Cuba tonight and Miami tomorrow, Colonel Roosevelt plans to reach Washington by Saturday.

The Governor will spend tonight in Camaguey and en route will pass over Cuban soil, where in 1898 his father led the Rough Riders in the Spanish-American War.

Colonel Roosevelt expects to spend two weeks conferring with President Hoover and Congress on problems of Porto Rico. Aside from official business, the Governor said he wished personally to thank the organizations which have been aiding hungry children of the island and to present needs for a more adequate program.

Almost his last official act before leaving today was to sign the island budget for next year, which he cut to $300,000.

HAVANA, May 7 (AP).—Governor Roosevelt arrived at Camaguey, Eastern Cuba, today on his first trip to the United States since he became Governor of Porto Rico last October. He arrived at Port-au-Prince, Haiti, at noon. After resting there a short time he came the remaining distance to Camaguey in a little more than three hours.

Colonel Roosevelt will visit Havana tomorrow for an hour and forty-five minutes and then leave for Miami, hoping to arrive there about 3:30 P. M.

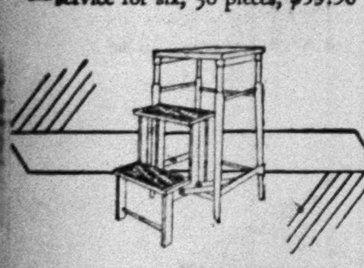
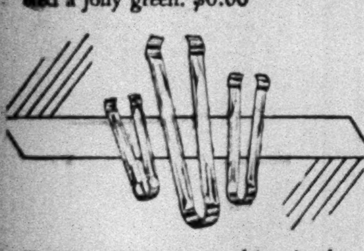
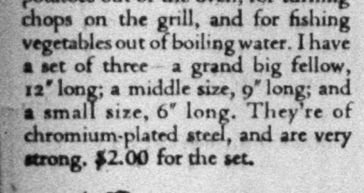
"GOSH, MOM, aren't these dishes pretty!" said one of my young hopefuls. And they certainly are. They're of Crown Ducal Ware—a sparkling white with a sprightly little flower design in a brilliant blue, orange and yellow. The plates are also rimmed with the brilliant blue—the whole effect is gay and spring-like. They were very reasonable, too—service for six, 56 pieces, $39.50



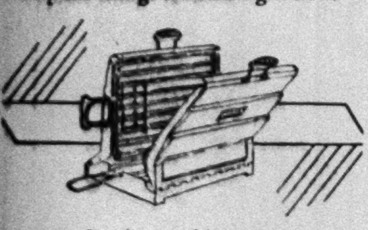
MY Superior Kitchen Stool does double duty. It's a most comfortable stool to sit on while working at table or sink. Then, tucked away underneath it are two steps that pull out, thereby transforming the stool into a handy little stepladder. The whole affair is strong, sturdy, and hasn't a wobble in its system. Enameled a jolly green. $6.00



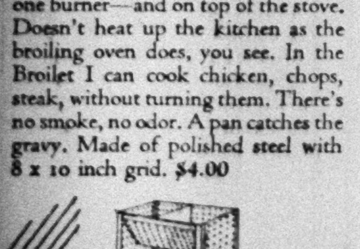
POM TONGS are nothing in the world but glorified sugar tongs. I use them for lifting things like baked potatoes out of the oven, for turning chops on the grill, and for fishing vegetables out of boiling water. I have a set of three—a grand big fellow, 12" long; a middle size, 9" long; and a small size, 6" long. They're of chromium-plated steel, and are very strong. $2.00 for the set.



I HAPPENED to see some real bargains in fine Andiron Sets. One (right) had massive scroll feet and ornamental globe tops. Of English antiqued brass, 17½" high. Had been $95.00. Now $52.50. Another (left) was topped by delicately pierced medallions. It was of English antiqued brass also, and 24" high. Reduced from $56.00 to $42.00. These are only two of the many Lewis & Conger fireplace things reduced right now.



THE Broilet is a blessing in warm weather because it broils over but one burner—and on top of the stove. Doesn't heat up the kitchen as the broiling oven does, you see. In the Broilet I can cook chicken, chops, steak, without turning them. There's no smoke, no odor. A pan catches the gravy. Made of polished steel with 8 x 10 inch grid. $4.00



THE Vegetable Binet tucks away into a corner of my kitchen. Holds fruits and vegetables. Keeps them fresh, because being perforated it permits the air to circulate freely. Has five bins, is 33" high, 20" wide, 12" deep. Made of strong steel, aluminum finish. $9.00

QUAKE HITS PERSIA; DEAD PUT AT 2,000

SHOCKS RECORDED HERE

Fordham and St. Louis Seismographs, as Well as Others in Europe, Marked Heavy Disturbances.

Special Cable to The Chicago Tribune.

TEHERAN, Persia, May 7.—Reports received here tonight state that heavy earthquakes have occurred in Urmiah, recently renamed Rezaieh, and Salmast, in the northwestern districts and have caused great destruction in every town and village. The city of Salmast was destroyed.

A total of 2,000 persons so far have been reported killed. There is no news regarding the American and European mission schools in this district, in the shadow of Mount Ararat, famous in biblical history as the spot in which Noah's ark landed.

Brussels Records Quake.

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—Seismographs of the Uccle Observatory in Brussels today reported a strong earth shock, with disturbances estimated to centre approximately 2,100 miles away in the Caucasus region. The shocks accurred at 11:44 P. M. (6.44 P. M., New York time), Tuesday.

KARLSRUHE, Germany, May 7 (AP).—The seismograph of the Polytechnic Institute registered a violent earthquake at 11:40 P. M. Tuesday (6.40 P. M., New York time), at a distance of 2,170 miles. The disturbance lasted more than two hours.

The same earthquake was recorded at the Seismographic Institute in Hamburg.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 7 (AP).—An earthquake of rather severe intensity was recorded on the seismograph of St. Louis University this morning. The first shock was recorded at 4:47 A. M., Central Standard Time (6:47 New York time), and was followed by two other shocks, the most severe one at 5:21 A. M.

Seismograph experts said the earthquake was in Siberia, south of Tobolsk.

Also Noted at Fordham.

Heavy earth shocks lasting three hours, occurring 5,600 miles from New York, were recorded on the seismograph at Fordham University Tuesday evening, the Rev. Joseph Lynch, S. J., director of the observatory, said yesterday. The first shock, Father Lynch said, a very severe one, was recorded at 6:47 P. M., and the second, equally severe, at 6:57. A series of lesser shocks followed.

Father Lynch said the quake apparently was in the neighborhood of the Caspian Sea, and that if it had occurred where there were persons and property heavy loss of life and pecuniary damage must have occurred.

Burma Casualties at 600.

RANGOON, Burma, May 7 (AP).—The casualties in Monday's earthquake today stood at 400 killed in Pegu and something over 200 killed and injured in Rangoon, according to authoritative figures.

Various reports had been circulated regarding the total. The figures today are based upon counts now going on, as obtained through communication systems which were disrupted yesterday.

DUKE OF YORK CHAFFS REPORTERS IN LONDON

Jokes About Gossipy Items, but Pays Warm Tribute to Profession in General.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—The King's second son, the Duke of York, jokingly told a group of journalists tonight that he had to rely on "gossip writers" in the popular newspapers to learn what was going on in his own family.

"If I am in doubt as to what is happening in my own home, I need only turn to the gossip in 'The Daily Wonder' to find all the information I need," said the Duke smilingly at the dinner of the Newspaper Press Fund. "It may be the latest remark or action of my daughter—though probably unknown to myself—or the fact that we have changed decoration of our London house some ten or twelve times since we first occupied it three years ago."

Viscount Rothermere, whose newspapers all include gossip columns, replied to the Duke, reminding him that the daily incidents in the lives of the royal family were of absorbing interest to the newspaper public.

"Speaking professionally, I do not know what the newspapers would do without the Duchess of York and the Princess Elizabeth," said Lord Rothermere. "There is not a newspaper office in the country in which there is not a strict instruction that the closet watch should be kept on any news affecting either of them."

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—In his speech at the dinner of the Newspaper Press Fund the Duke of York paid tribute to the race of reporters in general, saying:

"The reporter is frequently working while the rest of mankind is playing or sleeping. He is out in all kinds of weather, trying to get stories which every one seems to be conspiring to keep from him. Only those who have gone through the mill can realize how great is the strain on the staff on a modern newspaper."

RAIDED SHAKESPEARE HOME

Old Document Shows Seizure by Bailiffs After Poet's Death.

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—Researches in the calendar of the old Chancery Court have revealed a document showing that bailiffs were once in possession of Shakespeare's old home at Stratford-on-Avon, to recover judgment for debt.

"They did breake open ye doores of ye studdy of said house and rashly seize upon and take divers books, boxes, deskes and moneys," says the document.

But it was not Shakespeare's trouble. The house had passed into the hands of his daughter, and his son-in-law had contracted the debt. Shakespeare himself had died a few years before the time of this document.

LABOR LEADER SCORES M'DONALD INDIA POLICY

A. J. Muste Says Arrest of Gandhi Leaves Premier's Friends Speechless.

Attacking the British Labor Government for its use of force in India, A. J. Muste, chairman of the Conference for Progressive Labor Action, in a statement issued yesterday characterized Premier MacDonald's countenancing repressive measures as "the breakdown of an outstanding personality, which leaves his friends powerless to say a word in his defense."

"The arrest of Mahatma Gandhi by by a government of India which is, in the last analysis, responsible to the British Cabinet, headed by J. Ramsay MacDonald, is one of the major tragedies of our era," the statement reads.

"It represents a tragic failure for the British Labor party. When all allowance is made for the numerous complexities in the Indian situation, it still remains true that there has been an utter lack of vigor, imagination and originality in Ramsay MacDonald's handling of a situation with which he is supposed to have a very special acquaintance. To arrest Gandhi on a statute of 1827, and to put him in jail without a trial, is the logical culmination of this woeful lack of policy. It is not clear that even a Tory Government could have handled the situation more inefficiently and shamefully. Infinitely better if the British Labor Cabinet had concentrated its attention on working out a sound labor peace policy in India rather than on the sham naval limitation conference which absorbed so much of the world's time with such meager results.

"If the British Labor Cabinet, without a clear majority in Parliament, is in a position where it cannot act otherwise, then it would be much better to say that frankly and resign than to become a party to bloodshed for the maintenance of British imperialism and the defeat of the aspirations of the people of India for independence.

"For Ramsay MacDonald, who a dozen years ago was hunted by mobs through British cities for his opposition to war, now to throw a great fellow-pacifist into jail and to countenance violent measures for breaking up a campaign of non-violence, marks the breakdown of an outstanding personality which leaves his friends powerless to say a word in his defense."

WARS ON PISTOL CARRYING.

Rio de Janeiro Police Chief Says Killings Have Been Checked.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAO PAULO, May 7.—Alarmed by the great increase in fatal shootings in the capital, the Rio de Janeiro Chief of Police is warring on pistol carrying. Some time ago he quietly issued instructions to members of the force to arrest all offenders.

Since Jan. 1 the police have arrested 320, and, according to the chief, this procedure has been an effective check on homicidal crimes. During the last ten days there have been no homicides in the city. The average was two per week during previous years.

Carol Aids Rumanian Fire Sufferers

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 7 (AP).—The former Crown Prince Carol today sent 500,000 leu (about $5,000) to a relief fund for the relatives of the victims of the church fire on Good Friday at Costesci, in which nearly 150 persons were killed.

ent outbreak there has not been the slightest suspicion of disaffection among the Indian troops. The India police have stoutly maintained their traditions of loyalty and efficiency, and, except for one or two minor repercussions of the great Indian Peninsular Railroad strike, the railway men have not been affected.

The government is not hiding anything. The plain truth can be gathered from reading the official reports from all over India. The only censorship exercised has been at Peshawur, where the usual reticence has been observed as to troop movements.

In the Northwest Frontier Province the situation remains unchanged, with the hill tribesmen seeming to be unaffected by the new holy man's imprisonment. Beyond a minor riot at Jullunhur and the usual ebullitions of the students at Lahore and Amritzar, the Punjab is reported to be quiet.

Bombay has suffered little more than usual from the crop of processions, strikes and demonstrations on Chow Patty Beach.

Bengal Scene of Riots.

Bengal, far to the east, has had isolated disturbances at Calcutta and Chittagong, but Burmah is entirely peaceful.

The British authorities are not so foolish as to pretend they are out of the woods. The coming week-end will be an anxious one for them in many parts of India, for reasons so far removed from the present political movement that in themselves they are reminders of the difficulties confronting the Indian Government in the maintenance of law and order. In the first place, next Saturday is the Moslem festival of Bakrid, which with its sacrifice of cows is an offense to Hindu susceptibilities.

The communal tension is not likely to be lessened by the refusal of the Moslem community to ally itself with the promoters of the general strikes and other demonstrations.

In the second place, the revolutionary element in the country, as opposed to the Nationalist Congress party, regards May 10, which is the anniversary of the great mutiny of seventy-three years ago, as a day of appropriate celebration to inspire its own particular brand of terrorism.

The government takes confidence, however, in its own preparedness and in the soundness of the army and police. For that reason, India is praying for early peace with much more hope than was possible while Gandhi's arrest still hung over the country as a future threat.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, May 7.—A clash between Hindus and Moslems at Amalner, 200 miles northeast of Bombay, was the only violence reported in Western India today, with the exception of hoodlumism early this morning in the mill area of Bombay.

Elsewhere the tension was lessening and Bombay was so far on the road to normalcy that the troops that had been patrolling for the past two days were withdrawn from the streets. Mass meetings and processions continue, however, resulting in the hopeless dislocation of traffic.

The situation here still holds dangerous possibilities, as is shown by the indications of a growing feeling of hostility toward Europeans. Several automobiles coming from the suburbs were stoned, and in some cases injuries were reported. After a mass meeting Monday night European occupants of motor cars were stoned, spat at and insulted in other ways, but they escaped without serious injury.

These constant meetings and processions, although they serve as safety valves, occasionally constitute severe provocations. An honorary magistrate told your correspondent his car had been diverted from a main highway to a side road by Nationalist volunteers who had taken it upon themselves to direct traffic. Similar reports have come from Poona.

Bulletins Attack Viceroy.

The Nationalist bulletins which have replaced the newspapers are showing a marked tendency to attack the Viceroy, Lord Irwin, instead of the British Administration as a whole. A Bombay Congress bulletin of Monday referred to what it called "the wanton, deliberate, cold-blooded murder of our brave countrymen by the British soldiers at Peshawur," and depicted "the good old pious Irwin" sitting in Simla, viewing the situation "with unctuous unconcern, in all Christian charity and with a smile of supreme content that the laws of his authority are being maintained."

More serious than these attacks are the attempts to persuade the troops and police that "to serve a government which lends itself to such disciplined, organized savagery is like serving Satan."

V. J. Patel, the former Speaker of the Legislative Assembly and Mahatma Gandhi's virtual successor at the head of the civil disobedience movement, entered Bombay today and was taken to the Congress House amid scenes of wild enthusiasm.

Reports from Peshawur show the hill tribes are cooperating with the government and that the civil authorities have the situation well in hand.

From Madras comes a tale of a cylindrical bomb being found in the pocket of a Nationalist who, with an unruly mob, was struggling with the police. He was taken to the police station and confessed he intended to throw the bomb "to frighten the police."

The Congress committee at Jubbulpore in the Central Provinces today held a parade of 111 donkeys dressed in English-cut clothes as a means of advertising its boycott of foreign cloth. Coats, trousers, vests and hats of every shape, color and variety were worn by the donkeys. The only uniform item was a broad scarlet necktie on each animal. To show their contempt for British honors and decorations, the Nationalists made each donkey represent a particular favorite of the "satanic" government, ranging from a humble Raj Sahib to an exalted Knight Commander of the Star of India.

Sporadic Outbreaks Occur.

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—After a widely flung storm of violent encounters yesterday, disorders in Mahatma Gandhi's campaign of resistance to the government continued today in widely separated clashes.

The worst of these, costing nine lives, occurred at Chittagong, the scene on April 18 of a previous battle in which two Europeans and several natives were killed.

At Calcutta a mob raided the police station, smashed in its iron gates and there was checked. Several police officers suffered injuries, and twenty-five arrests were made.

Advices from Delhi stated that patrols of cavalry, infantry and armored cars were being maintained today.

The comparative quiet in Bombay was broken only by an onslaught of a mob upon textile workers, seeking to prevent the reopening of the cotton mills.

Villagers Repel Rebels.

CHITTAGONG, Bengal, May 7 (AP)—Four rebels were killed and two were captured in an action on the south bank of the Karnafuli River opposite Chittagong this forenoon. One constable and four villagers also were killed.

The action was an echo of an attack on the armory April 18, when two Europeans and five native sentries were killed and the raiders escaped.

Mob Raids Police Station.

CALCUTTA, May 7 (AP).—A mob today raided the police station at Ramaghat, 45 miles from Calcutta, in an attempt to liberate volunteers arrested by railway police for attacking newspaper sellers.

Several sub-inspectors, constables and excise subordinates were injured.

The mob broke down the iron gates but were unsuccessful in proceeding further. Twenty-five persons were arrested.

The congress working committee, of which Mr. Patel is now a member, will meet at Allahabad Monday to discuss its future program. Mr. Patel will proceed to Gujerat to meet workers in the Nationalist cause.

A strong protest at Mahatma Gandhi's arrest was made here at a meeting of representatives of fourteen prominent Indian commercial corporations. The meeting urged the Indian Merchants' Chamber to withdraw its representatives in the Legislative Assembly and the Legislative Council of Bombay Presidency.

Burglar Gets Life Term.

A mandatory life term of imprisonment as a fourth offender was imposed by Judge Donnellan in General Sessions yesterday on Julius P. Johnson, a Negro, who had pleaded guilty April 15 to the theft of $10,000 in jewels from Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Ewing while they were asleep in the home of Mr. Ewing's father at 1 East Eighty-eighth Street.

TRACT SOCIETY MEETS.

Report Shows 4,000,000 Pieces of Literature Printed in 1929.

The American Tract Society held its annual election of officers yesterday at a meeting and dinner at the Aldine Club, 200 Fifth Avenue. The entire board of officers which has served during the past year was unanimously re-elected for another term. The officers are:

WILLIAM PHILLIPS HALL, president.
WILLIAM HENRY MATTHEWS, general secretary.
The Rev. EDWIN NOAH HARDY, executive secretary.
Colonel CHARLES ELLIOT WARREN, treasurer.
ARTHUR W. CORBETT, assistant treasurer.

The report of the Rev. Dr. William H. Matthews, the general secretary, showed that almost four-million pieces of Christian literature in thirty different languages were printed and distributed last year.

RAISE BRITISH SHARE IN YOUNG PLAN LOAN

Treasury Representatives Increase London's Slice of the Proceeds to $50,000,000.

SHE WILL FLOAT SAME SUM

Italy Ratifies Reparations Plan—Formal Approval of Britain Is Only One Lacking.

By CARLISLE MacDONALD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 7.—Representatives of the treasuries of the former allies, who are meeting here this week to put the final touches to the preparations for the issue of the first German annuity loan under the Young plan, decided this evening to increase the British share in the proceeds of the $300,000,000 flotation from $26,000,000 to $50,000,000. This automatically reduces the French portion by $24,000,000 to a total of $132,000,000.

However, it also increases the amount the British banking group will absorb from the original figure of $26,000,000 to $50,000,000.

The extent to which Britain would participate in the selling of the issue has been a subject of keen debate among the treasury experts here. The British took the position, which reflects the attitude of Philip Snowden, that they should not be required to purchase more than the British Government was to obtain under the terms of the loan, namely $26,000,000.

French Accept Reduction.

As such a relatively small share for an important market might have had an unfortunate effect upon the flotation, the treasury agents, with the approval of the French representatives, agreed to increase the British share in the proceeds to $50,000,000. This decision, and many others of a technical nature, was reached today in the course of two lengthy sessions. A final plenary meeting will be held tomorrow, after which an adjournment will be taken to permit Gates. W. McGarrah, Leon Fraser and Pierre Quesnay—officials of the Bank for International Settlements—to return to Basle and prepare for Monday's meeting of the world bank, which is to give final consent to the loan.

As a last step, the investment bankers of the nine countries in which the loan is to be offered simultaneously will meet again to fix the terms upon which the bonds are to be purchased and then offered to the public.

Hope for High Yield.

Though the interest rate has not been finally settled, it is understood the American bankers hope it may be possible to offer an even higher yield than 6 per cent.

Owing to the immense amount of detail remaining to be disposed of, it is not likely the loan will be floated before the last days of May or the first week of June. By that time the American bankers feel it may be possible to issue the loan in more favorable circumstances.

With Britain taking $50,000,000 and France and the United States taking about $90,000,000 each, only $70,000,000 remains to be divided between the other European markets. Sweden will take $25,000,000 of this amount, Germany $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, Switzerland $15,000,000, Italy $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, and Belgium $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Since France will receive the lion's share of the non-German portion of the loan proceeds, it is likely the French part of the flotation will exceed that taken by the American group.

Italy Ratifies Plan.

ROME, May 7 (AP).—Italy today ratified the Young plan as evolved by the two Hague reparations conferences of 1929. The ratification is effective as from May 5, 1930.

With Italy's approval registered, all of the big nations involved in the reparations question except Great Britain have accepted the Young plan. When Britain has approved it, the great post-war problem of Germany's indebtedness will have been formally settled.

The Bank for International Settlements will then be able to go forward with business.

PROTESTS AGAIN TO POLAND

Berlin Says Planes Continue Incursions Over Reich.

BERLIN, May 7 (AP).—The German Foreign Office decided today to serve notice upon the Polish Government that the flight of Polish airplanes over Germany, particularly over points having strategic significance, must cease.

The decision was reached in spite of assurances received from Foreign Minister August Zaleski of Poland that the Warsaw Government had taken steps to stop the practice.

On April 30 the German Foreign Office instructed the embassy in Warsaw to protest against Polish military aircraft penetrating German territory. The action followed press criticism over what was characterized as "Polish airplane espionage" in Eastern Germany.

Today's renewal of the protest expressed regret that the promised cessation had not taken place. The communication was made orally with the question that if the investigations were continuing, why, in spite of previous promises, was the practice not abated.

The Polish Government will be advised informally that future invading Polish airplanes will be ordered by smoke signals or signal lights to land instantly, failing which they will be considered to have committed a willful violation of German border rights, which will be communicated to Warsaw to assure punishment of the offenders.

MOVE FOR EX-RULER BLOCKED IN EGYPT

LINK WITH TREATY SEEN

Propaganda Revival Started After London Parley Opened—Session There Grows Tense.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 7.—The Egyptian dynasty question, which was settled by British guarantees, suddenly and dramatically raised its head yesterday when the secret political police, acting on information lodged a few hours before, descended, unknown to cosmpolitan shoppers, into the international quarter of Cairo and seized 2,000 copies of photographs of the former Khedive, Abbas Hilmi, in process of being distributed among his adherents.

This development derives additional interest from the treaty negotiations in London, in which, through the press, the influence of the former Khedive is believed here to have a part. It is well known that recently the Khedivial party resumed undercover operation, possibly aroused by a series of articles criticizing his reign which appeared in an Alexandria native newspaper immediately after the departure of the treaty delegation to London.

The Alexandria police arrested today a native named Mohammed Nass, who was on the way from Cairo, carrying a large number of Khedivial portraits in the uniform of an Egyptian general of the period of 1914. This prisoner asserted that he bought the pictures back of a well-known Cairo department store.

Agitation at London Parley.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—The MacDonald Government will long remember its efforts to make peace with Egypt. When Foreign Secretary Henderson left the Foreign Office at 3 o'clock this morning after nineteen hours of continuous discussion with the Egyptian delegates, he said he had postponed a trip to Geneva today in the hope of reaching a settlement this afternoon.

According to The London Daily Mail, the conference nearly ended during the night owing to the temper into which Nahas Pasha was thrown when he heard the British Cabinet had rejected his new plan, and had left the Sudan out of the proposed treaty. British diplomacy was heavily taxed, it was said to keep the Egyptians in London another day.

CROATS DENY CONFESSIONS.

Two of Machek's Aides Charge Torture—Accused Cheer in Court.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BELGRADE, May 7.—At the close of today's sitting in the trial of Dr. Vladimir Machek and twenty-three other Croatians for the bomb plot against a loyal deputation which was proceeding to Belgrade to pay homage to King Alexander, there was a scene in court. A student named Prpic, who was so overcome that he had to be revived beforee he could give evidence, and a clerk named Gasperic had both withdrawn their confessions made to the Zamreb police and told gruesome stories of the tortures to which they said the police had subjected them to obtain these admissions.

The president of the court then closed the sitting and was leaving court when he heard a shout of "Loig live Machek!" He returned and demanded to know who had shouted, whereupon Ivan Gernardinich, one of the principal accused, sprang from his seat and cried, "We have all said it! Machek is the next President of the free and independent Croatian people!"

M. Ubotich threatened punishment for contempt of court.

CZECH SUICIDES ARE MANY.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PRAGUE, May 7.—Eight soldiers out of every 1,000 in the Czechoslovakian Army commit suicide, according to a statement by the Minster of National Defense, M. Wiskovski, in Parliament today. This average is maintained year by year, he held, because of the peculiar Czech temperament which inclines toward suicide.

American insurance statistics, the Minister added, also show that Czechoslovakian immigrants have a higher suicide rate than other races. Love affairs, family cares and fear of punishment rank in the order named as the principal motives.

EDGE PORTRAIT STIRS PARIS

PARIS, May 7 (AP).—A portrait of Mrs. Walter Evans Edge, wife of the American Ambassador to France, is the centre of American interest at the Spring salon, which is popularly considered the formal opening of the Paris social season.

The salon combines the work of the great French groups of painters, the National Society of Fine Arts and the Society of French Artists.

BERLIN INDIANS PROTEST.

Professor Tells Meeting English Perfidy Provoked Gandhi.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 7.—The Society of Indians in Central Europe held a protest meeting today against the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and other Indian leaders. The lector for Indian languages in Berlin University, Professor Roy, declared that Mr. Gandhi, who preached a unique political method of non-violent opposition, had been repeatedly disappointed by England. If he had not interfered with English recuriting in India during the World War, said Professor Roy, it was due to an English promise to grant India autonomy after the war.

A nephew of Rabindranath Tagore, the Indian poet, and several other representatives of the younger generation urged fighting with all means, while some criticized what they called Mr. Gandhi's weak policy toward England. A Moslem asserted that Moslems and Hindus should fight shoulder to shoulder.

RALLY TO PREVENT NEW COUP IN SPAIN

BREAD RIOTS IN SEVILLE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, May 7.—Liberal leaders of all parties met tonight at the home of Miguel Villanueva at the call of Dr. Gregório Marinon, medical educator and president of the Ateneo Club, who charged that General Martinez Anido, vice president of the late General Primo de Rivera's Council of Ministers and his right-hand man, who also held the post of Home Minister in charge of security forces, and General Barrera, recently replaced as military governor of Barcelona by Premier Berenguer, are working for another dictatorship to succeed the Berenguer Government by a coup d'état.

Those at the meeting agreed this was true and voted to use all means at their disposal to defeat the project. They command a following in the Socialist, Republican and Army camps.

As far as is known, however, General Martinez Anido has no support in Right quarters and many feel he has too many enemies to attempt such a coup.

Those at the meeting included José Sánchez Guerra, former Conservative Premier; General Francisco Aguilera, General José Riquelme, placed on the reserve list for voting contrary to General Primo de Rivéra's wishes in the Sánchez Guerra trial; Alejandro Lerroux, Republican leader; Dr. Marninon and Felipe Sánchez Román.

It was reported late tonight that General Martinez Anido and General Barrera had been arrested at their homes and would be charged with plotting a dictatorship.

Professor Miguel de Unamuno, who has been accused by the press favorable to the government of inciting a program of disobedience and rioting among students here, bowed to a government ultimatum that he return to his post of Professor of History at Salamanca University forthwith or forfeit the position. He went to Salamanca today in a government automobile.

While the situation apparently is improving from the government's viewpoint, the universities closed yesterday have not reopened, and one more college, that of medicine, at Cádiz, was closed today when students threw stones and rubbish at the police from a top floor.

Premier Berenguer's policy of allowing the public to have a full account of events in the press is bearing fruit in the general reaction.

Seville is in danger of going without bread, as the breadworkers have struck over pay and clashed with store owners in trying to destroy supplies of bread on hand. The Guardia Civil broke up the demonstration with difficulty. The Governor has conferred in regard to getting bread from near-by towns and possibly troops will be put to work as bakers.

La Nacion says "hospital and jail rooms have been prepared for use in event of clashes."

The burial of Rafael Crespo, the baker killed Monday by Madrid police, passed without serious trouble today, 10,000 persons attending the funeral and 1,000 proceeding to the cemetery. Large detachments of the Guardia Civil lined the route to the cemetery.

On returning, workers and student representatives proceeded up the central street, the Alcala. A few shouted "Death to the King!" and a group of police flayed them with swords. The crowd scattered into doorways, fearing shots, and the crowded block was devoid of pedestrians in a few seconds. One worker was detained. Student riots were reported in Valladolid. The university dean has resigned, but a government note says he was not connected with the student riots and will remain until they are over.

Two Employes of National Bank Are Accused in $100,000 Loss.

MANILA, May 7 (AP).—Robustano Rosales, manager, and Florenceo Normadia, bookkeeper, of the Cebu branch of the Philippine National Bank, were arrested today on charges of embezzling 200,000 pesos (about $100,000).

Specifically they were charged with embezzlement through falsification of commercial documents. Besides the criminal action taken, civil suits were filed against each for recovery of the money involved. The alleged peculations occurred between July, 1922, and January, 1926.

The Cebu bank is the fourth government institution to face investigation within a year. Others were the Bureau of Posts, the Supreme Court and the automobile division of the Bureau of Public Works.

Investigation of the automobile division is still in progress. It is alleged that thousands of pesos have been stolen through falsification of automobile license receipts.

FEARS CAPONE'S INFLUENCE

Havana Paper Sees City as "Second Chicago," if He Lives There.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, May 7.—The Spanish language press is apparently perturbed over the possibility that Al Capone may take up residence in the Cuban capital.

One newspaper today said that if he established his domicile here, Havana might, in consequence, become a "second Chicago." It regards the situation as being grave, especially as three minions of the underworld king are now here.

Al Capone is reported to have inspected several possible sites while here last week and he is said to be also trying to negotiate for the control of a roadhouse where gambling is allowed by law.

AMERICANS IN PLANE HURT

Venice-Prague Machine Forced Down in Hungary.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUDAPEST, May 7.—The Venice-Prague airplane, containing eight passengers, all Americans, ran short of gasoline today and had to make a sudden dangerous forced landing at Ocseny, near Baja, Hungary.

Several of the passengers were bruised and scratched. They were taken in a passing automobile to the hospital in Baja, where their injuries were dressed, and then returned to the plane, which meanwhile had been repaired. It continued the journey to Prague.

ASKS REICH EMBASSIES IN SOUTH AMERICA

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 7.—The Foreign Office is asking the Reichstag's authorization to raise the German legations in Argentina, Brazil and Chile to Embassies. This step is said to be highly desirable from the political point of view, as all the great powers are represented in these countries by Ambassadors.

The three nations have repeatedly approached Germany desiring the appointment of Ambassadors. Further delay, it is observed, would probably be regarded as displaying a lack of interest and an underestimation of the importance of the South American countries—an importance which has been acknowledged by all the great powers and which is emphasized by the increasing competition among them.

But there is also the economic factor. Germany is facing important negotiations with the three countries, and, the Foreign Office concludes, the conduct of the parleys would be aided if the German representatives were entitled to report direct to the President—a prerogative which belongs to Ambassadors.

Though the Reichstag rejected the request last year, its acceptance now seems to be assured.

DENIES SLAVERY CHARGE.

Portuguese Investigator Completes Report on Conditions in Africa.

LISBON, Portugal, May 7 (AP).—Dr. Oliveira Santos, former Governor of the Portuguese colonies, who was sent to Angola to inquire into the assertion made by Edward Ross, an American missionary, that slavery was practiced in Portuguese Africa, has handed a report to the Geographical Society.

The report is said to contain documentary evidence refuting the charges. After translation, it will be forwarded to the League of Nations and to all English-speaking countries.

Italian Submarine Sets New Record.

SPEZIA, Italy, May 7 (AP).—The Italian submarine Millelire returned from a long trial cruise today. The commander reported setting a new immersion record of thirty-six hours. The Millelire and her sister ship, the Toni, of the Balilla type, cruised 7,000 miles, going sixteen days without taking on fuel or food.

CITY COLLEGE MARKS 83D ANNIVERSARY

MODERN AGE IS DEFENDED

Chairman Stroock of Trustees Says World Has Retained Sense of Spiritual Values.

The eighty-third anniversary of the City College was commemorated yesterday in the annual Charter Day exercises, which closed in the evening with a dance on the campus. President Frederick B. Robinson gave a luncheon for the guests of honor.

The program commenced with an academic procession of the faculty. Following invocation by the Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Fifth Avenue and Ninetieth Street, addresses were delivered by Moses J. Stroock, '86, chairman of the board of trustees; President Robinson, '04, and J. Leo Honigman of Red Bank, N. J., as representative of twenty-seven surviving members of the class of '80.

Mr. Stroock assailed critics of the present age. He said in part:

"Some of us have become a bit pessimistic as to the correctness of our methods and of the future. Some of us are complaining of submergence of the individual and of initiative and intelligence; that there is a tendency to overstandardization; that ours is a purely machine age.

"We cannot subscribe to these contentions. We look upon our surroundings more optimistically. We have faith in our neighbors and in the generation of the present and of the future. We insist that our fellow-beings have a deep sense of spiritual values, that we are living in a peace-seeking and peace-loving world."

President Robinson said:

"We live in a world of action in which it is futile to produce men of profound meditation, which is incapable of working itself out in practice. The college emphasizes not bookish lore, important to one living in polite society, but practical knowledge."

Mr. Honigman expressed doubt as to the permanent efficacy of a court of business, proposed recently by Bernard M. Baruch. Other members of the class of '80 who attended were: August Martin, lawyer, of Mount Vernon; Dr. Franz Torek of New York, George Keim, retired, of New York; W. J. Gutgsell, superintendent of postal service, of Brooklyn; John C. Hume, engineer, of the Bronx; Maximus A. Lesser, journalist, of New York, and Harry W. Mack, Edwin T. Rice and Robert J. Mahon, lawyers, of New York.

Student Council insignia were presented to A. Harvey Neidorff, Abraham Breitbart, Bert Cotton, Charles Binder, Sol Cheser, Sylvan Elias, David Roemer, Julius Rosenberg, Harry Wilner and Martin Whyman, all of the senior class. Dr. Louis A. Warsoff of the government department received a scroll from the student governing body. Special prizes to Montrose Massler, '31, of the water-polo team; Louis Spindell, retiring captain of the basketball squad, and Edward Dubinsky, captain-elect of the football team, were announced.

Following the benediction the procession moved to the Lewisohn Stadium, where a picked battalion of the college division of the Reserve Officers Training Corps passed in review before Colonel William K. Naylor, chief of the staff of the Second Corps Area. Sixteen awards to the most proficient students in the military science course were made by representatives of patriotic societies and the college department.

DOMINICAN POLL NEARS WITH TWO SIDES BITTER

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, May 7 (AP).—With the national election only nine days away, both Presidential candidates are now in the capital and campaign statements are numerous.

General Rafael L. Trujillo, candidate of the group which took power following the resignation of Horacio Vasquez after a brief revolution, explained today that he was here to watch the oppositionists and that they were manoeuvring to postpone the elections scheduled for May 16.

The other side charges it is being harassed by the Trujillo party, which controls the army. Federico Valasquez and Angel Morales, candidates of the "alianza" of the National Progressive parties, said they did not dare to risk their lives campaigning in the interior.

General Trujillo and his running mate, Rafael Estrella Urena, assert that the elections will be fair and free.

"I have been informed that the opposition says it will attempt a revolution on or after election day," General Trujillo commented. "If a revolution is attempted we will crush it within two hours and all offenders will be taken care of in five hours. We are ready for that as we are ready for a fair election."

The Government leader said the oppositionists were using the Junta Central Electoral (National Election Board) as a lever to postpone the elections, charging that the three junta members had resigned because as friends of the opposition they wished to create the impression that the junta could not be reorganized in time to function impartially and efficiently. The junta must have 12,000 men ready by May 16 to sit as "mesas electorales" of five men each, acting as udges at the polling places.

Señores Velasquez and Morales replied that the junta members had resigned because they believed fair elections were impossible while General Trujillo's army was active in politics. The members themselves have given no explanations.

General Trujillo also asserted former President Vasquez was seeking to run the country through Señores Velasquez and Morales, but Señor Vasquez told an interviewer he was too ill to mix in politics and would not even vote at this election.

SAYS LAW IS "CHIEF SPORT"

Justice Genung Urges Changes—Sees Need for New Court.

Law is the chief indoor sport in America, according to Municipal Justice George L. Genung, speaking yesterday before the weekly luncheon of members of the New York Kiwanis Club at the McAlpin.

Justice Genung said a need existed for a central municipal court which would deal with non-jury cases as well as those requiring a jury. He suggested that the site for such a court should be near the proposed Civic Centre on Lafayette Street.

"If a few changes were made a great deal of time and money could be saved," he said. "One suggestion for improvement is that in actions involving sums of more than $100 it would be required that verified pleadings be made and that answers should contain specific denials and affirmative defenses. Under the present system cases often drag for several months."

URGED TO EXPAND EXTENSION COURSES

Delegates at Convention Hear Modern Conditions Require More Specialists.

COLUMBIA FEES DEFENDED

University Division Has Operated at Loss, Director Tells Association Meeting.

Asserting that changing social and economic conditions have resulted in a need for trained specialists in every line of business, Norman C. Miller, president of the National University Extension Association, urged delegates to the fifteenth annual convention of that organization yesterday to consider the advisability of changing courses of study of their institutions to keep abreast of the times. Mr. Miller is director of Rutgers Extension University. Representatives from forty-two universities were at the opening session at the Pennsylvania.

Mr. Miller said modern society was undergoing revolutionary changes.

"Not many years ago," he went on, "a really educated individual knew the basic principles of everything that was going on about him, but we have passed from that stage into a new world."

Mr. Miller said there now are 500 organizations which offer their employes special courses to train them as specialists. These, he said, include the American Bankers' Association, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, the National Electric Light Association, the American Gas Association and the Insurance Institute of America.

A plea for investigation of all correspondence schools and their advertising methods was urged by E. L. Greens, general manager of the National Better Business Bureau of New York. "At a time when universities are developing extension and home study departments," he said, "it seems to us that correspondence schools should wish to be investigated, because they would then be rid of features which are undermining confidence in them."

Fees at the University Extension of Columbia University were defended by Levering Tyson, associate director of the extension. The fees are said to be higher than those charged by any similar institution. Mr. Tyson asserted that the Columbia extension had been operating at a loss from its founding in 1919 until about two years ago.

He declared that when Columbia University decided to inaugurate a home study department its officers declared that the reputation of the institution had to be preserved. "Our courses were specially prepared," he said, "and we organized a service department to assist our students. Last year we had 20,000 applicants, but permitted only 9,000 to register."

Dr. John M. Thomas, president of Rutgers University, said it was part of the work of the association's members to keep men and women learning all through life, because of the needs of an industrialized society.

The delegates were welcomed by Chancellor Ellsworth Brown of New York University. The convention will continue today and tomorrow.

INQUIRY IN AMERICAN DEATH

San Juan Police Puzzled at Finding Body of New Jersey Man.

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 7 (AP).—The police today ordered an investigation into the death of John T. Simms, 57, a photographer, whose body was found in his apartment.

Mr. Simms, who formerly lived in New Jersey, evidently had been dead several days. He had lived here about three years.

LORD DERBY REFUSES TIP.

Tells McKee at City Hall His Data on Races Often Fail.

Lord Derby, British statesman and turfman and former Ambassador to France, returned a diplomat's answer yesterday when Acting Mayor McKee suggested yesterday that the racing man furnish a tip on the winner of the Kentucky Derby. Lord Derby, who visited City Hall in company with Joseph Widener, American turfman, escorted by Police Commissioner Whalen, replied:

"Ah, now, don't you ask me. There's many a man in London that will tell you I've made a lot of people bankrupt with my racing tips."

Lord Derby inspected Police Headquarters before going to City Hall. When the inevitable comment on the pronunciation of his name was made, Lord Derby said:

"For 447 years my people have called it 'Darby,' since 1483. I am ready to do most anything for New York, but I can't change the pronunciation of my name."

SEES NEWS VALUE WARPED.

Bishop A. S. Lloyd Says the Press Is Wrongly Influencing Opinions.

At a meeting of the Churchwomen's League for Patriotic Service held in the Synod House of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine yesterday afternoon, Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd criticized the manner in which the press of New York presents the news. "Civilization depends on public opinion," Bishop Lloyd said. New York is almost a civilized town. If you read the morning papers you can understand what ideas go into the making of public opinion. I do not read them. They do not tell of the people who go forward to meet life's problems with courage, but by citing exceptional cases propagate the wrong ideas."

Mrs. Henry Gansevoort Sanford, president of the league, presided over a meeting during which reports were read, and Mrs. J. Greer Zachry was hostess at a tea following Bishop Lloyd's address.

M'MASTER'S OPPONENT CONCEDES DEFEAT

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 7 (AP).—The majority of Senator W. H. McMaster of South Dakota, first of the Independent Republicans to seek renomination since introduction of the tariff bill, late today reached 12,500 as belated returns were tabulated from yesterday's primary election. His opponent, George J. Danforth, who ran as a "Hoover Republican," conceded defeat and wired Senator McMaster his congratulations.

The primary failed, however, to produce a nominee in the Republican Gubernatorial race, in which Miss Gladys Pyle, Secretary of State, was a candidate. Although unofficial returns from 1,629 precincts out of 1,918 in the State gave her a lead of more than 3,000 votes over former Governor Carl Gunderson, her nearest opponent, it will be necessary for the State convention to select a nominee. This situation resulted because the State law requires that the winner poll 35 per cent of the vote cast.

The 1,629 precincts gave Miss Pyle 30,489 and Gunderson 27,235.

Governor W. J. Bulow was leading almost 3 to 1 in the race for the Democratic Senatorial nomination, while D. A. McCullough, Gubernatorial candidate was in a close race with L. E. Corey.

Representative Royal Johnson was assured of renomination on the Republican ticket, while Fred H. Wildebrandt held a big lead in the Democratic contest.

The total vote passed 110,000 today.

SEEKS BLOCK'S STRONG BOX

Crain Thinks Club Owner's Papers May Yield Murder Clue.

District Attorney Crain applied in the Supreme Court yesterday for an order permitting him to open the safe deposit box rented by the late Harry Block, a night club owner, at the branch of the United States Safe Deposit Company, Seventy-third Street and Broadway, to enable the authorities to try to trace the men who murdered Block on the morning of April 30, when he was entering the elevator of the apartment house at 175 West Seventy-third Street.

The District Attorney said that Mr. Block was manager or part owner of the Silver Slipper and Cotton Club restaurants, and that he believed Block's business dealings with persons, some of whom were engaged in competitive enterprises had caused "differences and antagonism with one or more persons," and that an inspection of the books and papers in the safe deposit box might give a clue to the slayers.

Supreme Court Justice Frankenthaler signed an order restraining Mrs. Dorothy Block, the widow, from removing anything from the box pending a decision on the District Attorney's application, which is to be heard this morning.

NAVAL TREATY IS SET FORHEARINGMONDAY

"Mr. President," Senator Walsh said, "I am advised that another member of this body, returning from abroad after having rendered distinguished service as a member of the American delegation at the naval conference at London, is about to resume his duties in this chamber. In token of the deserved esteem in which he was held by his colleagues in this body I suggest that he be greeted upon his entrance to the chamber by the members of the Senate, led by the Vice President in the well of the Senate."

In seconding the motion, Senator Fess stated:

"In behalf of my colleagues on this side of the chamber I wish to express our appreciation of the suggestion of the Senator from Montana. We think that the record which the Senator from Pennsylvania has made in this chamber has been given added lustre by the service rendered by him on the important mission in which he has been engaged while out of the country."

This ceremony consumed ten minutes of the hour and a half allotted under a resolution adopted yesterday for final debate on the nomination of Judge John J. Parker to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

French's Statement Deleted.

In its report to the House on the Navy Department supply bill the Appropriations Committee ordered deleted a statement written by Representative Burton L. French of Idaho, chairman of the Naval Sub-Committee, terming the London treaty "an achievement of immeasureable importance," and substituted less enthusiastic language to the effect that it would "not undertake to pass upon possibilities that might flow therefrom in such a way as to indicate commitments."

Framers of the bill attempted to reflect the first actual savings effected by the treaty, by slashing from the measure an item of $400,000 for beginning work on the third block of five ships under the fifteen-cruiser program which was expressly waived under the new treaty. Thus the committee obviously anticipated ratification, but it inserted a provision giving authority to divert the funds from other appropriations should the Senate not sanction the treaty.

Representative Britten, chairman of the Naval Committee, was delayed again today in introducing his proposal to build up to the London treaty figures by 1940. His bill would authorize construction up to the full limits of the naval agreement, with the idea of giving parity with England at a cost of $1,000,000,000, according to his estimates.

From the Appropriations Committee it was learned that the billion-dollar "parity" building scheme would run into opposition should it come before those who handle the purse strings. It is the belief among some members of that committee, including Mr. French, that a rapid, full-limit construction program would be "foolish" in the light of the provision in the treaty which calls for another limitation conference in 1935. Mr. French said he would air his views on the subject when he discusses the navy supply bill in the House Friday.

No Commitments Indicated.

In its formal report on the navy bill, however, the Appropriations Committee scouted any language that might appear as a commitment of any kind on the London agreement. In place of Mr. French's elaborate explanation of what the treaty eventually would mean in speeding all nations "toward a course of conduct marked by international amity and good-will," the committee simply inserted an explanation that the treaty had been submitted to the various powers for ratification and that, in anticipation of ratification, the $400,000 slash was made in the pending bill.

"The treaty that has been submitted to the several powers as the result of the London naval conference awaits ratification and hence the committee did not undertake to pass upon possibilities that might flow therefrom in such a way as to indicate commitments," said the report.

"The committee has undertaken in the money items to consider one factor in anticipation of ratification, to wit, the subtraction of $400,000 on account of the commencement of the third block of five cruisers. Other than this, the committee felt that it would be better to avoid anticipating possible action upon the treaty, and permit any safe reductions that may be possible in the event of ratification to be handled by the administration during the fiscal year.

"Though deducting $400,000 included in the burget on account of such third block of cruisers, the bill has been so phrased as to give authority to draw upon available funds for 'increase of the navy' so that in the event that the treaty is not ratified, it will be possible to avoid a lapse of authority to proceed with their construction."

The Navy Department bill will be taken up on the floor Friday and likely will be completed early next week. The sum recommended is $14,851,059 in excess of the amount in the measure enacted in the last session.

$57,365,000 for New Construction.

The major part of the increase is carried in a total of $57,365,000 for new construction. This includes $34,850,000 for that part of the new cruiser program not waived in the London treaty; $14,550,000 for new submarines and completion of the 1924 light-cruiser authorizations; $7,400,000 for modernization of the battleships Pennsylvania and Arizona, which are expected to rejoin the fleet in March of next year and $565,000 to be divided among the navy yard at New York, Mare Island and Philadelphia for improvements incident to ship building.

Another notable increase this year is the sum of $2,361,173 in the total of more than $177,000,000 recommended for the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts. The principal demands for extra funds for the bureau were brought about by longevity among personnel, a larger number of enlistments, grade changes of enlisted men and extra pay for naval fliers.

To the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics was allotted $32,230,000, more than $12,000,000 of which is for the air expansion program contemplating a total of 1,000 useful airplanes in service by the end of the next fiscal year.

Another part of the original report deleted by the Appropriations Committee was a statement of policy of the subcommittee toward the navy's speed program, as brought forward by the recent resignation of Lieutenant Alford J. Williams, naval speed flier. In the original report the subcommittee challenged the contention that America is behind other countries in necessary airplane speed, and stated its position against allotting funds for "freak planes for international speed competition." This was stricken from the report after a decision that it was largely a matter of policy which should not be treated in an appropriation bill.

Administration Delayed Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP).—The naval supply bill was delayed several months by administration leaders, pending the outcome of the London naval parley, in the hope that economies might be effected.

A navy of 84,500 enlisted men, 5,400 line, 2,011 staff and 1,455 warrant officers, a marine corps of 18,000 enlisted men and about 1,200 officers, as well as considerable public work at naval stations and navy yards was provided for.

One provision in the measure would grant authority to President Hoover to expend $10,000,000 from any unused naval funds to protect the Elk Hills naval petroleum reserve in California from being drained by private companies producing oil on adjacent lands. Secretary Adams was allowed $175,000 for the care of naval oil reserves in Wyoming, California and Alaska.

The measure set aside $25,000 for each of the States of Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania to reimburse them for the establishment of marine schools.

THE CHILD IS CALLING

CATHOLIC CHARITIES last year cared for 34,359 children through 69 Catholic agencies. These agencies include Day Nurseries, Big Brother and Big Sister groups, Child Placing Agencies and Child Caring Homes, besides Guidance Clinics, Summer Camps and Summer Homes. These organizations were conducted by 708 religious and 1,311 lay workers. Catholic thought and practice insists that no child be taken from its own home for economic reasons alone. This has resulted in the maintenance of the family tie, which in turn has made for better citizenship.

Gentry

Landed gentry have always been envied. A landowner has ever been the aristocrat, the leader, the respected member of his community. To paraphrase an old proverb, "a man was known by the acreage he kept." Times have changed, conditions are altered—and yet, landowning is still the mark of the solid, the influential, the worthy citizen.

BAN MISLEADING ADS OF SPORTING GOODS

AGREEMENTS MUST BE OPEN

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 7.—A code of trade practice designed to modify certain methods in sporting goods advertising, and to bring to an end the widely practiced endorsement appeal, was adopted by representatives of 90 per cent of the sporting goods manufacturers of the country at a conference held at the Greenbrier today by the Federal Trade Commission.

Garland S. Ferguson Jr., the commission chairman, presided. Assistant Director George McCorkle of the commission's trade practice bureau also was present. Following custom, the resolutions will become effective when officially approved by the commission.

The eleven resolutions adopted were directed at misrepresentation of the use of sporting goods products by outstanding athletes and sportsmen.

Under the proposed code manufacturers will be compelled to disclose the obligation existing between the athlete and manufacturer in the use of an endorsement, or the name of the player on the manufacturer's products.

Practices to Be Abandoned.

The resolutions list the following practices to be abandoned:

1. The secret giving of money or anything of value to agents of customers as an inducement to influence the employer to purchase merchandise from the donor of the gift or to influence the employer to refrain from buying the products of another manufacturer.
2. For any person or firm to pay or make gifts or discounts to athletic organizations, leagues, associations, athletes, or those prominent in any of the various lines of sport, to induce them to use or adopt as official only their athletic goods or equipment, unless there has been public disclosure of such relationship.
3. That is it unfair practice for the advertisements of any firm to contain the names of winners of competition or the names of other prominent athletes who use the athletic goods or equipment of the firm, unless the winners or the individuals bona fide use the athletic goods because they sincerely prefer the product, or unless there has been public disclosure that they are obligated to use these products by contracts with the manufacturers.

Rebates or Bonuses Banned.

4. To give anything of value to those occupying a position of trust, such as athletic adviser or director of athletics, upon condition that the firm's goods be recommended to the exclusion of competitors' products; provided, however, that the firm may furnish its goods to any one upon whatever terms it wishes without any conditions.
5. The use of the names of prominent athletes on athletic goods when the athlete did not design or endorse or himself not use such athletic goods, when from such use of the name the purchasers are led to believe that the goods were designed, used or endorsed by the athlete.
6. Falsely advertising or falsely representing that a prominent athlete designed certain athletic goods.
7. For any firm to make sale or contract of athletic goods or discount from or rebate upon the price on the condition or agreement that the purchaser shall not deal in or use the product of a competitor.
8. For any person or firm to discriminate in price between different purchasers where the effect of such discrimination may be to substantially lessen competition or tend to create trade monopoly.
9. For any person to use the name or nickname of an athlete on his product when a competitor has bona fide, and with the consent of the athlete, previously acquired the exclusive property right or good-will in said name or nickname.

Existing Agreements Protected.

10. For any firm to wilfully interfere with an existing agreement between a competitor and any athlete relating to the use of that person's name or nickname where the effect of the interference would be to dissipate the good-will of the competitor in the use of the name.
11. The golf, baseball and general athletic goods industries hereby authorize the Golf Ball Manufacturers Association, National Association of Golf Club Manufacturers and the Chamber of Commerce of Athletic Goods Manufacturers to take such steps as may be necessary to appoint a committee on trade practices to investigate whether these resolutions are being observed, to make complaints concerning alleged violations, to cooperate with the Federal Trade Commission and generally to perform such acts as may be reasonably necessary and proper to put these resolutions into effect and to accomplish the objects and purposes of this conference.

Practically every well-known manufacturer of sporting goods attended the conference with legal representation. The resolutions were drafted at an informal preliminary meeting on Tuesday and adopted by the conference after a four-hour meeting today.

NEW LARKMAN TRIAL DENIED

Justice Norton Rejects Action Roosevelt Recommended.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 7 (AP).—Supreme Court Justice James E. Norton today denied the application of Edward Larkman, serving a life term in Auburn State Prison, for the new trial which was recommended by Governor Roosevelt. Justice Norton held that the case was outside the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

Larkman was sentenced to death for his part in a hold-up in this city during which Ward J. Pierce was killed. His sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by former Governor Alfred E. Smith. Larkman appealed to Governor Roosevelt for further commutation of his sentence and the Governor asked Dean Carlos C. Alden of the University of Buffalo Law School to review the evidence.

Dean Alden recommended a new trial for Larkman and his recommendation was endorsed by the Governor. District Attorney Guy B. Moore contended that the Supreme Court could not grant a new trial because a year had elapsed since the date of Larkman's sentence. This opinion was upheld by Justice Norton's decision.

26 TANKS MENACED BY GASOLINE BLASTS

Firemen Play Hose on Storage Field in Long Island City as Office Building Burns.

FIVE ALARMS SOUNDED

28 Engines and 4 Fireboats Fight Blaze Which Halts Traffic on Newtown Creek Bridge.

The storage and distributing plant of the Richfield Oil Company at Greenpoint and Review Avenues on the Newtown Creek, Long Island City, was threatened by fire last night following the explosion of three drums of gasoline that were being loaded on a truck. The fire destroyed a two-story storage and office building and the automobile truck, but firemen prevented the blaze from spreading to the field of twenty-six storage tanks, each filled with 10,000 gallons of gasoline. The damage was estimated at $50,000.

Five alarms of fire brought twenty-eight engine companies, six hook and ladder companies, two city fireboats and two Standard Oil Company fireboats. The firemen played scores of streams of water on the field of storage tanks to keep them cool and prevent them from exploding from the heat of the flames in the building. As a further precaution all the safety valves on the large storage tanks were closed immediately.

The fire started about 9:15 when workmen were loading the drums, each containing sixty gallons of gasoline, on a truck in a shed adjoining the office building. The fire started in gasoline spilled in some manner unexplained to the fire officials, communicating to the three drums. The chauffeur of the truck and a helper ran for their lives, just in time to escape the force of the blast.

With the explosion, burning gasoline was showered on nearby drums and in a moment the fire had spread to the office building. Three more explosions followed in rapid succession and two walls of the building fell in. The fire was reported under control shortly after 11 P. M.

Traffic over the new Greenpoint Avenue bridge, connecting Brooklyn and Long Island City, was at a standstill while firemen fought the blaze.

All day yesterday fourteen men had been employed loading trucks with gasoline for the new navy planes which flew over New York City.

The firemen were in charge of Assistant Fire Chief John Davin and Acting Fire Chief Thomas F. Dougherty. Fire Commissioner Dorman, accompanied by Dr. J. W. G. Greeff, head of the Department of Hospitals, both came to the scene in evening dress from a dinner in Manhattan.

SAYS SABOTAGE COSTS CAFETERIAS $1,000,000

Counsel for Owners Reveals Terrorism—Three Held for Vandalism.

Cafeteria "racketeering" has cost proprietors $1,000,000 in the past year, according to charges made in Jefferson Court yesterday at the arraignment of three men charged with malicious mischief.

An attorney for the United States Restaurant Owners' Association told the court that about sixty cafeterias in the garment district had been driven out of business since the campaign of terrorism began, causing losses to the proprietors of more than $1,000,000.

Two of the men held, according to the arresting patrolman, were seized as they were about to throw bottles through the window of the Monroe Cafeteria, 247 West Thirty-fifth Street.

The third man was described as the proprietor of two cafeterias across the street from the Monroe establishment, at 240 West Thirty-fifth Street and 210 West Thirty-fifth Street. He gave his name as Jacob Dworkind, 990 Bronx Park South. The others are Mikel Delk, 48-36 Thirty-seventh Street, Queens, employed by Dworkind as a counterman, and Constantine Caraneanis of 88 Mayo Street. All three were held in $2,000 bail by Magistrate McQuade. Dworkind and Delk were held in additional bail of $1,000 for attempted bribery.

Patrolmen Morris Schwartz and John Ruggieri of the West Thirtieth Street station made the arrests early yesterday. Schwartz told the court that Dworkind and Delk had approached him yesterday and it had been suggested that the throwing of the bottles should go unnoticed by the policemen in return for a "present" of $75. The patrolman pretended to fall in with the plan, and he and Ruggieri were waiting near the Monroe cafeteria when the alleged vandalism was attempted. Dworkind was taken into custody later, and it was alleged that the other two had implicated him.

BURIED IN SAND HALF HOUR.

For thirty-five minutes Barney Manger, 57 years old, was buried fifteen feet under sand yesterday morning while three patrolmen of the emergency squad worked in relays to dig him out. When they pulled him out Manger shook himself, nodded his head at the waiting ambulance surgeon and said:

"Oh, I'll be O. K. as soon as I've had a couple of highballs."

Nevertheless he was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

Manger was at work alone at 9:25 digging under the sidewalk in front of 255 West Thirty-fourth Street to make a connection in the plumbing between two twenty-five-foot excavations when the cave-in occurred. He lives at 1,952 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, and works for the Horowitz Plumbing Company, 1,819 Broadway.

HULTMAN MADE HEAD OF BOSTON'S POLICE

Gov. Allen Appoints Him to Succeed Wilson, Ousted After Criticism by Attorney General.

BOSTON, May 7 (AP).—Governor Frank G. Allen today nominated, and his Executive Council confirmed, under suspension of rules, Eugene C. Hultman as Police Commissioner of Boston. Mr. Hultman succeeds Herbert A. Wilson, who was ousted by Governor Allen Monday. Hultman is the present Building Commissioner and was formerly Fire Commissioner of Boston.

Wilson's resignation was demanded last Saturday after the receipt by the Governor of a report from Joseph E. Warner, Attorney General, of his findings in the so-called Garrett investigation. Mr. Warner reported that in investigating the circumstances surrounding the pensioning of Oliver B. Garrett, former head of the headquarters liquor squad, he had uncovered evidence of corruption and gross negligence and incompetency within the department.

The Attorney General's report scored Wilson for alleged failure to uncover the conditions within the department, although acquitting him of any personal corruption.

SEES HIGHER COST OF PAPER IN EAST

Counsel for Newsprint Makers Brings Out Testimony at I. C. C. Examination.

$1.30 A TON EXCESS ASKED

Testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the Canadian carriers' phase of the proposed increase in newsprint freight rates on Eastern lines was completed yesterday at the hearing at the St. George, Brooklyn. The Canadian Board of Railway Commissioners will hear testimony in the case at Ottawa next Monday. Hearings on the rates from Western Canada to points west of the Mississippi River will open in Kansas City on June 4.

A. Walker, assistant general freight agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, appeared yesterday at the hearing on behalf of the Canadian Freight Association in support of the increased rates on newsprint from points in Eastern Canada, which now are under suspension.

He took the position that the present rates are too low as compared with the rates in effect between points in Eastern Canada, and also as compared with the present rates on other low-grade commodities from the same territory to the United States. Mr. Walker filed exhibits.

Says Carriers Need Revenue.

He declared that the present rates were so low that newsprint did not contribute its share of operating expenses of the railroads. He said one reason for the proposed increase was the carriers' need for additional revenue, although he admitted he had not made a study of this need.

There was a discussion of whether New England shippers should contine to enjoy "differential" rates to the West through Canada lower than those via United States routes. Wilbur La Roe Jr., counsel for the International Paper Company, asserted that the carriers' proposals were inconsistent and "as clear as mud."

Questions by Walter H. Howell, special examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, indicated that the Canadian lines favored the maintenance of rates lower via Canadian routes and that the United States lines insisted upon a parity. Mr. La Roe entered objections on the ground that the Canadian lines were proposing higher rates from their own mills in Canada than from more distant mills in Maine.

Leonard Knowles, assistant to the general freight traffic manager of the Canadian National Railways, and Mr. Walker declined upon cross-examination by Mr. La Roe to compare their proposed rates with the rate proposals of the United States lines, contending that they should be dealt with independently. Mr. La Roe pointed out that the Canadian railroads served mills in the United States as well as in Canada.

During the testimony of C. E. Jefferson, assistant freight traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. La Roe brought out that the proposed rate from Eastern Canade to New York would be $1.30 a ton higher than the rate for the same distance from Western Canada to points in Iowa and Minnesota, for which Mr. La Roe contended there was no justification.

Parker McCollester, counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, who was assisted by William J. Mathey, traffic manager of the association, contended that the New York consumer of newsprint was penalized because the Canadian lines, while proposing a destination rate group extending from Albany to New York City, used only the longest distance, namely, that to New York proper, ignoring distances to Hudson, Kingston and intermediate points.

Examiner Howell set Aug. 1 for filing of briefs. It was understood that the examiner will write a report, after which exceptions will be filed. The case then will be argued orally before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington. A decision is not expected before Fall.

DIVORCE IS GRANTED TO LAWRENCE HOOVER

Washington Decree Ends War-Time Romance of Aviator Who Named French Attache.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—After hearing testimony that Brig. Gen. George A. L. Dumont, former military attaché of the French Embassy, had entertained Mrs. Muriel Devere Lyttleton Hoover in his rooms at the Wardman Park Hotel, Justice William Hitz in District Supreme Court today granted Lawrence E. Hoover, World War aviator and husband of the woman, an interlocutory degree of absolute divorce.

This testimony was given by a former assistant manager of the hotel, where Mrs. Hoover and General Dumont both lived. In addition the witness testified that he had seen the General and Mrs. Hoover locked in an embrace.

Neither General Dumont nor Mrs. Hoover opposed Mr. Hoover's petition for divorce, and both are now in France, it is said.

Mr. Hoover, who sued for divorce more than a year ago, charged his wife with infidelity with the French officer while he was absent on business in China. He testified that upon his return he questioned his wife regarding her association with General Dumont and that she had "admitted everything."

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were married in London in 1918, just before the armistice. She was known as an English beauty and their marriage was said to have been the culmination of a war-time romance.

HUGE SKYSCRAPER TO RISE IN WALL ST.

Street, 81 Pine Street, 83 Pine Street and 122 Water Street, as well as 124-6 Water Street, the property purchased and resold by Frederick Brown.

William B. Sprague of Seymour & Sprague represented Mr. Adler.

Plans are now being developed by architects for the new structure, which is scheduled to be ready for occupancy in 1932.

The exact height will not be determined until the plans have reached a more advanced stage.

Among other big parcels assembled for early construction projects is the block bounded by Pine, Cedar, Pearl and William Streets, assembled by Henry L. Doherty & Co. as a site for a sixty-three-story office building from plans by Clinton & Russell, Holton & George, architects.

The plot, purchased through the Charles F. Noyes Company, contains about 32,000 square feet, and the estimated cost of the project is about $15,000,000.

Another block, bounded by Maiden Lane, Pine, Pearl and Water Streets, is being assembled and is completed with the exception of one or two small parcels by the Chase National Bank. Several of the transactions in this block were negotiated by Douglas L. Elliman & Co. The buying interests, however, have not as yet made any announcements regarding the future improvement of the site.

In the same vicinity Frederick Brown, operator, is reported to be engaged in assembling the entire block bounded by Wall, Water, Front and Pine Streets.

The new United States Assay Office, which will occupy the northerly block front in Old Slip between Front and South Streets, will be another important addition to the financial zone. This site was purchased through Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co., for about $1,500,000.

The old site on Wall Street was sold for $6,501,000. It is estimated that the new Assay Office will cost about $3,765,000.

At least a dozen other important buildings have been projected for the financial district and a number of plots have been assembled without any announcement having been made as to improvement plans.

It has been estimated that the various projects planned will involve well over $125,000,000.

Boy, 16, Wins $35,000 Verdict.

George Andrew Wood, 16 years old, of 1,615 Harding Park, the Bronx, received a verdict of $35,000 damages in his suit for $100,000 in the Supreme Court in the Bronx yesterday growing out of injuries received four years ago when he was struck by a truck of the Spardero Trucking Company, 169th Street and Harlem River. An additional verdict of $5,000 for the boy's father for loss of his services was also returned. The trial, which was held before Justice McGoldrick, lasted three days, and was concluded after twenty minutes' deliberation by the jury.

HIGH COURT DECIDES AGAINST BRONX GARAGE

ALBANY, May 7 (AP).—The Court of Appeals has upheld the lower court in overruling a decision of the New York City Board of Standards and Appeals which would have allowed the construction of a public garage in a restricted portion of the Bronx. The high court yesterday affirmed an order of certiorari granted by the Appellate Division which restrained the Board of Standards from granting a permit to construct a garage at 179th Street and Cedar Avenue.

The application was made by the Marben Realty Corporation, through William F. Doyle, to the Superintendent of Buildings. Upon his refusal to grant the permit, the application was carried to the Board of Standards, which at first also refused the request. The case later was reopened by the board, however, and the application granted.

A move by a group of taxpayers, headed by Joseph P. Collins, was then instituted to prevent construction. The Appellate Division granted the writ of certiorari and the case was appealed to the high court.

The original appeal was taken to the Board of Standards in May, 1928. Both the first and second hearings before that body were presided over by the chairman, William E. Walsh. Mr. Walsh answered in return to the taxpayers' writ of certiorari.

The Court of Appeals disposed of the case with the brief statement: "Order affirmed with costs, on the ground that the allegations of the return, if accepted as true, fail to justify a variation of the uses prescribed by the zoning resolution."

NYE IN INQUIRY ASKS PENNSYLVANIA AID

WOULD AVERT 'CORRUPTION'

Chairman Says Senatorial Campaign Managers Will Be Questioned Before May 20 Primary.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman of the committee investigating campaign expenses, said today that an inquiry into conditions in Pennsylvania would be made by the committee before the May 20 primary in that State.

The campaign managers for the Senatorial candidates, including Senator Joseph R. Grundy and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, he said, probably would be questioned here, and then hearings would be held in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia to go into alleged padded registration.

In a letter sent in behalf of the Senate committee to United States Attorneys Calvin S. Boyer in Philadelphia and Louis E. Graham in Pittsburgh and to District Attorneys John Monaghan in Philadelphia and Andrew T. Park in Pittsburgh, Senator Nye stated:

"The committee urges your cooperation in the securing of any information which may disclose the existence of corruption, excessive campaign expenses or undue influences exerted in the primary campaign in Pennsylvania.

"While we are striving diligently to fulfill the responsibility which is ours, we fully appreciate the splendid assistance which can come from your office, and we shall welcome at this date any information which has come to your attention or any suggestion which might be deemed helpful.

"We are particularly anxious so to conduct our efforts as to prevent a corrupt campaign and a corrupt election, and we are sure that we shall have your cooperation to this end."

Senator Nye announced that hearings scheduled for Illinois this week had been postponed because committee members were too busy to leave the capital.

RALPH RICHARDS TO PRISON

Three-Year Sentence as Thief for Man Who Once Tricked Police.

An indeterminate penitentiary term of not more than three years was imposed by Judge Levine in General Sessions yesterday on Ralph Richards, 34 years old, half-brother of Vincent Richards, tennis player, on his plea of guilty to unlawful entry. Richards, who gave his address as 58 Saratoga Avenue, Yonkers, had been indicted on a third-degree burglary charge in the theft of $115 in wearing apparel from the apartment of Laura Marsh at 138 West Forty-ninth Street on Feb. 25.

Six warrants were lodged in the Tombs against Richards recently in connection with nine charges made against him in the Federal court here and in other cities, including forgery, hi-jacking and automobile thefts.

Richards was indicted in March, 1929, after his arrest at Croton, N. Y., for attempting to extort $25 from a man while posing as a prohibition agent. Held in jail, he induced the Federal authorities to turn him over to local detectives and Federal deputy marshals, to whom he promised to point out criminals who posed as dry agents in an extortion conspiracy. He took the detectives to an uptown building and by a ruse, escaped. Richards remained at large until his recent arrest.

Herbert Evans, president of the Equitable Automobile Owners' Association, Inc., of 186 Joralemon Street, Brooklyn, pleaded not guilty of violating the State insurance law before Magistrate Eilperin in Fifth Avenue Court, Brooklyn. Assistant District Attorney Ralph K. Jacobs said nine summonses had been issued for officials of this association and two others on misdemeanor charges.

Herman Katz, salesman for the association, did not appear, but was represented by counsel. The case was set for May 21.

BIDS ON CITY WIRING ARE SIFTED BY CRAIN

He Investigates Plot Charges Involving Contractors and Union on School Jobs.

TWO WITNESSES HEARD

Prosecutor Says He Is Convinced Group of 42 Conspired to Take Turns in Getting Contracts.

District Attorney Crain opened yesterday the grand jury investigation into charges of alleged collusion between a group of electrical contractors and some of the leaders of Electrical Workers' Local Union 3 in the submission of bids for work in new schools and other structures erected in the city by private interests.

James C. Donnelly, assistant architect of the education department under Walter C. Martin, the chief architect, and Stephen A. Thomas, head of the cost estimation bureau of the department, had been questioned when the inquiry was adjourned until tomorrow. It was understood that their testimony was of a preliminary character in relation to conditions under which contracts are awarded for school construction.

It was understood that other witnesses would be called tomorrow for questioning along the same line, but the examination of witnesses on the charge that there was a conspiracy between members of the Electrical Contractors' Association, an unincorporated group of forty-two, and certain of the union leaders would begin next Wednesday.

Mr. Crain in a report to Mayor Walker and the other members of the Board of Estimate on a preliminary investigation of the charge early last month said he was convinced that there was an arrangemeint among the forty-two contractors to take turns in obtaining contracts. He added there were indications that the contractors would put in a bid at a cost in some instances 25 per cent above what it reasonably should be and the others would put in higher bids to give him a clear field.

The District Attorney also said that there were other indications that the accused labor leaders had conspired with the group of contractors to cause the elimination of outside contractors by depriving them of sufficient union men to carry on their work.

When Mr. Crain was asked yesterday about a report that one of the favored contractors whom he had questioned in his preliminary investigation had confessed to participation in the alleged conspiracy, he replied: "No formal confession has been made to me."

Late in the afternoon Emory R. Buckner, former Federal prosecutor, called on District Attorney Crain and informed him he had been retained as counsel by the contractors' association. James E. Smith, former Assistant District Attorney, earlier in the day had notified Mr. Crain he would act as counsel for the International Electrical Workers' Union and the local electrical union in the investigation.

Both lawyers told him, Mr. Crain said, that they were ready to offer any aid the District Attorney desired in the investigation.

HOSPITAL SEEKS $3,000,000.

A campaign to raise $3,000,000 to erect a new building of the New York Infirmary for Women and Children next year will be planned today at a meeting of the board of trustees, it was announced last night by Mrs. Norman De R. Whitehouse, chairman of the building and finance committee. Mrs. Whitehouse spoke at the first annual dinner of the alumni association of women doctors graduated from the medical college formerly connected with the infirmary, held at the American Women's Association Club, 361 West Fifty-Seventh Street.

Mrs. Whitehouse said that the campaign had been postponed last Fall, when plans for the new building were first announced, because of the stock market crash. She urged about fifty women doctors present at the dinner to support the campaign so that the present infirmary at 321 East Fifteenth Street might be replaced by a new institution as a permanent establishment for women physicians and surgeons.

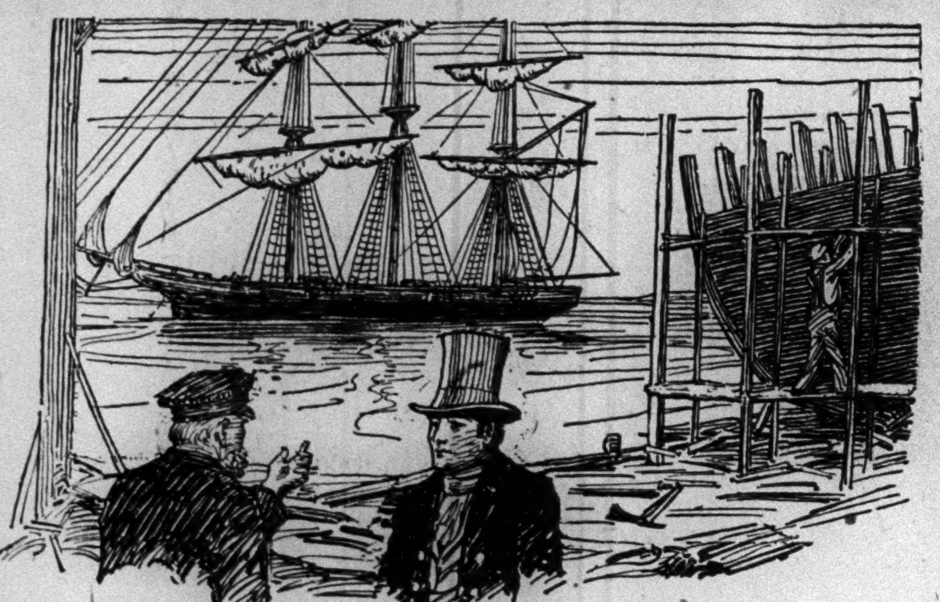
Pride—still impels the achievement of the Best



"Copper Fastened"

"SEE that schooner laying over yonder?" said an old shipbuilder beaming with pride. "Well, sir, the man I built her for was going to be satisfied to have her fastened with iron. 'No, sir' said I. 'If I build her, she's going to be doweled and copper fastened.' 'What's it to you? It's my vessel,' said he. 'What's it to me? It's my self-respect; it's my pride in my trade,' said I. 'It's my reputation for building only the best that can be built'."

Conscientious pride in the achievement of the best still lives. It is the spirit upon which in 1874 at Manchester, New Hampshire, Roger G. Sullivan laid the foundation of 7-20-4—now the largest strictly hand-made cigar industry in the World. It is the same spirit that today—after fifty-six years of public confidence—refuses to lower its standard of workmanship and tobaccos at the sacrifice of THE FINEST CIGAR QUALITY.

TORNADO DEAD 69; 100 TEXANS INJURED

Rescue Workers Press Search for Bodies in Homes Wrecked Over Wide Area.

DOCTORS FIGHT TETANUS

DALLAS, Texas, May 7 (AP).—Digging through débris of tornado-swept areas of Central and South Texas, rescue workers tonight had recovered sixty-nine bodies and had removed more than 100 injured to hospitals and homes for medical treatment.

No estimate of the number made homeless was available, nor had any official estimate of the property damage been made, but those in touch with the situation predicted the loss would easily exceed $500,000.

The series of tornado disturbances spread their havoc at widely separated places over an area of about 281,250 square miles, from Abilene on the west to Marshall, about 450 linear miles, and from Childress on the north to Runge, about 625 miles to the south.

The tornadoes struck without much warning, and a large number of those killed were caught in the destruction of their modest farm homes.

In one case a relief party found the bodies of nine members of one family in the wreckage of their home near Runge, where twenty-six persons lost their lives and about sixty were injured.

Business District of Frost Gone.

Frost, a village of 1,000 in Central Texas, was the hardest hit of the towns struck. Its business district was practically destroyed and twenty-two of its residents killed and a large number injured.

The rest of the death toll was: Seven at Bynum and six in other sections of Hill County, two near West, one at San Antonio, three near Ennis and two at Bronson.

Throughout last night rescue workers searched the ruins for the dead and injured and today the work of rehabilitation was begun. A relief fund of $900 was raised at Corsicana, near Frost, and a donation of $500 was announced by a Dallas newspaper.

Governor Dan Moody ordered the Adjutant General to send as many troops as needed to patrol the streets and to aid in the relief work at Frost.

The Governor was informed that Albert Evans, assistant national director of disaster relief of the Red Cross at St. Louis, was en route to the stricken area and that all Red Cross agencies had been brought into play. Harry A. Richmond, assistant field director of the Red Cross at Fort Sam Houston, was sent to Runge from San Antonio. Ned Campbell of St. Louis, national representative of the Red Cross, was in Dallas yesterday and left immediately for Frost.

Mr. Evans, who was at Leavenworth, Kan., where he had been conferring with local officials concerning rehabilitation work in the storm section of Northeast Kansas, said he expected to recommend to the National Red Cross headquarters in Washington that a call be sent to all Red Cross chapters in the mid-West area for funds to aid storm sufferers in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Deaths From Tetanus Feared.

First reports from the storm districts placed the number of killed at more than seventy, but a closer check over crippled communication facilities lowered this figure. A number of those injured, however, were not expected to recover, and it was feared the final report would show a death list exceeding the original figure.

Dr. D. V. Wilbern, one of nine doctors at work in an emergency hospital at Runge, stated that eight patients probably would not survive the day. Tetanus infection caused by rocks, splinters and other foreign particles driven into the bodies of the victims was one of the principal fears of the physicians.

Many of the usual freaks accompanying tornadoes were reported. Runge and Nordheim, six miles apart, between which a wide path was made by the storm in that section, were not touched, the twister swerving just to the south of each town.

The affected area near Runge was about 300 yards wide and about fifteen miles long, traversing a thickly settled farming district. Most of the dead were from Mexican tenant farming families who lived in the productive valley which bore the brunt of the storm's violence.

The dead were gathered in a temporary morgue at Nordheim known as the Salon Progreso Franco Munoz, ordinarily the scene of dances and other festivities of the Mexican farm folk.

Descending on Frost from a southwesterly direction, the tornado passed over a residential section, sailed over a school house and then razed practically every one of about thirty business houses. Telegraph, telephone and electric wires were torn down by the wind, which was accompanied by a driving rain, accentuating the terror of the survivors.

Heroism at the School.

Sensing unusual danger when the roar of the tornado sounded over the droning of school children at their recitations, Superintendent Harrison of the Frost public schools ordered the children to march to the basement. Hardly had the pupils reached the lower floor when the storm struck, tearing off the school house roof and scattering it over the countryside. Outstanding heroines of the disaster were Miss Lois Rogers and Miss Millie Yarbrough, teachers.

League Wooley, seeing the cloud approaching, hurried to the school house and took his child home. The storm struck the residence and Mr. Wooley's wife and child were killed.

Fire broke out in Frost, but soon was placed under control. Of three churches in the town, one remained, the Presbyterian. The Baptist and Methodist churches were destroyed.

Employes and customers in the two Frost banks saved themselves when they ran into an open vault and closed the door. Both buildings were wrecked.

Streets were blocked with débris torn from wooden and brick buildings. Automobiles were tossed about like toys. One street was almost choked with automobiles that had been in a dealer's window.

Most of the white dead at Frost were taken to Hillsboro and Corsicana as fast as ambulances could reach them over muddy roads. One wrecked building was cleared and bodies of Negroes, wrapped in sheets, were laid in rows to await burial.

Throughout the night the Corsicana Salvation Army and women from that city served coffee and sandwiches to rescue workers.

Andrew G. Steele, county superintendent and past commander of the American Legion post at Corsicana, accompanied by thirty-two legionaires, went to Frost soon after the storm and began patrolling the streets and aiding in the rescue work until National Guardsmen took over these duties.

Most of the victims of the storm at Frost will be buried tomorrow. A single funeral service was planned for those buried in the cemetery at that place.

The death-dealing wind apparently started at Spur, in the Abilene district of West Texas, skipping to the Frost area, then landed more than 200 miles south, near San Antonio. Another dip near Runge and the tornado went out into the Gulf of Mexico.

METHODISTS ASSAIL NOVELS AND 'MOVIES'

All Promised Reform in Films Has "Ended in Degradation," Southern Bishops Declare.

BEGIN DALLAS SESSIONS

Cannon Refuses Comment on Report He Will Be Accused of Unbecoming Conduct.

DALLAS, Texas, May 7 (AP).—Voicing condemnation of the modern moving picture and novel and "other enemies of the home," and recommending a course for the Church to follow during the coming four years, the address of the Bishops was read today before the General Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by Bishop E. D. Mouzon of Charlotte, N. C.

The quadrennial Bishops' address was the opening event on the conference program. It represented the collective recommendations of the thirteen Bishops of the Church for the spiritual and practical welfare of the Church for the next four years.

The Church directors were bitter in their arraignment of what they termed enemies of the home, listing under this heading "companionate" and "trial" marriage as well as fiction and the movies.

Movies Called Menace.

"At no time," Bishop Mouzon read, "have popular fiction and popular plays been such a menace to good morals as in these recent years. Popular fiction, appealing to what is lowest in human nature and attacking the very basis of Christian morals, would be bad enough. But this evil influence has been out-distanced by the motion picture theatre—the greatest menace to morals and religion the Church has had to face in many years.

"All promised reform has ended in growing degradation. Methodism will be false to herself and to the future should she fail to say to her membership that undiscriminating attendance upon motion pictures is perilous not only to Christian character but to common decency."

The address brought out the Church's stand on behalf of world peace, improvement of industrial conditions in the South, better opportunities for Negroes and prohibition enforcement.

"As Christians and Methodists, we should let it be known that we stand for enforcement of the prohibition law," the address said.

Cannon Silent on Charges.

The position of general secretary of the conference was awarded the Rev. L. H. Estes of Memphis, elected by a large majority over the only other candidate, R. G. Mood of McKinney, Texas.

Bishop James Cannon Jr., whose activities in politics have made him a nationally known figure, sat on the rostrum while the routine work was being done.

Bishop Cannon has refused since his arrival here to comment on the report that charges of conduct unbecoming his station would be preferred against him in conection with his political activities.

Many delegates believe that serious consideration will not be given to the charges. If they are preferred on the conference floor, they will be referred to the committee on Episcopacy for recommendation.

FAIL TO END BRICK STRIKE.

Truck Owners Expected to Confer Today With McKee.

No progress was made yesterday to end the strike of truck drivers delivering face brick in the city, according to Joseph A. Therry, secretary of the Building Material Truck Owners' Association. The conference scheduled with Acting Mayor McKee did not take place yesterday, but probably will be held today.

Therry said union stone masons had refused to set stone delivered at 944 Park Avenue yesterday in a truck owned by a member of his association. At the same time, according to Therry, union mechanics continued to handle common brick, sand, cement and other materials delivered to buildings by non-union truck drivers. The two unions have confined strike activities to the drivers on trucks delivering face and court brick.

A group of men attacked the driver of a material delivery truck in Long Island City yesterday and four men were arrested.

Dr. Butler's Views on Tariff Protection

Prime Minister; Mr. Disraeli and Mr. John Bright expressed in eloquent and deeply moving words their judgment of the character, the ideals and the public service of Richard Cobden, but his own land and other lands where his voice was heard are only just now, when two generations have passed since his death, seriously putting their attention upon the principles and problems that were uppermost in his mind and upon which he never ceased eloquently to insist.

"There can be no excuse for not understanding the dominating thought of Cobden's life and the noble vision which guided all his preaching and all his teaching alike. Early, very early, all things considered, Cobden saw and fully grasped the higher meaning of a nation's life and a nation's purpose. Early, very early, all things considered, Cobden understood that growing trade, commerce and finance might be turned into paths of conflict and disturbance or into paths of peace and quiet.

"Early, very early, all things considered, Cobden felt the significance of those states of mind which must be brought to pass among men if public opinion is consciously and powerfully to move toward a liberal, a constructive and just goal. Better than almost any other man who spoke and wrote in the nineteenth century, he saw the shifting of incidence from political theory to economic interest and he hastened to point out how the two could be reconciled and, being reconciled, how they could be led to contribute to the greater satisfaction and happiness of man and to the peace of the world. It is easy enough to say these things, but what is being done to bring them to pass?

"The answer to this question which can truthfully be made today abounds in hope. The great war taught its lesson with a voice so loud and in terms so emphatic that even the most selfish and self-centred of men and of nations can hear and understand.

"There are two possible extremes of misfortune which might conceivably overtake the civilized world of this century and the next. On the one hand, men and nations might settle down into a state of selfish struggle for individual and national enrichment, for power to dominate others less fortunate than themselves and to exploit them, and for force by which to subdue and repel dissatisfaction with the sword, the submarine, the airship and the most poisonous of gases.

Ample Evidence Seen.

"If that path were really to be chosen, or even drifted into through carelessness and unconcern and ignorance, those historians and philosophers who are busying themselves with the decline of Western civilization would quickly find at hand ample material for new volumes of convincing evidence.

"On the other hand, there might conceivably spread from a single centre over the whole world, like an irresistible glacier, some single form of political, economic and social order and domination. This might be an absolutism, either of one or of the many, or communism, or fascism or some other yet unspoken form of controlling human society. The result could only be a fabric so spread out and so brittle that it must shortly crack and break, throwing the pieces back into their original separateness to begin some long process of organization and integration all over again. Alternative to these is the building the world as we know it on what I ventured to define some twenty years ago as the International Mind. This is nothing other than that habit of thinking of foreign relations and business and that habit of dealing with them, which regard the several nations of the civilized world as friendly and cooperating equals in aiding the progress of civilization, in developing commerce and industry, and in spreading enlightenment and culture throughout the world.

"This definition of the international mind brings us face to face with those powerful convictions and emotions which are known as nationalism, patriotism and loyalty, and which must in turn be seized upon and bent toward those highest of all the purposes which brought them into being. Nations and races do not care to have their differences pointed out and emphasized unless it be for the purpose of praising those which are excellent and worthy. Yet precisely these differences between races and nations exist and must be reckoned with as powerful elements in the problem of securing and guarding the peace and progress of the whole world.

"The division of nations into great and small is from the point of view of the international mind of no consequence whatever, for a nation of relatively restricted area and one far down in the scale of population may justly hold its head high because of the part it plays in the world and because of the respect in which it is held by all its neighbors. Such are Belgium and Holland, Denmark and Norway and Sweden, whose security is not assured by great navies and stout fortifications, but by fine national character, by steadiness in well-doing and by quick cooperation with their larger and more powerful neighbors in every act that makes for progress.

Backward Held Most Needy.

"Those nations and peoples and races that are really and by general agreement backward, are those which are most deserving of the careful concern of the more fortunate and more advanced, so that without economic exploitation, without being submerged under a despotic bureaucracy, they may be given opportunity to learn the lessons of liberty and of justice, of self-government and of progress, to the end that after the passage of years they, too, may come to the age of national adolescence and then to full manhood, self-determination and control. Few courses of action could be more cruel than to force upon a backward people those institutions which it has taken hundreds of years for the western world to develop, to understand and to operate, and then to expect those backward peoples to leap at one bound into a position by the side of Great Britain or France or Germany or Italy. Through the League of Nations and its system of mandates a way is now being found to deal with this great question and to prevent recurrence of those happenings which from the sixteenth century through the nineteenth, brought misery and distress to millions of human beings and often made unworthy use of the great power which the more advanced nations found to be theirs.

"Self-respect, self-confidence and self-support are as essential to a nation as to an individual. This is the starting point in nation-building. But for what purpose and to what end shall this self-respect, self-confidence and self-support be used? Shall they be turned merely toward a selfish and unthinking end or shall they be turned in support of comradeship, comity, cooperation and consultation, toward taking a place in the family of nations and there making all these felt for a fine and high purpose?

"It may be premised that if men and nations were ideally constituted, if they were not selfish and gain-seeking, and if they did not postpone thinking of others until they had fully satisfied themselves—and even then waited a while—there would be no very great difficulty in instituting, modifying and removing tariff taxes as occasion might indicate or suggest without the uproar and high feeling which now always accompany any public proposals of this kind, and without injuriously affecting international trade relations. We are constrained to deal with things as they are, however, and we must try to build a fair-minded, a fair-trading and a peaceful world out of the very imperfect material which human nature has supplied for that purpose.

"There is no better illustration of the truth of these reflections than that which is afforded by the history of the Government of the United States in its dealing with this vitally important question. As has frequently been pointed out, it is quite certain that had there been no other reason, taxes on imports would have been imposed when the Government of the United States was newly established, simply because, by the terms of the Constitution, that government was required to look to imposts and excises as its chief sources of revenue. It could not impose direct taxes upon the people save under a limitation which in practical operation came quickly to be regarded as highly unfair and obnoxious.

Hamilton Report Cited.

"The controlling reason, however, for the policy upon which the new government entered is set out in that classic report on manufactures which Alexander Hamilton, Washington's first Secretary of the Treasury, submitted to the House of Representatives in 1791. The argument and the exposition of that great document have never been and cannot be improved upon. Hamilton had in mind, first of all, the diversification of the economic life of this new and distant people in order that they might not be wholly dependent upon agriculture, with all its uncertainties and fluctuations. It was never his intention to penalize, much loss to prohibit, foreign trade, but merely to endeavor to reach certain definite ends which he clearly stated as desirable in the life of a young people set off by themselves, and at that time much more distant from the rest of the world than is the South Pole today. Those definite ends included the division of labor, a more extensive use of machinery, larger employment for those classes of the community not ordinarily engaged in business, the promotion of immigration from other countries, the furnishing of greater scope for the diversity of talents and dispositions among men, the opening up of more ample and varied fields of enterprise and the creating and securing of a more certain and steady demand for the surplus products of the soil.

"Hamilton's chief political critic and antagonist, Thomas Jefferson, himself set out in more than one official document the reasons which led him to favor, if less emphatically, a like policy. From that time to this the system of protective tariffs levied on imported goods has been the substantially uniform policy of the Government of the United States, and the voices which were so powerfully raised against that policy in 1842 and for several years thereafter, and again in the ten years following 1887, are no longer heard. A free trader in the United States is what Professor Thorold Rogers, years ago, called a caput lupinum.

Diversification Declared Here.

"The desired diversification of industry has long since been accomplished. The new methods of mass production, of instalment buying and of workmen's ownership in the great cooperative undertakings by which they are employed have given a large and steadily increasing measure of satisfaction. If prices are high, wages are still higher, and even if they were not, a high wage and a high price are psychologically more attractive than a low wage and a low price, even if the relation between the two be maintained unaltered. But what is so often lost sight of is that behind this barrier of tariff taxation lay a rich, a huge and a highly diversified area throughout which complete freedom of trade was required to prevail by the terms of the Constitution itself. There is no like free-trade area anywhere on earth and no like amount or variety of domestic consumption in any other land. Were it not for these facts, the fortunate results which have followed the imposition of tariff taxes in the United States could not possibly have been reached.

"The other side of the picture is not so agreeable to dwell upon. It shows individuals, corporations, organizations, interests and sections struggling to use the policy of tariff taxation not for the largest public weal, but for their own interests, which they enthusiastically identify with those of the larger public. Exploitation of the tariff, or at least its attempted exploitation, has followed and accompanied every new imposition of tariff taxes for fifty years. Meanwhile, the problem of agriculture has taken on new intensity and new forms and has become doubly pressing. Since American agriculture produces a large exportable surplus, to talk of aiding it by imposing a tariff tax upon imports of agricultural products does not rise even to the height of foolishness. If there is to be a policy of tariff taxation and if agriculture, nevertheless, is in distress, there is but one way in which it can be effectively aided, and that is by a direct bounty from the government treasury. Hamilton recognized this fact and said so in 1791. The difficulty, however, with following such a policy as that is that it is just a little too frank and too open. It makes no attempt to conceal the fact that it is the general public, acting through the public treasury, which directly assists an unprofitable industry. That may or may not be a wise thing to do. But the chance of its being done wisely is quite impossible if it is done behind a screen of some sort which conceals from public view the essential simplicity of the whole operation.

On Facing Self-Interest.

"There is no way by which human selfishness can be excluded from the formulation of public policies, and that fact may just as well be frankly faced. On the other hand, there are and have been wise and eloquent and high-minded leaders of American public life, each one of them a defender of the policy of tariff taxation and an exponent of it, who have taught that that policy existed for a public purpose and that it was a means to an end, and that that end should never be lost sight of, and that that end and not selfishness or group interest or sectional interest should always control the shaping of the details of tariff policy.

"The time has long gone by, if it ever existed, when the policy of tariff protection is a matter of purely domestic concern for any nation. It has long since become of international incidence, international influence and international comity or the contrary. This is the point at which the world now stands. It will be but a partial victory over the forces of unreason if, as military and naval armaments are limited or done away with, tariff walls and trade barriers are multiplied in length, in breadth and in thickness.

"Not every nation could follow the example of the United States or should attempt to do so, but the lesson which the experience of the United States has to teach is so clear that it may be read by him who runs. That lesson is that the area of free and unrestricted trade behind any existing tariff wall should be as wide and as diversified as possible, to the end that the material may be at hand for the achievement of precisely those ends which Hamilton so forcefully described in his report of 1791.

"When the great war was but a few weeks old I ventured the suggestion that what would be in substance a United States of Europe, a more or less formal federation of the self-governing countries of Europe, might be the outcome of the demonstrated failure of the existing national system to adjust government to the growth of civilization. Victor Hugo had used the same phrase and had pointed to the analogy of the United States of America when he took the chair at the Peace Congress at Paris in 1848.

European Union Movement.

"During the fifteen years since those words were written, public opinion has moved unmistakably in the direction of the organization of a United States of Europe, not in order that the nations constituent of such a federation may be lessened in authority, or in influence, but for the purpose of establishing free, helpful and profitable economic cooperation with their neighbors. This aim is offered as a substitute for economic friction and antagonism in order that the several cooperating nations may increase their wealth, increase their peace of mind and increase the satisfactions of their entire populations. In other words, it is at this point that we get beyond nation-building as an end in itself and catch a glimpse of nation-building for the high purpose of effective international cooperation and steadily increasing international service.

"It is so much easier to be prosperous than it is to be civilized. If a nation is to be truly civilized it must be much more than prosperous; it must use its prosperity to a high international and human end as a member of the family of nations.

"It is worth noting what has happened in the economic history of the United States of America during the time that policies of isolation have been so much in evidence and so heatedly supported in the press and on the floor of the American Congress. In 1908 the total value of goods imported into the United States was, in round numbers, $1,183,000,000. In 1928 the value of the imported goods had risen to $4,078,000,000. Moreover, even under the working of a protective tariff system, the percentage in value of dutiable imports, which was 55.57 per cent in 1908, had fallen in 1928 to 34.32 per cent. Meanwhile the value of exports of merchandise from the United States rose from $1,834,786,000 in 1908 to $5,030,099,000 in 1928. The percentage of foodstuffs, both crude and manufactured, and of crude materials, which was 59.10 per cent of the exports in 1908, was only 40.83 per cent in 1928. The percentage of partially manufactured goods remained substantially unchanged, being 14.23 per cent in 1908 and 14.24 per cent in 1928, but that of finished manufactures rose sharply from 26.67 per cent in 1908 to 44.93 per cent in 1928. Still more impressive are the figures for the United States, which record the sources of the revenue of the Federal Government. In 1908 the total gross income of the Federal Government was $601,862,000, of which nearly one-half, or 47.5 per cent, came from customs duties.

Figures on Our Income.

"In 1928 the total gross income of the Federal Government had risen to $3,863,929,000, of which only about one-seventh, or 14.7 per cent, was derived from customs duties. Ratification in 1913 of the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States introduced the Federal income tax, and a host of so-called war taxes quickly followed, so that customs revenues, while about doubled in value measured by dollars, have fallen from nearly one-half to a little more than one-seventh of the total annual revenue of the Federal Government. These facts and figures are full of significance. Taken in connection with recent discussions in the Congress of the United States and with a number of recent votes in that Congress, it would appear that the doctrines of Garfield and Blaine and McKinley are beginning to prevail and that public opinion is on the march toward a larger, a freer and a fairer view of all that relates to international trade and international relations.

"Speaking at Manchester, on Jan. 15, 1846, Mr. Cobden uhed these words:

"'I believe that if you abolish the Corn law unanimously and adopt free trade in its simplicity there will not be a tariff in Europe that will not be changed in less than five years to follow your example. * * * Therefore, for the farmers' sakes, I plead for the immediate abolition of this law.'

"He was too hopeful. National policies do not change so quickly as that and rarely indeed do the facts justify such sudden changes.

Progress Since Cobden's Day.

"Since Cobden's day great progress has everywhere been made, and in the United States particularly, in improving the condition of the handworker and the wage earner and in solving the so-called labor problem, not by political methods, whether ordinary or extraordinary, but by taking out from under that problem the foundations of lack of understanding, of lack of human sympathy and of exploitation and class selfishness upon which it rested and out of which it grew.

"There are other long-standing enmities of other kinds that have to be dealt with besides the traditional antagonism between labor and capital. There is an enormous amount of work to be done in the better organization both of agriculture and of manufactures for cooperating marketing, for the removal of technical, meticulous and bureaucratic limitations and restrictions upon the movement of goods, and for the wider adoption of a single system of weights and measures and of a standardized monetary system to make transportation and trade simpler and less heavily burdened than is now the case.

"We English-speaking people hold fast to our traditional system of weights and measures when all men of science everywhere and a large portion of the world other than ourselves have long since adopted the simple and easily understood metric system. It has long been recognized that few questions concern the human race more directly and more universally than this very subject of weights and measures. If these are not to be uniform everywhere, then the different systems which remain in use should be easily and quickly translated into each other through an agreed plan of standardized nonfractional units.

"Behind each and every one of these questions and suggestions lies our mode of thinking. If we insist upon thinking in terms of nations as ends in themselves, simply aiming to grow richer, more powerful, more proud, surrounded by armies and fleets and tariff walls, then we have one outlook upon life and public policy. If, on the other hand, we accustom ourselves to thinking in terms of a nation as a moral personality with a duty to its neighbors as well as to itself, whose riches and power and pride are not simply to be objects of contemplation but also of service, then we have an outlook upon life and public policy which is one of liberal, constructive and peaceful progress."

be held over their heads as a sword of Damocles by which they are to be induced to vote one way or the other, not on the merits of the bill, but on the mere possibility of securing or not securing legislation."

"That has to be done in the House and it has to be done in the Senate whether it is done now or later," said Senator Smoot.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, who urged that consideration must be on the "whole bill," said:

"If the debenture and the flexible provisions as they were fixed in the Senate should be agreed upon by both houses, I might vote for the conference report. If they are not, I shall vote against it."

Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, emphasized the possibility of long debate on the partial conference report if Mr. Smoot persisted in his effort to put it to a vote.

"We have a right to debate for thirty or sixty days the motion of the Senator from Utah to agree to the conference report," Mr. Robinson asserted, "and then if we defeat that motion, the bill is back in conference, where it will probably be if the Senator persists in the motion."

Joining in this determination was Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, who added that "there are some of us who are not going to stand for a vote if we can prevent it until the other items shall have been agreed upon."

Senator Smoot assured his colleagues that putting the bill back into conference without an adverse vote by the Senate on the agreed items would not throw open the whole bill to change.

When Senator Smoot finally placed his motion, it was in a form agreed to by Senator Robinson. The same conferees were appointed, namely, Senators Smoot, Watson and Shortridge, Republicans, and Simmons and Harrison, Democrats. The House conferees have been Representatives Hawley, Bacharach and Treadway, Republicans, and Garner and Collier, Democrats.

Senator Watson, the Republican leader, said he expected the conferees to act quickly and that the bill might be back in the Senate early next week.

SAYS GRUNDY BUYS BRITISH MACHINERY

Labor Leader Attacks Senator's Purchases Abroad—Latter Defends Course.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—Charges that Senator Grundy, champion of the protective tariff, had equipped his textile mill at Bristol with British-made machinery and had refused to purchase replacements in recent years from American manufacturers were made tonight by William F. Kelly, international vice president of the United Textile Workers of America, in an address in the interest of the Davis-Brown ticket.

Mr. Kelly declared that Senator Grundy's purchases abroad had been made at "a substantial saving," and charged that his "protestations of love for American labor are filled with sham and deception."

"United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy is the high priest of protection in the Republican party," said the labor leader. "He is the spokesman for the manufacturers of Pennsylvania. He poses as the great friend of the American laboring man.

"And yet Joseph R. Grundy has equipped his mill almost exclusively with British-made textile machinery. He refuses to purchase American machines, and he operates nearly 700 pieces of machinery made either in England or in Scotland.

"And here I say to Senator Grundy:

"You have helped to throw American mechanics out of work by your persistent purchases of British machinery. You and your British-equipped mill have been proved to be enemies of American labor."

Senator Grundy said tonight in reply to Mr. Kelly:

"That the kind of machinery in my mill should be made the seeming measure of my qualifications for United States Senator is in itself an illustration of the lengths to which my opponents have been forced, for reasons with which to justify their opposition to my candidacy.

"But inasmuch as the subject has been brought up, it affords an opportunity to show how irrelevant the matter is in this or any other political campaign.

"Our mill in Bristol was established some seventy years ago. The machinery we use was not manufactured in this country at that time. It had to be purchased abroad, and the parts being interchangeable, the additions of equipment from time to time naturally were of the same make.

"The important thing is, that while we have been using machinery which was not available in the United States when our mill was equipped, we have been paying American wages ever since the mill went into operation."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 7.—Dazzling catches and timely hitting by Albie Booth and Ed Obey featured Yale's victory over Columbia, 5 to 4, in an Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League contest today.

Booth's two-bagger in the second inning with the bases filled scored two runs and placed Booth in scoring position.

Obey's single in the sixth was timely for Columbia, pushing two runs across the plate. Obey's catch of Quinn's fly in ending the fourth inning climaxed a series of fielding performances in which Captain Morrison and Balquist had a part. Quinn's fly had cleared the bleacher boundary and would have gone as a home run, scoring Aldrich also.

Yale Gets Four Runs.

Yale's scoring festival, practically deciding the game in the second, included a pass to Rudd, Warren's sacrifice, Maine's base hit and Beyer's walk with the high-pressure clout to centre by Booth, clearing the bases. Booth scored from third on Quinn's sacrifice fly.

Columbia rallied in the fifth on singles by Bradley, Swetman and Bender. Booth's fumble allowed one run to score.

Another Columbia batting streak in the sixth, including safeties by Bradley, Obey and Stelljes, coupled with a pass to McLaughlin, scored two runs, but a double play by Booth, Beyer and Vincent stifled the splurge.

Yale's final run in the seventh resulted from infield singles by Vincent and Snead and a poor throw to second by catcher Swetman.

Columbia in Late Rally.

Stelljes made the circuit in the ninth on Warren's poor throw to first of Stelljes's bounder. Although Captain Morrison pushed a two-bagger to centre and a single would have tied the score, Balquist flied to Snead for the final out.

While Yale totaled only five hits off the combined efforts of Bender and Wilkens, ten bases on balls were issued by the Columbia pitchers, nine off Bender. Rudd, who went the route for the Elis, kept nine hits well distributed.

PRINCETON BEATEN BY GEORGETOWN NINE

Loses by 5 to 2 When Rivals' Attack in Sixth Sends in Three Tallies.

BOWMAN'S LAPSES COSTLY

His Two Wild Pitches, Coupled With Passed Ball, Two Errors, One Hit, Give Victors' Game.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 7.—Scoring three runs in the sixth inning on one hit, two wild pitches, a passed ball and two errors, the Georgetown varsity nine defeated Princeton this afternoon, 5 to 2. Georgetown downed the Tigers earlier in the season, 7 to 4.

Shorty Bowman started on the mound for the Nassau nine, but was replaced by Ray in the seventh after the visitors had scored all their runs. Repeating his performance in the Duke game, when he lost, 1 to 0, because of his wildness, Bowman pitched remarkable ball for five innings, after whihch he lost all control.

Mooney Starts the Trouble.

Mooney led off in the sixth with a safety over second. Bill Swift made a fine stop of Scalzi's bounder to throw the runner out while Mooney advanced to second. Wholey grounded to O'Toole, who threw low to Vogt in an attempt to nail Mooney, who was safe at third while Wholey held first. Mooney scored on a passed ball by Eno and Wholey went to second.

Bowman's first wild pitch put Wholey on third. Morsis walked and stole second. Bowman again let loose with a wild heave and Wholey scored. Eno retrieved the ball and threw to Bowman at the plate, but Morsis was safe when Bowman dropped the ball. The Tiger hurler then fanned the next two batters.

Tigers Get an Early Lead.

The Tigers took an early lead when Vogt singled, advanced to second on a sacrifice and came home on Captain O'Toole's safety to right. Georgetown came back with one run in the next inning when McCarty drove in Donovan who had singled and gone to second on White's walk. The Tigers took the lead again in the fourth when Vogt walked, went to third on Hendley's double to left, and came in on O'Toole's perfect squeeze bunt.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 7.—After winning seven straight games, the Naval Academy nine was outbatted and outfielded by the University of Richmond today, losing by 13 to 6.

The visitors made three runs in the opening session, largely through two errors by the usually reliable Gentner and one by Fitzgerald. BALSLEY'S PITCHING WINS FOR SYRACUSE

VICTORS TALLY IN FIRST

Bunch Trio of Singles to Register Three Runs—Boice Hurls Good Relief Ball for Losers.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, May 7.—Syracuse defeated Cornell, 5-1, in a baseball game at Star Park today. Basil Balsley, Orange captain, held the visitors to five scattered hits.

Cornell failed to get a man past first until the fifth inning, when Cushman raeched third, only to be caught off the bag by Catcher Horowitz.

Syracuse bunched singles to get away to an early lead in the first. Beagle hit to right field and Frank sent the first ball to deep left. Horowitz then singled, scoring both men. He later tallied on a poor throw to third.

Lafrance scored for Cornell in the seventh. He drew a base on balls, was advanced by Handleman's sacrifice and scored on Cushman's single.

Walkov tallied for Syracuse in the second on a wild throw to first. Beagle scored Syracuse's final run in the fifth. The Orange had the bases full and on a forced play Heyes dropped Habicht's throw.

Boice, who relieved Stevens in the fifth, held the Orangemen to a single hit, fanning four men.

RUTGERS' 5 IN 10TH OVERCOME STEVENS

Bunch Hits to Break 2-All Tie After Losers Fail With Bases Full in Ninth.

A five-run rally in the tenth inning gave Rutgers a 7 to 3 victory over Stevens Tech at Hoboken yesterday. Stevens filled the bases in the ninth inning, but failed to push the winning run across.

Pecora doubled to left to open the tenth and scored when Meinhold missed the throw on Johnson's attempt to catch him napping. Newson and Grossman made doubles and Morse, a southpaw, replaced Johnson. Morse made a wild pitch and hit E. Walker. He settled down then and finished the inning. Stevens counted once in its half of the tenth.

Johnson and Morse gave Rutgers thirteen hits, but managed to keep them scattered until the tenth inning. Stevens reached first eight times on safeties, all singles, while Rutgers garnered four doubles and a triple.

ARMY'S ACE ROUTED, BUT NINE TRIUMPHS

LOSERS USE TWO HURLERS

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 7.—Army defeated University of New Hampshire on the diamond today by a score of 10 to 7.

Landry, Army's star pitcher, lasted four innings. Jablonowski was hit hard by the Cadets in the fifth and gave way to Lord. Beauchamp and Farnsworth featured in a brilliant double play in the final inning.

Lindquist, Farnsworth and Golden, with two hits apiece, led the batting attack for West Point. Coughlin, who relieved Landry on the mound, not only succeeded in holding New Hampshire batters to four hits in five innings but accounted for a home run, the only one of the game.

Redden and Shea were the batting stars for the visitors, the former getting a double and two singles and the latter accounting for two doubles and a single.

N. Y. U. CUB NINE WINS ON HOMER BY BOGGINI

Drive in Extra Inning Breaks Up Game With C. C. N. Y. Jayvees for 6-4 Victory.

A home run over the right centre field fence by Nino Boggini enabled the New York University freshman baseball team to defeat the City College junior varsity nine, 6 to 4, at Ohio Field yesterday in an extra inning game.

With the count deadlocked at 4-4 and Murray Poss, who had relieved Kreis, and Al Moore engaged in a pitchers' duel, Legrand drew a base on balls to open the eighth frame and registered soon after on Boggini's clout for the circuit.

HARVARD CRIMSON WANTS BREAK ENDED

PUTS BLAME ON POLICIES

Asks Tigers to Drop Triangular Contract Plan and Operate on a Dual System.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 7.—Strongly backing the Harvard athletic policy of dual contracts and insisting upon the resumption of athletic relations between Harvard and Princeton, The Harvard Crimson, the student publication, joins with the official Princeton publication in urging the resumption of athletic relations between the two universities.

It appears that the only thing preventing the return of athletic relations is the difference in policies.

The editorial follows:

Ask for Resumption of Activities.

"Harvard and Princeton undergraduates ask for the resumption of athletic relations between their two universities. Cordial good feeling has replaced the ill-will and misunderstanding which were among the reasons for the rupture in 1926. In Cambridge and in Princeton the students desire to acknowledge an existing entente in a tangible form of sports. Amid the confusion of newspaper rumors they wonder what it is that keeps two friends from meeting.

"That two undergraduate bodies, cordially friendly in all existing contacts, should thus stand apart on the athletic field like two spanked children must seem, to the outside observers at least another sign of collegiate immaturity. The reason is more fundamental than this. The estrangement is the product, not of hostile feeling between Princeton and Harvard, but of divergent Harvard and Princeton athletic policies."

Harvard desires that all her athletic relations be based on dual contracts, while Princeton has in the past stood for a triangular contract between Yale, Princeton and Harvard. Failure to adjust these two policies has kept the universities apart.

Favor Existing Policies.

In its attempt to bring about mutual athletic relations, the Crimson stands unequivocally behind existing Harvard athletic policies. The positions of Harvard and Princeton undergraduates, as expressed by their publications, present no irreconcilable differences.

"The Crimson advocates the resumption of athletic relations with Princeton on a dual basis. The position of Princeton, as expressed this morning in the editorial of The Daily Princetonian, is not fundamentally opposed to the Crimson's stand.

"The negotiations which the Crimson and the Princetonian have initiated have by no means reached a deadlock. Neither pride, nor memories of former embitterment, nor technical difficulties can long stand in the way of the united undergraduate front."

TEMPLE EVENS SERIES WITH QUANTICO NINE

Three-Run Rally in First Brings Victory Over Marines by 3 to 1.

Special to The New York Times.

QUANTICO, Va., May 7.—Temple University evened the series with the Quantico all-Marine baseball team when it took today's game by a score of 3 to 1. Williams for Temple and Almand for the sea soldiers pitched excellent ball, each hurling eight scoreless innings.

The university team scored all its runs in the first, when, after Leanes had fanned, Rambone walked, Wearshing doubled and Young tripled, scoring both runners. Young came home when Godfrey drove to left field for a sacrifice.

The Marines were blanked by Williams until after two were retired in the ninth. Then Gorman, Gatewood and Ware singled in succession to bring in their lone tally.

MANY SHIFTS MADE IN COLUMBIA CREWS

Wood and Triska Transferred to Varsity Boat—Shake-Up Also Strikes Other Eights.

FLEET ROWS SIX MILES

First Shell Leads Junior Craft by More Than Length in Sprint on the Hudson.

An indication that all is not well with the Columbia crews was brought forcefully to the front yesterday when Coach Richard J. Glendon made several changes in the varsity, junior varsity and freshman boats.

Two new men were in the varsity boat, Shelley Wood and Al Triska, who are now rowing at 3 and 4, respectively. Wood takes the seat that has been occupied by Mal Bonynge and Triska neplaces Captain oJhn Murphy, who has been changed from a port to a starboard oarsman and is now at 5. The shift of Murphy to the stern of the shell resulted in Harold Grafer being demoted to the junior varsity crew.

The changes in the three crews, especially in the varsity eight, are reliable indications that Glendon is pointing for the Poughkeepsie Regatta on June 26. Only Penn and Princeton remain on the Lions' early season schedule and these institutions will be opposed in the Childs Cup Regatta at Philadelphia on May 31.

The junior vasiity yesterday hardly resembled the Jayvee boat of Tuesday. John Hanson, bow; Rene Muller, 4, and Cliff Spiller, veteran stroke, are the only men retaining their places. The other oarsmen have either been shifted within the boat or have been demoted.

Fred Farwell was given a tryout in Hanson's place but before the workout ended Hanson was back at his post. Bill McDuffee, stroke of the 1929 freshman eight, was transferred from the starboard to port side when Glendon ordered him from 3 to 2. Vic Nordstrom, who rowed at 2 against Yale and Penn, is now in the third boat. Frank Keil goes from 5 to 3 and Grafer, former 5 in the varsity, takes over the 5 duties in the junior boat. Maurice Goldberg from the third varsity took Triska's former seat at 6 in the junior varsity.

Four changes were made in the freshman crew. Bob Lippoth went to 2 in place of James Vincent and Fred Bubendy took Bill Love's position at 4. Robert Lilly replaced Robert Ward at 7 and Kline is now coxswain.

The fleet rowed six miles on the Hudson. The last mile saw all of the heavyweight crews, rowing over the one and one-half-mile course in a sprint with the varsity eight leading the junior boat by slightly more than one length.

The revised boatings:

Varsity.

Bow, Walters; 2, Lozier; 3, Wood; 4, Triska; 5, Murphy; 6, Biesse; 7, Ganzle; stroke, Sanford; coxswain, Michels.

Junior Varsity.

Bow, Hanson; 2, McDuffee; 3, Keil; 4, Muller; 5, Grafer; 6, Goldberg; 7, Bonynge; stroke, Spiller; coxswain, Metzner.

Freshman Crew.

Bow, Abrams; 2, Lippoth; 3, Schmackenberg; 4, Bubendy; 5, Wagner; 6, Clugh; 7, Lilly stroke, Sykes; coxswain, Kline.

PENN JAYVEE SHELL UNDERGOES SHAKE-UP

Ruff Goes to No. 2 in Place of Weeks and Jordan Supplants Roth at No. 3.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—Coach Rusty Callow made another shake-up in his University of Pennsylvania junior varsity crew today in preparation for the quadrangular regatta with Harvard, Navy and Massachusetts Tech at Boston a week from Saturday. Owing to the extremely hot weather the crews were not sent as far as usually.

Ruff, who had been rowing in the third varsity, moved up to 2 in place of Weeks. Ed Jordan took Roth's place at 3, and Charley Krampf and Clark Thrasher, two veterans, exchanged places at 6 and 4 in the J. V., while Schwartz relieved Hoffmann at 7.

Loveless, who steered the varsity at Derby last week, was coxswain in the J. V. today and Trowbridge handled the first varsity, there being no changes in the seating of the latter crew.

Tim Keen was at his usual 2 seat when the 150-pound varsity went on the water today, in place of Stewart, who held down the post yesterday.

Frank Roth, 4, and Paul Sebastian, 7, of the undefeated freshman crew, took examinations today. Coach Callow had to call on utility material from the second freshman boat.

FRESHMAN CREW AT YALE SHIFTED

Wolcott, Nimmo, Urquhar and Burke Figure in Changes—Shepard at Stroke.

LEADER EXTENDS VARSITY

Speeds Rowing for First Time Since Blackwell Cup Victory—150-Pound Crew Unchanged.

Special to The New York Times.

DERBY, Conn., May 7.—William Welch Wolcott, son of Frederick Wolcott, United States Senator from Connecticut, today was promoted to the freshman crew from the second yearling eight, rowing all the afternoon in the bow seat. Coach Fred Spuhn said that the make-up of the class eight is not settled and that it will not be fixed until the first of next week. The yearlings will row against the freshman crews of Princeton and Cornell on Lake Carnegie May 17.

Spuhn first made a series of changes among the port oars, trying successively Billy Garnsey and John Keppelman at stroke, but finally returning to Herbert Shepard. Garnsey has been at 6 and Keppelman at 4.

Burke Goes to Second Boat.

Other changes were made with the starboard oars, Johnny Burke going from 5 to the second boat, and Donald Nimmo shifted from 3 to 5, Jimmy Urquhar moving up from bow to 3. It is likely that the new combination of starboard oars will be retained, but it is likely that the port oars will row as they were before the shake-up. The eight as it rowed for the greater part of practice, and as it probably will be tried out tomorrow, is as follows:

Bow, Wolcott; 2, Munson; 3, Urquhart; 4, Keppelman; 5, Nimmo; 6, Garnsey; 7, Babcock; stroke, Shepard; coxswain, Hotchkiss.

Leader Makes No Changes.

No changes were made in the shell, and while Leader would not admit that none will be made, he called attention to the fact that the race on Lake Carnegie next week will be a sprint affair, like that on the Housatonic last week and that the crews who established their speed and strength by victories in the Derby Day regatta likely would hold their places. All of the varsity oarsmen seemed in excellent condition, but today's work was slightly curtailed because of the heat.

Don Grant made no changes in the 150-pound boat, which will row the Princeton and Harvard lightweights Saturday.

CORNELL HAS SHORT ROW.

Uncertain Weather Prevents Oarsmen From Covering Usual Distance

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., May 7.—Uncertain weather prevented the Cornell crews from covering their customary mileage today, but the oarsmen engaged in several short spins and practiced starts.

Niles was again at stroke. Behind him were Parsons at 7, Clark at 6, Scott at 5, Heidelberger at 4, Shallcross at 3, Butler at 2 and Austin at bow. The coxswain was Burke.

This combination is fairly heavy and is already showing good racing form, in spite of a slow start because of the late Winter. Mann is working out in a double scull after a severe illness. He was at 2 in the varsity early in the year.

PRINCETON VARSITY LEADS JAYVEE CREW

McIVER REPLACES HOOKER

Latter Moves From 6 to 4 in Junior Varsity Boat—Logg Coaches Men on Individual Faults.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 7.—Individual weaknesses were taken up this afternoon as Coach Logg put the Princeton crews through their daily workout. Two quarter-mile brushes between the varsity and jayvees resulted in varsity victories, while the freshman oarsmen triumphed over the 150-pound crew in a mile race.

On the trip to the dam the Tiger mentor ordered his crews to cover the distance with the stroke at 32. On this stretch he emphasized a longer stroke and quicker recovery.

For a mile on the return trip the stroke was kept around fifteen in order to allow for individual coaching. At the mile mark the varsity and jayvee boats were lined up for a quarter-mile race at 34 and the varsity won by a half length. No time was divulged.

Logg Criticizes Oarsmen.

Following this test Logg devoted a period for advice to individuals, with emphasis on squaring shoulders. Following this detail there was a second brush of a quarter mile with orders to increase the stroke. The varsity won this race by a quarter of a length.

Two changes were made in the jayvee line-up today, McIver replacing Hooker at 6 and Hooker taking over Yerkes's assignment at 4. McIver has been out for some time, but reported today in shape to row.

The freshmen went through a short practice of racing starts and drills to get a longer, smoother stroke. On the return trip from the dam the yearling sweep swingers raced the 150s for over a mile with the stroke around 34.

Yearlings Jump the Pace.

Toward the end of the race, however, the yearlings jumped the pace to 40 and defeated the 150s by one length.

HARVARD OARSMEN SWAMPED IN STORM

BOW RIPPED FROM SHELL

Two Other Crimson Eights and Three M. I. T. Crews Escape Fury of Squall in Workouts.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 7 (AP).—The Harvard third varsity crew was swamped and its shell wrecked tonight when a sudden windstorm swept over the Charles River basin. All of the other crews in the Harvard fleet, as well as three Massachusetts Tech crews, managed to find sheltered spots to ride out the squall.

The Crimson's third varsity boat, stroked by Bob McKesson, was on the Boston side of the river when the storm swept rapidly upstream. The fragile craft was so battered by the wind that its bow was ripped off and two holes were punched in its stern. As it swamped, the eight oarsmen and coxswain jumped overboard and swam to the launch of Fred Sullivan, their coach.

The Harvard varsity and junior varsity crews, rowing a short distance upstream, escaped most of the wind's fury. Head Coach Charley Whiteside ordered both into sheltered positions when he noted the approaching gale.

The three Tech varsity crews, which were working out under the supervision of Coach Bill Haines, were in mid-stream in the vicinity of Harvard Bridge. Haines had them safely under the shelter of that structure when the wind reached them.

Both fleets, however, were forced to end their workouts abruptly, for when the storm passed over the water was much too rough for rowing.

America's Cup Defense Yacht Whirlwind Launched at Neponset, Mass.

WHIRLWIND SLIDES EASILY DOWN WAYS

FEW WITNESS EARLY EVENT

Mrs. Edwin Thorne, Mother of L. K. Thorne, Principal Owner, Christens Yacht.

By JAMES ROBBINS.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 7.—Sliding down soft-soaped ways with unusual ease and smoothness, Whirlwind, the New York-owned America's Cup defense yacht built here, was launched a few minutes before 7 o'clock this morning from the shipyard of the George Lawley & Son Corporation in Neponset.

She went stern first into Dorchester Bay, straight against a burst of the rising sun, and as she freed herself from her cradle in the water she swung around off Squantum Island, head up, like a horse freed to pasture.

As she floated she was high in the flood water, far above her waterline defined between the green paint over her mahogany underbody and the white on her topsides. The coloring of her hull was framed with a solid black walnut rail around her deck.

This yacht, second to Enterprise in the water and the largest of the four cup boats built in this country, from which a defender will be chosen to meet Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V, was wished overboard, as was Enterprise, with a bottle of strongly effervescent liquid that sparkled and admittedly was not soda-pop.

Small Group Sees Launching.

Mrs. Edwin Thorne, mother of Langdon K. Thorne, New York banker and principal owner of the boat, wielded the bottle dexterously, as a small group stood by in the building shed. Paul Hammond, manager of the owning syndicate, wearing a white yachting cap, was on the boat's deck along with Captain John Muir, her professional master. Mrs. Langdon Thorne, Mrs. Hammond and her two daughters, the Misses Swan, Adrian Iselin 2d, who will be the yacht's navigator, and Raymond Hunt, who will be one of the Yankee's skippers, looked on.

Yankee, the Boston boat which could not be launched until Whirlwind was out of the way, will go overboard at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, by which time the launching ways can be transferred to her.

Whirlwind, the only one of the defense yachts that is planked with wood, as is Shamrock, the others being bronze, was named for a famous clipper ship owned by an ancestor of Mr. Thorne on his mother's side. That clipper, built in 1852, only six miles from where the cup yacht bearing her name was created, astonished the world by making a run from New York to Melbourne in eighty days.

The new Whirlwind was designed by L. Francis Herreshoff, son of Nat Herreshoff, the latter the creator of the last five America's Cup defenders—Vigilant, Defender, Columbia, Reliance and Resolute.

Differs From Other Boats.

She differs from the three other new cup boats in many ways. In the first place, she has a double planking of mahogany, an outer layer being one and five-eighths inches thick and an inner one an inch. Shamrock has one shell, two inches thick.

Whirlwind also is a double-ender, with pointed stern as well as bow, like a canoe. The contour of her keel differs greatly from those of the other boats. It is deeper and considerably longer, having a long, almost horizontal line at the bottom, instead of a fall away from the bow down to the stern, as in the others.

She will be longer and deeper, measuring 4 feet and 1 inch more on deck than Weetamoe, and 9 feet and 3 inches more than Enterprise. Yet she will have the smallest sail spread of any of the boats, being penalized in canvas by her big hull to keep within the measurement rule.

Over all she is 130 feet and on the waterline 86 feet long. Her beam is 21 feet 8 inches, her draft 15 feet 6 inches and her displacement 159 tons. In appearance, as she took the water, her hull had an easy entrance, with no unusual lines underneath, and ending in a finely drawn, long, overhanging stern.

Why Mahogany Was Used.

L. Francis Herreshoff, explained that he resorted to composite construction, with mahogany planks over the steel frame, instead of using bronze, as he believed there were few workmen capable of doing high grade plating on an all-metal boat. The use of bronze in cup boats was started at the Herreshoff plant, and Whirlwind was the last of the defense craft to be contracted for.

He pointed out that her construction was unusually heavy, and he figured her to be twice as strong as the old cup defenders of recent years. Britannia, King George's famous racer, is of similar construction, but lighter, and is more than thirty years old.

While the designs of the four defense boats appear different, their basic proportions are required to be similar under the building rule. Their displacement has to be in proportion to the waterline length.

"I have tried to make Whirlwind appear longer, lower and racier than the type of boat normally expected under the rule, with its requirement of high freeboard," Herreshoff said, "and I believe she embodies more of the recent developments in small boats than the other three boats."

All of the metal fittings of Whirlwind, including the steering gear, were specially designed, and in many cases are quite different from any used on yachts before. They necessitated detail drawings which, with more than 50 drawings of the boat itself, made a total of more than 250 blue prints.

Deck Has Five Sunken Cockpits.

On deck the yacht has five sunken cockpits. One is for the afterdeck crew that will sail her, which also has a deckhouse. The others are for the men handling the back stays and handling sails from the hold. Below deck are facilities for working some of the sheets and running rigging. There also is a small cabin aft with a few berths.

Whirlwind has been built almost entirely of American materials. Her steel framing came from Pennsylvania, her mahogany from South America, the pine in the deck and spruce in the mast and spars from the State of Washington, and the black walnut in the rail and deck trimmings from Indiana.

When Whirlwind will be under sail is question. Her mast is not finished, so she cannot be rigged for a while. Also she is to be hauled out of water for two more coats of paint. She probably will be the last of the boats under sail.

Weetamoe, which was built at the Herreshoff Yard in Bristol, R. I., along with Enterprise, will be launched tomorrow at 5:30 P. M., unless there should be a high wind from the southwest, in which case the event will be put off until the high tide on Friday morning. A high wind might blow her against a pier, to which she will slide in close proximity from the building shed.

Resolute, the old defender, is fitted out at Bristol and awaiting her owner, E. Walter Clark of Philadelphia, to take her down to Newport for her test races with Enterprise, which is there awaiting her.

Stanford Offers Its Stadium For Olympic Team Tryouts

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7 (AP).—Use of Stanford University's huge stadium for the 1932 try-outs for the American Olympic team was offered today by the board of athletic control. The invitation was forwarded to Frederick W. Rubien of New York, secretary of the A. A. U. and a games committee official, by Harry Maloney, president of the Pacific Association, local branch of the A. A. U.

Stanford officials expressed the opinion that it would be more practicable to have the try-outs on the West Coast. If they are in the East the athletes would have to cross the continent to compete in the games at Los Angeles.

CANADIAN NET TEAM HAS DRILL AT BALA

Davis Cup Group Engages in First Workout on Court to Be Used in Zone Matches.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—Under a blazing sun, members of the Canadian Davis Cup tennis team, here for the American zone matches with the United States May 15, 16 and 17, held their first practice today on the courts of the Philadelphia Country Club at Bala, where the two teams will clash.

Dr. Jack Wright, captain of the Canadian team, played in singles with Willard Crocker, while Marcel Rainville, the third member of the visiting squad, paired with J. Gilbert Hall of East Orange, who recently won the Pennsylvania indoor singles championship.

The Canadians started on the lower court, while the American players used the upper court, which is to be the official court for the zone matches next week. Later the Canadians tried the official court.

John Van Ryn, former Princeton star, played a keen set with Johnny Doeg, the Californian, both calling it off when the score stood 5—5. George Lott and Wilmer Allison also engaged in practice sessions, as did Berkeley Bell, the intercollegiate singles champion from Texas, who arrived yesterday.

Van Ryn and Allison, showing much of the form which carried them to victory in the Davis Cup challenge round doubles in France last Summer, defeated Lott and Bell, 6—4, 6—3. Rainsville lost his exhibition match to Hall, 6—3, 6—3.

COCHRAN GAINS BIG LEAD.

Welker Cochran captured both the fifth and sixth blocks of his 12-block three-cushion billiard match with Isidro Ribas at Dwyer's Broadway Academy yesterday. Cochran has won all of the six blocks played.

Cochran won in the afternoon, 40 to 32 in 47 innings, and triumphed in the evening, 40 to 31 in 40 innings.

BUXBY BEATS APPEL WITH STRONG RALLY

Former Princeton Captain Bows in Greater City Tennis, 2-6, 6-3, 6-0.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

Apparently on the high road to victory, with the first set in hand and a lead of 3-1 established in the second chapter, Kenneth Appel of East Orange, N. J., former Princeton captain, wilted badly under a broiling sun and lost eleven successive games and the match to Martin Buxby yesterday in the Greater New York tennis championship at the Staten Island Cricket and Tennis Club.

Buxby, a 19-year-old stripling from Florida, to whom the temperature means nothing so long as it stays above 80, was just warming to his work when Appel was hoisting signals of distress, and his persistent, aggressive play was rewarded with a victory that constituted the biggest surprise of the tournament to date. The score was 2—6, 6—3, 6—0.

Only a little less commendable than the triumph of the youth from the South was the victory of Edward W. Burns of the Crescent A. C. over Harold MacGuffin of Philadelphia in the only other singles match of the day. In a stirring, free-hitting engagement that was marked by protracted rallies of brilliant driving and splendid recoveries, the tall, cleanly built representative of Brooklyn gained the verdict at 6—4, 6—1.

MacGuffin, a stylist of the Tilden school, kept in the fight tooth and nail for the first set, stroking beautifully from both the forehand and backhand and bringing off winners from losing positions.

But in the second set the heat took its toll, just as it had in the case of Appel, and he went into a bad slump from which he never recovered. Burns, pursuing the even tenor of his way, kept drilling away with burning pace and excellent length to win almost as he pleased.

The winners of these two matches went into the semi-finals, to join Percy L. Kynaston, and this afternoon the remaining quarter-final match will bring together Dr. Lawrence Kurzrok, the defending titleholder, and Arthur S. Fowler.

CALZA DEFEATS STEINBACH.

George Calza, Italian heavyweight, pinned the shoulders of Henry Steinbach of Germany in 19:30 of the feature finish match at the New Ridgewood Grove last night. A crowd of about 2,500 saw Calza down his opponent with a series of flying mares. Calza weighed 222 pounds, Steinbach 215.

Rudy Dusek, 210, Nebraska, received the decision over Kola Kwariani, 225, Russia, at the end of a thirty-minute match.

In two other thirty-minute bouts, Herb Freeman, 235, New York, tossed Ned McGuire, 238, Ireland, with a crotch and body hold in 8:35, and George Manich, 205, won from Vanka Zelezniak, 210, Russia.

SEABACK, ST. JEAN DIVIDE.

Each Captures a Block In Their Pocket Billiard Match.

Charles Seaback defeated Andrew St. Jean, 118 to 96, in fifteen innings, in the fifth block of their 1,750-point fourteen-block pocket billiard match at the Strand Billiard Academy yesterday. Seaback's high run was 29 and St. Jean's 34.

In the evening session St. Jean triumphed, 144 to 120, in eleven innings. St. Jean's best cluster was 57 and Seaback's 65.

Seaback is leading in the match, which is being played on the point basis, by 750 to 656 for St. Jean.

BLUE RIBBON WON BY LAWLER PONY

Killgarry Pride Scores at Philadelphia Horse Show With Stablemate Olinda 2d.

DARE ME GAINS HONORS

Miss Horter's Gelding Leads In Model Saddle Class—White Face Heads Polo Mounts.

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—Pennsylvania society crowded the boxes and galleries of the 103d Cavalry Armory this evening for the opening session of the nineteenth annual Philadelphia Indoor Horse Show.

This year's exhibition is largely local, although the harness horses of P. J. Lawler of Bala, which have won all over the circuit, were conspicuous among the entries. Among the out-of-town stables which are well known on the Eastern circuit and which are represented by some of their best are the Bell-Ho Stables of Hohokus, N. J.; the Dilwyne Farms of Montchanin, Del.; Gordon P. Perry of Toronto, and Miss Ida Louise Tobey of New York City.

The Lawler entries easily took the first two ribbons in the class for ponies shown in hand, winning first money with the well-known Killgarry Pride and landing second with the bay gelding Olinda.

A local exhibitor scored in the first of the regular classes, when Miss Violet June Horter's very nice brown gelding Dare Me was first in the event for model saddle horses.

The class for polo mounts was disappointingly small, only three showing, and it was won by a post entry, the Chestnut gelding White Face, shown by the 103d Cavalry.

Five contested in the event for model five-gaited saddle horses shown in hand, the blue going to the chestnut mare Peach Melba, owned by Miss Patricia Bonsall of Philadelphia.

CARDS BEAT PHILS; 35 HITS IN GAME

5 Homers, 11 Doubles, 3 Triples Included in Heavy Batting Attacks.

5TH BIG INNING FOR HAFEY

Drives for Circuit and Clears Bases With Triple—Defeat Charged to Alexander.

ST. LOUIS, May 7 (AP).—The Cardinals and the Phillies were in a hitting mood today, collecting between them thirty-five hits, including five home runs, eleven doubles and three triples. A nine-run attack in the fifth inning gave the Cardinals enough advantage to win by a score of 16 to 11.

In the fifth the Cardinals got six hits, among them a home run and a triple by Chick Hafey. One man was on base when Hafey hit for the circuit, and the bases were loaded when he tripled. Thompson, Sigman and Hurst of the Phillies and Watkins of the Cardinals also hit for the circuit.

The Phillies sent five pitchers to the mound, the veteran Grover Cleveland Alexander, who was second in the parade, being charged with the defeat. Alexander was pitching when the Cardinals started their nine-run attack.

SHERID CHECKS LATE RALLY

Relieves Zachary, Stemming Attack After Cleveland Comes Within Run of Tying Score.

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

Cleveland came with a rush in the closing stages of battle at the Yankee Stadium yesterday, scoring four runs in the eighth and changing a runaway game into something close and exciting. Roy Sherid, doing a relief assignment, held firm against the Indians in the ninth and the Yankees won, 8 to 7.

The 12,000 fans watched a long-drawn game which paused for breath frequently and which reached its excitement peaks in the fourth and eighth.

Tom Zachary, the winning pitcher, held the Tribe to five hits in the first seven innings and entered the eighth with a five-run lead, but left when the Indians began rampaging.

Yankees on Rampage.

Ruth's fourth homer of the year was a happy event in the long fourth inning, in which the whole Yankee batting order went to the plate, getting five hits and five runs. The Babe's drive into the bleachers came with two on base. This Yankee carnival broke a 2—2 tie and kept the Yanks away ahead until the eighth.

Lazzeri's single scored Ruth in the first inning. In the second, Chapman jarred Pete Jablonowski, Cleveland's starting pitcher, by poling a home run to the bleachers in left-centre. Three singles, a sacrifice fly and a double steal tied the score for Cleveland in the fourth.

Then came the Yankees' big session. Byrd opened with a double over third. Chapman walked. Walter Miller, veteran southpaw, replaced Jablonowski and Hargrave took Dickey's place at bat.

Zachary Drives Chapman Home.

In the fifth, Zachary broomed a single to centre which scored Chapman with the eighth Yankee run, their last of the day, and the one they had to have to win.

Hodapp's triple made Cleveland's third run in the sixth. The eighth inning excitement came suddenly. Chapman started the trouble by throwing wild to first on Hodapp's drive. Jamieson singled to right. Seeds lined to Combs. Then Zachary walked Luke Sewell, filling the bases and also walked Goldman forcing home a run.

Fonseca, a right-handed hitter, came to bat for Shaute. Sherid replaced Zachary. Fonseca was then replaced by Bib Falk, a left-handed liner to Byrd, sacrificing Jamieson home. Morgan banged a tremendous triple to right centre, scoring two more runs. Sherid retired Burnett on a grounder and kept the Indians from hitting out of the infield in the ninth.

Gehrig hurt his left foot in practice and was limping all afternoon. In the seventh, Shawkey shifted Lazzeri to first base, putting Reese at second.

ROCHESTER VICTORIOUS.

Scores Its First Triumph of the Season Over Orioles.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 7 (AP).—Rochester evened the present home stand with the Baltimore Orioles and took its first victory of the year over the Birds, 7 to 5, this afternoon.

Fritz Ostermueller, up from Shawnee of the Western League, came through with fine relief, hurling to hold Baltimore to two hits in the final five innings. Rip Collins, league's leading home-run swatter last season, pounded out two circuit blows to score twice and drive in three runs. Hauser also hit for the circuit.

3 HOMERS BY ROBINS FAIL TO STOP CUBS

ROOT FANS NINE BATTERS

Wilson's Double With Bases Loaded in Sixth Clinches 6th Straight Victory for Chicago.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Three Robin home runs, two of them by Del Bissonette, clattered off Brooklyn bats today, but not one of them was as potent a blow as a slashing double down the right field foul line in the sixth inning by Hack Wilson, and the erstwhile onrushing Flock lost the decision to the Cubs, 9 to 5.

Wilson, whose home run yesterday defeated Dazzy Vance and broke the Robins' winning streak, got his valuable two-base hits off Clise Dudley, third Brooklyn pitcher of the contest, with the bases full. It was not the winning hit, as the Cubs already held a one-run lead, but it was a devastating blow and one that made victory certain, considering the manner in which Charley Root was pitching after the first inning.

Gets Freak Home Run.

But Brooklyn scored only once thereafter and that on a trick home run by Bissonette—a ground ball that went down the right field foul line and finally bounded crazily into the side field seats.

Root fanned nine Robins, several times with a man on base, once getting Hendrick and Wright on strikes after Herman had singled.

The Robins' ninth, in which they had a fighting chance to tie the score, was marked by two weird events. Eddie Moore started the inning with a single and Warner delivered another one.

Then Herman slammed the ball high and hard toward the left centre field seats. Wilson raced for it and, with the possibility imminent that he might catch it, the runners held their bases, with the result that nobody scored and Herman got one of the longest singles on record.

Hartnett Makes Circus Catch.

Hendrick fouled easily to Bell. Wright hit a high foul and Harnett did a whirling dervish act around the plate trying to get under it. He did, finally, but the ball rebounded from his glove. For an instant it appeared that Wright and the Robins would get another chance, but the Cub catcher picked the escaping ball out of the air with his bare hand and ran gayly to the dugout.

Cliff Heathcote contributed the fourth round trip blow of the game in the third off Adolfo Luque, the starting pitcher. Luque walked Cuyler, and, leaving the tying run on base, retired in favor of Moss. A single by Grimm and a short sacrifice fly by Bell tied the score.

Wilson's single in the fifth, after Heathcote had walked and stolen second, put the Cubs a run ahead and a pop fly double by Lester Bell in the same inning scored Wilson with the sixth tally. Buck Newsom pitched the last two innings and held the Cubs to one scratch hit by English.

The Robins, in breaking their own winning streak, obliged greatly by giving the Cubs a streak of their own to boast about. McCarthy's men now have won six straight.

GIANTS' LEAD CUT BY LOSS TO PIRATES

McGRAW USES 4 HURLERS

Starts With Parmelee and Then Calls on Benton, Lucas and Judd —O'Farrell's Homer Wasted.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, May 7.—While John McGraw made one frantic dive after another into his bull pen in a futile attempt to come up with a pitcher who could hurl a baseball with even a fair amount of skill, the Giants strove heroically to bring down the Pirates today for the third successive time. But the attempt was doomed to failure, for it so developed that on this day the Giants simply had no pitchers at all, and a lot of fine swatting, including a homer by Bob O'Farrell, went to waste as the Pirates rolled up an imposing victory by a score of 16 to 8.

The Giants lost ground as a result of the defeat, but remain in first place, six points ahead of the Cubs, But in the light of what transpired on the field of battle today, their position may become untenable any moment.

To start the festivities, McGraw, feeling in a venturesome mood, chose Roy Parmelee as the Giants' opening pitcher. Now this young man has been doing impressive relief work of late, and the selection was not without possibilities of success. But, unhappily, everything went wrong. He gave two passes; Grantham and Comorosky smote him for singles; Suhr hit him for a triple, and when Bartell also singled the Pirates had four runs in and Parmelee was quite out.

Benton Yields 2 More Tallies.

He was relieved by Larry Benton, who at once was smacked for a double by Hemsley to drive in two more runs and on the crest of this six-tally outburst in the very opening round the Pirates rode all the afternoon. Benton fell another run behind in the second on a double by Suhr and dropped two more in the third. In the fourth Ray Lucas was asked to see what he could do about it and saw Ervin Brame, the rival pitcher, smash a homer into the upper right field tier to help the Pirates amass a cluster of three. And off Ralph Judd the aroused Bucs piled up three more tallies in the fifth.

Still, the Giants fought back doggedly. They laboriously tallied a run on three singles in the second and came up with a bunch of four in the fourth, to which Reese and Lindstrom contributed singles; Jackson and Terry doubles, and O'Farrell a homer with two on.

Swetonic Subdues Giant Hopes.

In the fifth the Giants had the satisfaction of routing Brame with a three-run rally. This sent Manager Ens plunging into the Pirate bull pen, but he came up with a prize on the first attempt. He trotted out Swetonic, who held the Giants to three hits and no runs whatever for the remainder of the game.

Judd was probably the busiest man on the field in the fifth inning, outside of the scorers. During most of the Giant rally in the upper half of the round Ralph spent his time in the bull-pen. Then he went in to pinch-hit for Lucas and in the lower half of the inning went in to pitch.

ATHLETICS HALTED IN PITCHING DUEL

PHILADELPHIA, May 7 (AP).—Sammy Hale's home run with Blue on base in the third inning gave Walter Stewart the better of a hurling duel with George Earnshaw today, the Browns defeating the Athletics, 2 to 1. The defeat stopped the champions' winning streak of six straight.

Earnshaw permitted only three hits against six that Stewart allowed the Mackmen. The Athletics scored their lone tally in the seventh on Schang's double to centre, Blue's muff of Simmons's pop fly, followed by Foxx's sacrifice fly to deep centre and Miller's grounder to short.

REDS BEAT BRAVES; FREY HURLS SHUTOUT

Score Only Tally of Contest When Meusel and Kelly Combine in Final Inning.

CINCINNATI, May 7 (AP).—Bennie Frey, rookie pitcher, today held Boston to three singles and blanked the Braves, 1 to 0. Doubles by Meusel and Kelly accounted for the only run in the final inning.

The victory was the third straight for Frey. He has not been defeated and recently pitched a 1 to 0 game against the champion Cubs. Ben Cantwell hurled a strong game for the visitors, but weakened in the last inning.

BUFFALO BEATS BEARS, REGAINS FIRST PLACE

Moore and Hawks Drive for Circuit Off Mamaux—Six Double Plays Made in Game.

BUFFALO, May 7 (AP).—The Buffalo Bisons turned on the Newark Bears today, won, 6 to 2, squared the series and regained first place.

The Bisons assailed Al Mamaux, Newark ace, as early as the first inning for enough runs to win when homers by Moore and Hawks blazed the way to three tallies.

Leo Mangum pitched in clever manner for the herd and was accorded lightning support, four of six double plays, which speeded up the game, being negotiated by Buffalo. Windle hit his second homer in as many days to furnish the only markers off Mangum.

Golf Suits
that are golfy—not goofy

The Spalding Golf Suit has its golf touches designed in, not sewn on. It has no gadgets or "Broadway" doo-dabs—nothing to make a staid golfer look as if he were about to go into his dance.

For this 4-piece golf suit is designed from Spalding's 54 years experience in making athletic clothing. And it's styled by men who have first-hand knowledge of the sport clothes that gentlemen wear—styled so well that you can wear it to the office if you want to, and you probably will.

Hand-tailored of fabrics from Scotland. Carefully fitted. And priced at but What! No Rivet?

No sir, no rivet! It's gone. And its removal is the biggest thing that ever happened to steel-shafted irons . . .

That little rivet that joins the head to the shaft has long been a part of every golf club.

But in Spalding Cushion-neck Irons, the association comes to an end . . . in Cushion-necks, the rivet is done away with, making possible the first steel-shafted Irons that offer the sweet feel of the finest hickory together with all the advantages of the steel shaft!

And if you're one of the great majority of golfers who use steel-shafted woods, you know that that is front-page golf news!

You know that the steel shaft, because it's lighter, puts greater swinging weight into the head, where it aids controllability . . . that the steel shaft, because it's thinner, lessens wind resistance and gives sweeter whip to every shot . . . that the steel shaft can't warp!

Why then, haven't steel-shafted irons enjoyed the same success as steel-shafted woods?

Because without the Spalding Cushion-neck feature, steel-shafted irons have a sour feel. Without it, the metal-to-metal contact of steel shaft against steel head forms a perfect conductor which carries the shock and vibration of every shot up the shaft and into the hands.

But in the Cushion-neck there is no metal-to-metal contact.

For each shaft before it is fitted into the hosel of the head is enclosed in a cushioning sleeve of lively rubber. Vibrations can no more pass through this rubber sleeve than can electric current pass through the rubber insulation on a wire.

But even the rubber sleeve doesn't complete the cure. For if the metal rivet were in there, touching both steel shaft and steel head, metal-to-metal contact would still exist and so would sour feel.

So Spalding removed the rivet—removed it by working out an ingenious way of crimping the end of the hosel around the rubber so that no rivet is necessary!

And when that hosel is crimped, the rubber says "good-bye forever" to the outside air. The air is sealed out so the rubber stays lively and shock-absorbent throughout the long life of the club.

Of course, the Cushion-neck has been flattered by the inevitable imitations. But no other club can achieve the same sweet feel, without flouting a whole filing cabinet full of Spalding patents.

Play Cushion-necks as soon as you can get your hands on a set—they'll give you one of the biggest thrills you ever got out of golf.

POLO DEFENSE BODY ADDS HITCHCOCK SR.

Veteran Will Have Charge of Training and Stabling Mounts for American Team.

QUARTERS TO BE SHIFTED

Central Stables to Be Located at Mitchel Field Instead of the Sands Point Club.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

A new and important member has been added to the defense committee of the United States Polo Association, charged with planning the defense against England's challenge this Summer. The new member is Thomas Hitchcock Sr. and he is to have complete charge of the training and stabling of the mounts used by the American players.

Mr. Hitchcock's appointment was approved yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of the polo association. The appointment of the veteran sportsman to the committee was made by his son, Thomas Jr., as chairman of the defense committee. The younger Hitchcock, who is also the captain of the team, has complete control of the personnel of his committee.

To Use United States Army Stables.

Mr. Hitchcock's willingness to take over the difficult task of conditioning the ponies, which have a very hard Summer facing them, necessitates changing the central stabling of these mounts from the Sands Point Club at Port Washington to the United States Army stables at Mitchel Field, alongside the fields of the Meadow Brook Club in Westbury.

This has been done so that Mr. Hitchcock would be able to aid with the polo plans while not neglecting his extensive racing and hunting stables at his Westbury home.

Mr. Hitchcock is very nearly the best-known horseman in the country. He was a member of the first American international team which lost to the British at Newport in 1886 and since that time has been constantly associated with polo, cross-country racing and hunting. During this time he has become known as one of the great trainers and breeders of horses in this country.

All of his son's polo mounts have been trained by the father and the elder Hitchcock's advice is sought by horsemen throughout the country.

British to Have Same Quarters.

Mainly Mr. Hitchcock will be concerned with a reservoir of mounts assembled by the United States Polo Association to supplement the privately owned ponies used by those playing in test matches through the Summer. But the mounting of various players will be advised a good deal by the veteran. The American ponies will be stabled in the same place, as will be the British when they arrive, Mitchel Field having some of the best facilities in the East.

In 1927 and 1928 Mr. Carleton F. Burke of California filled this rôle on the defense committee. This year he will be unable to leave his Pacific Coast interests until August and Mr. Hitchcock has taken over the task. Mr. Burke remains a member of the defense committee, which also includes D. Stewart Iglehart, George H. Mead, A. C. Schwartz and John Hay Whitney.

GARDEN AND SHARKEY AGREE ON 2D BOUT

Boston Heavyweight Consents to Defend Title Here if He Beats Schmeling.

The possibility of a second important outdoor heavyweight bout for the coming season looms as the result of an announcement made yesterday by Frank Bruen, vice president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

The Garden official asserted that Jack Sharkey has agreed, if he emerges victorious from his bout with Max Schmeling on June 12, to defend the heavyweight championship of the world against the foremost opponent available. Should this bout take place, it will be staged by the Garden corporation and will be held at the Yankee Stadium about Sept. 25.

This agreement was reached recently at a conference in Boston attended by Ed Buckley and Jack Conway, representing Sharkey; Bruen and William F. Carey, president of the Garden corporation, and Sharkey himself. The boxer is bound to perform solely for the Garden until October of this year and the proposed bout will be an application of the option that the local corporation holds for Sharkey's services.

The Garden is planning also to effect an agreement with Schmeling similar to the one it has with Sharkey, seeking to have the German heavyweight perform in a September battle if he gains the title by defeating Sharkey. Schmeling left for his training in Endicott, N. Y., yesterday.

KING GEORGE SEES DIOLITE TRIUMPH

PARADINE FINISHES NEXT

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—King George again attended the races at Newmarket today and saw the Derby favorite, Diolite, win the 2,000 Guineas Stakes, the first 3-year-old classic of the season, in a record field of twenty-eight starters.

Diolite, which is owned by Sir Hugo Hirst, won easily from Paradine, with Silver Flare third. Lord Derby's Caerleon finished unplaced, having appeared beaten when the field had gone half way over the route. Diolite won by two lengths, with one length between second and third.

Jockey Fox, who rode Diolite, is expected to ride him again in the Derby. Fred Templeman, his trainer, never before trained a classic winner. Diolite was picked out by Templeton from a batch of yearlings at Newmarket in the October sale and bought in behalf of Sir Hugo for about $2,000. As a 2-year-old he won no less than $27,295.

With this success Sir Hugo comes suddenly to the forefront of owners. He began racing some years ago with a few jumpers. He is chairman and managing director of the General Electric Company, Ltd.

No horse owned by King George was running in the 2,000 Guineas Stakes, but in the second race of the afternoon, the Chippenham Stakes, he had Fairy Story, a much fancied horse, which finished third.

The King was staying in the royal suite at the Jockey Club. An hour before the first race King George drove through Newmarket and over the heath to the course, lunching in the royal apartments with Princess Mary and her husband, the Earl of Harewood.

LONDON, May 7 (Canadian Press).—The Australian cricket team fell before a young amateur bowler today in a match at Leyton with Essex. H. J. Palmer captured the wickets for 40 runs. His victims included: W. M. Woodfull, Australian captain, who was dismissed for only 4 runs; A. Fairfax, E. L. A'Beckett and A. Kippax. Palmer bowled Fairfax and A'Beckett with successive balls.

Australia batted first and at the tea interval had scored 134 runs for six wickets. When play was resumed the Antipodeans lost their last four wickets for the addition of only 22 runs.

The pitch on which Palmer performed was slippery and it proved just as unfriendly to Essex, three wickets falling for 19 runs, Clarence Grimmett, the Googly bowler, getting two of them. Then Russel and O'Connor, two fine bats, came together and stopped the rout.

The highest score ever made for Sussex was hit by Prince Duleep Sinhji. He got 333 runs, many of them in a fine partnership with Tate, the international all-rounder, who also batted out a century. Sussex is playing Northamptonshire.

Scores at the end of today's play were:

M. C. C. vs. Surrey at Lord's: Surrey, 225 for six wickets (Hobbs, 73; Ducat, 76).

Warwickshire vs. Somerset at Birmingham: Warwick, 204 (Croom, 86; Parsons, 57; White, five wickets for 55 runs); Somerset, 72 for five wickets.

Lancashire vs. Gloucestershire at Gloucester: Lancashire, 218 (Watson, 64; Sinfield, six wickets for 90 runs; Goddard, four wickets for 66); Gloucester, 3 runs for no wickets.

Australia vs. Essex at Leyton: Australia, 156 (Kippax, 57); Essex, 43 for three wickets.

WALKER CUP STARS IN FIRST PRACTICE

VOIGT IMPRESSES DARWIN

His Accuracy and Steadiness Bring Favorable Comment From Golf Writer.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ADDINGTON, Surrey, England, May 7.—All eight members of the American Walker Cup team had their first day's practice here today, and as an additional attraction Douglas Fairbanks played with Leo Diegel, according to Bernard Darwin in The London Times.

"It would have been wholly delightful," continued Darwin, "if not for those cruelly cold winds which made the American captain, Bobby Jones, say with a touch of bitterness from the recesses of his leather jacket: 'It always turns like this when I come.'

"The eight divided themselves into two four-ball matches and in Bobby Jones's four were two players new to us, George Voigt and Don Moe. Jones and Voigt played Moe and Dr. Willing, and I imagine they won with something to spare.

"The fact is that, of the eight men playing, seven looked like, as of course they are, good golfers, but the eighth not only looked supremely good but played almost perfectly into the bargain. The utter ease and inevitability of Bobby Jones's strokes struck one afresh almost as if one had never seen them before.

"I can hardly do better than repeat the impressions of two onlookers. One was an extremely experienced golfer who said: 'It was like a schoolmaster taking out his scholars.' The other was an inexperienced young lady, who said: 'I knew I was going to see the best golfer in the world, but I never thought it could be like this.'"

"I watched Bobby play the first nine holes, which he reeled off without unduly bestirring himself in eight 4s and a 2. He made a couple of slips, one of which cost him nothing, while the other turned the second hole from a 3 into a 4. He holed one long putt—for his 2 at the ninth—and the rest was like the monotonous shelling of peas.

"The fourth hole from the back tee measures 470 yards. It is all uphill and in playing value must be over 500 yards. There was a breeze behind and the great man was just over the green with his drive and No. 2 iron. Well might the hole's creator remark: 'What kind of hole am I to build to make this man take two wooden club shots?'

Comments on Voigt's Swing.

"Of the two newcomers, Voigt was hitting the ball accurately, as I believe he always does. He has a rather low swing with no tremendous dash or sting in his hitting, but he looks as if he could go on doing the same thing 'on and off for days and days.' His putting with an aluminum putter is bold and free and he does not look in the least frightened of running three or four feet past the hole.

"Moe was clearly out of practice and was not to be judged by his results. He is a long driver and in almost all his shots a great deal of bodywork and an almost artificially pronounced turn of the left shoulder and slight 'duck' are two features which reminded one a little of Von Elm.

"He was hitting his iron shots very high and will, I imagine have to modify his methods in order to combat the seaside wind.

Players Repeat Shots.

"Willing, though he hit some fine, crisp shots, had a fit of hooking and so tried a good many of his strokes over again, as indeed all the players did when they were dissatisfied. It was rather consoling to see that one usually so invariably straight could now and again go crooked, but I have no comforting illusions that he will go anywhere but down the middle course when the day comes.

"The other four, Harrison Johnston, George Von Elm, Roland MacKenzie and our old friend, Francis Ouimet, were all having two attempts at a good many of their shots. All four played some lovely shots and for grace combined with strength, MacKenzie as a spectacle is hard to beat.

Ouimet Using Steel Clubs.

"I thought possibly it was a fancy that Ouimet was hitting at the ball a little harder than he used to. He says he is now old enough to help himself along with steel shafts, and is using steel both for iron and wooden clubs. So was MacKenzie, who certainly cannot lament either vanished youth or strength. Of the others Jones and Von Elm are using wooden shafts throughout, while Johnston, Willing, Voigt and Moe used steel shafts for wooden clubs and wooden shafts for irons.

"I came away with no particular impression save two—one, that the beating of Bobby Jones in thirty-six holes seems a really preposterous undertaking, and the other that the man who plays Voigt will have to beat him by length and brilliancy, for he is most unlikely to do it by steadiness. A third impression was that the abominably cold weather was the best for Britain's purpose, but it needs a high degree of selfish patriotism to pray for it."

Four in St. George's Tourney.

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—Although Bobby Jones, captain of the United States Walker Cup golf team, does not intend to participate in the St. George's Challenge Cup competition at Sandwich on Saturday, four other members of the squad have entered. They are George Von Elm, Dr. O. F. Willing, George Voigt and Don Moe.

Jones left participation in this tournament, a thirty-six-hole medal play event for the most prized stroke competition trophy in this country, up to the members of the team. For himself he said, "I wish to reserve my energies for the international contest with Britain."

Panuco Beats Ironsides as All Six Jamaica Favorites Lose

IRONSIDES BEATEN BY PANUCO, 6 TO 1

ALL SIX FAVORITES LOSE

Brown Wizard Wins Newtown, Worth $3,075, Leading Rock Dun—On Tap Out of Money.

By BRYAN FIELD.

If a lion had chased a rabbit down the Jamaica stretch, and the rabbit had suddenly turned around and bit the lion, the railbirds could not have been more surprised than they were yesterday when J. F. Byers's Panuco defeated Robert L. Gerry's Ironsides in the Arizona Handicap. The former was a 6-to-1 shot in a five-horse race and Ironsides was backed down and down until his price stood at 3 to 5 at post time and no odds for place or show.

The fact that Ironsides could be defeated was not so remarkable as the fact that Panuco could defeat him. Byers's horse has been known as a sprinter and did poorly in his last two races over a mile. The Arizona was at a mile and a sixteenth and even the fact that Panuco could defeat Ironsides was not so remarkable as the manner of the victory.

Panuco just walked home—breezing in front of one of the best handicap horses of 1929 and a horse good enough to be made the favorite in the Kings County Handicap in his first out last Saturday.

Quarter Deck brought up third in the race and then followed Gone Away, William Ziegler Jr.'s sole remaining hope for the Preakness and Derby, and Scimitar. Gone Away, outrun in the early stages, closed strongly, and by Derby day may be trained sufficiently to enter the big race.

Folamile Third in Sixth.

The surprise in the Arizona was marked, but it was typical of the afternoon. Coming up to the last race, five favorites had lost and the B. B. stable's Folamile proved no exception. He was made the public choice and landed third, back of Wrackell and Shasta Pebble. Wrackell was 8 to 1.

The richest race on the card was the Newtown Claiming Stakes, worth $3,075 to the winner, and the winner was none other than Brown Wizard with Laverne Fator in the saddle, and another 6 to 1 shot. It was the first race since last July for this 4-year-old gelding of E. F. Sanford's and he was sharp enough to beat Rock Dun by three lengths, with Indian Scout a half length further back.

On Tap, the even-money favorite, was out of the money, and Black Watch, heavily backed as the second choice, finished at the eighth pole. Brown Wizard won the race by getting off like a flash and staying in front. His time was 1:12 1-5 and he carried 118 pounds, top weight, the same as that borne by Indian Scout.

Tom Murphy, trainer for the Greentree Stable, has brought out two smart juveniles among others this season and each was so highly spoken of before making his début that he was an odds-on favorite in the race. Short as were the prices, the two youngsters rewarded their backers, for they won. The pitcher went to the well once too often, however, in the fifth race yesterday, when the third crack 2-year-old came out under the Greentree colors. He was Red Russia and was bruited about as a faster horse than Twenty Grand or Blue Law, the previous winners.

Red Russia Loses to Concord.

Red Russia's price opened at 1 to 2, went to 1 to 3 and then swung back to 1 to 2. The race was run and Red Russia was beaten eight lengths by Concord, 7 to 2 in the betting. Red Russia looked like a good colt and it was too bad he selected such an upsetting day to make his début.

Robrack, owned by J. P. Louchheim, was third. He, too, made his début and was a high-priced yearling at Saratoga. The time of the winner, 1:00 2-5, was fast.

The favorites started off badly when Janie G., public choice in the curtain raiser, was beaten five lengths by Grandma Lapp. This filly, owned by Mrs. T. R. Queen, ran in front all the way and was eased up at the end.

Ladder, Walter J. Salmon's 2-year-old, which was beaten in his début after a big plunge, was made the favorite in the second race and again was beaten. He ran a good race to finish second back of The Afghan, which carried the Belair Stud colors.

BATTLESHIP GRAY FIRST AT PIMLICO

COIN COLLECTOR IS SECOND

PIMLICO, Md., May 7 (AP).—The Glen Riddle Stable of Samuel D. Riddle was much in the limelight today, as it furnished a pair of winners and each was a popular triumph.

The feature of the double was that turned in by Battleship Gray in the running of the Pimlico Graded Handicap (Class A), the best of the offerings. This number was third on the card, and although the field was small, Battleship Gray sprinted away to a sizable lead directly after the start and the Man o' War gelding reached the end of the six-furlong journey leading his nearest pursuer, Coin Collector, from the Sagamore Stable, by a length. The victor ran the distance in the fast time of 1:12 3-5.

In saving second, Coin Collector was easily the master of J. R. Thompson's Minotaur, which offered strong contention but was unable to get out of third position. The other two, Grey Coat and Beau of the West, found their company too severe and the pair trailed the entire distance.

Allez Vite, winner of the opener, was the other Glen Riddle victor.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

ONE man strolled down after watching Grover Cleveland Alexander pitch a ball game and said: "The old boy certainly had his curve breaking today, didn't he?"

"That's a funny thing," said the party of the second part. "He didn't throw a curve all day. He was sailing them. They came up without any spin at all. You could count the stitches and read John Heydler's signature on the ball. Then they'd break off as though he pulled a string on 'em. I never knew he was one of those freak delivery fellows."

"He isn't," said the first observer. "That was his curve ball. That's the way they throw curve balls now."

"What? With no spin? How can it be a curve if it doesn't spin?"

"Aw, you're way out of date."

A Complete Break-Down.

If that's the case, our whole system of education must be shaken up or it will break down. Throwing a curve is an educational problem that every boy attacks at a certain stage in his career. You can see the boys in vacant lots, public parks, on suburban lawns or in open fields twisting and throwing and then asking plaintively: "How was that?" In most cases a hopeful catcher will say with a serious nod: "I think it coived a teeny bit. Try 'er again!"

They try again. They take terrific wind-ups, snap the ball off the index finger as shown on Page 19 of "How I Throw My Famous Curve, by Ajax Telamon," and hope for the best. The ancient theory was that the spin or rotary motion piled up a cushion of air on one side of the ball and that, in due time—due time being just as the batter swung at it—the aforesaid cushion of air forced the ball to change direction or curve.

For years all boys were taught to throw curves in that way. Now it appears that there is a new and improved method. Education fails unless it keeps pace with the march of science and the progress of the arts. Of course you can still throw a curve by jerking the wrist more or less viciously and imparting a rapid rotary motion to the ball. Many pitchers still do it. And some people still use kerosene lamps in the front parlor.

A Million a Year.

There are approximately a million new students each year working on the curve-ball problem. That's how fast the boys come along in this country. If they are being taught by an antiquated method when the new style is simpler and better, education must be lagging. It's a serious matter, because it affects practically every boy in the country.

Remember how crude the old-time football players were in throwing a football? Most of them "dealt it off the arm," letting it go end over end. When forward passing came in, the younger generation quickly learned a better way of throwing the ball. Some one discovered the secret, and it was passed on for the benefit of the whole race. If there is a better method of throwing a curve ball, that, too, should be passed on for the benefit of boys at large.

If ball players are indifferent, educators should look into the matter. It will be a blot on our educational system if a million students a year are allowed to work out a problem by an outworn system.

Expert Opinions.

The debate over the pitching method of Old Alex was referred to Ed Rommel and George Earnshaw of the Athletics, among others. Could a "sailer" be called a curve?

"Sure," said Rommel, "I know fellows who sail all their curves. Practically no spin at all. Blaeholder does it. Sam Gray pitches the same way. His curve ball is a sailer. Alexander does it. There's more, but I can't think of them right now. I can pick a new ball out of the bag and throw a curve that won't rotate at all."

Then what makes it curve?

"A lot of things. Sometimes it's a little imperfection in the ball. It may not be absolutely spherical. It may have the weight just a fraction off centre. Any sort of rough spot on one side will do it. If the stitches are a bit higher on one side than the other, that will cause the ball to swerve. Then it may be that the pitcher changes the ball by gripping it. Moisture comes off his fingers where he holds the ball. These are small things, but they build up air resistance on a certain part of the ball and that's what makes it curve, as I understand it."

No Standard Method.

"You can pick a new ball out of the bag and make it sail," said Earnshaw, "but I'll bet you can't pick every new ball out of a bag and make them all sail. Some won't sail, no matter how you try to make 'em."

"That's right," said Rommel. "There's a difference in baseballs. You can't notice it by looking at them, but it must be there."

"Another thing," said Earnshaw, "how would you pick up a ball to mak it sail?"

"I'd get my fingers on a seam," said Rommel.

"Well, some fellows do it that way," said Big George, "but I do just the opposite. I keep my fingers off the seams. I lay them the long way between the seams. Never touch the seams. I guess it isn't so much the way you hold it as the way you let it go."

"That doesn't matter, either," said Mickey Cochrane. "It's the way it comes back at you that counts."

A Scientific Problem.

From this it would seem that a curve ball can be thrown without imparting a rotary motion to the ball, but that there is no standardized method for the more modern delivery. Scientists should get to work on this problem, for it represents a real advance.

Take the case of Lefty Grove. He throws a curve ball in the old style, zipping it over the northeast tip of the index finger on his left hand and giving it a rapid rotary motion. Every so often that fingertip gets so sore that Robert Mose Grove has to go into dry dock and give the fingertip time to heal. That was what kept Grove from starting a game in the last world's series.

Other pitchers are affected in the same way. Giving the ball that rotary motion is a strain on the arm as well as an annoyance to tender fingertips. A "sailer" is thrown with a fast-ball motion, which is smooth and simple. If Gray, Blaeholder, Alexander et al. have discovered an easier way of throwing a curve ball, the younger lads should study that style. Just now it is only a theory. In time it may become a formula. Then it will be adopted as part of the educational system of this country.

10 LIKELY TO START IN THE PREAKNESS

Gallant Fox Is Overwhelming Favorite for $50,000 Added Pimlico Classic.

GOES MILE ROUTE IN 1:47

Swinfield Works Mile and Eighth in 1:56 2-5—Sweet Sentiment Is Clocked in 1:59 2-5.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 7 (AP).—Awaiting the official list of starters, expected tomorrow, racing observers today believed ten or fewer of the country's leading 3-year-olds would face the barrier in the fortieth renewal of the $50,000 added Preakness at Pimlico on Friday.

In 1928 eighteen started, the largest number to go to the post in the classic. Last year eleven started.

Aside from the Belair stud's Gallant Fox, overwhelming favorite because of his great record and his victory at Jamaica in the Wood Memorial over Crack Brigade and Desert Light, nine of the seventy-eight nominations are believed sure to start.

They are the Audley Farm's Woodcraft, T. M. Cassidy's Crack Brigade, Glen Riddle Farm's Full Dress, Walter M. Jeffords's Armigeddon, John L. Pontius's Michigan Boy, Walter J. Salmon's Swinfield and Snowflake, and the Seagram Stable's Sweet Sentiment and Sun Craig.

Desert Light, because of his poor showing both in the Wood and Monday's race at Pimlico, in which he finished twenty lengths behind Woodcraft, is out of this list.

Earl Sande, best known of American riders, now back in the saddle after a try at running his own stable, is to ride Gallant Fox in both the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby on May 17.

Gallant Fox worked a mile in 1:47 today and Swinfield stepped a mile and an eighth in 1:56 2-5, thus comparing with the fastest time ever made over the Preakness route of a mile and three-sixteenths, 1:59 4-5, made by Display in 1926. Sweet Sentiment made the mile and an eighth in 1:59 2-5.

SYDNEY IS IMPRESSIVE IN WORKOUT FOR DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 7 (AP).—Two of the favored ones for the Kentucky Derby, Johnson H. Camden's Sydney and the Audley Farm Stable's Gallant Knight, each stepped a mile in 1:42 3-5 in workouts at Churchill Downs today. Sydney carried considerably more weight, making his performance more impressive, and his time was faster at the start.

Time for the colts, which did not work together, was as follows: Half, Sydney, 0:48; Gallant Knight, 0:49 2-5; three-quarters, Sydney, 1:13 1-5; Gallant Knight 1:14 3-5.

Jack Spratt pulled up slightly lame after he and Big Stuff, working together, had stepped a mile in 1:45 4-5.

In other workouts Dark Entry went a mile in 1:44; Roll 'Em Down, seven-eighths in 1:31 3-5, and Stock Market, five-eighths in 1:01 2-5.

Aurora Results.

PARKER ONLY AN "INCIDENT."

It was more than once remarked in the course of the Senate debate on the nomination of Judge PARKER that his personality was purely incidental to the great controversy. His private character and his judicial integrity were impeached by no one. Perhaps no man named for the Supreme Court ever had a more imposing list of endorsers. They included two United States Circuit Judges, ten United States District Judges, many State Judges, the President and five former Presidents of the American Bar Association, twenty-two Presidents of State and County Bar Associations, with hundreds of lawyers and other prominent citizens. Into the refusal of the Senate to confirm an appointment backed by such credentials, powerful reasons must have entered. What were they?

Judge PARKER's personal bearing throughout the contest must have influenced the decision against him. He showed himself too anxious, too small-minded. He fairly rained letters and telegrams upon the Senate. His attitude was very far from that of a Judge wrapping his robes about himself in simple dignity, and ignoring the strife of tongues and the ignoble clash of arguments over his nomination. Judge PARKER neither held himself austerely aloof nor meddled with propriety and effect. There can be no doubt that his activities, too much like those of a candidate for the office of sheriff, lowered the prestige both of the office which he sought and the office which he held.

His Labor decision in one greatly controverted case was used against him with damaging effect. By some it was employed sincerely, but by many others simply as a crafty way of masking their real motives. No one can say how many Senators were persuaded, against their best judgment and their inclination, to vote against Judge PARKER solely because they feared reprisals from organized labor in the next election if they voted for him. Similar was the case with the protests and threats made in the name of Negro citizens. Several weak-kneed Senators evidently went down before them. As for those Southern Senators who refused to vote for Judge PARKER although they agreed heartily with his view of the present unfitness of Negroes to hold high office, their motive seems to have been mainly not to pull chestnuts out of the fire for the embroiled Republicans.

Another factor in the rejection of Judge PARKER is the growing determination of the Senate to assert its power, even to the point of arrogance, in all large matters of public policy and government. It is resolved to make the President keep his place. He must consult the real source of political power—the United States Senate—before venturing to make any large plans or to resolve upon any important appointments to office. This Senatorial spirit would erect the "advice and consent" of which the Constitution speaks into an active and continuous dictatorship over the Executive. The case of Judge PARKER is truly an "incident" in the old and persistent antagonism between the Senate and the White House.

Still another element in the failure of the President to secure confirmation for Judge PARKER has sorrowfully to be noted. It was a desire to strike one more blow at Mr. HOOVER. This was hardly a concealed motive on the part of the Republican Senators long recognized as Insurgent and against the Administration, but it drew in others. One is surprised to read the names of CAPPER and DENEEN and VANDENBERG among Republican Senators who voted against Judge PARKER. This, of course, did not represent in them actual hostility to the President, but at least an unwillingness to support him at a critical hour when the Administration was making superhuman efforts to rally all its friends. The result must be confessed to be a diminution of the authority and political reputation of President HOOVER. People will ask what can be expected if such a rebuff can be administered to him in such a case. He sees the work and hopes of many weeks undone in a day by the Senate. Doubtless Mr. HOOVER will apply himself with quiet philosophy to the next best thing to be done, but he can hardly help saying to himself, as he sees one piece of bad luck following another: "All these things are against me."

DEEPENING THE SPLIT.

Everything that happens in politics this year demonstrates the fact that the union of the two Republican wings for the campaign of 1928 was a truce meant to be broken. As soon as Mr. HOOVER was in the White House, and the special session began, hostilities were openly resumed. South Dakota's primary this week reveals the nature of the internecine strife on the Northwestern front. Senator MCMASTER, who is nominally a Republican, was renominated over a candidate who called himself "a Hoover Republican." What Mr. MCMASTER asked was "a vote of confidence in North-"west Progressive Republicans who "voted with Democrats against ad-"ministration policies." That vote he duly received.

It will be said by Washington regulars that the Dutch have merely taken Holland. That is true. But the victory, even though routine, comes at a time when the administration needs good news of some sort. It comes in the year of Congressional elections and gives additional hope and energy to the Democrats. It reveals once more the divided condition of the Republican party and brings more strongly into discussion the question how much longer even temporary truces can be patched up. Since Congress assembled last Spring the rift has grown wider than at any time since 1910. Two years after 1910 was one of the few occasions when expediency was insufficient to keep warring Republicans together. Of course, there was then THEODORE ROOSEVELT to drive the wedge. By 1932 there may be a force strong enough, if not to split, to hold apart the sections at the polls.

A LABOR-LIBERAL DEFEAT.

At Tuesday's by-election in West Fulham the Conservative candidate won by a slight majority over the Labor candidate, supported or supposed to be supported by the Liberals, who withdrew their own man to make sure the defeat of "food taxes" and "dearer food." Thus the ultimate worst—subject to a referendum—of the policy of "Empire free trade," forced upon Mr. BALDWIN by Lord BEAVERBROOK, was exhibited to the electors in the crudest terms. Lord BEAVERBROOK was busy as a bee in the campaign. To him his admirers will ascribe whatever glory or hope attaches to the first capture of a Labor seat since the general election a year ago.

To the outsider the miscarriage of the Liberal plans, the apparent refusal of so many Liberals to obey orders, is the most interesting, it may be the most significant, indication given by the result of this by-election. In 1929 the Conservative candidate and the Liberal candidate got between them something less than 20,000 votes, of which the Liberals furnished nearly 6,000. The Labor candidate got something over 16,000. With the assistance of his Liberal allies the Labor candidate of this year managed to poll nearly 200 votes less than his predecessor. The total vote of 1930 was smaller by about 4,000 than that of 1929. How shall this abstention be accounted for? Can we suppose that the independent Britons of West Fulham were too slothful to go to the polls when they were told that the Conservatives were trying to "bring "hardship to every poor home in "the country"?

Shall we ride that horse-of-all-work, unemployment, and assume Laborite dissatisfaction with the policy of the government? Shall we people West Fulham with unsuspected cohorts of Maxtonians ready to do anything to dish Mr. MACDONALD? Here was a straight two-cornered election on a straight issue. The Conservatives gained some 2,200 votes. The Labor-Liberals united cast about 6,100 votes fewer than they did separated. How is one to resist the conclusion that the West Fulham Liberals declined and resented the invitation or command of Mr. LLOYD GEORGE to take seats in the Labor congregation? When it came to a direct choice between the Labor party and the Conservative party they preferred their old foes to their new friends. We don't even have to assume that they have forgotten their economic tradition. They may have voted less for Lord BEAVERBROOK's projects than against Mr. LLOYD GEORGE and his flirtations and carryings-on with "the Socialists."

A CLERICAL ERROR.

Even those Wets who were, as the phrase goes, "grilled" by the Senate lobby committee, must agree, after reading of the first day of inquiry into Dry campaign financing, that no favorites were played. Senator CARAWAY, who is a Dry, brought out every possible point in his examination of E. C. JAMESON of New York. Informed of the contribution of $172,800 by Mr. JAMESON to encompass the defeat of SMITH, the Senator, it is true, expressed the belief that more than a "Dry revolt" was represented by political activities in the South. But he slighted none of the details so embarrassing to those who like to think that the five Southern States carried by the President in 1928 rose voluntarily in their wrath against an anti-Dry Democrat. Among these details were some which reveal Bishop JAMES CANNON, by many called "the Sheridan of the campaign of 1928 in Virginia," as once more unhappily entangled with figures.

When his stock-market margin account in New York City was previously discussed, he showed an engaging innocence of amounts, per cents and loans. A man of the cloth, the Bishop appeared very like a child lost in a forest of ticker tape. At the time it was felt that matters of accounting and speculation had best be explained by some one else. After Mr. JAMESON's testimony on Tuesday this impression deepens. The witness said that he, in his zeal to see a Wet defeated, had given the Bishop $65,300. For reasons best known to himself, the cleric telegraphed Mr. JAMESON that, "to correspond with our records," the amount be separated as $17,300 to the "headquarters committee" and $48,000 to the "Virginia committee." Since any one would want his records to "correspond" with those signed by a Bishop, Mr. JAMESON agreed. Had this suggestion been made by a professional politician, it would have been represented as one of the tricks in campaign bookkeeping intended to becloud the exact facts about contributions. But coming from a Bishop whose difficulty with arithmetic had been before demonstrated, it justifies calling him back for examination as soon as possible.

MILITARY AND CIVIL AVIATION.

The demonstration of both sea and air power by the navy yesterday, the fleet steaming to its anchorage and the war planes roaring overhead, made an impressive spectacle. The skyscrapers of the city and the heights of Weehawken looked down on the battleships, cruisers and auxiliaries forging in procession up the river; but from the great buildings and the cliffs across the river there was the wonder of massed airplanes in squadrons to be seen far up in the sky, approaching, receding and returning with a volume of sound dominating the noises of the city. In an emergency those ships of the air would be used in defense of the city, or flying out to sea would join the warships in repelling an enemy fleet. What we all saw in the sky was the efficient air corps of the navy. Few had realized to what proportions it had grown or how well trained was the personnel.

There is also a peace aspect of the show in the sky. It would not have been conducted on such a scale if the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce had not asked the Navy Department to contribute to the success of the splendid exhibition of commercial aircraft at Madison Square Garden. In this country military and civil aeronautics have always been developed together, and they have a common interest.

As a matter of fact, our people are giving more attention today to commercial than to naval or army flying. Mails are being carried to every part of the country by plane, and new passenger services are being put on singly and in connection with railway travel. Colonel LINDBERGH is optimistic about the opening of a great air passenger terminal at New York during the present year. This city should be the leader in American aviation, planes setting out to every part of the country and coming back to the home airport; furthermore, it should be the base for transatlantic flying. Two big companies have planned to start Western services in 1930, and accommodations must be found for them here.

GANDHI'S DOUBTS.

GANDHI, in a letter to the Viceroy, disavows responsibility for any act of violence into which his followers may be "goaded," and reaffirms his unshaken faith in the efficacy of non-violence, "pure and undefiled." Yet it is not at all clear that he is displeased with the turn events have taken. He insists that history will convict the British Government of having sought to turn civil disobedience into active revolt, since force is the only thing it knows how to handle. But he also seems to have conceived it to be his duty to force the Government's hand, "to invite "you to disclose to the full your "leonine claws of authority." These have been in evidence ever since the Government took to arresting Hindu salt violators and their inciters, culminating in the seizure of GANDHI himself. On the other hand, it is difficult to think of the British authorities welcoming sedition in the native army, or rejoicing in a display of native violence such as at Peshâwar seems to have been successful in driving the British forces temporarily from the town.

Discussion concerning the relative merits of passive resistance and active sedition is on the whole academic. GANDHI must be aware that resistance to constituted authority cannot be preached to several hundred million people without speedily resulting in overt acts. Even among a non-aggressive people like the Hindus there are bound to be exceptions to make trouble. At Peshâwar it was shown that disaffection actually has penetrated, in some degree, the ranks of the martial races whose fidelity to the British rule has been taken for granted—the Rajputs and the Sikhs. Such developments GANDHI must have foreseen. Whether he viewed their coming with satisfaction his letter does not make quite clear. But unquestionably it would be better for his cause if the Nationalist campaign could be conducted wholly without violence, even without civil disobedience.

The commercial boycott has been used with effect in China and there is no reason why it could not be made even more effective in India. That the British would not be at their best in dealing with completely non-violent resistance is true. So would any other ruling Power. Passive resistance in the form of a boycott on trade, schools, courts, legislatures has the effectiveness of the hunger strike. It is inconceivable that the Government of RAMSAY MACDONALD would seek to provoke or even acquiesce in a test of arms in India if the peace can in any way be maintained. But it is probably true that an outburst of native violence countered by sharp Government repression is the quickest way out for a dominant Power. GANDHI'S letter is obscure, but among the things one may discover in it is a desire to threaten the British Government with violence, balanced by a lively apprehension lest this might play into the Government's hands.

WESTCHESTER PARKS PAY.

So exceptional has been the work of the Westchester County Park Commission that one reads without surprise in its report for 1929 that it has made a record in a new field. Experts have come from Europe and from all parts of the United States to study the commission's activities. But it has now been shown that the actual operation of such an extensive park system can be carried on at a profit. To be sure, the commission cautions the public that owing primarily to the constantly increasing parkway mileage it may not always be possible to balance operation costs with income. But for the present, at least, the revenues are such as to leave a small but substantial profit for the year.

This does not mean that park systems can be actually self-supporting. The greatest expenditures represent capital investments—the purchase of land and its improvement. The State has, of course, contributed largely to this end, the cost of the land alone amounting to more than $33,000,000 since 1922. A sum only a little smaller has been devoted to the cost of maintenance, together with improvements, during this same period.

One of the reasons for the success of the Westchester County Park Commission is its foresightedness. It has consistently looked to a future in which traffic would be steadily increasing. It is not content to rest today with the splendid parkway system which it has established, but is already planning extensions, connections and a new through express traffic artery so that the increase expected during the next few years may be adequately accommodated. In this respect it is already far ahead of Long Island, although it is only fair to the Long Island Park Commission to note that where Westchester residents have given active and vigorous support to their park commission, many Long Islanders have offered strong opposition to the development of suitable parks and parkways.

The park system of Westchester has been made possible by the exceptional civic spirit of so many of the residents of the county. Incidentally, it has done much to stimulate and strengthen local pride. The early fears of the older residents that the parks and parkways would bring in undesirable elements and alter the character of the community have proved unfounded. This is the point which it has been so difficult for Long Islanders to understand.

ON THE ROAD TO MANDALAY.

Reports of the extent of the disaster in Burma are conflicting. Some correspondents estimate the number of killed by earthquake, fire and tidal wave as high as 5,000, others as low as 500. Obviously, Pegu's experience is not comparable with that of Messina or Tokio, where the dead numbered 100,000, but thousands have been left without shelter and in urgent need of relief.

To most Americans Burma is a vague and far-off land of orange parasols, temple bells and glittering pagodas, "lookin' eastward to the sea." To the British it is a vital though somewhat isolated part of the empire, and they must regard an earthquake there at this time as a particularly bad stroke of luck. They have enough on their hands in India already without having to meet the emergency, psychological as well as material, of such an "act of GOD."

A large section of the Indian population apparently connects the earthquake with the arrest of Mahatma GANDHI. Here is a situation which plainly demands delicate handling. In some respects it recalls one of Mr. HOOVER's early adventures, in the days when he was a mining engineer. On a voyage between Rangoon and Colombo—so the story goes—he fell into conversation in the ship's smoking room with an old trader, who told him marvelous tales of ancient mines buried in the jungles of Upper Burma. He only half believed them, but when he got back to London he sent one of his young assistants, and later one of his partners, out to investigate. Both reported that the man told the truth. HOOVER and his associates thereupon undertook to build a railroad through the jungle and over two mountain ranges to these long-abandoned shafts, now a part of one of the greatest silver-lead mines in the world.

It may readily be imagined that this was no easy task. It was made doubly difficult by the superstition of the natives, who believed that straight lines, like a telegraph, or a railroad, or a bridge, were nothing but highways for the evil spirit. Bridge-building they regarded as peculiarly impious. Even after HOOVER had imported labor from across the border in China, the local tribes looked on in horror at this affront to their gods. When the first span of the first bridge was completed, the engineer in charge, as was the custom, walked out over it. When he got to the middle of the bridge he was seized with a dizzy spell and fell into the river, a hundred feet below. The natives, of course, thought this was a sign from heaven, and it was a critical time for HOOVER and his associates. Fortunately, the young engineer recovered, and his chief was able to explain that the white man had offered this human sacrifice to the local divinities, who, far from being displeased with the enterprise, showed their approval by restoring him to life.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Eager to Become "White Wings." Either there are a lot of day laborers who do not take President HOOVER's statements about returning prosperity at their face value, or else street sweeping offers peculiar attractions as a profession.

When the Municipal Civil Service Commission announced the other day that it was ready to set up a new list of street cleaners it probably had little expectation that there would be such an avalanche of applicants. Some stood in line all night, as if they were at the opening of the baseball season.

What makes all the more remarkable this competition for jobs which may not even offer steady work is that they will not be available for many months. The positions are filled in order of application, however, so it is desirable to get as near the head of the list as possible.

Perhaps the Board of Estimate will be charitable and give Commissioner SCHROEDER a more liberal allowance for street cleaners next year. There is certainly plenty of work for them to do.

Alcohol and the Perfume Industry. A trade publication, Aromatics Magazine, says in its current issue that the perfume industry is being hindered by arbitrary regulations of the Federal prohibition officials. They will not increase an alcohol withdrawal permit until they see the order on which the manufacturer of perfumes bases his request and investigate the concerns placing the order. The latter, when they buy in large quantities, will not give any manufacturer a chance to bid for their business unless they know he already has a permit for very large alcohol withdrawal.

It is the younger manufacturing companies which are chiefly hampered by this situation. They would like to bid for the large and profitable business of the chain drug stores. All the toilet waters, lotions, hair tonics and other products of the perfume industry have a large alcohol content, and the smaller establishments complain that they are prevented from getting a fair share of the business by the attitude of the prohibition department.

One among a number of young manufacturers testifying to the truth of the magazine's assertion said he had lost a contract amounting to $450,000 because he could not persuade the officials to increase his permit until they saw the order, which he could not get until he had the permit to show to the prospective buyer.

Derbies, Darbies and Bowlers. While the wit at the Pilgrims' dinner in honor of the Earl of DERBY was crackling about the head of the guest, General HARBORD made a joke which brought down the American side of the house, but from the attending British produced only polite, bewildered smiles. He said that somewhere along the line from the twelfth century a member of the family of the guest of honor had attached his name to "an indestructible hat."

It was assumed by those present who noticed the slow and mystified British grins that this apparent lack of appreciation arose from the fact that the hat which here is called "derby" is known in England as a "bowler." It is doubtful whether many Englishmen would have caught the point. To Ascot one wears a gray "topper"; and to Epsom many of the real "toffs" wear what has for years been honored in this country under the name of a "plug-hat." It is unlikely that Lord DERBY associates the "bowler" with his title.

However, jokes about the pronunciation of his name are familiar to him. He probably knows that the native Kentuckians call their race the "derby," and when he is in Lexington and in Louisville he will meet many who will speak his name in the same way. While visiting Commissioner WHALEN yesterday, however, he made it clear that there is no doubt what he calls himself. "My people," said he, "started pronouncing it Darby in 1483." For New York, and even for Kentucky, he will not alter that.

Life-Saving for Mothers. Last January the Department of Labor published a list of maternal mortality rates in nineteen foreign countries, in New York City and in the United States. Denmark heads the list. The United States occupies a shameful position at the bottom, with three times as many maternal deaths for every thousand live babies born as Denmark. This city has a rate almost as bad as that for the whole country. Fifteen thousand mothers die each year here from childbirth or childbirth causes.

The record would be tragic enough if nothing could be done to improve it, but in an enlightened and progressive country it is inexcusable. While typhoid fever, smallpox and other scourges have been successfully controlled, the death rate from childbirth has remained stationary for the past twenty years.

In the Bellevue-Yorkville section of this city the Maternity Centre Association has given proper medical and nursing care to mothers with results which prove that at least two-thirds of the maternal deaths are preventable. The death rate of mothers cared for by the association is even better than that of Denmark. Mothers living in the same district but not under the care of the association have a higher death rate than that prevailing throughout the whole country. Applying the association's methods in every community would mean an annual saving of 10,000 mothers' lives, and a more secure future for the same number of infants now left motherless at birth.

THE LATE MRS. STRAUS.

"She Touched No Life Without Making It Brighter and Better."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The death of Mrs. Nathan Straus deprives America of a beautiful and generous spirit who found self-expression in helping other human beings, regardless of race or class or creed. Multitudes of people will mourn the passing of this consecrated gentlewoman, the while finding comfort and consolation in the golden memories of her gracious and helpful life.

Lina Straus was a fit helpmeet and companion to her husband, that grand old man of whom Chief Justice Taft said to me, "Dear old Nathan Straus is a great Jew and the greatest Christian of us all." During more than a quarter of a century of acquaintance and friendship with the devoted couple I have had numerous opportunities for observing the ability, enthusiasm and generosity with which this modest and self-effacing lady joined in the philanthropic enterprises of her husband. The amount of work she did in preparing educational and publicity material in connection with the fight against excessive infantile mortality, especially through the depots for the distribution of pasteurized milk, was simply amazing. Moreover, it was work of a very high quality, indicating much reading and study. She did a tremendous amount of correspondence for her husband, in addition to her own, and no trouble was too great for her to take if it concerned the well-being of the less fortunate. I recall with admiring appreciation how, in response to requests for information which I believed she would have ready to hand, she delved into old files and wrote to various correspondents here and in England in order that I might have all available information upon the subject of my inquiry.

I recall the gracious words spoken of her more than twenty years ago by Jacob Schiff. In delighted and delightful manner she had been speaking of the success of one of the milk stations recently opened. Mr. Schiff said: "Helping the unfortunate and needy is her life, her religion and her recreation." That tribute might well be her epitaph. There are hundreds of thousands of homes which are better and happier today because her benign spirit entered them with healing and helpfulness. She touched no life without making it brighter and better. Love and honor to her memory.

With green-eyed vigilance she marked his mincing
Amongst brocaded minions of so-

His slightest smirk seemed evidence convincing
Of her philandering spouse's impro-

Her dragon-glances watched him,
  wigged and ruffled,
Buzz busily wherever fans were flut-

She strained her ears for innuendo muffled,
Sure assignations leered in every

She eyed each cerused countess with suspicion,
Certain each artful curl, each gesture sinuous,
Was meant to lure Sir Samuel to

A spaniel-Cerberus, with zeal con-

She shadowed him afield—yet unsus-

Employed plump chambermaids who

AN IMPORTANT MEASURE.

Bill for National Industrial Museum Still Awaits Action.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

When Congress last year appropriated some $75,000,000 to restore the plan of L'Enfant in Washington and to make that city the most beautiful capital in the world, the plans involved running Ninth Street across the Mall, cutting through the Arts and Industries Building of the National Museum, causing its demolition and utilizing its site.

This action will deprive the nation of its only industrial museum until a new site and buildings are provided, and as the old building, constructed in 1882, has long been inadequate for its purposes, and many records and models of industrial progress have either been stored elsewhere or refused acceptance and in many instances destroyed, no time should be lost in replacing it with new buildings on a site ample in size for all future time and on a scale commensurate with the needs of the nation.

As all the leading foreign countries have for many years possessed great national industrial museums, it seems incredible that this, the foremost of all the industrial nations of the world, should lag in having a place where it can demonstrate the accomplishments of its inventors, engineers and industrialists who have placed it where it stands.

In response to an appeal by the curator of the museum, a group of 100 leaders in science, engineering, industry and education promptly formed an organization to meet the situation. Realizing that a matter of such national importance should not be acted upon without careful consideration by authorities on the subject, and a study of existing museums, especially the great foreign institutions, it was decided to follow the plan adopted by Great Britain, which had appointed a royal commission to study other European museums and report what improvements should be made in theirs.

Accordingly, a bill was drafted by the legislative department of Columbia University and introduced in the Senate by Senator Royal S. Copeland, Democrat, and in the House by Representative Hamilton Fish, Republican, "to establish a commission to be known as a commission on a national museum of engineering and industry," to make a survey of the situation and report its recommendations, and this was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor in the Senate and to the Committee on Library in the House, which, not being organized at the time of the special session, had no other committee available. The commission would be appointed by President Hoover.

A site was assigned tentatively by the National Park and Planning Commission and approved by the National Arts Commission, subject to the conclusions to be reached by the commission on the museum.

It is at the extreme eastern end of East Capitol Street, which is proposed to be changed to "The Street of States," and would balance the Lincoln Memorial at the extreme western end of the same street, which is already developed into the Mall. The central building between these two terminals is the Capitol itself.

Following the lines of recent museum development, it is contemplated that the institution will be educational in character, and, in order to be national in scope, it is to be so affiliated with museums in the various States that by means of inventions already perfected or to be developed, such as the radio, wireless telephones, motion pictures, television, &c., educational broadcasting will be carried to the youth and adult population of the most distant hamlet.

It was the intention of the group when the bill was introduced to have it acted upon so that work could be started in 1932, during the bicentennial of the birthday of George Washington, and the institution would act as a memorial to the first President, who was an engineer, and would be reinstituted by Herbert Hoover, the second engineer President.

Mr. Mendez an Amateur Boxer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In THE NEW YORK TIMES of April 30 there appeared a special cable dated at Buenos Aires, April 29, regarding the appointment of a professional boxer, Justo Suarez, as Chancellor of this consulate general.

At the end of the article there was a paragraph reading: "Another boxer, Hector Mendez, is Chancellor of the Argentine Consulate at Baltimore."

At the request of the interested consular officer, Mr. Mendez, and also in the interest of accuracy, I wish to state that Mr. Mendez never engaged in professional boxing. He participated in the game purely as an amateur.

It must also be stated that Mr. Mendez studied in the University of Buenos Aires and is a Captain of the Reserves in the Argentine Army.

Uses for Odds and Ends.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It has been our custom to parcel post discarded socks, hats, ties, dresses, &c., to various charitable institutions. I understand that hospitals like old bathrobes for convalescents. Strange to say, no "sucker letters" follow these bequests. The Bowery Mission, for instance, courteously removes the sender's name from the package and writes a letter of thanks. Will some one suggest a better place than the dumbwaiter for bits of wire, nails and the various radio residue that accumulates?

HIGH SCHOOL PESSIMISM.

Senior Fears His Learning Will Be of Small Avail.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a few weeks I will be handed a diploma, have my hand shaken by sundry individuals, and then told that I have been graduated from high school. I am supposed to be educated. The city has provided me for some four years with skilled teachers and expensive apparatus and told me, "Be conscientious in your studies and you shall know." I know that I have been sincere, but I will tell a few things I do not know.

I know by heart several slices of Shakespeare and Browning, but I do not know how to write an ordinary form letter that would be accepted by any business firm. I know some irregular French verbs, but if I were lost in the streets of Paris I would not be able to ask my way home. I can say, "amo, amas, amat," also "en to oikio ton anthropon horo," but I cannot keep the ledger in my father's place of business nor send out his monthly statements. I am a member of the tennis team and know all the quirks and tricks used in hitting a tennis ball, but I do not know how to build a woodshed nor shingle a roof.

I know how to parse a sentence from Macaulay's essays, but I do not know how to light a match in the wind or chop down a tree. I have studied economics until my head is full of raw theories and long words, but I do not know the name of the Alderman from our ward nor the Congressman from our district, nor the political creeds and platforms they pledged themselves to uphold.

I can prove the square of the hypotenuse is equal to the sum of the squares of the base and the perpendicular, but I do not know how to hang a picture, put in a pane of glass or paint a chair. I have studied chemistry for a year and received high marks, but I know nothing of food values, and gorge myself on what pleases my palate. I received 85 per cent in English literature, but I cannot get $15 a week writing news for a newspaper, write an acceptable advertisement, and my average conversation is on the level of the tabloid. With the exception of the Mayor, I do not know the names of the other important officials of the City Government, but I could at random name about 95 per cent of the prominent movie actresses and actors, prizefighters and baseball players.

Surely some vital element is wholly missing from our school system which provided for only a classical but not for a practical education. I am taught a multitude of subjects, but I am not taught how to apply them so that I will be able to make a success of myself in my struggle for and with life. Life so far as I have viewed it is rose-colored, mellow and delightful, but I know that life is far different than I see it at present. None of life's sorrows, pains or struggles have been my lot to embitter and mature my ambitious mind. I have been led to regard life as a nut that must be cracked to succeed, not as a long hard swim with the odds becoming greater against you every moment and if you stop struggling you sink and are gone.

In high school, besides the somewhat useless education I received, the "competition road to success" fetish was dinned into my ears. In grammar school I was doped on such mental food as prizes, rewards for excellence, being head of the class, and getting on the honor roll. While I was practicing this gospel in school, my elders were illustrating its perfection on the battlefield, straining every nerve to kill, maim and ruin each other in order to succeed in making their own nation outshine the other fellow's nation. The arena of business is a fierce flurry on the same sort of gladiatorial theory. Business firms overshriek and undercut each other daily. Thousands of honest men go down every year in the war of capital. In office, shop and store the clerks plot and plan to get promoted over each other. The age-old beast law of struggle, evolution by fighting, the survival of the fittest, and vae victis obtains, is still rampant in our midst, spreading and affecting each new generation with its insidious poison. As a matter of fact, no progress has ever been made by competition. All permanent advances of the world have been made by cooperation. The triumph of man has been the triumph of organization.

Real success means achievement by doing the best you can. It implies the most perfect self-discipline; the highest self-standards. It has nothing to do with excelling some one else. The minute the idea of surpassing, outdoing, conquering or worsting some one enters, you have laid the foundation for strife, envy, jealousy and unhappiness. Real success then becomes impossible.

I was educated according to the ancient formulas for producing a scholar and a gentleman and I find I have to work for a living. I have no taste nor love for hard work, no habits for saving, no disposition to resist temptation and no skill in doing anything the world is willing to pay for. I am wholly untrained for efficiency, and before I succeed in life I will have to undo most of what has been taught to me in school.

Special Diet for This Canary.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Last Saturday afternoon the maid in our apartment knocked over a bird cage with our canary in it, while the cage was very near the window, and the bird naturally flew out. On reaching the street a chauffeur told me that some one got out of a green-colored closed automobile, caught the bird by dropping his hat over it, and drove away. If the finder is determined to keep the bird, I hope he will give it a special singing food that we gave it each morning, and for which the bird used to yelp every day until he got it.

BALTIMORE, May 7.—William J. Ferguson, veteran actor, who was on the stage when President Lincoln was assassinated at Ford's Theatre, Washington, sixty-five years ago last month, died on Sunday in Pikesville, Md., almost unknown, it was learned today.

The assassination occurred while Ferguson, a youth who had a minor part, stood with Miss Laura Keene, star of the play, in one of the stall wings on the opposite side from the Presidential box, in full view of Mr. Lincoln.

Referring to the shooting in later years, the actor said:

"While going through my lines with Miss Keene, I heard the shot and looked up at the Presidential box. There was J. Wilkes Booth—I knew him well—standing with the pistol to the President's head.

"A puff of white smoke was rising. Mr. Lincoln's head sank forward. Then I saw Booth leap to the stage. The excitement was most intense."

Born in Baltimore, Mr. Ferguson lived to be known as the "actor who has played enough melodrama characters to populate a town." He was on the stage more than 60 years. He arrived at Pikesville a month ago from New York for a rest at the home of relatives. He is survived by a widow. The funeral service was held yesterday.

His Story of Wilkes Booth's Act.

Mr. Ferguson was the last survivor of the company that was playing "Our American Cousin" in Ford's Theatre, Washington, the night President Lincoln was shot, and the last surviving eyewitness of the assassination. A few years ago he retold the story for THE NEW YORK TIMES. His account was in part as follows:

"I was a call boy at the theatre, but occasionally went on the stage in crowds or was drafted for a small part. On April 14, 1865, the actor assigned to the rôle of Lieutenant Vernon, R. N., became ill, and I took his place. Shortly before 10 o'clock a front scene was on, that is, it was a shallow interior with the back wall about twelve feet from the footlights. The stage was empty, except for one actor, Asa Trenchard. I was standing in the first entrance, opposite the President's box, with Laura Keene.

Booth Dashed Past Him.

"We heard the shot and, looking up, saw Lincoln's head sink to his breast and the scuffle in the box. Then Booth mounted the rail of the box and jumped. His spur caught in the flag and he fell to the stage. He was up in a second and dashed between Miss Keene and me. In his hand he carried a long bowie knife he had used to cut himself loose from Major Rathbone, who had caught hold of his coat in the box. He ran swiftly, without any apparent impediment from his shattered leg, hurt when he fell. Outside one of the stage boys stood holding his horse. He ran through the stage door, which was on a level with the pavement outside, and I saw him kick the boy aside and jump on his horse. Booth did not shout 'sic semper tyrannis!' or anything else, on the stage. He may have said that in the box to Major Rathbone, but he said nothing on the stage, for I would have heard him."

Played Many Parts.

In his sixty years on the stage Ferguson played a great variety of parts and to each he brought a finished technique and a delicacy that made the performance memorable. Mansfield's tremendous success in "Beau Brummel" has been attributed by A. M. Palmer, manager of the theatre in which the play was produced, to the beautifulu finesse of Ferguson in the role of Mortimer, the valet. Mr. Palmer has said that without this aid Mansfield would not have succeeded in the title role.

In the melodrama "The Fatal Card" Ferguson played Jim Dixon, the sneaking villain, and in "The Gay Parisians" he scored another triumph as Joseph Pingley, a good-natured old sport trying to be a roué, a part he played for eighty-five consecutive weeks. On several occasions Ferguson supported Mansfield in "Master and Man" and "Ten Thousand a Year," among other plays.

He was one of the original cast of "Charley's Aunt," and, also under Frohman management, he appeared in the original production of "The Girl From Maxim's." In "The Brixton Burglary," at the Herald Square Theatre, he took part in the performance that marked the entrance of the Shuberts into theatrical management in New York City. Among the many subsequent plays he acted in were "A Modern Magdalen," "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," "The Walls of Jericho," "The Prima Donna," "The Girl From Rector's" and "The Deep Purple."

MacGUIRE—On May 6, Constantine J. MacGuire, M. D., at his residence, 120 East 60th St. Funeral Friday, May 9. Solemn requiem mass St. Vincent Ferrer's Church, Lexington Av. and 66th St., at 10 A. M. Interment private. Please omit flowers.

MacGUIRE—Dr. Constantine J. MacGuire, long a visiting physician to St. Vincent's Hospital and for many terms President of its Medical Board, at his home, 120 East 60th St., New York City, on May 6, in his eighty-third year.

Dr. MacGuire had been connected with St. Vincent's Hospital since 1886, a long service, treating the poor under its care skillfully and tenderly, and always taking an active and dominant part in its medical affairs. His patients will note with great regret his passing, for to them he was often a special providence. The Sisters, conscious of his worth, feel his loss keenly and with great sorrow. In his death the Medical Board loses a wise and temperate counselor, one who could always be depended upon to take a deep interest and to give intelligent advice. A great doctor, one great by reason of character, does not die but lives unto the children's children of those who knew his ministrations.

Requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Vincent Ferrer's Church, Lexington Av. and 66th St., Friday morning, May 9, at 10 o'clock. The members of the Medical Board are expected to attend in a body.

MacGuire, on the death of her distinguished husband, Dr. Constantine J. MacGuire, and resolve to attend the mass of requiem at the Church of St. Vincent Ferrer, Friday, May 9, at 10 o'clock.

Living Room Furniture in Wanamaker's May Sale

FROM THE FOUNDER'S WRITINGS

To Live Long is the Hope of Everybody

but few care to be called old, only because they do not feel old. Yet, the vast majority of the old people are thankful and happy in the kind and thoughtful attentions they receive. Their recollections and experiences are a never-ending source of pleasure to them. To their acquaintances and kinsfolk it affords an opportunity to light and keep lighted for the dear old people some kind of a little lamp to brighten the evening of life. Think it over and do not miss the doing of such an easy thing.

Living Room Furniture in Wanamaker's May Sale

To Live Long is the Hope of Everybody

but few care to be called old, only because they do not feel old. Yet, the vast majority of the old people are thankful and happy in the kind and thoughtful attentions they receive. Their recollections and experiences are a never-ending source of pleasure to them. To their acquaintances and kinsfolk it affords an opportunity to light and keep lighted for the dear old people some kind of a little lamp to brighten the evening of life. Think it over and do not miss the doing of such an easy thing.

Commissioner at First Public Hearing Stresses Plea for Right to Limit Cabs.

SEES INDUSTRY IN CHAOS

Holds Financing Companies Partly to Blame—Walsh Pledges Impartial Inquiry.

INDEPENDENTS SPEAK TODAY

Owner of Converted Car Sues to Get License—Two More Cut-Rate Drivers Get Permits.

Broad supervision of taxicab operation, including the right to limit the number of cabs and drivers, should be vested in the Police Department in the interests of public safety, traffic control and crime prevention, Police Commissioner Whalen declared yesterday in testimony before Mayor Walker's Commission on Taxicabs at its first public hearing in the Board of Estimate chamber at City Hall. He also held that a uniform rate should be established in order to help stabilize the taxicab business.

Commissioner Whalen, who was the only witness of the day, said that he favored legislation permitting him to limit the number of cabs and drivers. He suggested that it would be well to start with the present number of cabs—about 20,000—with the understanding that the figures could be revised after a six months' or a year's trial.

Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission, indicated in an outline of the commission's program that it would delve thoroughly into the question of financial control of the taxicab business, including "the extent to which operating companies are really simply tools of holding and finance companies which stand in the background."

The connection between manufacturing companies and subsidiary holding and financing companies will also be studied. The question of Public Service Commission control of cabs as public utilities will also be taken up and the commission will make a study of taxicab operation in some of the leading cities of the nation.

Independents Speak Today.

An audience of about 500, including representatives of leading cab manufacturers and cab dealers, fleet operators and independent owner-operators, attended. The independents will be heard this afternoon, including those who favor the 15-cent-a-mile rate. The commission will hold hearings every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

"The taxicab industry in New York City is the most poorly operated, from a business point of view, of any industry of its magnitude in the world," Mr. Whalen told the commission, after submitting for its records the mass of data compiled from department records and the two public hearings held by him last June.

In response to questions by Mr. Walsh, Philip Le Boutillier, Leonor F. Loree and Daniel L. Reardon, Commissioner Whalen indicated that he believed that manufacturers of taxicabs are to some degree responsible because of their business policies.

"They have created unnecessary competition by their policy of bringing out new models of cabs every few months," he said.

He testified that in such cases the independent cab drivers took any immediate financial loss involved, although the ultimate loss depended on the status of the instalment paper outstanding. In response to a question by Mr. Reardon he said that cab operation by manufacturers was, on the face of it, an undesirable competitive factor in the business.

Statistics read into the record by Mr. Whalen disclosed that there are now 15,030 standard taxicabs in operation, exclusive of converted pleasure cars. Of the standard cabs 13,847 are running at the prevailing rate of 15 cents for the first quarter mile and 5 cents for each succeeding quarter. The rest operate at the two higher rate classifications. Only one cab is running at a flat 15-cent rate, he said. Later he disclosed that another cut-rate cab was licensed yesterday. Michael Donella, head of the Amalgamated Taxi Association, said that two more of the cut-rate cabs had been licensed, bringing the total to three.

The Police Department issued 39,896 drivers' licenses in 1925, when it first took over control, Commissioner Whale said. In 1929 it issued 69,584. Since April 1 it has issued 59,639 and estimates that 75,000 will be issued before the year is over.

In 1925 it issued 21,066 cab licenses, the number increasing to 34,675 in 1927, after which it began to decline until it reached 29,748 in 1929. Of these 12,073 were turned back before the year ended. Since April 1, he declared, 19,918 have been issued and all turned back, leaving the grand total of cabs in operation at 19,507.

Other statistics read into the record showed that there are now 9,065 Checker cabs in operation, 2,128 Paramounts, 1,171 Yellows and 1,361 General Motors, in addition to varying numbers of other makes.

"It is not the purpose of the Police Department to even offer an opinion as to rates," he declared, pointing out, however, that the department, in case of a rate war, had no power to prevent the influx of large numbers of cabs into the competitive field.

The commission opened the hearing with a statement by Chairman Walsh, who declared that it was approaching the problem with an open mind and in the realization that it was tackling "one of the major problems of the larger cities of America." The taxicab situation here, he said, was really the most recent phase of the rapid transit problem. He praised Commissioner Whalen's treatment of the problem to date, but added that "there are also problems which are distinctly economic and may well require important innovations in the way of regulatory legislation."

The only addition to the legal tangle surrounding the taxicab situation was the filing in the Supreme Court yesterday of a motion for a writ of mandamus to compel Commissioner Whalen to license a converted pleasure car not conforming to the standard specifications established by the Police Department early this year. The proceeding was brought by Isidore Lieberman, a Brooklyn taxicab owner-operator.

Gradual Drop in Living Cost Noted in Five-Year Survey

The cost of living, which has been decreasing since the end of 1925, is still dropping, and while it is higher than before the war, it has been maintained at a point considerably below the dizzy heights of 1920 during the past few years, according to a study completed by the National Industrial Conference Board.

Within the last fifteen years the rise in the cost of clothing has been outstanding in the wage earner's budget, the board finds. Food follows closely, although since 1920 food prices have been below the general price level.

The peak for fuel and light was reached in 1920, but a gradual decrease has been noted ever since. Rents were at their highest in 1924, after which the trend was downward until two years ago, when they became stationary.

SAYS OUR CULTURE EXCEEDS ANY OTHER

PRETENSION IS CHARGED

Even Persons of Wealth Are Said to Be Satisfied With Cheap Prints In Their Homes.

A clash of opinion on whether this is a golden age of artistic appreciation in the United States or an age of pretension and little real understanding of art featured an all-day regional art convention in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Art Centre, 65 East Fifty-sixth Street, yesterday.

Well-known artists spoke of the artistic improvement made in Fords by stream-line bodies, the unsightliness of telephone receivers and steam radiators in American rooms, the destruction of landscapes by gasoline filling stations and "hot dog" stands, and the oversupply of art students, most of whom, it was said, wound up artistic careers without an income at "land's end in Washington Square."

Leon V. Solon, head of the School of Applied Design for Women, and William Zorach, painter and sculptor, expressed opposite views on the state of artistic enlightenment in the United States. The former found a more sincere appreciation here than in any other country of the world, present or past, not even excluding ancient Greece. Mr. Zorach said that many who professed culture were satisfied with lifeless prints on the walls of their homes.

Culture Calibre Called High.

"Today," said Mr. Solon at the dinner in the Hotel Roosevelt which ended the convention, "the cultural calibre of our citizens is higher than it has ever been before or than it is in Europe. Popular education creates an honored position for the arts, for it furnishes a people able to understand and appreciate them. This, together with the desire for luxury resulting from the prosperity of the country after the war, places many industries in the position of admitting their artistic inadequacy."

So great is the artistic demand, he insisted, that industry must ally the artist to it as closely as the scientist.

"Taste and understanding of art among the people of America lags far behind their development in every other line," replied Mr. Zorach in a paper read for him in the morning session at the Art Centre by Stefan Hirsch.

"People of wealth and culture still feel perfectly satisfied with a cheap print of the lowest art value on their walls when they would be scandalized at the idea of a piece of furniture of the same quality or a book of the same low standard in their home.

"You meet all kinds of people who just love art and tell you so at great length. Then you go into their homes and you see that it is all words. Their homes are full of everything except art. But if you find in a home an original drawing or water-color, even if not of the best, you at once know that there is a different standard of intelligence in that home. There is life there."

Roadside Beauty Urged.

Relief for motorists from the "hot dog" stands was urged by George B. Ford, director of the Regional Plan Association, at the afternoon session. To resurrect landscapes, successful competitions had been held for artistically designed stands, he said, and there is a strong movement on foot to plant trees along the highways.

Promoters of real estate developments were also being encouraged to line their subdivisions with trees and there was growing appreciation of the artistic utility of open spaces, waterfronts and hills in towns and cities, Mr. Ford declared.

Only a tiny proportion of the students now in art schools can be taken care of, Alon Bement, director of the Art Centre, told the convention, adding that perhaps it was a duty to discourage them.

Eighty to 90 per cent of all art students, he said, experience a career of "two years in an American art school, which unfortunately will take any one if he pays the fee; two years in Paris if his family can afford it; a homecoming in which he declares himself an artist; an exhibit in a gallery paid for by his father at which the latter's wealthy friends buy pictures, and then a retirement to Washington Square for as long as the family will send money, after which he comes here and asks where he can get a job."

Other speeches at the morning and afternoon sessions dealt with the development of art for children, adult non-professionals and professionals. Harvey Wiley Corbett, chairman of the New York Regional Art Council, announced the award of a scholarship at a New York art school to Wells Deane Lee of Hackensack High School.

The dinner at the Roosevelt was in honor of Mrs. Ripley Hitchcock, first president of the Art Centre. A medal in recognition of her service was presented to her.

VAUSE DENIES GUILT; LEAVES THE BENCH

Kings County Judge to Go to Trial With 2 Others May 19 on Banking Fraud Charge.

NOT TO SIT PENDING TRIAL

Ignorant of Operations of Columbia Finance Company, Says Counsel —Seven More Plead Today.

County Judge W. Bernard Vause of Brooklyn, his brother Louis N. Vause and Samuel Schuchman pleaded not guilty before Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard yesterday to the indictment charging them and seven other defendants with using the mails to defraud in connection with the Columbia Finance Corporation operations, and also with conspiracy to effect that purpose. They were released in $2,500 bail each and their case was put on the trial calendar for May 19. They received permission to change their pleas or make motions at that time.

Judge Vause seemed as calm in front of the bench as he is upon it. His reply of "not guilty" in pleading was his only comment on the charge against him. He shook hands with a few friends at the Federal Building, smiled cheerfully at others and thanked several persons for wishing him "the best of luck." He refused to comment on the case either while in Manhattan or in Brooklyn. He referred questioners to Nathan D. Perlman, or Blau, Perlman & Polakoff, who are counsel for him and his brother.

"Judge Vause was neither an officer nor a director of the Columbia Finance Company. He at no time advised any of its officers or directors, nor did he have any knowledge of the operations of the Columbia Finance Company. He was a stockholder, but, like other stockholders, suffered financial loss. He is innocent and will be vindicated at the trial.

"As soon as the indictment can be examined and a conference had with Samuel Untermyer, whom we expect to be associated with us in the defense of Judge Vause, if his health will permit, we expect to make the necessary motions and to apply for an early trial."

It was on Mr. Perlman's motion that Judge Goddard put the case on the trial calendar for May 19.

County Judge George W. Martin, chairman of the Board of Kings County Judges, announced yesterday that Judge Vause would not occupy the bench while the case is pending against him. The announcement was made at the request of Judge Vause, who decided of his own volition to take that course. Judge Martin took over Judge Vause's calendar yesterday.

The seven other defendants in the case have communicated with Assistant United States Attorney George J. Mintzer, head of United States Attorney Tuttle's criminal division, and, according to Mr. Mintzer, are expected to plead this morning. They are: Solomon Cruso, president of the Columbia Finance Corporation; Abraham Rayman, treasurer; Joseph P. Barmack, secretary; William Rayman, Harry Cruso, Samuel M. Cruso and Max Barmack.

It has been alleged that clients of the Columbia Finance Corporation lost about $400,000 through its activities.

1,800 CAB DRIVERS OUT IN BROOKLYN STRIKE

Recognition of New Union Is Added to Demand for Reinstatement of Dispatchers.

The walkout of 700 Black Beauty taxicab drivers in Brooklyn on Tuesday in protest against the dismissal of dispatchers at two of the four garages there developed into a borough-wide strike yesterday, with 900 cabs out of service and 1,800 men striking. Officials of the company said no attempt would be made to operate any taxicabs pending the outcome of the strike.

The striking drivers met yesterday in a session that started at 4 o'clock and lasted until almost midnight, and formed a union temporarily called the Hackmen's Protective Association, and for the present drawing its members from the Black Beauty ranks only. It was said that more than 900 men were registered with their hack license numbers at the gathering, held in the Royal Palace at 16 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn. Help in organization was offered by M. J. Reagan, a mediator of the New York State Department of Labor, and William C. Liller, United States Commissioner of Conciliation.

A representative of the Trade Union Unity League, said to be a Communist organization, was evicted from a meeting of the cabmen early yesterday in the Brooklyn Labor Lyceum. At the session in the afternoon, however, the men listened attentively while August Claessens, former Assemblyman, member of the Teachers' Union and representing Norman Thomas, promised help in the formation of the union. Mr. Thomas may address today's meeting in the Royal Palace, it was said.

Unable to obtain the reinstatement of the discharged dispatchers, the men have fixed as their chief demand the recognition of the new union.

This had been denied them by Sam Katz, president of the Black Beauty system, and by Morris Markin, head of the Motor Cab Transportation chain, to which the Black Beauty Taxicab Corporation belongs.

MAXON CASE UP TOMORROW

Grand Jury to Get Evidence and Decide on Charge.

District Attorney Crain ordered yesterday that evidence against James Matthew Maxon Jr., 21-year-old son of the Protestant Episcopal Bishop Coadjutor of Tennessee, in the death of David Paynter, 73, during an alleged brawl April 18, be presented to the grand jury tomorrow.

Maxon was committed to the Tombs without bail, pending outcome of a grand jury investigation. He is accused of having struck Paynter with a chair.

Mr. Crain said he intends to have all the evidence laid before the jurors so they can decide whether the crime was murder in the first or second degree or manslaughter in the first or second degree.

Isolation of Germ as Carrier of Arthritis Reported by New York Doctor at Convention

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 7.—Announcement of the isolation of a germ believed to be the carrier of arthritis, an inflammation of the joints, was made today by Dr. Russell L. Cecil of New York in a paper read by him before the annual convention of the Association of American Physicians here.

Dr. Cecil, who is an authority on pneumonia and the originator of a serum for that disease, has been assisted in his arthritis investigations by Drs. E. E. Nichols and W. J. Stansby. Although in describing these investigations he did not claim the results to be entirely conclusive, he and other physicians attending the convention said they felt that the new discovery would lay the groundwork for effective methods of combating the disease.

Dr. I. G. Rowntree of Rochester, Minn., who has been working with Drs. A. W. Anson and P. S. Hench along similar lines to those followed by Dr. Cecil and his colleagues, also read a paper reporting encouraging results in the treatment of chronic arthritis. He illustrated his talk by a series of motion pictures.

Dr. H. F. Swift of New York, presenting the results of ten years' study by Dr. M. G. Wilson on the uses of vaccine in preventing relapses in children with rheumatic fever, discussed the advantages of injecting serum direct into the blood stream rather than through the skin.

The afternoon session of the convention was devoted to a discussion of cancerous and ulcerous growths, as well as to certain phases of diabetic coma and pernicious anaemia.

Dr. R. I. Cole of New York was elected president of the association for the ensuing year. Other officers elected were: Dr. T. B. Futcher of Baltimore, vice president; Dr. J. H. Means of Boston, secretary; Dr. G. Blumer of New Haven, treasurer; Dr. E. H. Funk of Philadelphia, recorder, and Dr. T. R. Boggs of Baltimore, counselor. The George M. Kober medal was presented to Dr. J. B. Herrick.

OVERRULES STRONG IN STEINBRINK CASE

HELD NO PART OF ACTION

Overruling his colleague, Justice Selah B. Strong, Supreme Court Justice John B. Johnston in Brooklyn yesterday ordered stricken from the record of a contempt case correspondence which passed between Justice Strong and Meier Steinbrink, Brooklyn Republican leader, and which Justice Strong had filed in the record in the County Clerk's office.

The case was a proceeding brought against the United States Fidelity and Guarantee Company and William J. McArthur, its general counsel. The correspondence consisted of a letter from Mr. Steinbrink to Justice Strong, in which Mr. Steinbrink asked that the execution of an order be withheld pending decision on an appeal, and a reply from Justice Strong characterizing Mr. Steinbrink's method of approaching the judge as "unethical, ill-advised and improper."

The correspondence followed the issuance of an order by Justice Strong, adjudging the company and Mr. McArthur in contempt, fining the company $250, and sentencing its counsel to eight days in jail. The defendants then retained Mr. Steinbrink to press an appeal, and Mr. Steinbrink wrote to Justice Strong, requesting the delay. After Justice Strong's reply, Mr. Steinbrink wrote a third letter, acknowledging receipt of the justice's "offensive and ungentlemanly reply," and defending his own action in writing the original letter.

When the letters had been filed by Justice Strong, Mr. Steinbrink moved to have them expunged from the record, and it was this motion which Justice Johnston decided yesterday.

"In entertaining this application I do not presume to review any judicial act of my associate," Justice Johnston wrote, in part. "Neither am I called upon to determine why the learned justice filed the letters.

"The sole question is, are the letters part of the record? It is clear that the letters in question were not used in the proceeding, nor are they recited or referred to in the order.

"In fact, they were not in existence at the time the decision was made or published. They constitute no part of the contempt proceeding and cannot be included among the papers on appeal. Mr. Steinbrink's letter of April 24 was not an application for a stay made in any form recognized by law. Neither did the learned justice treat it as such. He considered it merely as an unethical method of approach. There is no authority in law for filing these letters."

MISS EDWARDS REGAINS BOY

Woman "More Sinned Against Than Sinning," Says Justice Levy.

Justice Levy issued an order yesterday in the Children's Court restoring 7-year-old Lee Edwards to his mother, Olga Eide Edwards, former actress, who was freed on a suspended sentence in General Sessions the day before on her conviction by a jury of attempting to extort $500 from Nathan L. Amster, railroad financier, of this city and Boston.

At Miss Edwards's request, after her arrest last November on the Amster charge, the boy had been sent to the Edwin Gould Foundation.

"Lee is a real nice child," commended Justice Levy in signing the order. "He has been well brought up, and you are a good mother to him."

When Miss Edwards was thanking the court for his kindness Justice Levy remarked he believed she was "more sinned against than sinning."

Earlier in the day General Sessions Judge Rosalsky, who had suspended sentence on the woman for five years, with the warning she must not again annoy Mr. Amster, quashed the $5,000 bail bond Miss Edwards had furnished after three indictments had been returned against her. The two remaining bills will be held in abeyance.

CONNOLLY AND AIDE FACE QUICK ARREST

Buckner Expects Court Mandate Today and Will Seek Order for Their Custody at Once.

YEAR'S TERM FOR BOTH

The arrest of Maurice E. Connolly, former Borough President of Queens, and Frederick B. Seely, chief engineer under Connolly, will take place today or tomorrow, according to an announcement yesterday by Emory R. Buckner, special prosecutor in the sewer investigation in which both men were convicted of misuse of public funds and sentenced to prison for one year and fined $500 each.

"The mandate of the Court of Appeals will be mailed from Albany to me today and I should receive it tomorrow," Mr. Buckner said. "I will then go to the Supreme Court in Jamaica and ask for the arrest of Mr. Connolly and Mr. Seely.

"The order of arrest will be delivered to the Sheriff, who will then take the men into custody and turn them over to Warden Joseph McCann, on Welfare Island."

Connolly, whose conviction was upheld last Tuesday by the Court of Appeals, has already served two days of his term, he having gone to the penitentiary the day after his conviction on Oct. 17, 1928. He was released in $5,000 bail two days later, so that he will return to Welfare Island after a delay of more than nineteen months. The commutation statutes automatically allow both men two months off for good conduct.

Seely said he would give himself up when required.

"Although I feel I have been unjustly convicted, I am financially unable to continue the fight," he said.

The former Borough President declined to comment until he saw the court opinions and consulted his attorneys. He said, however, that he expected to confer with Max D. Steuer, his chief attorney, today.

It was estimated at the time of the investigation of the sewer scandal that as much as $3,000,000 in graft was collected by the former Borough President, the late John M. Phillips, sewer pipe manufacturer, and their aides during the building of the Queens sewer system.

SWEAR BRONX NOTARY DRAFTED WILL, TOOK $5

Two Testify Against F. M. Weiss Before Magistrate—Decision Waits Until Tomorrow.

Magistrate Capshaw in West Farms Court reserved decision yesterday until Friday in the case of Fred M. Weiss, whose business address is 120 Westchester Square, the Bronx, one of twenty-four notaries public accused of posing as attorneys by the Bronx Bar Association. Seven of the twenty-four notaries have been cleared of the charges. Others will get a hearing next Tuesday.

The witnesses against Weiss yesterday were Charles Olsen and Edward Dougherty, investigators employed by Assistant District Attorney Tierney, president of the Bronx Bar Association. Olsen testified that on April 16 Weiss dictated a will for him to his stenographer, Miss Cecile Bluestein, using another will to follow the correct form of phraseology, and that he paid Weiss $5 for his services.

Weiss, who described himself as a real estate and insurance agent of twenty-eight years' standing, denied that he had dictated the will or accepted a $5 fee.

Miss Bluestein, who said she had been Weiss's secretary for seven years, testified that she had made out the will for Olsen, following the form of her own will, and that it was she who had accepted the $5 fee.

Dougherty's testimony was that Weiss did not have a will before him when the alleged will was drawn up.

Weiss is scheduled to sail for Europe on Friday evening, and Magistrate Capshaw held the hearing on his case yesterday by special request.

3 DISTRICTS LOSE 150,000 IN CENSUS

7TH A. D. IN BRONX GAINS

Case Against Woman Dropped When She Agrees to Help—Engineers to Conduct Own Count.

Three Assembly Districts, two of which include parts of the lower east side generally regarded as densely populated, show a total loss of population of more than 150,000 compared with the census of 1920. Returns for these districts were made public yesterday by Lester Friedman, supervisor of the Twenty-first Census District.

The districts, their present populations and the 1920 population are:

District	Population 1930.	1920.
First	87,049	137,522
Second	86,109	147,115
Eighth	70,039	109,522

The First Assembly District embraces Bedloe's, Ellis and Oyster Islands in New York Harbor and the triangular strip of Manhattan extending from the Battery to Charles Street and from river to river. The Second is bounded by Fourth, Catherine and Clinton Streets and Seventh Avenue. The Eighth is bounded by Avenue C, Broadway, Stanton and Sixteenth Streets.

The Second Assembly District shows the heaviest loss, with a reduction by 61,006. The First is next, with 50,473. The population loss of the Eighth is 39,483.

Contrasted with the loss shown in lower Manhattan, the Seventh Assembly District in the Bronx has an approximate population this year of 123,635, compared with 89,123 ten years ago.

Neither Bruno B. Saloschin, nor George N. Jesse, supervisors of the Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth Census Districts, had an assembly district completed yesterday, but both were confident that their count would be completed by the middle of this month.

Mr. Jesse said that he had hoped to have the Twentieth Assembly District completed today so as to announce figures, but that he had not heard from one enumerator, without whose figures the count could not be completed.

Another decrease in a Brooklyn district was revealed late yesterday by Leo V. Doherty, supervisor in the twenty-eighth census district in Kings, who announced the 1930 population of the Tenth Assembly District as 72,661, compared with a population ten years ago of 75,873. The decrease of 3,212 was in the Park Slope area, a residential community near Prospect Park, it was pointed out.

The case of Miss May Kelley, who was to have appeared before United States Commissioner Lowell Wadman yesterday morning on complaint of Samuel Ullman, special enumerator, was dismissed on request of Mr. Ullman. The latter said that he had spoken to Miss Kelley after the serving of the subpoena and that she had agreed to assist him in the enumeration of the apartments belonging to the City and Suburban Homes Development Company. He has succeeded in obtaining the necessary data from fourteen of the missing families in the apartment houses.

More than 100,000 professional engineers throughout the United States will be listed by the American Engineering Council, it was announced yesterday, in a special census, which, it is believed, will provide one of the most comprehensive cross-sections of the profession yet obtained.

This census will supplement that now being made by the United States Census Bureau. At the same time it is designed to supply a large volume of information vital to engineers, colleges and technical schools.

Mr. Arbuckle said returns for the cities of Yonkers and White Plains will probably be ready tomorrow.

PORTO RICO SHOWS GAINS.

Population Is 1,543,043, an Increase of 18.7 Per Cent.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 7.—Porto Rica's population has increased 18.7 per cent since the last census, according to preliminary announcement today showing 1,543,043 inhabitants as compared with 1,299,809 in 1920.

San Juan city and district shows the greatest gain, the city now having 114,585 while the island's eighteen towns of more than 5,000 inhabitants now show an average gain of 45 per cent with the smaller towns and rural sections less.

San Juan shows more than twice the population of any other city, Ponce, the next in the list, having 53,417.

CHILD AGENCIES TAXED.

Report Unemployment Adds to Calls for Temporary Shelter.

Unemployment is increasing the calls for shelters for children, according to the committee on the temporary care of children, which met yesterday under auspices of the Children's Welfare Federation in the Godmothers' League Shelter, 115 East 101st Street.

A representative of the federation said that mothers whose husbands were unemployed find it easier to get work than the fathers and ask help until they are able to put the children in a day nursery.

The temporary shelters, it was explained, have been developed to prevent the sending to institutions of children whose homes are temporarily disrupted, usually through the illness of the mother.

Will Rogers Comments Upon a Mother's Tragedy

To the Editor of The New York Times:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 7.—We was all just reading about the wonderful reception and sincere love and affection shown our Gold Star mothers on their way to France. It made us proud to be living in such a generous nation.

Then, in the very next column, another mother killed seven children because she could not feed them any longer. Where is all these relief organizations that have all the social names on the literature? This woman was on the streets before their eyes every night.

This poor soul had done her bit for Ohio. She had contributed a husband to its wonderful jail.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

BEVERLY HILLS GETS LEAD FOR GROWTH

Movie Colony Seat Increases 2,485.6 Per Cent in Census to Population of 16,754.

SAN TOY, OHIO, LOSES 87%

LOS ANGELES, May 7 (AP).—Beverly Hills, seat of the motion picture colony, was announced by the district census supervisor today as having leaped far ahead of any other city in the country for population gains so far reported.

The city was enumerated as having a population of 17,428, an increase in ten years of 16,754 or 2,485.6 per cent. Ten years ago it had only 674 residents. It takes the lead for growth from Culver City, another suburb of Los Angeles, which gained 1,011.5 per cent.

LANCASTER, Ohio, May 7 (AP).—Perhaps the greatest decrease in Ohio census figures was announced today when the village of San Toy, in Perry County, reported a population of 128, in comparison with 976 in 1920, a decline of 87 per cent.

San Toy formerly was a mining town. With the cessation of activities, operators returned to their homes in the Carolinas, it was said.

Jonesboro Grows 25 Per Cent.

JONESBORO, Tenn., May 7 (AP).—Jonesboro, oldest town west of the Appalachian Mountains and "mother of Tennessee," has in its sesquicentennial year a population of 1,024 This is an increase of 209, or 25 per cent, in the past decade.

While in its century and a half of existence Jonesboro has seen villages spring up near by and become cities far surpassing it in size, it yields to none in the wealth of its history.

It was in Jonesboro in 1784 that the lost State of Franklin was organized. In the log court house of the county seat of Washington County, the first political division to be named for the father of his country, young Andrew Jackson was admitted to the bar, and on the outskirts of the town he fought his bloodless duel with Waightstill Avery. In Jonesboro Elijah Embree published the first abolitionist paper and the fiery wartime Governor of Tennessee, "Parson" Brownlow, startled his celebrated Whig party.

The State of Franklin, after a stormy existence of three years, returned to its mother State of North Carolina and a few years later came into being again and was named Tennessee.

Jonesboro will hold its sesquicentennial celebration July 4 and 5, and the principal speaker will be Representative John Q. Tillson of Connecticut, majority leader of the House, who is a native of this county.

Reports That Percentage of Loss in State Factories Since October and 2% in April.

1,700 FIRMS CANVASSED

Calls Decrease in 11 Trades an Alarming Situation Which Demands Federal Action.

PRAISES HOOVER PLANS

President's Intention to Appoint Committee to Stabilize All Industries Is Hailed.

Employment in representative New York State factories has decreased 10 per cent since last October, according to figures given out yesterday by Miss Frances Perkins, Industrial Commissioner of the State of New York, having fallen off from 1½ to 2 per cent in the month of April.

While a loss is usual from March to April, the drop this year, only a little larger than the average loss at this season, did not follow Spring gains as in previous years.

The index number of employment stood at 90 in April of this year, one point below the low figure for July, 1928. The index figure of 100 is based on the average employment during the years 1925 to 1927 and does not include the high peak of 1929.

In July, 1928, Miss Perkins said, the trend of factory employment had been downward for more than two years, while from the Summer of 1928 to the Fall of 1929 the trend was mostly upward. The net gain for fifteen months from July, 1928, to October, 1929, has been more than offset by the drop of over 10 per cent in the last six months. Employes in the representative factories were 9 per cent fewer in April than a year ago and 3 per cent fewer than two years ago.

1,700 Firms Report.

The statements were based on reports received from about seventeen hundred firms sending statistics monthly to the Bureau of Statistics and Information of the Department of Labor of New York State, Miss Perkins explained. The factories were chosen to represent the various industries located in the State and employ approximately one-third of all the factory workers.

Miss Perkins urged that organizations should prepare at the present moment and during the coming Summer for the Fall situation. "We should be prepared to work next Fall with shovels rather than with words," she declared.

Speaking of the nation-wide scope of the problem, Miss Perkins said that no one State could benefit the situation as a whole, but that the question was one which called for a national and Federal remedy.

Hoover Plans Welcomed.

"I was glad to hear the President state in his Chamber of Commerce speech that it is his intention to call a national committee to investigate the stabilization of industry to bring about a solution of the unemployment question. This is very important, she declared.

Miss Perkins said she favored the consolidation of all the employment agencies of the different welfare organizations under some centralized head as a clearing-house headquarters.

While the building trades during April showed improvement in the State, the decline in employment in the eleven major industries was very significant if not alarming, she stated. Movements for the State corresponded with those in New York City on the whole.

The following table gives the percentages of losses and gains for April for the city and State:

"EVIL INSTINCTS IN ALL"

Berlin Psychoanalist Declares Wonder Is Every One Is Not a Criminal.

STORE PROBLEMS DETAILED

Macy Psychiatrist Tells How Study of Employes Reduces Labor Turnover.

From a Staff Correspondent of The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The problem of the younger generation, groping toward a future which it cannot see, struggling against the traditions of puritanism on one hand and the dangers of undisciplined liberty on the others, was attacked tonight at an open session of the International Congress on Mental Hygiene in Constitution Hall.

The conclusion of Dr. Hornell Hart, Professor of Social Economy at Bryn Mawr College, who delivered the principal address, was that the best path for our young men and women lay between these two extremes in a reasonable acceptance of certain restrictions which was neither a submission to social coercion nor an anarchistic self-abandonment.

"It is perhaps no accident," said Dr. Hart, "that Euro-American civilization, the most monogamistic of history, has been the one to rise highest and most swiftly in technology, in science, in education, in political organization, in social legislation and in music.

"Emotional energies unconfined leave peoples flaccid. Arbitrarily confined, they burst out with explosive energy. But when disciplined willingly and intelligently, they may provide the motive power to carry human culture and human happiness to the new high levels of the future."

Urges Disavowal of Old Ideals.

With the weakening of the power of religious dogma and authoritative sanctions, said Dr. Hart, the old puritan traditions of autocratic parenthood was breaking down, even though many parents still clung to it. In its place there was rising a dogma of liberty which children accepted as undebatable and to which many parents and educators also acceded.

"Yet, in spite of the widespread vogue of liberty," Dr. Hart went on, "increasing numbers of thoughtful observers are pointing out that mere elimination of restraints is failing to produce fulfillment of personality. The child turned wholly loose by his parents grows up so often into an intolerable pest, disliked and avoided by others and miserable himself, that many modern parents are searching and experimenting toward sounder solutions," he said.

Dr. Hart frankly advocated the disavowal of some of the old conceptions.

"Morality for its own sake has no claim upon us," he asserted. "We are through with the worship of any arbitrary ideal. Orderliness, obedience, conformity, chastity, monogamy, such ideals are valid only if they promote deeper and more vital values, only if they serve to bring personalities into blossom, only if they call out to the full the possibilities of the self, only if they make for rich, intense, growing, creative experience. Morality must be a means, not an end."

Insight and patience are required of the parent or teacher who would develop the latent possibilities in each child. He must cease being a policeman and become an ally.

Monogamy Is Discussed.

Dr. Hart dealt also with the "confused standards" of conduct between the sexes, ruling out as too biased for usefulness both the arguments of those dogmatically committed to the establishment of puritanical monogamy and agitators who sought to rationalize complete license.

"Where then," the speaker asked, "shall one find that firmly grounded code of conduct which will stay steady under the pressure of passion? Dogmatic religion may provide a prop for a rapidly diminishing fraction of the population, but the day of such magical aids to morality is rapidly passing. Far larger numbers will remain inertly supported by the uncriticized conventions of the group of which they are a part.

"But we must seek for a solution that will make possible rich and splendid life for the thinking men and women who are building the customs of the future and for the sufferers who have been crushed in the clash between cultures or between deep-seated needs."

The spirit of science, Dr. Hart went on, affords a far sounder and more permanent support than the superstitious dread of dogma. Character, he said, must be built on foundations not subject to upheaval in the moods of the individual. It must be based on the voluntary acceptance of a code which makes for the fulfillment of personality in the richest manner.

Finds Criminal Instincts in All.

Tonight's session was presided over by Dr. Earl D. Bond, president of the American Psychiatric Association, and included a discussion of the relation between mental hygiene and education by Dr. James R. Angell, president of Yale.

It ended a day devoted to studies and discussions of every phase of the mental hygiene problem, which developed the fact that mental troubles are far more prevalent than the layman imagines.

Efforts to deal wisely and justly with criminal offenders are often handicapped by lawyers and judges, who usually have no conception of the factors behind the offense, said Franz Alexander, psychoanalyst, of Berlin.

Every human being in a sense is born a criminal, Dr. Alexander asserted, because every one comes into the world with impulses and instincts which are not adjusted to society.

"If a little child could realize the demands of its instincts," he declared, "it would act as a criminal.

"The entire development of the instincts of the child from the age of 4, 5 or 6 consists of a gradual adjustment of the demands of the instincts to the demands of society, a development that no human being finishes entirely successfully."

"We ask," the speaker remarked, "'Why does a person become a criminal?' It would be more to the point," he said, "to ask, 'Why don't all people become criminals.'"

"Civilized Man Discontented."

The machine age, by its transformation of industry from an individual to a collective matter, and the social emancipation of women are depriving hordes of people of psychic outlets which mankind has had for centuries, said Dr. Alexander. The civilized man is a discontented man, he declared.

In the increasing control of the principle of utility and a decreasing of the principle of pleasure, Dr. Alexander found cause of a damming up of the playful, irrational pleasure-seeking, formerly associated with human occupations and social activities.

"This increases the conditions for neurosis and for crime, if at the same time new outlets are not found," he added.

Chewing gum and tobacco, Dr. Alexander continued, are partly answers to this need, and serve instincts which date back to infancy. The motion picture is one of the most important outlets, he declared.

"The great success of the films of history, adventure and crime is to be explained in this way," he said. "Man can daily find his entire lost individuality in the movies, even if only in phantasy, for a short time.

"This is the explanation of the great untruthfulness of our films. The film must be untruthful in its illusion of realism, that is, it must simulate an untruthful reality because life has become so impoverished."

"Problem Employes" Discussed.

The part that mental hygiene can play in making employes not only happier but more profitable, both to themselves and their employers, was presented by Dr. V. V. Anderson, director of employment, placement and personnel research in R. H. Macy & Co's store in New York.

The work of this department, as he explained, was of great aid in getting "square pegs out of round holes," and it had remarkable results also, he said, in solving one of the most difficult problems of large organization, the finding of first-class executives.

"At our store in New York City," he said, "we have discovered that approximately 20 per cent of our employes are what may be called 'problem' individuals.

"Not only is this true of mercantile establishments, but it is probably true of other business and industrial organizations as well.

"This means that as personnel material they are either liabilities, or potential liabilities, to the business man. From this group are drawn the repeated transfers from job to job, the resignations and the lay-offs."

How Employes Are Readjusted.

Some of these "problem people," Dr. Anderson went on, had maladjusted personalities, some had specific job disabilities and others were suffering from faulty physical conditions. From the employer's standpoint they apparently were persons whom he could well do without, but from the medical hygienic viewpoint they could be adjusted and become assets to the employer, thus cutting down turnover and increasing production efficiency.

In many cases it was found that an employe, although failing in the job he was holding, had capacities that fitted him admirably for some other job in the store.

Psychological tests and other methods were used to choose automobile drivers more carefully, with a consequent reduction of 50 per cent in the number of accidents, he explained.

"Who shall say that business and industry are going to escape the definite social obligations involved in their increasing contribution to that large army of misfits bandied about from one store to another, or from one industry to another?" asked Dr. Anderson.

"They are out of work a large portion of the time, are partly supported by family, friend or church, and are a rich soil for dependency and delinquency.

"Certainly something is to be said for a conscious responsibility on the part of business for the creation of facilities to provide for early recognition, careful diagnosis and treatment of things that lead to unfortunate social results, which are a consequence of lay-offs or resignations."

AIR POLICE SAVE SAILOR.

Plane Swoops Down on East River to Pick Up Drowning Man.

Two Police Department aviators, while making their regular patrol in a seaplane above the East River yesterday noon, saved a seaman from drowning near Hart's Island, marking the first time a life had been saved in this manner by the department's aviation branch.

TEACHERS PROTEST HAYES HISTORY BAN

Union Holds That Book Is a Well-Organized Product of the Finest Scholarship.

CALLS FOR PUBLIC APOLOGY

Campbell Says Matter Is Closed Pending Revision to Remove Objectionable Material.

The Teachers Union added its protest yesterday to those recorded since it was learned last week that, after seven years' use as a textbook in the public schools of this city, "Modern History," by Carlton J. H. Hayes, Professor of History in Columbia University, and Parker T. Moon, assistant professor, had been barred by the Board of School Superintendents.

"The executive board of the Teachers Union contains several enlightened and highly competent high school teachers of history," the protest reads. "It is their opinion that the Hayes and Moon 'Modern History' is a well organized product of the finest scholarship, that it is liberal and intelligent in its interpretation of historical movements, and that it manifests a broad international outlook in dealing with European civilization.

"The Board of Education should realize that this book has been on the New York City supply list for seven years. During that time probably hundreds of teachers have taught from this text and thousands of children have studied it. Doubtless many parents have read portions of it and apparently have voiced no protest. Yet on the face of the record of use such as this, one or two school officials become panicky and commit the error of censoring a book because of one reiterated complaint.

"It is the opinion of the Teachers Union that the occasion is one for public apology on the part of the Board of Education, pending the granting of a public hearing by the board on the issues involved."

The protest was signed by Henry L. Linville, president of the Teachers Union, who also was one of the signers of the recent protest of the American Civil Liberties Union against the expurgation of the textbook.

Acting Superintendent of Schools Harold G. Campbell, who has spoken for the Board of Superintendents in this matter, said yesterday that it was closed for the Department of Education until the textbook was revised to eliminate religious, political and economic objections.

MODIFIES CHARGE AGAINST DR. DOYLE

Alderman Baldwin Refuses Definite Statement on Fee-Splitting in Cases Before Standard's Board.

Dr. William F. Doyle, who was accused of fee-splitting in connection with cases he has presented before the Board of Standards and Appeals by Alderman Joseph Clark Baldwin 3d in the Board of Aldermen last Tuesday, has lost five of the fourteen cases he has tried before the board since Jan. 1 of this year, inquiry disclosed yesterday.

Dr. Doyle, a former Fire Department veterinarian, applied to the board for eight garage permits, four gasoline station permits, one store permit and another for a motor vehicle repair shop. In eight of the nine cases he won the five board members voted unanimously. The ninth was an application of the Museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation, for a gasoline station at St. Nicholas Place and 151st Street, in which Commissioner Connell dissented. The cases in which Dr. Doyle appeared were applications to vary the building zone resolution to permit non-conforming uses in residential and business zones. Since the first of this year he has filed seven cases for future hearings.

Alderman Baldwin's charge of fee-splitting was modified somewhat yesterday when he was asked with whom Dr. Doyle split his fees. On Tuesday the Alderman had said he was prepared to prove that Dr. Doyle did split his fees. Yesterday he said: "I am quite sure that it can be proved that Dr. Doyle split his fees, but I am not sufficiently certain to make a definite statement at this time." Mr. Baldwin said on Tuesday that Dr. Doyle alone was able to represent applications successfully before the Board of Standards and Appeals.

At next Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Aldermen, Mr. Baldwin said, he intended to introduce a resolution directing Commissioner of Accounts Higgins to investigate the zoning board of which William E. Walsh is chairman. He said he would ask for a legislative investigation if the Aldermen failed to direct one by Commissioner Higgins. Informed that the Washington Square Association had accused the board of failing to return all the papers in a zoning case when it was appealed to the Supreme Court, Mr. Walsh said all the papers had been sent from his office to the Corporation Counsel, who was privileged to submit whatever papers he considered necessary.

EASES RULE ON BAR TEST.

Appeals Court Drops College Requirement for Some Applicants.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 7.—In granting permission to Peter J. Hagan, a New York City law student who lacked the two years of college work now required to take the June bar examination, the Court of Appeals today made an order which will care for similar cases. Hagan had completed three years of law school work and received a certificate of graduation. Although he did not have two years of college work, when he started on his law course this was not required.

He made application for the bar examination, but this was denied by the board of law examiners. Then the Court of Appeals ordered that, on complying with the rules in other respects, Hagan and all similarly situated may be admitted to the June, 1930, bar examinations without further study of law.

OPPOSE FEDERAL BILL FOR MATERNITY AID

Sentinels of Republic Assert the Sheppard-Towner Act Encroaches on States.

Opposition to a bill pending in the Senate for the reestablishment of the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner Maternity and Infancy act, which expired last year, was expressed yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of the Sentinels of the Republic at the Biltmore Hotel.

A telegram was sent on behalf of the organization to Senator Hiram Johnson, chairman of the Committee on Commerce, urging recommittal of the new bill to his committee for hearings. A message supporting the stand of the American Medical Association against the measure was also sent to Dr. W. C. Woodward, legislative secretary of the association in Chicago.

Alexander Lincoln, president of the Sentinels of the Republic, said the organization had 7,000 members.

Frank L. Peckham of Washington, D. C., who is vice president of the Sentinels, stated that although the Sheppard-Towner act had authorized the appropriation of $1,240,000 annually "to be paid to the several States for the purpose of cooperating with the Federal Government in promoting the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy," a recent survey by the American Medical Association showed no evidence that the legislation had reduced the mortality of maternity and infancy.

"The establishment of Federal bureaus is growing to be a form of racketeering as profitable and sinister as many lesser known forms," he said. "The rights of States to govern themselves are no longer respected."

Members of the executive committee of the organization who attended the meeting included Thomas F. Cadwalader of Baltimore, chairman; General James G. Harbord of this city, William H. Coolidge and Mrs. Randolph Frothingham of Boston, Mrs. John Balch, secretary of the organization, and J. Warner Rhine of Philadelphia.

CATHOLIC DRIVE GETS $150,000 ON THIRD DAY

Total Receipts So Far Exceed $342,650—Population Shifts Delay Canvass.

Contributions amounting to more than $150,000 were received yesterday by the Catholic Charities in the third day of its drive, it was announced last night at the campaign headquarters, 477 Madison Avenue. The sum nearly doubles the receipts of the previous day and makes the total for the campaign so far in excess of $342,650.

Rallies were held last night in all of the 373 parishes in the archdiocese and a check-up showed that more than 19,500 volunteer workers are canvassing. It was said the shifting of population had made the work harder than in previous years.

The parish of St. Ignatius Loyola at Park Avenue and Eighty-fourth Street, it was announced, is among the leading districts, with contributions of $41,300 to date.

Other parishes in Manhattan and the Bronx reported increases over sums received in 1929. Among them were St. Michael's, on West Thirty-fourth Street; St. Francis of Assisi, West Thirty-first Street; Holy Cross, West Forty-second Street; Blessed Sacrament, West Seventy-first Street; Holy Trinity, West Eighty-second Street, and Sacred Heart, Shakespeare Avenue, the Bronx.

SHE IS OF NOTED ANCESTRY

Miss Henrietta Stockton Hall, daughter of Colonel Chalmers Gaither Hall, U. S. A., and Mrs. Hall of Rutherford, N. J., was married to Arthur Lucian Walker Jr. yesterday afternoon in St. James's Church, Madison Avenue and Seventy-first Street. The marriage is of interest not only in army circles but to descendants of Colonial families, for the bride numbers among her ancestors two signers of the Declaration of Independence, Richard Stockton of New Jersey and Lyman Hall of Georgia.

Dogwood blossoms and palms decorated the church. The Rev. Dr. Frank Warfield Crowder, the rector, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of ivory-colored satin, the bodice having long close sleeves and a square neck finished with a Medici collar of point lace. Her veil of lace and tulle fell from a snug cap of old point lace and she carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley and white sweet peas.

Miss Louise Scales was maid of honor, and the other attendants were Mrs. Richard Farrelly, the Misses Dorothy Smith, Margaret Ritchie, Harriet Camac, Ingrid Harboe and M. Georgianne Crabbe. They wore frocks of apricot colored chiffon with touches of delphinium blue, and beige horse hair hats turned off the face. They carried baskets of Spring flowers.

D. G. Brinton Thompson was best man for Mr. Walker, who is the son of Mrs. McNair Walker of this city and of Arthur L. Walker, also of New York and Dongan Hills, S. I. The ushers were C. Shelby Carter, Hugh Campbell Wallace 2d, Darnall Wallace, Herbert de R. Lancaster, William F. R. Griffith Jr., and Arthur W. Griffith. Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Carbery Ritchie, 39 East Seventy-ninth Street.

Mr. Walker and his bride will go to England and the Scandinavian countries on their wedding trip. On their return they will live at 1,109 Madison Avenue.

Y. The ceremony was performed in St. Columba's Church, Pont Street, London, by the Rev. Archibald Fleming, assisted by the Rev. George Macleod, a cousin of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and had ten bridesmaids, including the Misses Evelyn and Daphne Day, sisters of the bridegroom. Francis Hopkinson was Mr. Day's best man, and there were ten ushers. Dressed in the full Highland costumes of their clans, Ruari Hilleary, nephew of the bride, and David Macpherson were the pages.

DR. SEWALL OBTAINS THE TRUDEAU MEDAL

Award for Fight on Tuberculosis Is Made to Denver Physician by National Association.

MENACE OF CARRIER CITED

Dr. L. R. Williams Questions at Memphis Convention the Results of Health Habits.

Special to The New York Times.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 7.—The Trudeau Medal, for meritorious service in the incessant struggle to rid mankind of tuberculosis, will be awarded to Dr. Henry Sewall of Denver, it was announced tonight at the opening meeting here of the convention of the National Tuberculosis Association.

The announcement was made by Dr. Gerald B. Webb and as Dr. Sewall is not here for the convention, the presentation will be made later. Dr. Sewall, who was president of the association in 1027, has been for many years a clinical worker, a teacher and patron of scientific research and is the author of many works on tuberculosis. The award was made on the basis of his record rather than any one of his many specific services.

Dr. Linsly R. Williams of New York delivering the president's address said "every individual must be considered as a carrier of tuberculosis."

"If there were but a few carriers," he said, "we might solve the problem, but when we realize that from 50 to 90 per cent of the population are tubercle carriers, and probably 10 per cent of these individuals what our veterinarians call spreaders, we appreciate the impossibility of controlling the chronic carrier of disease.

"I am definitely convinced that good health habits contribute to the health of the individual, and that these habits, if pursued, will tend to diminish the likelihood of certain diseases.

"In many families there has been a definite habit of washing, eating and drinking regularly, of definite hours of sleep, of brushing teeth and many other habits which to us are essential. What can we say, however, of results? Do we find in families where these habits have been a matter of tradition over several generations that there is less illness and less disease than in other less favored families who have not acquired these health habits.

"There are benefits from healthy habits, but it is a far cry to assume that their acquisition will in any way limit infection from tubercle or retard the growth of tubercle within the body. There have been, and perhaps still are, many lay enthusiasts who feel that if all children would acquire and maintain healthy habits tuberculosis would disappear, but there is no scientific evidence upon which this assumption may be based."

TRAIN KILLS H. E. AMBLER.

Member of The New York Times Staff Meets Death in West Virginia.

Special to The New York Times.

WINCHESTER, Va., May 7.—Humphrey E. Ambler, 24 years old, who was associated with THE NEW YORK TIMES, was killed today by a Baltimore & Ohio freight train near Charleston, W. Va., where he was visiting his uncle, Humphrey K. Ambler, while recuperating from a severe attack of influenza. Relatives said he had complained lately of dizziness bordering on vertigo.

He was sitting on the side of a deep railroad cut. The engineer and fireman of the locomotive said he waved a greeting as the engine went by and they returned the salutation. Trainmen on the caboose platform discovered the body as the train passed.

It was believed by relatives and railroaders that young Ambler had become suddenly dazed and rolled down the embankment and under the train as it sped by. Relatives said he had been taking short walks daily since coming to Jefferson County and appeared to be recovering from his illness.

His father, Charles E. Ambler, arrived with other relatives late today from New York.

Humphrey E. Ambler was born on Sept. 5, 1905, at Short Hills, N. J., the son of Charles E. and the late Elsie M. Ambler. He attended school there and on Staten Island, and after the family had moved to Maplewood, N. J., he was graduated from the South Orange High School.

He entered Princeton University in the Fall of 1923 and was graduated with the class of '27. During his freshman year he was a member of the class wrestling team. In his three remaining years there he took part in many undergraduate activities, chiefly those of a literary and theatrical nature.

Mr. Ambler was a member of the board of The Daily Princetonian and during his senior year was an editorial writer for it. He was also on the editorial board of The Nassau Literary Magazine and as a senior wrote the "On The Campus" column for The Princeton Alumni Weekly. He was a member of the Theatre Intime of Princeton and both wrote and acted in plays for it. While at college he belonged to the Tower Club. He also belonged to the Princeton Club of New York.

Mr. Ambler joined the staff of THE NEW YORK TIMES shortly after his graduation. Since the deather of his mother last February, he had lived with his father at 2 Castleton Park, New Brighton, S. I.

The funeral services will be held at the Zion Episcopal Church in Charlestown this afternoon.

DRYGOODS FIRMS MERGED.

Ely & Walker Buys West Virginia and San Francisco Companies.

ST. LOUIS, May 7 (AP).—The Ely & Walker Drygoods Co. last night announced acquisition of the Watts-Ritter Company of Huntington, W. Va., and the Walton N. Moore Drygoods Company of San Francisco, giving the combined units an annual sales volume of more than $57,000,000.

While officials declined to comment on further pending transactions, it was understood here that the merger was the first step in a plan to develop a nation-wide system of wholesale and manufacturing houses with an annual turnover in excess of $100,000,000.

Assets of both the Walton N. Moore and the Watts-Ritter companies are being taken over by exchange of common stock of Ely & Walker, after the outstanding preferred stock of the other two concerns is retired.

Paris Midseason Skirts Are Shorter For Formal Dinner and Dance Gowns

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 7.—The mid-season fashions bring back shorter danse and dinner dresses, with skirts above the ankles. Patterned tweeds appear to be doomed, being replaced by piece-dyed tweeds and smooth woolens, like serge and covert-cloth. Erect-pile and satin velvets make smart formal evening ensembles.

Patou lines his evening coats with bright pile velvet, matching the evening slippers. Monk brown and dark wine brown are sure to be style color leaders for Fall, followed by dark blues, greens, brownish reds and black.

Damask satin is a new evening material. Sleeves are given top emphasis by Augusta-Bernard, Martial et Armand and other houses, but their fullness is very moderate and there is no indication of leg-of-mutton proportion.

Louise Boulanger's dresses with draped and bloused waists, Worth's contrasting yokes on dresses, Lucile Paray's one-piece dress-and-jacket ensembles to replace suits, Lelong's pale evening coats with dark dresses and Patou's coats with standing padded shawls in colors are significant features.

A general relief from fitted upper skirts is indicated, these being replaced by skirts which are full, but not flared from the hip line. The waist lines are only moderately high.

ADOLF ZUKOR FETED IN HIS NATIVE VILLAGE

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUDAPEST, May 7.—Not even the Paramount film organization, of which he is the head, could have improved on the royal welcome given to Adolf Zukor on his return to his native village of Riccse yesterday. His automobile passed through a triumphal arch erected by the inhabitants to honor the man who is not only Riccse's most famous citizen but its most generous benefactor.

A rain of flowers fell on Mr. and Mrs. Zukor as they left their car, which had been escorted by mounted peasants to the one-story cottage where they once lived.

The Mayor praised "the greatest citizen of our village" and mentioned that, largely as a result of Mr. Zukor's interest in its development, Riccse is to become the district headquarters.

The festivities in honor of Mr. Zukor's return centred in the synagogue, but a deputation of Protestant inhabitants thanked him for paying for the repairs to their church, and when he visited the school which he built and maintains the school children gazed with admiration on their benefactor.

"There is obviously no more illiteracy in Riccse," said Mr. Zukor, "since everybody must by this time have sent a petition to me."

A peasant woman demanded payment for a snapshot Mr. Zukor had taken of her on a visit home several years ago. "You must have made a lot of money out of that picture," she said.

COMMENDS HOSPITAL DAY.

Mayor Urges Visits to Institutions Here on Monday.

A letter from Mayor Walker approving National Hospital Day, which will be celebrated throughout the country on Monday, was made public yesterday by John H. Olson, superintendent of Richmond Memorial Hospital, S. I., in connection with his announcement that the cornerstone of the hospital's new nurses' home will be laid at 2:30 P. M. Sunday. The Mayor's letter, in part, addressed to Mr. Olson and dated April 4, said:

"It is with a great deal of satisfaction that I find myself privileged as in previous years to commend the observance of May 12 as National Hospital Day throughout the United States and Canada.

"May I express the hope that all of our people will avail themselves of the opportunity which National Hospital Day presents for visiting our own city hospitals."

The new $60,000 nurses' home is the gift of Mrs. L. A. Dreyfus. Magistrate Henry Wilson Bridges will be the principal speaker. The Mayor's letter, copies of the hospital day proclamations of President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt and a rag-paper edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be placed in the stone.

An inspection of the hospital grounds and the new hospital building will follow the laying of the cornerstone.

WANAMAKER TO BUILD.

Estate Plans 24-Story Structure on Penn Square, Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—A twenty-four-story store and office building, 474 feet high, will be erected by the Wanamaker estate on South Penn Square, a half block from the present Wanamaker Building, according to detailed plans announced today by John T. Windrim, architect for the project. He said it would exceed in height any other Philadelphia structure except City Hall Tower.

The first seven stories will be used for store purposes and the height of these stories will be as great as the present Wanamaker Building.

In a tower will be hung the seventeen-ton Wanamaker Founders's bell, which will be swung by an electrically operated mechanism so that its deep tone may be heard at great distances.

To solve the traffic problem a large electric van elevator will take trucks to the sub-basement for loading and unloading.

ROOSEVELT TO AID GEORGIA.

Take Committee Post for Health Campaign in That State.

Special to The New York Times.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., May 7.—Governor Roosevelt of New York this afternoon accepted a place on the advisory committee of the health campaign whic his being waged as a part of the work of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. His acceptance came as a result of a visit to Warm Springs by Wiley L. Moore, president of the Georgia chamber, and F. H. Abbott, secretary.

The visitors discussed with the Governor rural health conditions, sanitary measures, the problem of visiting nurses, child health and welfare activities and kindred subjects pertaining to the health conditions of the State. The Governor expressed his deepest interest in the campaign.

THREE GUILTY OF ARSON.

Utica Fireman and Two Brothers Convicted of Setting Blaze.

UTICA, N. Y., May 7 (AP).—Three residents of Utica, one a city fireman at the time of the blaze which led to his indictment, were convicted of arson, second degree, in county court here today.

Benjamin Macchia, former member of the fire department, his brothers, Louis and Angelo Gigliotti, were indicted for setting fire on Jan. 27 to a vacant house which Louis had bought the day before. Trial began April 28 and went to the jury yesterday afternoon. Sentence will be pronounced Monday, County Judge F. H. Hazard said.

COMMERCIAL DRAMA ASSAILED BY EATON

He Tells National Meeting Here to Ignore It and Support Self-Organized Groups.

FINDS PLAYS ARE 'TERRIBLE'

Denounces Shows Sent on Road by Big Producers—Film Men Care Only for Profits, He Asserts.

The drama is dead except in a few large cities, so far as the old-time "exploiting" commercial theatre is concerned, Walter Prichard Eaton, author and critic, told a national drama conference under the auspices of the Church and Drama League of America at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday. The Church and Drama League "has no business trying to keep it alive," he said.

He told representatives of organizations all over the country who are interested in the theatre that they should ignore the commercial theatre as it has been organized in the past and should create in their own communities "a theatre run as we want it to be run." The big New York producers, he said, "are going to send you the kind of plays that they happen to have on hand to send you, and they're terrible; not bad in the Comstockian sense, but just terrible plays."

He said that the only kind of professional theatre worth supporting on the road was "the kind that has organized itself, groups like the Fritz Leiber Shakespearean company, Eva Le Gallienne's Civic Repertory Theatre and the Theatre Guild, professional organizations not, however, organized to exploit the public for the immediate financial benefit of a few dirty little shopkeepers in New York City."

"Have nothing to do officially with the motion picture industry," he continued. "It cares only for profits. The moral smoke screen that Will Hays recently put forth is a stench in the nostrils of every man, woman and child in America. It will only be followed by the producers if it pays. And if it were followed, the pictures would be even more idiotic than they are now; they'd be a mess of tripe. Motion pictures are produced for the great common denominator of the American population, with 35 to 40 year old bodies and minds 11 to 12 years old.

"And the movies are constantly at the mercy of mechanical changes. They reached one stage of development and then the 'squawkies' came and all had to be scrapped. And now the motion picture producers are allied to the phonograph companies and adding one more horror to modern civilization. They are going to reduce their reels to small size and run them over a cabinet, and inside on a disk will be the sound of the picture. You'll be able to turn it on and get a little 'squawkie' in your own home. According to latest reports, they're going to sell the machines for from $200 to $500."

Dr. George Reid Andrews, executive director of the Church and Drama League of America, said that there were many small groups through the country interested in the theatre, but that an organization to lead them and coordinate their work was "a crying need."

The present conference, which will conclude on Saturday, is trying to discover, in conference sessions and special committee meetings, whether a national organization to foster the drama is needed, and if so, whether or not it should be the present Church and Drama League of America, with its organization improved and expanded. On Saturday a committee on national organization, presided oved by Mr. Eaton, and other committees will report through a finding committee the results of their discussions. Their reports will be considered by the conference.

Acting purely in an advisory capacity to its committee on national organization, the conference favored yesterday a national organization, that would amplify and modify the present body. A long discussion as to whether the word "church" should remain in the organization't title resulted in a draw vote.

ALBANY EPISCOPALIANS REJECT DIOCESE SPLIT

ALBANY, N. Y., May 7 (AP).—The Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Albany, which includes all of Eastern and Northern New York State, may be split, with Ogdensburg as the seat of the new Bishop. A motion to this effect at the convention of the diocese here today failed but finally was tabled, giving its supporters the opportunity to bring it up at the next diocesan convention.

Much of the session was given to the naming of the various administrative committees.

Three archdeacons were renamed. They are: Venerable J. Hugh Hooper, Troy; Venerable Yale Lyon, Susquehanna; Venerable George B. Wood, Ogdensburg. The fourth is Venerable L. B. Benson, succeeding Venerable C. E. S. Rasay in the Mohawk Archdeaconry.

A committee was named to plan the celebration of the centennial of the birth of the late Bishop William C. Doane, the first Bishop of the diocese. Bishop George A. Oldham was named chairman and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, vice chairman. Among other members are Lewis R. Morris, New York City; George Foster Peabody, Saratoga Springs, and the Rev. Henry R. Freeman, Troy.

There was varied fare in the third round of the eighth annual National Little Theatre tournament presented at the Waldorf Theatre last night. Tragedy alternated with comedy, and as there are and always have been five good comic playwrights for every tragic one, and good comedians and tragedians in the same proportion, the lighter numbers on the bill last night were the more enjoyable.

The first play put on, "The Last Man In," by W. B. Maxwell, has as its theme the return of a prodigal son, who, as it happens, is driven to commit murder no sooner than he touches the home shore. When he returns to the parental roof for a night's shelter, in a dream he reveals himself as the murderer that is being sought and dies in the confession. The psychology may be according to Freud, but the physiology does not even evoke a name from which it might, however remotely, be derived. The action of the piece is quite dull, with innumerable comings and goings between the back room and the bar. As there is little emotional implication in the return of the son, it hardly matters that he does come back as a murderer. William Kenealy did very well by his difficult artificial rôle, and Robert Skelly as Mrs. Judd, while less elastic, did make the reviewer think he might be a certain girl friend, until he noted the name in the program.

The offering of the Salon Players of Jackson Heights was a lively comedy by Claire Kummer called, "So's Your Old Antique." The difficulties of a young couple, the alleged breadearner of which is starving in the antique business, are dwelt on seriously only to the degree that they give proper point to the repartee and incidental byplay which are the body of the play. In the just proportion of these two elements and in the bright and unbanal dialogue, the piece stands out from the general run of Little Theatre plays as in the well-co-ordinated performance of the whole cast, of which Barbara Tappan might perhaps be singled out for her spirited playing, the Jackson Heights group stands out among Little Theatre performers.

The third number, "The House With the Twisty Windows," deals with the trials of a group of English people locked up in a Russian prison cell as hostages for a compatriot counter-revolutionist. At least this is the theme until a second intrudes itself—the sacrifice of brother for brother; for it appears that the Russians capture, not the man they are after, but his innocent fairy-tale telling brother, who simply happens to be in Petrograd at the same time and who allows himself to be identified and killed in his brother's place. Neither one of the themes has much vitality in its development—though, these people being English, there are "Journey's End" touches in them, somewhat irritating in this case, and the actors did not improve very much on the play.

In the final number, "Rogues and Vagabonds," the census takers of Forest Hills might have found their work simplified: everybody in town must have been in it. Unfortunately their musical show went on at too late an hour for the reviewer to be able to stay even for the kick-off.

The program for tonight will be the Wayne Community Players of Goldsboro, N. C., in "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder," by W. Allen Royall; the Albany (N. Y.) Players in "The Choice," by Thomas C. Stowell; the Studio Players of Buffalo, N. Y., in "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," by Anatole France, and the Little Theatre of St. Louis, Mo., in "Right of Possession," by Edna Warren.

TALKIE BAN CONSIDERED.

Two Restrictive Measures Before Buenos Aires City Council.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, May 7.—The campaign against talking movies has received decided impetus and greatly increased publicity through the introduction before the City Council of two proposed restrictive ordinances, one increasing by 50 per cent the tax on movie theatres which show talkies and the other flatly prohibiting the showing of talking pictures in Buenos Aires.

The protests of disgruntled musicians had previously received little newspaper attention except in the newspaper La Prensa, which conducted for two weeks a campaign of vigorous editorials presenting all phases of what it considers the denationalizing effect of the talkies. Now that the matter definitely is before the City Council all newspapers are devoting considerable space to the subject.

La Nacion takes a position diametrically opposed to that of La Prensa, saying the presentation of the proposed ordinances will cause nothing but unpleasant surprise, since they are measures having no plausible excuse, which if enacted can have only prejudicial results.

OVATION TO WOODRUFF AS CHORAL DIRECTOR

A celebration to mark the fiftieth anniversary of activity as choral conductor of Dr. Arthur D. Woodruff brought together last night at Carnegie Hall six clubs of which Dr. Woodruff was founder or conductor or both. When Dr. Woodruff appeared on the platform he was greeted with a rising ovation, and responded with a brief speech in which he told of having always given American composers every opportunity in his power and thanked his assistants for their help. Among the telegrams of felicitation read before the concert began was one from President Hoover.

The soloists were Irene Williams, soprano; Reinald Werrenrath, baritone, and Alfred O'Shea, tenor. A chorus of 700 voices was formed by the Orange Musical Art Society, Lyric Club of Newark, Women's Choral Society of Jersey City, Englewood (N. J.) Musical Art Society, University Glee Club of New York and Orpheus Club of Philadelphia. There was an orchestra of forty-five. The chorus sang with splendid enthusiasm and freshness, and the balance between the sections was excellent.

The program included works by Braun, Woodman, Mark Andrews, Speaks, Bawden, Head, Carew, Deems Taylor, Horatio Parker, Channing Lefebvre, who was the associate conductor, and Dr. Woodruff. This mainly American program was supplemented by Schubert's "Omnipotence" and Brahms's "Lullaby."

PUPILS GIVE CONCERT.

Annual Music School Settlement Festival Held at Town Hall.

Pupils of the Music School Settlement, 55 East Third Street, gave their annual festival concert last night at Town Hall to aid the work of the school, which has now 750 students and has trained children for thirty-five years.

The varied program included selections by an elementary orchestra under William Jones, a junior orchestra under Fannie Levine, a junior violin group, an elementary piano group of students from 5 to 10 years old and an advanced piano group. Schumann's quartet in F (first movement) was played by Messrs. Fleisig, Chosnyk, Fishman and Forsot and a vocal ensemble trained by Edmund Jahn sang two Bach chorales. The senior orchestra under Melzar Chaffee played the first movement of Beethoven's second symphony and accompanied Gita Rosova in a movement of Vivaldi's A minor concerto for violin and Gene Solniker in Wagner's "Dich, Teure Hall."

The enthusiasm of the performers, many of whom showed much promise, was shared by the audience.

QUITS BRITISH FILMS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—Saying he has no faith in the future of the British film-making business, J. H. Graham Cutts, one of the two most commercially successful British film directors, has left Elstree, England's Hollywood, and purchased a licensed roadhouse on the London to Brighton Road.

"Britain's film future is wholly obscure," he said tonight, "and I am not going to work for the pocket-money fees now offered to British film directors."

Mr. Cutts produced "Woman to Woman," the first British film to win a world success. He established on the screen the now popular stars, Clive Brook, Ivor Novelle and Victor McLaglen.

ENDS LIFE IN LEAP AT HOTEL

Bronx Man Plunges 11 Stories After Leaving Suicide Note.

Charles Mayer, who registered at the Hotel Governor Clinton on Tuesday as a resident of Johnstown, Pa., but who, the police learned later, lived at 1,001 East 167th Street, the Bronx, ended his life yesterday afternoon by jumping from a sixteenth story window. He landed on a fifth floor extension, where his body was discovered by hotel employes.

In the room Patrolman Edward Spaeth, who was called, found a note in which Mayer asked that his brother Max be notified at Moe Levy & Sons, 119 Walker Street, and that if his body were sent to Bellevue Hospital that Dr. Milton Halpern be notified.

Dr. Halpern, an interne, said he did not know Mayer and could not understand the reference to him in the note.

HAYS TELLS PLANS FOR 'TALKIE' LIBRARY

Hoover and Movie Men Will Name Committees to Preserve Historical Films.

VOCAL HISTORIES PLANNED

Pictures Made Under New Code to Appear Next Fall, He Tells Cinema Engineers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Announcement was made by Will H Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributers of America, in an address tonight at a banquet of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers that President Hoover and the motion picture industry will appoint committees to assure "permanent preservation of the picture records of historical events now available and which will hereafter be made by the American motion picture industry."

"On behalf of the motion picture producers and distributers of America," he said, "I have this day offered to the United States Government our aid in collecting and permanently preserving the picture records of historical events now available and which will hereafter be made by the American motion picture industry.

"By this means the United States would take deserved leadership in the creation and development of the great library of the future. To the records of printed and written words which now comprise the pages of history would be added the living records of sound, movement and color that would picture significant contemporary events to the coming generations with the vividness, realism and certitude of life. The pageant of history, of education, of national events and great local happenings would hereafter be recorded in the living tempo of the age and the time in which the events occurred.

"This will be brought about by the joint action of our government and of the motion picture industry. Committees will be appointed both by the President and by our industry to make this cooperation most effective. With the President this cooperation has been developed and by him I am authorized to make this announcement:

"In the vaults of our member companies are the negatives of all the principal contemporary historical events since the news weeklies made their record possible. Prints of these we will present to the government to be preserved under its auspices under the best possible scientific conditions."

Mr. Hays predicted that "motion pictures in sound and color will be the text book of the future." He said that by next Fall or early Winter the pictures made under the production code recently announced by the industry will be released.

Postal Inspector Starts Action as Oklahoma Promoter's Oil Company Fails.

Ex-Commissioner Enright Told of Interest in Company in February Inquiry Here.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 7 (AP).—S. E. J. Cox, whose meteoric career as an oil promoter, nearly a decade ago, terminated in a sentence to Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary, today was charged again with using the mails to defraud as the government acted against the Universal Oil and Gas Company.

Cox, his wife, Nellie Cox, and seven other officials of the company were named in warrants issued on information sworn to by R. B. Cochran, postoffice inspector. All were charged with fraudulent use of the mails.

At the same time Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught appointed Fred S. Branson, former chief justice of the Oklahoma Supreme Court, as receiver for the company, which has headquarters here. The receivership was granted at the request of R. F. Hodson, representing a group of Iowa stockholders.

Cox was in the county jail here tonight after failure to make $25,000 bond set at his arraignment before George J. Eacock, United States Commissioner.

An associate of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, one-time Arctic explorer, in oil promotion in Texas before the government made a drive against alleged wholesale fake oil stock selling schemes, Cox was sent to Leavenworth Penitentiary Feb. 24, 1924, and released on parole July 20, 1926.

"Hereafter I will think faster and act slower," he said at the time of his release.

Cox was publicity manager for Dr. Cook in the latter's oil promotions, and wrote some of the glowing literature which figured in the conviction of the two men at Fort Worth, Texas. Both demonstrated their writing ability in prison as editors of the New Era, penitentiary publication.

At one time Cox headed oil companies having an aggregate capitalization of $41,000,000. After his arrest in 1922 Federal officials charged that he had swindled investors out of more than $1,000,000.

Jointly convicted with Dr. Cook at Fort Worth, Cox was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary. He received a five-year sentence at Houston, Texas, in connection with the operations of the Blue Bird Oil Company and served part of both sentences concurrently. Dr. Cook, who was given a term of fourteen years and nine months, recently was released on parole.

Former Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright was called as a witness Feb. 18 in an investigation by Deputy Attorney General Sherman here, for the State Bureau of Securities, into the affairs of the Universal Oil and Gas Company of Oklahoma City.

Mr. Enright testified that he was an investor in the company to the extent of $1,000 and admitted authorship of a letter, dated Jan. 16, in which he praised highly the company's prospects. He said that he had made a two-weeks' tour of its properties in Oklahoma and Texas at the company's expense. He denied any other connection with Universal Oil and Gas.

POLISH PAPER ASSAILS OUR ENVOY ON RELIGION

Catholic Press Agency Asks Assurance That He Won't Urge Methodism in Warsaw.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, May 7.—John North Willys, the newly appointed United States Ambassador to Poland, who is expected in Warsaw at the end of May, is the subject of an attack by the Catholic Press Agency, organ of Catholic groups with Nationalist inclinations.

The Nationalist newspaper Gazette Warszawska, published today this agency's assertion that it had obtained information from reliable American Catholic sources of Mr. Willys's "well-known anti-Catholic bias." Mr. Willys is described as a foe of Catholics, who finances "anti-Catholic fanatics, mainly Methodists."

The newspaper wants assurance that Mr. Willys will "cease to be a Protestant missionary" when in Poland and will not interfere in national Polish affairs.

The article is strongly disapproved by other Warsaw newspapers, which accuse the Catholic agency of dragging a future American Ambassador, not yet here, into the Nationalist Catholic groups' feuds with Protestants and the Y. M. C. A.

Other gifts announced were $15,000 a year for two years by Mrs. Jacob H. Schiff and $5,000 each from Mrs. Sol Rosenbloom, Mrs. Paul Baerwald and Mrs. Frederick Brown.

CONVICTS FIRE TENTS IN OHIO PRISON YARD

Mutineers Transferred From Cell Ruins After Fire Defy Guards Outside Barbed Wire Fence.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 7 (AP).—Convicts set fire to about fifty army tents tonight in the improvised prison yard stockade in the Ohio Penitentiary.

The prisoners, transferred to the stockade when they rebelled after the fire of April 21, stood outside the barbed-wire fence and laughed as their canvas cells were licked up by flames. No attempt was made by prison officials to stop the fire.

Officials allowed the fire to take its toll, explaining that if they brought fire apparatus within the walls, some of the convicts might make a break for freedom.

About 150 prisoners who refused to work or showed other stubborn inclinations were locked in "White City" cell blocks tonight and placed on a bread and water diet.

BOSTON, May 7 (AP).—The Boston Globe says in a copyrighted story that it has learned from highly reliable sources that Phillips Exeter Academy at Exeter, N. H., has received between $3,000,00 0and $5,000,000 from Edward S. Harkness, New York philanthropist.

The gift will be announced officially probably at commencement in Jupne, The Globe says. Mr. Harkness has expressed a wish to make "Exeter the best school in the country," the paper adds.

Phillips Exeter is one of the country's largest and oldest preparatory schools.

FRENCH DOCTOR URGES MORNING SCHOOL ONLY

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 7.—Children should attend school only in the morning, in the view of Dr. George Bertier, a French authority on child training, as expressed in a paper read yesterday before the French Academy of Medicine.

All lessons, Dr. Bertier said, should be completed in the morning, while the child's mind is fresh and receptive. To try to teach them after lunch is simply a waste of time and bad for the children's health, he asserted. The afternoon should be devoted to drawing and practical work and exercises, in his opinion.

There is too much cramming in French schools, Dr. Bertier said, and the opinion of the Academy of Medicine supported his contention that doctors should be consulted in planning school curricula.

No classes, Dr. Bertier recommended, should exceed twenty-five pupils, and abnormal and inept pupils should aways be weeded out for special treatment.

AMERICANS BID IN DUERERS.

Dealers Pay Up to $8,250 for Some Engravings at Leipzig.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LEIPZIG, May 7.—Americans were brisk buyers of Albrecht Dürer's wood engravings at the Boerner auction here today. The American dealers Sessler of Philadelphia and Keppel and Kennedy of New York, bought all the good prints of many pieces after keen competition with the London dealer Colnaghi.

The Gothic pumps and chests entry brought the highest prices and went at 33,000 and 30,000 marks ($8,250 and $7,500) respectively to Mr. Sessler, who also bought the Holy Dorothea for 11,000 marks, Holy Barbara for 7,000, Samson killing the lion for 5,200 and a number of other interesting pieces by Dürer, Wechtlin and Lucas Leyden.

BUYS UNLISTED AMERICANA.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—What appears to be an entirely unrecorded American pamphlet of one sheet folded into four leaves, unstitched and uncut, entitled "More News from Virginia," with an account of thirteen persons "that had been tried and executed for their rebellion there," was bought for $2,000 by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, American collector, at an auction at Sotheby's today. The pamphlet bore the inscription, "Printed for W. Harris, 1677."

Yesterday Maggs Brothers paid $7,500 for an official transcript of the Thirteenth Amendment to the American Constitution, signed by President Lincoln, Vice President Hannibal Hamlin, Schuyler Colfax and thirty-six other members of Congress. It was a folio vellum sheet dated Dec. 5, 1864, and it is believed not more than one or two official transcripts of this document are in existence.

ACQUITTED IN AUTO KILLING

Jamaica Salesman Did Not Drive Car, Jury Finds.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., May 7.—After deliberating nearly two and a half hours a jury in the County Court here yesterday brought in a verdict of not guilty of manslaughter in the case of Henry C. Groves Jr., insurance salesman of Jamaica.

He was charged with causing the death of Philip Balch, 31 years old, of 118-36 119th Street, St. Albans, on the night of Dec. 31 in a collision at Oceanside.

The State claimed that Groves drove the car which collided with another, killing Balch.

Groves testified that Balch drove the car and that after they had drank some wine at a drug store, his memory left him and he remembered nothing until he awoke in the Lynbrook Police Court after the accident.

HOSPITAL LIQUOR DIVERTED IN BOSTON

FEDERAL ACTION IS LIKELY

Former Commissioner Also Named in City Report of Scandal Laid Before Prosecutor.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., May 7.—Scandalous and illegal use of liquor at the Long Island Hospital for the Chronic Sick today forced the virtual dismissal of four of the principal officials, after the Finance Commission had filed with Mayor Curley a report which included the specific charge that former Institutions Commissioner William S. Kinney had appropriated for his personal use large quantities of liquor intended for patients.

Superintendent John J. Ryan, who has been in charge of the hospital on the harbor island since 1920, was summarily discharged when he refused to resign; H. Benson Fenwick, chief pharmacist, was dismissed without an opportunity to resign, and the resignations of Dr. Saunders Murray, chief resident physician, and his principal assistant, Dr. Ralph S. Miller, were accepted by Institution Commissioner James E. Maguire.

That the Federal Grand Jury would be asked to investigate the violations of the liquor laws at the hospital was indicated by United States District Attorney Frederick H. Tarr tonight when he received a summary of the report of the finance commission.

The charge made against former Commissioner Kinney, who was in charge of the hospital during the administration of former Mayor Nichols, was based upon the statements made to the Finance Commission by Ralph A. Nutter, assistant pharmacist, who was virtually in charge of the liquor storeroom, and former Superintendent Ryan.

Records which Nutter admitted were falsified in an effort to conceal the actual recipient of 175 pints of whisky, rum and brandy, disbursed between Nov. 20, 1929 and April 1, purported to show that the liquor want to patients.

Denials by supervisors of nurses and nurses that these patients had received liquor resulted in an admission by Nutter that he had placed the bottles of liquor in Ryan's desk, by order of Ryan.

Ryan refused to admit that he had given such orders to Nutter, but said, according to the report, that "Kinney took all the liquor that was placed there."

The commission connected Dr. Murray and Dr. Miller with the liquor scandal by accusing them of improper action in the handling of prescriptions. In return for liquor for themselves and their friends, which Nutter confessed he made available, it is charged that they willingly signed false reports to show that the liquor had been given to patients.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

With transactions smaller than on any full day in three weeks past, yesterday's stock market moved uncertainly in the early hours but declined at the last. A few stocks carried Tuesday's recovery forward with some emphasis, but even these for the most part weakened later. The predominant movement for the day as a whole was downward; but net declines were not large, except in a few shares whose advance the day before had been particularly rapid.

The money market continued very easy, both here and in Europe; Wall Street's rate on bankers' acceptances going fractionally lower and London discounts for the longer period losing the previous day's gain. Paris took $4,200,000 more gold from the Bank of England, making nearly $10,000,000 given up by it in a week through French withdrawals. This loss was offset yesterday by nearly $5,000,000 gold taken into the bank on an Australian consignment. Yesterday's wheat market fell back 2⅜ cents, going within ¼ cent of the dollar-mark. This was seemingly the Chicago market's response to the government's highly favorable weekly bulletin on the growing crop. The Department's monthly estimate on wheat, due for publication later in the week, will attract unusual interest. It will contain this year's first forecast of the probable yield in bushels, also the season's first estimate on loss of planted acreage by "winter-killing." A year ago the loss reported was the smallest with one exception in nine years; two years ago, it was the largest since 1917.

Yesterday's budget of statistical information from trade and industry contained many points of interest. The estimated rate of steel production was lowered for the week to 77 per cent of capacity, as compared with 78 a week before. The present rate is still above the 75 per cent rate around the end of March, but it is well below the 80 per cent of the third week of April or the 82 in the middle of February. From the Iron and Steel Institute's complete figures, however, now published for last month, it appears that April's actual daily average of steel production, although considerably less than the average in March or February—such decrease is not unusual in April—was nevertheless the largest ever heretofore reported for April outside of 1929. Prices of steel have been lowered again in the past week; The Iron Age's "composite" for steel products is 7⅝ per cent below this week last year. Yet there are interesting contrasts of a different character; for even the present average, if compared with that of July, 1914, shows increase of more than 50 per cent in the intervening period.

The sidelights on railway traffic were not favorable. Loadings of freight, as reported yesterday for the closing week of April, were larger than in the week preceding, but still the smallest for the period since 1924. In the four completed months, taken as a whole, they have fallen below any previous year since 1922. The Bureau of Railway Economics now gives out the complete tabulation of railway earnings for March and for the first quarter. It shows the three-months' gross revenue to be the smallest of any corresponding period since 1922, and the gross for March the smallest earned in that month since return to private operation during the Autumn of 1920. The net results make somewhat better comparison; it was in 1922 and 1923 that the managements began to apply the scientific economies which have subsequently increased net operating revenue quite out of proportion to the rise in gross receipts. But the gross income, granting unchanged average rates, is the measure of traffic in course of distribution.

COPPER DEMAND RISES A LITTLE SINCE CUT

A moderate increase in domestic buying as a result of Tuesday's reduction in the price of copper from 13 to 12½ cents was reported yesterday by copper producers. While the market remained rather dull, indicating that many buyers were holding off in expectation of a cut to 12 cents, the increase in inquiries led producers to believe copper's price was approaching stabilization.

Although bids are known to have been made at 12 cents and 12¼ cents, no reports have been received of the acceptance of these offers. Producers are generally asking 12½ cents for domestic delivery. As the export price is 13.30 cents c. i. f. base ports, foreign buyers have withdrawn temporarily from the market, it was said. It is expected that the export price will be brought into line with the domestic price in a day or two. If the domestic price remains at 12½ cents, the export price will be made 12.80 cents, producers said.

Dullness of domestic demand for copper is exerting a depressing influence on foreign demand, it was said. If the large domestic utility companies were to enter the market as large buyers at 12½ cents, European business would be greatly stimulated, it was contended.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Stocks were unsettled in the late dealings yesterday after having fluctuated uncertainly until early afternoon. Selling became rather general in the last hour of trading on the Stock Exchange, but weakness was most pronounced in a few issues, particularly Celotex and Manhattan Electric Supply, in both of which there were special developments to explain their wide breaks. Pressure against these stocks caused selling in other parts of the market for a time, but the general list steadied itself just before the close. However, a considerable number of stocks ended the day with sizable losses. Among them were Allied Chemical, American Tobacco, J. I. Case, Radio, Vanadium and Worthington Pump. The net decline in Celotex was 15⅞ points and in Manhattan Electrical Supply 34¼. Trading on the Exchange was orderly. The total turnover was 4,295,470 shares.

Foreign Buying Again.

Buying of stocks for foreign account has been unusually heavy in the last week, according to brokers. London, Paris and Amsterdam have been the most active purchasers. A steady stream of orders from those quarters was responsible to a large extent for the recovery on the Stock Exchange here on Monday and Tuesday. This demand was cited also in explanation of recent selling on European exchanges, considerable realizing having taken place abroad.

Expect Drop in Loans.

It is significant of the puzzled state of the Wall Street prophets that even in the face of last week's sharp decline in the stock market there are some who doubt that a material drop in brokers' loans will be shown. For the most part, however, the Street looks confidently for a substantial decline in the figures this week. Payments for new issues have continued large and undoubtedly these will operate to increase the volume of loans, but the paring down of borrowings which always accompanies so heavy a drop in open market prices of shares should easily offset this factor.

The Demand for Tax Exempts.

The brisk demand for United States Government and municipal loans this week has justified the initial up-rush of prices following the reduction made in the rediscount rate by the Federal Reserve Bank on last Friday. Corporations, according to dealers, have taken large blocks of government securities, and the institutional buying of municipal bonds has been resumed after a lapse of several weeks. The current supply of these latter bonds is estimated at only $50,000,000, or about 50 per cent of normal for this season of the year, and the list of new awards scheduled is not impressively large. Government obligations have still some distance to go before they equal the high levels reached earlier in the year, but much of the slack has been taken up in the last few days.

Scouts for Foreign Loans.

At a time when dozens for foreign governments and corporations are besieging Wall Street bankers for loans with varying degrees of encouragement, there has sprung up a type of independent loan broker who gets wind of contemplated financing and endeavors to get a commission from interested bankers. It is usually the case that Wall Street entrepeneurs of foreign loans know far more concerning forthcoming issues than self-established brokers. The reason for this is explained by the fact that many banks and banking houses here have extended numerous short-term loans to foreign governments and corporations pending long-term issues when market conditions warrant. However, it is a small banking house that does not receive a sheaf of letters daily purporting to give "inside information" concerning foreign loans.

Today's Bank Statement.

A substantial decline in the volume of bill holdings is expected to be shown in tonight's statement of the Federal Reserve Bank. Holdings of government securities should show little change, it is thought, while discounts, under the stimulus of last week's reduction in member bank borrowings, should be up. It generally happens that when open market rates for bankers' acceptances are declining, few bills are taken to the bank of issue, and the normal run-off of maturing bills brings about a drop in the bank's holdings. At present other factors are at work to reduce the bill portfolio of the Reserve Bank, the chief of these being the lack of demand for credit in the market.

Decline in Sterling.

Despite the fact that the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York simultaneously lowered their rates, the cut in the Bank of England's rate last Thursday appears to have adversely affected sterling exchange. France lately has taken substantial amounts of gold in the open market in London and has even drawn on the Bank of England. In this market sterling has been dropping steadily and is now less than a cent above the gold transfer point. It was the position of sterling which made observers here doubt that the Bank of England would reduce its rate. Apparently the directors of that institution felt that they could afford to lose some gold in view of the large shipments of the metal which have been going to London from Australia lately and the improvement in the Bank's gold holdings compared with last year.

Copper Buying Begins.

Efforts of copper producers to stimulate demand for the metal by gradually scaling down prices are beginning to meet success, it was reported yesterday. Domestic buyers, who were apathetic to the 14-cent price which became effective a month ago, when prices were cut 4 cents a pound, are showing more interest in the 12½-cent price, which producers have been quoting for several days. The copper industry, apparently, is determined to reduce inventories by making prices attractive to consumers. Whether the 12½-cent price will stimulate buying efficiently, or whether even lower prices will be necessary, remains to be seen.

MONEY.

Wednesday, May 7, 1930.

Business in the money market continued along a quiet and meaningless course, the turnover remaining on small scale, while quotations for all classes, except bankers' bills, were steady and unchanged. In the latter group all maturities were cut ⅛ in yield on a business of fair proportions both ways. Stock Exchange call money was 3 per cent, and in the Street 2½. Time money showed no change, ranging from 3½ to 4 per cent, with a little doing in 90 days at 3¾, and six months at 4 per cent. Commercial paper was unchanged.

SIMMONS ANALYZES WALL STREET SLUMP

Stock Exchange's Head in Annual Report Lays It Largely to "Security Indigestion."

SEES UTOPIA STILL REMOTE

Declares Laws of Arithmetic and Principles of Economy Are Not Yet Abolished.

STRESSES EVENTS ABROAD

Americans Urged to Study Effect of European Conditions on New York Market.

An inescapable conclusion to be drawn from recent developments in industry, business and finance is that "Utopia is still far away and that the laws of arithmetic and the principles of economics have not as yet been abolished," according to E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, who, in his annual report, discusses at length the events that led up to the stock market's collapse last Autumn.

Asserting that the phrase, "new era," used in relation to American economic history since 1924, has been productive of "exaggerated notions of many kinds and has been much ridiculed after the 1929 stock market collapse," Mr. Simmons says that, nevertheless, it is necessary to make allowance for the many novel changes in business methods, whether considering the events of the last two years or the likely developments of the future.

Particularly, Mr. Simmons says, one must consider the "vast growth of investable capital" in the last few years. "No accurate and comprehensive statistics in this regard exist," he continues, "but evidence as to the great proportions of this development has assumed is afforded by statistics relating to public security offerings, right financing, building and loan association assets, savings bank deposits, commercial banks' time deposits and life insurance premiums. Frequently capital savings have entered the mechanism of American commercial banking and largely altered a technique created almost wholly to handle problems of credit; time deposits and 'other lenders' brokers' loans are conspicuous examples. Without the continued flow of capital into securities, the long-continued 'bull market' of 1924-1929 would, of course, have been completely impossible.

Effect of Surplus Capital.

"The effect of this astonishing creation of surplus capital in this country was inevitably to produce rising prices for securities already outstanding and also to enable new securities of a kind attractive to the investing public to be floated with surprising ease. It will be noted that from 1926 until the middle of 1928 the monthly amounts of corporate bond offerings regularly exceeded those of corporate stock offerings. In the last quarter of 1928 until the final months of 1929, however, share offerings far exceeded bond offerings. Also total public offerings over roughly the same period increased enormously, and in the critical month of September, 1929, slightly exceeded $1,200,000,000.

"Further analysis of these figures according to the type of enterprise represented by the new offerings emphasizes the important part played in this great security issuing activity by shares of investment trusts and holding companies, particularly in September, 1929, the month preceding the panic. The subsequent decline in share prices, of course, was due to many causes, but in my own judgment the panicky atmosphere which arose in October and November was largely due to 'security indigestion' brought about by this colossal issuance of new share offerings.

"In addition to new public offerings of securities many new securities were distributed to the public during 1929 by means of the issuance of rights to subscribe to new securities, and particularly to new share issues. The tremendous peak in this form of company financing was reached in June, 1929.

Vast National Savings Funds.

"Undoubtedly the United States experience an over-issuance of securities last year. Yet this fact only temporarily neutralized the nation's vast accumulation of investable funds through thrift. The creation of new capital through national savings has been a principal back-log of our national prosperity in the immediate past; if continued on anything like the scale maintained in recent years, it promises to prove so again in the future."

Mr. Simmons stresses the point that 1929 "will undoubtedly go down in American history as particularly significant because of the extremes in business which it witnessed." During the first six months, he points out, the average production and consumption of goods far exceeded previous records, but in the third quarter "a period of hesitation and change of trend set in whose significance was not at first clearly apparent," whereas in the fourth quarter there developed "a precipitous decline unexceeded in severity since 1924."

Commenting on the high rate of production reached in basic industries by the early Summer of last year and the proportionately sharp decline during the Autumn and Winter, Mr. Simmons holds that this acceleration and subsequent decline reacted on all business conditions, including security values.

Mr. Simmons expresses the opinion that "low yields in the Summer of 1929 constituted an important reason for the readjustment of stock prices the following Autumn, but at the same time it is not equally certain what should be considered normal share yields, particularly under the many complicating circumstances of that extraordinary financial year." He adds that "while security buyers should undoubtedly consider this factor of yields more carefully in the future, at the same time dogmatic formulas in this regard are also capable of producing much misunderstanding."

Discusses Bond Depression.

The Exchange president says the bond market depression in 1929 "resulted not only from high money rates, but also from other less cyclical factors, such as the frequent desire of prosperous corporations to decrease or eliminate both their long and short term debts, and likewise the strong preference for shares shown not only by individual but also even by institutional investors." For this reason, despite lower money rates, it still remains uncertain whether bonds will recover all their former pre-eminence over stocks, according to Mr. Simmons.

Taking issue with that school of economic thought "which distrusts the intelligence of public opinion and favors regulation by selective rather than representative intelligence," Mr. Simmons says that "it has always been the belief of the Stock Exchanges that it was more feasible to educate public opinion to act with reasonable wisdom, than it was to select or authorize supermen to act for it."

Mr. Simmons sketches the effect of stock market conditions abroad on the American market, pointing out that the general downward trend after the first quarter of last year produced heavy liquidation of securities in New York. The significance of European financial events to New York stock market conditions "seemingly points a valuable moral which we must not be slow to learn," he adds. "In proportion as New York has become an international securities market, it has inherited not merely wider and more thoroughly diversified profits, but also new and sometimes little realized risks.

"This does not, of course, constitute any valid reason for decrying foreign investment, but it does very pointedly illustrate the necessity for Americans to give increased attention and consideration to foreign financial and economic conditions as an important factor in the New York security market itself."

Governors of Stock Exchange Praise Presidency of Simmons

A resolution praising the services of E. H. H. Simmons, who will retire as president of the New York Stock Exchange on next Monday, was adopted yesterday by the board of governors of the exchange. It declared that "the Stock Exchange has been greatly raised in public esteem by Mr. Simmons's untiring efforts, and that "his brilliant work has made him an outstanding figure among the many presidents of the Exchange." It added:

"E. H. H. Simmons, our president, who is about to retire after serving for a longer term than that of any president of the past half century, understood the difficult and laborious task of interpreting the complicated structure of Wall Street to the nation. He visited many parts of the United States, and even foreign countries, and in able addresses threw the light of lucid explanation upon the anatomy of our great financial nerve-centre."

The board accepted the resignation of Robert Gibson as a member. It recommended an amendment to the constitution to provide two additional members for the committee on arrangements, raising the membership to nine.

WILL LIMIT POWER OF CUSTOMERS' MEN

Stock Exchange to Direct That Members Operate Customers' Discretionary Accounts.

WIDER SAFEGUARD IN VIEW

Partners May Delegate Certain Duties to Employes, but Are to Be Held Responsible.

Limitation of the right of customers' men employed by Stock Exchange firms to operate discretionary accounts for clients in the purchase and sale of securities was approved yesterday by the board of governors of the Exchange, which adopted a report of a special committee, according to an announcement made by E. H. H. Simmons, president of the Exchange. The report recommends that the committee on quotations and commissions adopt certain new rules governing the conduct of customers' men.

In discussing this aspect of the report, Mr. Simmons said:

"The Exchange has come to the conclusion that the right to buy and sell securities for the account of a customer under a power of attorney or discretionary agreement is so important that it should, in general, be exercised by a partner of the firm. The committee on quotations and commissions has, therefore, been requested to adopt rules which will allow member firms to accept discretionary power over customers' accounts only if the discretion is to be exercised by the partners of the firm.

"Provision will be made for the delegation of such discretionary power to certain designated employes, provided the customer gives his consent and the firm assumes responsibility for the use made of the power by the employe. The adoption of these rules will be an added protection to persons dealing with members of the Exchange and is in line with the traditional policy of the Exchange."

It has been reported for some time that the governing committee of the Exchange felt that the existence of discretionary accounts under the supervision of customers' men constituted a temptation to the latter to overtrade.

CONVERSION PRICE REDUCED

Standard Investing Exchange for Common at $25 and $25.39.

The price at which the ten-year 5½ per cent convertible debentures of the Standard Investing Corporation may be converted into common stock has been reduced from $50 to $25.39 a share, it was announced yesterday. The reduction was made because of the issue of common stock in exchange for securities of the American, London and Empire Corporation.

The New York Trust Company, trustee of the debentures, has notified holders of common stock purchase warrants of all series attached to certificates of preferred stock, $5.50 dividend series, that these warrants may be exercised for the purchase of common stock at $25 a share.

The following information has been summarized by Mr. H. S. Wilkinson, Chairman of the Board of Crucible Steel Company of America, from his letter dated May 6, 1930, copies of which may be obtained upon request, and is subject to the more complete information contained therein:

Business: Crucible Steel Company of America, incorporated in 1900, is the largest manufacturer in the world of high speed and tool steels, which are used in a wide diversity of industries. In addition the Company is a large producer of alloy and special carbon steels. It is estimated that these reserves are sufficient to meet the Company's requirements for over 20 years.

STOCK PRICES FALL IN DRIVE BY BEARS

SOME OFF 2 TO 8 POINTS

Downrush Checked Just Before Trading Ends—Receiver Asked for Celotex Company.

Sensational declines in the shares of the Manhattan Electrical Supply Company and the Celotex Company caused a renewal of the selling movement on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday, many of the market leaders dropping sharply in the late dealings.

Bearish operators who seized upon the acute weakness in Manhattan Electrical and Celotex as an excuse for a concerted drive against the general list were partly successful, although the downrush was checked a few minutes before trading ended. There were net declines of 2 to 8 points in some of the leading issues, while Manhattan Electrical ended the day with a loss of 34¼ points and Celotex with a loss of 15⅝.

There were special developments to explain both of these wide-open breaks. Trading in Manhattan Electrical was resumed yesterday after having been suspended unofficially since May 1. It opened at 25, or 28⅝ points below the price at which it closed last Thursday. Later in the morning the stock rose to a high of 27, only to fall back in the late dealings to a low of 18, closing at 19⅞.

No explanation has been given by the company or the Exchange for the suspension of trading. The specialist in the stock stated that there was no market. Prior to its disappearance from the list of stocks dealt in, however, the trading was of large proportions. It has been understood that a pool was actively operating in the stock for some time before trading ceased.

Double Inquiry Under Way.

The business conduct committee of the Stock Exchange has been investigating the action of the Manhattan Electrical stock for some days. The impression in brokerage circles was that trading was unofficially suspended because of a lack of buying orders. The State Attorney General's office announced on Tuesday that the market situation in the stock was under investigation. That investigation is still proceeding, it is understood.

Yesterday's break in Celotex came late in the day, following the announcement on the news tickers that a small stockholder had filed a petition in Wilmington asking for the appointment of a receiver for the company. The stock broke more than 20 points on this news, but quickly recovered 8 points of the loss, closing at 28. The stock had opened in the morning at 42⅞.

B. G. Dahlberg, president of Celotex, issued a statement later saying he did not know the person who filed the petition and that no complaint or criticism had been made to the management. The position of the company is excellent, he said, and its business good. Net income in March, after all charges, including depreciation, was $126,000, against $116,000 in March, 1929, he said. He said there was no basis whatever for the charges made by the stockholder.

Charges Celotex Is Insolvent.

WILMINGTON, Del., May 7 (AP).—A bill was filed in Chancery Court today in behalf of David Adler of Ridgewood, N. J., asking the appointment of a receiver for the Celotex Corporation on grounds of insolvency. Adler, who holds fifty shares of Celotex Company stock, alleges mismanagement and misappropriation of money in addition to insolvency. The president of the company and directors are named as defendants.

SHARE-FOR-SHARE PLAN FOR FUSION OF TRUSTS

Guardian Investors Holders to Vote on May 20 on Acquiring Allied American Industries.

Stockholders of the Guardian Investors Corporation will be asked to approve on May 20 a plan for consolidation of their company with the Allied American Industries under terms accepted yesterday by their directors. It is proposed that Guardian Investors shall own all outstanding capital stock of Allied American.

Guardian Investors will offer to exchange one share of its $6 first preferred stock for one Allied $6 prior preferred and one Guardian common for one Allied common. John Nickerson & Co., Inc., holder of most of the Allied $3 preferred and principal holder of the common stock of both companies, has agreed to exchange the Allied preferred for Allied common and deposit the stock for exchange under the terms of the merger.

Stockholders will be asked to approve also an increase from 500,000 to 700,000 shares in the capital stock of Guardian Investors. After the consolidation Guardian Investors will have outstanding 10,388 shares more of $6 preferred and 185,582 additional common shares, this last dependent upon the conversion of the Allied $3 preferred.

As of Dec. 31 Guardian Investors Corporation had total assets of $11,350,888 and Allied American Industries of $1,880,553, making $13,231,441 for the consolidated company.

SMALLER TRUSTS ACCUSED.

More Than 40 Investors Complain to Securities Bureau.

Since the announcement four days ago that the State Bureau of Securities would examine activities of investment trusts more than forty complaints have been made against the lesser-known investment trusts, according to Assistant Attorney General Watson Washburn, in charge of the bureau at 74 Trinity Place.

It was said at the bureau that the complaints state that investors have not received reports on their investment or return of their funds. It was made clear that none of the complaints were against the better-known companies.

Deputy Attorney General F. J. Meehan, in charge of the survey, said the answers to the 250 questionnaires sent to as many investment trust companies here probably would not be received before a week. The answers, it was said, will disclose whether practices complained of two years ago are being continued.

To Enlarge Gasoline Plant.

The contract was awarded to the M. W. Kellogg Company. The total cost will be about $2,000,000. The de Florex process is owned and operated by the Texas Company.

Shell Buys Southern Idaho Oil.

The Shell Oil Company, a subsidiary of Shell Union, has purchased the Southern Idaho Oil Company, it was announced yesterday. The Idaho company operates eighteen plants in Southern Idaho.

BOYS CHIEFS TODAY ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Page, Aged 18, Will Act as President, With Other Lads in Executive Positions.

HONORS ARE WON BY MERIT

Simmons, Whose Term Expires Monday, to Address Youths at Eighth Affair of Kind.

The responsibility of directing the affairs of the New York Stock Exchange today will rest upon the shoulders of Robert Palmer, an 18-year-old floor page, to whom E. H. H. Simmons, president, will temporarily relinquish the reins of his office. Other youthful employes will occupy executive offices for the day, the occasion being the Stock Exchange's eighth annual observance of Boys' Day in Industry.

Palmer, the acting president, will have associated with him in running the Exchange Harold Goodfellow, 17, also a page, who will act as chairman of the board room. Three other youths, Vincent Martin Byrne, John Walter Schuh and Willard Von Klontz, employes of the Stock Clearing Corporation, have been selected to direct that organization. Byrne will be president, Schuh general manager of the day branch and Klontz general manager of the night clearing branch of the Stock Clearing Corporation.

Palmer is a graduate of the Valley Stream (L. I.) High School. He has been employed by the Stock Exchange since July 5, 1928. His record of service, attendance and scholastics won for him the honor. He received a score of 799 out of a possible 800 in the test of abbreviations and floor locations given to all new employes. He received a mark of 100 in corporation finance and brokerage practice and an average record of 90.2 in all courses at the New York Stock Exchange Institute classes.

Goodfellow, who will sound the gong opening and closing the exchange, is a graduate of the Franklin K. Lane High School in Brooklyn. He attended the College of the City of New York before going to the Stock Exchange on June 20, 1928. His service and scholastic record is also high, and he has a perfect mark for attendance and punctuality. He is a graduate of the Stock Exchange Institute and is taking evening courses at the College of the City of New York.

Byrne, who will succeed for the day Samuel F. Streit, president of the Stock Clearing Corporation, is a graduate of La Salle Academy, Oakdale, L. I.

The ceremonies will open in the governing committee's room at 8:45 o'clock this morning, when Mr. Simmons will yield his office to Palmer. In addition Mr. Simmons will address a meeting of all junior employes of the exchange. The talk will come as a farewell to them, since Mr. Simmons's term as president of the exchange will expire on Monday.

SAFETY—on a paying basis

We have outlined a plan whereby an income of $1,000 per annum is obtained by placing $3,000 in an investment common stock and reinvesting liberal cash and stock dividends over a period of years.

The security selected is of a conservatively managed investment company. No bonds or preferred stocks are ahead of this common stock. The company specializes in securities of companies operating in the broad financial field.

In the financial field, companies deal in money. Earnings are more stable because when money is made with money, there are not the hazards that creep in as when money is made indirectly . . . through plants, machinery, raw materials that may depreciate; through producing goods that may go out of style or become obsolete because of new inventions.

Copy of plan, and full particulars, gladly furnished.

RADIO CORPORATION TO LIST NEW SHARES

6,580,375, Approved, to Be Used in General Electric and Westinghouse Deals.

TO ACQUIRE PROPERTIES

Company to Get Manufacturing Rights, Plants and Stock in Five Subsidiary Concerns.

The governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday approved the listing, upon official notice of issuance, of 6,580,375 additional common shares of the Radio Corporation of America, which are to be issued to the General Electric Radio Company, Inc., and the Westinghouse Radio Company, Inc., in payment for rights and properties.

The two radio companies are new subsidiaries of the General Electric and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Companies, organized to care for the radio part of their business. The Radio Corporation will acquire through these subsidiaries of the electric companies exclusive licenses, with certain reservations, under all General Electric Company and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company United States patents, to manufacture radio apparatus other than transmitting apparatus and transmitter tubes, certain real estate, factories and other manufacturing facilities heretofore employed by such companies in the manufacture of radio apparatus.

The Radio Corporation also will acquire shares of stock held by the two companies in the National Broadcasting Company, Inc.; R. C. A. Victor Company, Inc.; R. C. A. Radiotron Company, Inc.; R. C. A. Photophone, Inc., and General Motors Radio Corporation. As a result of these acquisitions the Radio Corporation will become the sole owner of the outstanding stock of all the companies, except the General Motors Radio Corporation, in which it will own 49 per cent of the common and preferred stock instead of 29.4 per cent as at present. It will also become entitled to all royalties payable under the affected radio patents, instead of having only a 50 to 60 per cent interest in such companies and royalties as at present.

A substantial reduction will also result in the cost to the Radio Corporation of radio transmitting apparatus and radio transmitter tubes, which General Electric and Westinghouse will continue to manufacture for the corporation. In addition, there will be effected the cancellation of liabilities for $32,000,000, plus interest, due on advances made by General Electric and Westinghouse in connection with the purchase last year of the Victor Talking Machine Company.

The consolidated income account of the Radio Corporation and subsidiaries for 1929, in a more complete form than given in the annual report, compares with 1928 as follows:

Principal and semi-annual interest payable in gold coin at the fiscal agency of the State of Washington in New York City or at the office of the City Treasurer, Tacoma. Coupon bonds in the denomination of $1,000 each.

CITY OF TACOMA, the third largest city in the State of Washington, and the county seat of Pierce County, is strategically located at the head of ocean navigation on Puget Sound and contiguous to vast natural resources which should assure continued growth. The City is one of the most important manufacturing and commercial centers of the Northwest. Four transcontinental railroads furnish transportation facilities and have extensive terminals in the City. Steamship lines operate to Alaska, Japan, China, the Philippines and the principal American, South American and European ports. Tacoma owns and operates its own water and electric light and power plants, the combined fixed assets of which total $24,801,927 before depreciation reserves and $19,765,082 after depreciation reserves. As of January 1, 1930, the total bonded debt of the City amounted to $13,279,995 of which sinking fund and self-supporting water bonds and electric light and power bonds amounted to $9,726,695. This compares with an assessed property valuation of $69,190,223.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The Series "B" Bonds of 1929, part of a total issue of $3,850,000, are issued by the City of Tacoma for the purpose of making certain additions and betterments to and extensions of the existing electric generating plant and system of the City. The proceeds of the sale of the Bonds of 1930 will be used in part for the construction and equipment of a steam power plant of an approximate capacity of 25,000 kilowatts, and in part for the construction of additions and betterments to the existing distribution system of the electric plant and system within the City. These additions, extensions and betterments will be owned, operated and controlled by the City of Tacoma.

SECURITY: These bonds, in the opinion of counsel, are valid and legally binding obligations of the City of Tacoma and are payable both principal and interest solely out of special funds known as "City of Tacoma Electric Light and Power Fund of 1929" and "City of Tacoma Electric Light and Power Fund of 1930," respectively. The City of Tacoma irrevocably binds itself not to sell, lease or in any manner dispose of its light and power system, including any additions thereto, until all of the bonds with the interest thereon have been paid in full, or in case the City should sell or otherwise dispose of the said plant and system before such payment, the City agrees that the proceeds of any such sale after the payment of all prior charges shall be placed in the above-mentioned special funds to be used for no other purpose than the discharge of the principal and interest of all bonds issued and then remaining unpaid, and that in any event it will not sell said system for a sum less than enough to pay all of such outstanding obligations with the interest accrued thereon.

The City covenants not to reduce its rates or charges for electric energy so that the amount of revenue therefrom after payment of all cost of operation and maintenance and all prior charges shall amount to less than the amount necessary to pay the principal and interest on these bonds.

The Charter of the City of Tacoma prohibits the granting to any person or corporation of a franchise, privilege or right to sell or supply electricity within the City of Tacoma as long as the City owns and operates a plant for that purpose.

EARNINGS AND PLANT VALUE: The total valuation after depreciation, of the properties owned by the Tacoma Light and Power system as of December 31, 1929 was reported at $13,367,944 which does not give effect to the use of the proceeds of $3,350,000 bonds, including this offering, issued subsequent to that date. The total amount of revenue bonds outstanding including the present issue is $9,035,000. For the six-year period ending December 31, 1929, average annual net earnings after depreciation, as officially reported, amounted to $916,354 before bond interest. The maximum annual interest charges on all bonds outstanding including this issue aggregate $452,249.

A letter to us from Mr. Geo. M. Bechtel, President of the Company, is summarized by him as follows:

Business: Iowa Southern Utilities Company of Delaware owns and operates an extensive system of electric light and power properties furnishing, without competition, electric light and power to 125 cities and towns in the State of Iowa, including Ottumwa, Burlington, Centerville, Creston, Washington, Grinnell and Newton, with an estimated population of 200,000. These are long established communities of steady growth, possessing numerous and diversified industries which afford markets for additional electric power. The Company owns and operates the transportation systems in Burlington and Ottumwa and connecting Centerville and Albia; also gas properties at Burlington, Centerville, Grinnell, Washington, Mt. Pleasant and Osceola. The Company also has a very advantageous contract for the purchase of electric energy generated at the Keokuk Dam. In addition, the Company will presently own all of the capital stock of the electric light and power company which serves, without competition, the City of Moosejaw, Saskatchewan, a growing community in Canada with an estimated population of 25,000. Of the gross operating income over 86% is derived from electricity and gas.

Earnings: Earnings of Iowa Southern Utilities Company of Delaware, including earnings of National Light and Power Co., Ltd., stock of which is to be presently acquired, for the twelve months ended December 31, 1929, were as follows:

Gross Income	$4,613,654.43
Operating Expenses, including maintenance and local taxes	$2,509,907.92
Net Earnings available for interest, depreciation, Federal taxes, etc.	$2,103,746.51
Annual interest requirements on Mortgage debt*	$ 790,632.00
Balance available for other interest, depreciation, Federal taxes, etc.	$1,313,114.51
Annual interest requirements on Notes and Debentures (including this issue)	$ 258,585.00

* Includes annual interest requirement of $120,000 on Funded Debt of National Light and Power Co., Ltd., to be presently outstanding.

The balance as shown above after deducting interest on Mortgage indebtedness is more than five times annual interest requirements on the outstanding Notes and Debentures, including this issue. Net earnings as shown above are more than twice annual interest requirements on the entire funded indebtedness to be presently outstanding.

Equity: These Debentures take precedence as to assets and earnings over $7,000,000 par value Preferred Stock, and 100,000 shares no par value Common Stock. The sound value of the properties is substantially in excess of all funded indebtedness.

Restrictions: These 6% Gold Debentures, Series A, will be direct obligations of the Company and will be issued under the terms of a Trust Indenture providing that additional Debentures may be issued only when the net income of the Company as defined in the Trust Indenture shall be equal to at least three times the total annual interest requirements on the Debentures at such time outstanding, including such additional Debentures then to be issued plus all other unsecured indebtedness, except such unsecured indebtedness which matures in less than one year, (but excluding indebtedness to be concurrently paid off).

Purpose: The proceeds of this issue will be used to reimburse the Company in connection with the acquisition of additional properties, for improvements, and for other corporate purposes.

Management: The management which has so successfully operated the Company in the past continues in control.

We offer these Debentures for delivery if, when and as issued and accepted by us, subject to approval of legal proceedings by our counsel, Messrs. Mayer, Meyer, Austrian and Platt, Chicago. It is expected that delivery will be made in the form of temporary bonds on or about May 15, 1930.

The Basis of Sound Investment in American Aviation

With the signing of the Watres bill by President Hoover, and the increasing activity in air express developments, American aviation as a business is on the verge of far-reaching changes and increased vitality.

We have prepared a plan for the long-pull investor which should give him the full benefit of this coming expansion. Briefly, the investments recommended are:

North American Aviation—owning outright three splendid earning properties (Sperry Gyroscope, Ford Instrument Co., and Eastern Air Transport); also large blocks of stock in leading manufacturing and transport companies. In our opinion, one of the soundest single investments in aviation.

Curtiss-Wright Corporation—the largest manufacturing, sales, training, and servicing combination—with forty airport bases from coast to coast and an unparalleled engineering corps.

United Aircraft and Transport Corporation—combining manufacturing and transport operations on a nation-wide scale, under efficient management, and a substantial earning record.

Irving Air Chute Co., Inc.—the oldest and largest parachute makers in the world, with international markets. By the record, a company which grows as the whole industry grows, on a dividend basis, with fast growing earnings.

Douglas Aircraft Company—one of the most consistent earners among manufacturing companies operating at capacity with large unfilled government orders, and with commercial developments projected.

We shall gladly send on request a more detailed description of the changing aspect of aviation and of the position of these key companies.

FOREIGN BONDS GAIN ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Domestic Issues as a Group, However, Fail to Make Any Headway.

B. & O. CONVERTIBLES RISE

Displace A. T. & T. as the Leader in Trading—Government Securities Stronger.

Domestic bonds, as a group, failed to make any headway on the Stock Exchange yesterday, but foreign loans on the average finished higher, as did most of the United States Government issues. The convertible issues showed considerable irregularity.

One feature of the day among the convertibles was the light volume of trading in American Telephone and Telegraph 4½s of 1939, resulting in the displacement of this issue as the most active bond of the entire list by the Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s, which moved up ¾ of a point. The telephone issue closed 2½ points lower for the day.

Other convertibles to lose ground included International Telephone and Telegraph 4½s of 1939, off 1⅛ points; Philadelphia & Reading 6s, off 1¼ points, with fractional losses recorded by Warner Brothers Pictures 6s and General Theatres Equipment 6s of 1940. The convertible 6½s of the latter company advanced ¼ of a point. Parmelee convertible 6s jumped 3 points on light trading, while Texas Corporation convertible 5s and Dodge Brothers convertible 6s held unchanged.

High-grade railroad bonds held up better than public utilities and industrials, although in the latter group several issues moved up appreciably. In the public utility group heavy trading in New York Railways income 6s was a feature. The issue, however, closed unchanged at 5.

Most of the gains recorded by the active foreign loans were fractional. Heavy dealings occurred in Uruguay 6s on the eve of the announcement of a new loan to be floated here. South American loans continued irregular.

United States Government bonds were more active than they have been for several days, with final prices up 6-32 to off 5-32.

$18,000,000 Order for Generators.

The New York Edison Company has ordered from the General Electric Company two turbo-generators of 215,000 horsepower capacity each, to cost $18,000,000, for the Hudson Avenue station of the Brooklyn Edison Company. They are to be ready for operation in 1931.

CHASE GROUP GETS WESTCHESTER LOAN

YIELD TO BE 3.50 TO 4.05%

Westchester County awarded yesterday an issue of $19,775,000 various improvement bonds, $9,275,000 as 4s and $10,500,000 as 4¼s, at a price of 100.811. The award went to a syndicate headed by the Chase Securities Corporation, the Bancamerica-Blair Corporation and Hallgarten & Co., and including Kountze Brothers, A. B. Leach & Co., Inc.; B. J. Van Ingen & Co., Darby & Co., the Marine Trust Company of Buffalo, Otis & Co., Batchelder & Co., Rutter & Co., Stephens & Co. and E. Lowber Stokes & Co.

The second highest tender was 100.7099 for the same combination of bonds, made by a group headed by the Bankers Company of New York, the National City Company, the First National Bank, New York, and Harris, Forbes & Co., and the third and last bid, 100.199, also for the same combination of interest rates, was made by a syndicate headed by the Guaranty Company of New York.

The bonds will be reoffered today by the bankers at prices to yield 3.50 to 4.05 per cent. Advance orders have been received for about $6,000,000. Under the terms of sale the bankers had the option of bidding for the $10,500,000 park bonds as 4s, 4¼s or 4½s. Two years ago, on May 2, 1928, when the county sold its last previous issue of long-term bonds, an issue of $15,511,000 4s was awarded at a price of 100.578, equivalent to a 3.96 per cent basis. These bonds were also awarded to the Chase group, with two other syndicates competing.

The new issue consists of the following: $10,500,000 park bonds, due on June 1, 1939 to 1980; $3,500,000 Mamaroneck Valley Sanitary Sewer, due 1933 to 1980; $1,900,000 Hutchinson Valley sanitary sewer, due 1933 to 1976; $1,615,000 county hospital, due 1931 to 1960; $948,000 court house site, due 1931 to 1952; $512,000 highway, due 1931 to 1943; $360,000 Blind Brook sanitary sewer, due 1937 to 1978; $205,000 bridge, due 1931 to 1944; $135,000 court house, due 1931 to 1939, and $100,000 South Yonkers sanitary sewer bonds, due on June 1, 1933 to 1952.

According to the latest statement of the county the assessed valuation of real estate is $1,643,524,524 and the net debt, including the present issue, $72,249,055.

The City and County of Honolulu, Hawaii, will be in the market on June 5 with a new issue of $1,500,000 5 per cent sewer and water bonds, due on June 15, 1935 to 1959. ASSAILS LONG ISLAND ROAD

Lockwood Says Every Passenger Has Right to a Seat.

The Transit Commission referred to its counsel yesterday the Long Island Railroad's refusal to accept the recent order calling for the purchase of new cars and establishment of new service improvements costing about $13,000,000. The company failed to file a request for a rehearing, but is expected to do so in a day or two.

Commissioner Lockwood, commenting on the company's declaration that "the idea of a seat for every passenger during rush hours is an absurdity," declared that patrons of the railroad have a right to expect something better than subway service when they pay from 300 to 800 per cent more than a subway fare.

"They have a right to expect railroad convenience, and railroad convenience certainly implies a seat for every passenger," he said.

New Bonds for $41,825,000 On Today's Investment Lists

New offerings of securities totaling $41,825,000 will be made today by New York banking houses and syndicates. The amount will consist entirely of bonds.

BONDS OF URUGUAY TO BE OFFERED SOON

Issue of $17,580,000 6 Per Cents Will Probably Be Put Out at Price of 98.

PART OF LOAN FOR EUROPE

A new issue of $17,580,000 Republic of Uruguay 6 per cent external bonds will be offered soon by a syndicate headed by Hallgarten & Co. and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc. The loan will be the first marketed here for the republic since April, 1926, when $30,000,000 6s, due in 1960, were offered at 96½ by a group headed by the same bankers. Portions of the new loan will be placed abroad, so that less than $10,000,000 of the issue will actually be offered here. It is understood that the offering price will be 98.

On completion of this financing the public debt of Uruguay will amount to about $244,000,000, of which approximately $156,000,000 will be external. The national wealth is estimated at more than $3,000,000,000, or equivalent to about $1,620 per capita, or approximately twelve times the per capita debt.

Uruguay has an issue of 3½s and one of 5s outstanding in the total amount of about £20,000,000, listed on the London Stock Exchange. Two loans are listed on the New York Stock Exchange, one of slightly more than $7,000,000 8s, due 1946, and the other of about $29,000,000 6s, due 1960. The latter issue closed yesterday at 98. Prior to the World War all of the republic's external loans were marketed in Europe.

OTHER BOND FLOTATIONS.

A new issue of $10,000,000 Crucible Steel Company of America ten-year 5 per cent debentures will be placed on the market today by the Chase Securities Corporation and the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh. The issue will be offered at a price of 99½, to yield 5.06 per cent.

The company, one of the largest manufacturers of tool and high-speed steel in the world, will use the proceeds of this issue for the acquisition of new properties and to reimburse its treasury for properties already acquired. Its net income, available for interest on its funded debt, was $7,847,076 in 1929, equivalent to more than eleven times the annual interest requirements on the debt to be outstanding on completion of this financing.

C. & O. and Pere Marquette.

Two new issues of railway equipment trust certificates aggregating $24,900,000 were awarded yesterday to a syndicate composed of the Bankers Company of New York, the Continental Illinois Company, Inc., and Evans, Stillman & Co. The price paid was 99.07 for both issues as 4½s. The issues are $19,800,000 Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company and $5,100,000 Pere Marquette Railway Company 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates. The bankers will place both issues on the market soon.

New England Gas and Electric.

New financing for the New England Gas and Electric Association totaling $20,000,000 will be done soon, the company announced yesterday. It will take the form of an issue of 5 per cent convertible debentures, of which $10,000,000 of the bonds in the order of surrender for conversion, and upon ten days' written notice, will be convertible on the first day of any month until May 1, 1933, into $5.50 dividend preferred stock at the rate of ten shares for each $1,000 debenture. The company operates in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and in the Canadian Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Iowa Southern Utilities.

Offering of a new issue of $2,500,000 Iowa Southern Utilities Company of Delaware 6 per cent debentures, Series A, due on May 1, 1950, will be made today by Hoagland, Allum & Co., Inc.; W. C. Langley & Co. and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc. The issue will be priced at 98, to yield more than 6.17 per cent. The proceeds will be used in connection with the acquisition of properties and for improvements. Net earnings of the company, including those of the National Power and Light Company, Ltd., stock of which is to be acquired, for the twelve months ended on Dec. 31, 1929, amounted to more than twice the interest requirements on the total funded debt to be outstanding.

National Tea Company.

Formal offering will be made today of a new issue of $4,000,000 National Tea Company 5 per cent notes, due on May 1, 1935, by a syndicate comprising the Foreman State Corporation, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.; Merrill, Lynch & Co., and E. A. Pierce & Co. The issue is priced at 99, to yield about 5.23 per cent. It is reported that advance orders exceed the amount of the offering. The company, which started in 1899 with a capital investment of $4,500, reports net tangible assets, as of Dec. 31, 1929, of $20,557,528. Net sales in 1929 were in excess of $90,000,000. Proceeds from this issue will be used to retire certain purchase money obligations and to provide additional working capital.

Harrisburg Gas Company.

An offering of $2,200,000 first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds of the Harrisburg Gas Company, due in 1970, will be made today by Drexel & Co. and Bonbright & Co., Inc., at 99½ and interest, to yield more than 5 per cent. The company will apply the proceeds to the liquidation of its floating debt, to expenditures made or about to be made for extensions and improvements to properties and to other corporate purposes. The majority of the stock of Harrisburg Gas is owned by the United Gas Improvement Company, which supervises its operations.

REDISCOUNT RATE IS CUT AT BOSTON

Federal Reserve Bank There Reduces Level From 4 to 3½ Per Cent.

HELD STIMULUS TO TRADE

Other Regional Reserve Banks Likely to Follow Example—Rate Lowered Here Week Ago.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Reduction of the rediscount rate of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank from 4 to 3½ per cent was announced today by the Federal Reserve Board, effective tomorrow on all classes of paper of all maturities.

This follows the reduction of the New York rate from 3½ to 3 per cent and those of the Bank of England to 3 per cent and the Bank of France to 2½ per cent.

Officials said that undoubtedly other reserve banks of the system would soon go to the 3½ per cent level unless there was an unexpected change in the easy money market conditions.

The action of the Boston bank was considered natural in view of money market conditions. It will contribute, however, to the general easing of the market and more satisfactory rates of interest to commercial and industrial borrowers at a time when business is in need of stimulation.

The reduction of the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston yesterday from 4 per cent to 3½ per cent constitutes the first response on the part of the other regional banks of the Reserve system to the action of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in lowering its rate from 3½ per cent to 3 per cent last Thursday.

Yesterday's meeting of the directors of the Boston Reserve Bank was the first since the action of the New York bank. All the other regional banks have held their weekly directors' meetings in the week which has intervened since the New York rate was cut and none of them have ordered a reduction. With the exception of New York and Boston, all the regional banks are at present maintaining a rate of 4 per cent.

Rediscount rates of the various Reserve banks were dropped to 4 per cent when the New York bank cut its rate to 3½ per cent in March. As a rule the other regional banks have been maintaining their rates one-half of 1 per cent above the New York rate and it is thought likely that most of them will eventually follow the move of the Boston bank and bring their charge for member borrowing down to 3½ per cent.

BOND CLUB PLANS GOLF.

Philadelphians to Contend for Morgan Cup at Field Day, May 23.

A record attendance of golfers is expected at the annual field day of the Bond Club of New York at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club on May 23 and two courses have been obtained for the day's play, it was announced yesterday by Mason B. Starring Jr., chairman of the club's golf committee. The Sleepy Hollow course will be used, as will that of Rockwood Hall, on which the match for the Morgan Cup will be played. For this the Bond Club of Philadelphia will send a team captained by Max Marston, former amateur champion of the United States.

Mr. Starring announced that books for the kickers' handicap, in which players may take up to five different handicaps, will close on next Monday. The tournament will be open to players having handicaps from 1 to 18. A Class B tournament, to be held on the Sleepy Hollow course, will be open to players with handicaps from 19 to 25, and a Class C tournament limited to those with handicaps of 26 or more.

TELEGRAPHERS STRIKE IN BROKERAGE HOUSE

50 Morse Men Employed by C. F. Childs & Co. Reject Pay Cut When Put on Machines.

Fifty Morse operators, members of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of North America, all employed by C. F. Childs & Co., brokers, of 50 Broadway, with branches in Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and Portland, Ore., went on strike yesterday morning when the concern refused to pay operators on teletype machines the same wages as Morse men.

The strike was ordered by Frank B. Powers, president of the union, after more than two months of negotiations in behalf of the Childs employes. Mr. Powers asserted that the tie-up was complete in all the company's branches. A representative of the brokerage house declared that having had notice from the union on Tuesday that a strike would be called, a sufficient number of teletype operators were on hand to man all machines. He said that the service these men gave yesterday was "better than that given by the Morse men and there was not one minute's interruption of service."

The first teletype machines were installed about two months ago, it was said, and efforts were made by the union to have the Morse men who might be transferred to the machines receive the rate of pay they werer receiving as telegraph operators. The Morse men average $250 to $325 a month and the teletype operators about $175.

RAIL BOND SALE EXTENDED.

Rock Island Postpones Subscription Date Limit to May 19.

To allow approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission to precede the closing time for subscription to the convertible bond issue of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company by at least the four days required by the New York Stock Exchange for the settlement of transactions in warrants, the subscription date limit was extended yesterday for ten days from May 9 to May 19. The company issued the following statement:

"In order to give the members of the New York Stock Exchange a period of four days before the expiration of the warrants for the settlement of the transactions therein on the Stock Exchange, the Rock Island board has authorized the officers to extend the time in which to exercise subscription rights until 2 P. M. Eastern Standard Time May 19. The price of subscription, 95 and accrued interest from May 1, 1930, to May 19, 1930, will be $952.25 for each $1,000 principal amount of bonds subscribed for.

"The hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the company's application to issue these bonds was held May 5, and it is expected that their approval will be granted in the near future.

"At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Rock Island approximately 83 per cent of all the outstanding stock voted in favor of the proposed issue of thirty-year 4½ per cent convertible bonds."

When Your Business Interests Pass to Your Executor

IT IS sometimes difficult for a man to realize that his affairs will be on a different basis the moment his hand is finally lifted from their management. If you have business interests as owner, stockholder or partner, you should consider now what disposition of your affairs you should make by your will, and what choice of an executor and trustee will assure protection and proper service to your estate.

One of the strongest qualifications we can offer to the business man, as his executor and trustee, is our broad experience in handling a great variety of estates, including very large enterprises as well as smaller ones, involving many complex business problems.

The officers of our Trust Department, at any of our offices, will be glad to discuss with you the practical problems involved in the distribution and management of your estate.

MARKETS IN LONDON, PARIS AND BERLIN

FRENCH STOCKS STEADIER

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—A brighter atmosphere pervaded the stock markets today, but British Government stocks reacted in the afternoon after an early rally. The 5 per cent War Loan fell 3-16 to £101⅝, while the Funding Loan sank ⅜ to £89½. Dealings were begun in the New Zealand loan with prices opening at ⅛ discount but improving to par.

Anglo-American shares made further gains, especially His Master's Voice Gramophone, which jumped 7-32 to £5 3-32. Columbia Graphophone weakened, however, to £5 27-32 after touching £6⅛. General Electric leaped 2s to 48s 6d, while Associated Electric was 6d higher at 27s and Hydro Electric was a point up at $48¼. International Nickel and Brazilian Traction rose ⅝ each to $34 and $48⅞, respectively. Ford Motor was 1-16 higher at £3⅝, but British automobiles were weak. Courtauld's at £2 5-16 and British Celanese at 16s 3d were both dull, but other textiles were better with American Celanese rising 3-16 to £4 13-16.

White Star preference was steady at 11s in anticipation of the annual report and accounts tomorrow afternoon. Oils were firm, led by Royal Dutch at £33¼. Rhodesian coppers reacted after early strength. De Beers advanced 1-16 to £9 1-16.

Money was still abundant in Lombard Street, the overnight loan rate failing to rise above 1¾ per cent. Discount rates stiffened toward the close and 2⅛ per cent was quoted for three-month bills. Sterling exchange fell sharply to $4.85⅞, 3-16 below yesterday's price. The Bank of England announced the receipt of £1,050,000 in sovereigns from Australia and the sale of £881,546 in bar gold, which is believed to have gone to France. There has been a net influx for the week of £223,057 in gold.

Tone Stronger in Paris.

PARIS, May 7.—Advices indicating improvement in Wall Street influenced the Paris market today and trading was considerably better. Even coppers, which had been sharply weakening, were steadier, speculators here believing that the declines will automatically stimulate orders from consuming industries and thus bring about recovery; trading generally was more active.

Rentes were fairly well demanded and made slight gains, closing as follows: The 3 per cents, 87.45; 1918 4s, 100.10; 1920 amortizable 5s, 133.10; 1928 5s, 102.10; 1920 6s, 104.90; 1927 amortizable 6s, 104.95.

Prices Irregular in Berlin.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 7.—The low voltage group again dominated the market at today's session of the Boerse which otherwise was weak throughout. Lorenz improved five, Vogel Draht jumped 13 points to 87, and Hackethal rose 8 points, while Berlin Telephone and German Telephone and Cable also improved.

Among the mining group which was uneven Rheinstahl advanced 2½ points, Hoesch and Koelln Neussen also were harder, while other issues were weaker. The electricals and chemicals were neglected but steady. Artificial silks, Hirsch Kupfer and the potash group were soft. Call money was 4 to 6 per cent.

The optimistic annual report of the Dyes Trust, which speaks of "signs of gradual improvement," made a favorable impression in Boerse circles and is bound to satisfy shareholders. The report says that despite the general unfavorable situation in 1929, especially in the last quarter, the company's turnover was the same as the previous year. As far as dyes are concerned, the prospects are favorable. Development of the pharmaceutical and photographic branches was the most satisfactory. Domestic sales of fertilizer improved over 1928, while exports slightly decreased. The liquefying process in coal and tar also is progressing. Finally the report points out that liquid funds have greatly increased since the beginning of this year.

WILL PIPE GAS TO ARIZONA.

Special to The New York Times.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 7.—Natural gas is to be piped from the Oklahoma and Texas oil fields to supply Arizona copper smelters and domestic purchase, according to authentic sources, which today revealed negotiations of the Phelps Dodge and Calumet and Arizona mining companies.

Groups interested in the laying of the gigantic pipe line and its operation, it is said, are the Ford, Baker and Davis Company of New York City and the Sanderson and Potter Company.

Although a pipe line from the Mid-Western fields has been in operation to El Paso, Texas, for some time, it is understood that the proposed Arizona line will be a separate project, costing about $5,000,000.

The plans contemplate a terminal storage tank either at Douglas or Globe, Ariz., gas to be delivered for about 30 cents a thousand cubic feet.

Construction of a huge copper smelter at the point selected for the terminus of the gas line in Arizona, all concentrates to be shipped to this point for smelting, is proposed, dependent upon consummation of the merger of the two mining companies.

It was pointed out that the establishment of the gas line will eventually serve the Cananea Mining Company in Sonora, Mexico, and possibly the Arizona Edison Company.

PRICE CHANGES SLIGHT IN COUNTER SECURITIES

Market Without Trend, With Bank Stocks Mixed, Insurance Group Up, Industrials Down.

The over-the-counter securities market was devoid of any definite trend yesterday in a session of mild fluctuations. Bank stocks drifted without any special direction most of the day after a strong opening. Public, Bank of United States, Central Hanover, County and Lawyer's Title closed with gains, while Bankers, Irving America, Chase, City, Manhattan and others closed slightly lower.

Although trading was light, there was an upward trend in the insurance list. National Union Fire, Home Fire Security, Firemen's Fund, Aetna Casualty and Aetna Fire closed with gains. American Surety, Colonial States Fire, United States Merchants and Shippers and Springfield Fire and Marine closed off slightly.

There was a downward trend in the industrial group, which was moderately active. There were losses for Bancroft preferred, Dictaphone commmon, Hudson River Navigation commmon and Roxy Theatre A. Moving against the trend and closing with slight gains were Dry Ice, Woodward Iron common and Bowman Biltmore first and second preferred.

There was good demand and little offering of public utility preferred issues, while the common stocks fluctuated without trend. Chain stores, communications, sugars and bonds were quiet and showed few significant changes.

Bankrupt's Liabilities $1,840,950.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 7 (AP).—Barnard Press, who came to this country as an immigrant boy from Russia in 1903 and was peddling from a pack which he carried on his back in 1913, today in the United States District Court filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $1,840,950 and assets of $1,439,050. During the past few years a slump in the realty market caused his financial reverses.

ENDURING FINANCIAL RECORDS

A limited number of copies of The New York Times each day are printed on imperishable rag paper which will last indefinitely in files. Banks and business houses that place their announcements in The New York Times will have the assurance that their advertisements appearing in the newspaper preferred for such announcements will also be a permanent record.

DEALERS CUT RATES 1-8 OF 1% ON BILLS

Reduction on All Maturities Brings Yield Back to Levels of Third Week in March.

CALL FUNDS RENEW AT 3%

Further readjustments to the lower rediscount rate were made in the money market yesterday when bill dealers lowered the yield rates on all maturities one-eighth of 1 per cent, call money renewed at 3 per cent for the first time since March 23, and outside funds were lent at 2½ per cent.

The cut in bill rates brings the yield back to the levels which were reached in the third week of March when, under the temporary stimulus of a treasury overdraft, money became extremely easy. Since the announcement of the reduction in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York last Thursday from 3½ per cent to 3 per cent, bill rates have shown an average decline of one-half of 1 per cent. The new rates are: 2⅝ per cent bid, 2½ per cent asked for all maturities up to 120 days; 2⅞ per cent bid, 2¾ asked for five and six months' bills.

3 Per Cent Lower Than Year Ago.

Bill rates are now exactly 3 per cent below the levels which obtained one year ago and while dealers expect no immediate further reductions, it is considered possible that they may go even lower. It is recalled that the last time the rediscount rate was as low as 3 per cent, in 1924, bill rates dropped to an asking price a full 1 per cent below the bank rate. The present rate is one-half of 1 per cent below the bank rate.

The rate at which the Federal Reserve Bank buys bills was not changed yesterday to meet the open market reduction, so far as could be learned, but remains at 2¾ per cent. It is the general practice of the Reserve to delay a day in following open market reductions in order to give the new rates a chance to prove themselves. The volume of bills held by the bank has declined lately, largely because the bank, prior to last week's reduction in its rediscount rate, had been holding its bill-buying rate at 3 per cent, a level which attracted few bills. Another decline in the bank's bill portfolio is looked for in today's statement.

Recent Movement of Rates.

Bill rates reached the present levels during the third week in March, but were forced up again by the refusal of the Federal Reserve Bank to lower its buying rate. As a result of the injection into the market of more than $200,000,000 of additional Federal Reserve credit at the time of the treasury overdraft, contracted by the treasury to bridge the gap between payments and receipts on the March tax date, money rates dropped sharply in March. Call money on the Stock Exchange went to 2 per cent and outside funds went to 1½ per cent. The banks, anxious to employ their funds, bought bills and drove the rates down to an asking price of 2½ per cent.

It was thought at that time the Reserve Bank might lower its rediscount rate, but the bank not only failed to lower its rediscount rate, but held its bill-buying rate firmly at 3 per cent. As a result, when the influence of the overdraft wore off, bill rates were gradually marked up to 3 per cent.

The 3 per cent renewal rate posted yesterday by the Stock Exchange was maintained all day. Money brokers said, however, that a large supply of funds was available in the outside market at 2½ per cent.

RAID ON CURB LEADERS IS FELT BY UTILITIES

Most Gains Are Retained in Remainder of List—Oil Shares Are Dull.

A steady recovery in the Curb Exchange list was interrupted in the final trading yesterday by an aggressive bear raid on the leaders, which unsettled the market and brought losses to several utility shares. The list as a whole maintained its gains, however.

Among the declines were Electric Bond and Share, American and Foreign Power warrants, American Gas and Electric, American Light and Traction, United Light and Power A and Niagara Hudson Power. Deere & Co., St. Regis Paper and Stein Cosmetics moved lower in the industrial group. Oils were dull, with Vacuum weak. Goldman Sachs and Hydro Electric Securities eased in the trust section, where Central States advanced.

Newmont Mining, Irving Air Chute, Anglo-Chilean Nitrate and Copeland Products were among the stronger industrial shares. Middle West Utilities advanced in the utility section, as did Associated Gas and Electric A. Marine Midland also gained in active trading.

SEES INSURANCE AID IN MULTIPLE PLAN

TELLS OF LARGE SAVINGS

Insurer With Several Locations May Get Policies at 5 to 10% Less, It Is Said.

A defense of the multiple insurance plan of his company was given yesterday by Vincent Gallagher, chairman of the advisory board of the Interstate Underwriters Board, in a hearing before Albert Conway, State Superintendent of Insurance. The hearing was held because of protests by insurance brokers in this city, who complained that the plan provided, among other things, a 5 per cent reduction in commissions for brokers and agents.

Mr. Gallagher said his plan was beneficial to the public and did not discriminate against brokers and agents. He explained that it provided that a merchant operating five or more locations, who now must insure each location, may list the various locations on one policy. This was the first time a merchant or manufacturer in the territory of two-rating companies, he said, could turn to a single place to have his insurance business considered as a whole.

Another advantage of his plan, Mr. Gallagher said, is that now a merchant insuring stock valued at $100,000 for a year who may see fit to transfer part of it to another warehouse must pay a premium of one-fifth his annual premium and insure the goods again at the new warehouse at pro rata rate. His plan provides for the transfer from one location to another without these extra charges, he said.

The handling of insurance in bulk, he said, would reduce the collection overhead and duplication of work, and in this way enable the companies to allow the merchant a discount of 5 per cent on his annual premium, where he has five or more locations. The discount plan is scaled up to 10 per cent for companies having 100 or more locations, he said.

The hearing was adjourned until May 28 to give the brokers further chance to study the plan.

ACQUIRES 75% OF LORENZ.

I. T. & T. Purchase Made Through Philips Glow Lamps.

The International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation's interest in the C. Lorenz Company of Germany was acquired from the Philips Glow Lamps Corporation of Holland and amounts to about 75 per cent, according to cable dispatches from Germany yesterday, which also indicated that minority holders in the Lorenz Company were receiving the same offer as the Philips interests, or about 185 marks a share.

The holdings in the C. Lorenz Company were acquired as a move in the patent dispute between the International and the Telefunken Radio Company, all of whose German telephone manufacturing business will be divided between the Siemens-Halske and International interests. A large majority of this business goes to the Siemens group, in view of its predominant position in German telephone manufacture, the dispatches said.

Stockholders of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company approved yesterday an amendment to the by-laws of the corporation changing the date of directors' meetings from the third Thursday to the fourth Thursday in September, December and March. The fourth regular directors' meeting of the year will be held on the first Wednesday in May, as has been the custom.

WHEAT DROPS HARD AFTER SMALL RISE

CORN IS ALSO UP AND DOWN

May Oats End at a Cent Above July, Largest Premium of Season—Rye Is Off.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 7.—The wheat market these days passes quickly from an oversold to an overbought condition. A small advance early today was followed by a break to within a fraction of the lowest figures of the season when shorts had covered and pressure had increased from cash and commission houses. The finish was at net losses of 1¾ to 2½ cents, with support lacking on the way down. Sellers of bids were forced to protect themselves.

Scattered buying early was based on firmness in Liverpool and on reports of excessive rains and floods in parts of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. The May delivery started strong and at one time sold at ½ cent over the July, only to weaken later to a 1 cent discount with trade small. Some buying on the extreme break was by brokers who usually act for the government.

Houses with Eastern connections, presumably operating for leading local professionals, were sellers of the deferred futures on the way down, and selling was sufficiently heavy to affect values as well as sentiment. The latter remains distinctly bearish.

Weather Reports Favorable.

The government weekly weather crop report and private returns were construed as generally favorable. The Northwest has received enough rain to give the crop a good start, and in parts of South Dakota that have had little moisture for some time the outlook is said to be the best in several years.

Winnipeg was 1⅜@1¾ cents lower, while Minneapolis was weak. Liverpool finished unchanged to ¼d higher. Buenos Aires was 1½@1⅝ cents lower.

Rumors that some new crop Winters had been sold for export were unconfirmed. Sales of 600,000 to 700,000 bushels of old-crop grain were reported in all positions, largely Manitobas, but including some hard Winters.

Primary receipts were 383,000 bushels; a week ago 513,000, and a year ago 370,000. Shipments were 654,000 bushels; a week ago 567,000, and a year ago 1,368,000.

Corn Reacts After Upturn.

Continued wet weather over the greater part of the corn belt, with an active shipping demand, small receipts and liberal shipments, sent up values of corn, but the late weakness in wheat led to local selling and the finish was near the bottom, with prices ⅛ cent higher to ½ cent lower, the former on May. It is said that a leading industry owns virtually all the cash corn in public elevators here, which accounts for the small deliveries, as they have to be made on track. The spot basis was steady to ½ cent higher, with shipping sales 128,000 bushels.

Primary receipts of corn were [illegible],000 bushels; a week ago, 1,037,000, and a year ago, 568,000. Shipments were 1,282,000 bushels; a week ago, 630,000, and a year ago, 562,000.

May oats closed at 1 cent over the July delivery, the widest premium of the season, with cash interests on the buying side. Early spreading with July was at ¾ cent difference. Final trades were ¼ cent higher to ½ cent lower, with the close around the inside figures in sympathy with other grains.

Rye closed ⅞ cent to 1¼ cents lower, most of the trading being in spreading operations.

Prices for the principal grains were as follows:

VOTE TO CURTAIL COTTON MILL HOURS

Southern Manufacturers Endorse Plan of Textile Institute at Pinehurst Convention.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., May 7.—After endorsing the program of the Cotton Textile Institute to curtail weekly working hours to a maximum of 50 for night and 55 for day workers, with no overtime, the American Cotton Manufacturers Association adjourned its annual convention today.

Approval of the curtailment project already bearing the sanction of a number of individual mills but never officially endorsed by the association, came in the resolutions adopted at the business session this morning, from which the press was barred.

B. E. Geer of Greenville, S. C., president of the Judson Mills, was elected president, but the selection of next year's meeting place was left to the board of governors, which will meet later in the year.

An explanation of why the National Industrial Conference Board quit publishing Southern textile hourly and weekly wages in its monthly statistical summaries was offered by Stuart W. Cramer. He said that the number of Southern mills reporting payroll data had become practically negligible.

"Southern textile working conditions and wages are probably more misrepresented, both through ignorance and malice, than those of any other industry in the United States," Mr. Cramer said, suggesting that the association have a disinterested party to determine and publish the equivalent of extras provided by Southern mills in addition to actual wages when comparing scales of Northern and Southern mills.

President Lincoln Baylies of the National Association, was a guest of the Southerners and pleaded for cooperation of the northern mill interests toward curtailment.

"Little has been said about it, but the New England mills have been curtailing," he said.

In addition to President Geer the following officers were elected:

Cason J. Calloway of La Grange, Ga., first vice president.

B. B. Gosset, Charlotte, N. C., second vice president.

E. M. McLaurine of Charlotte, secretary-treasurer.

J. H. Cheatham of Griffin, Ga.; A. K. Wingate of Gastonia, N. C.; George H. Lanier of Lanett, Ala.; S. M. Bailey of Greenville, S. C., and F. J. Haywood of Concord, N. C., were elected to the board of governors.

ACTS ON WHITESTONE LINE.

I. C. C. Gives 30-Day Extension for Abandoning of Long Island Branch.

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP).—A thirty-day extension of the time in which it may abandon operations on its Whitestone Branch on Long Island was given the Long Island Railroad today by an Interstate Commerce Commission order. The branch must now be kept in operation until June 10.

Although the Long Island system holds permission to cease operations provided it institutes bus service for the public, the New York Transit Commission has asked a reconsideration of its status. The extension of time will enable that to be done.

COTTON IRREGULAR IN NERVOUS TRADING

TRADE PURCHASES ON DIPS

Egyptian Prices for Futures Rise From Government Buying, as From Farm Board Deals Here.

Fluctuations on the Cotton Exchange were nervous and irregular yesterday, with old crop positions losing more than a quarter cent of the premiums established on Tuesday. Reports that 5,000 bales of American cotton would be shipped from Havre for delivery in New York, as well as some cotton from mill stocks for tender on July, caused selling of near months against purchases of distant deliveries. Trade price-fixing after a 30-point decline in July, took contracts from the market, leaving final quotations 13 points lower to 14 points higher on the day.

Exports are now 1,088,000 bales behind the same date last season. The amount certificated for delivery aggregates 366,000, with 15,000 to 20,000 bales in New York still being classed, of which 5,000 arrived in the last forty-eight hours.

Though Indian markets remained closed on account of political disturbances, which depressed European cotton circles, distant futures in Alexandria rose sharply ¾ cent and sold nearer the spot delivery than for several months. Government operations have been conducted in Egypt, with deliveries being made of all surplus stocks. This carried distant positions there several cents below the government purchasing figure, but yesterday July sold only 65 points under May in Alexandria.

Operations of the Farm Board have had similar results in the local market, July widening to 230 points over the October delivery before attracting sufficient selling pressure to narrow the spread to around 200 points in late trading.

Effects of the weekly weather report in showing that germination has been retarded by dry soil conditions throughout Eastern sections of the cotton belt were offset by predictions of rain over the Mississippi Valley and Atlantic States. Heavy rains fell again in Texas and Oklahoma, but the Weather Bureau issued a forecast of clearing weather in that region today.

MONTGOMERY WARD TO ENTER JAMAICA

$1,000,000 Department Store to Be Opened There About July 1.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Montgomery Ward & Co., mail-order and chain-store merchandisers, will open a department store in Jamaica, Long Island, representing an investment of about $1,000,000, it was learned here today. It is planned to open the store about July 1.

The store will be a four-story and basement structure on a plot 125 by 180 feet at 151st Street and Jamaica Avenue.

Establishment of a department store in Jamaica by Montgomery Ward & Co. is regarded by persons informed as to the policy of the company as the first step in a long rumored invasion of the New York territory. In the last year it has been reported that the company has obtained sites for stores in Westchester County, Newark and various other places, as well as within the limits of New York City. The company steadfastly refused to confirm any of these reports.

Brokers who have kept in close touch with the company's policy said yesterday that undoubtedly the company had options on various other sites in the metropolitan district. They advanced the opinion that Jamaica had been selected as the first place in which a store would be opened and that the success of operations there would determine further expansion of the company in the retail field in this vicinity.

Six of the former A. A. Adams stores have been purchsed at the receiver's sale by the F. and W. Grand-Silver Stores, Inc., it was announced yesterday. In addition to the store sites, fixtures and improvements to the properties, as well as a considerable quantity of merchandise, were included in the sale.

Investment and Business Advice You Should Have

WHATEVER else is true the future can be most safely calculated from an authoritative, comprehensive record of the past.

The Babsonchart, the foundation of Babson's Reports, has been prepared over a period of 26 years at a cost of many hundred thousands of dollars. Thousands of dollars are annually spent in keeping it up-to-date.

This chart graphically portrays an astonishingly true picture of America's efficiency and activity. Daily, innumerable reports pour into the central office to be compiled and analyzed. Scores of persons work—piling up almost unlimited facts and data so that you may have an up-to-the-moment perspective of business and finance.

The Babsonchart is thoro. It is mathematically correct. It is based upon a combined tabulation and analysis of the basic factors affecting business and financial conditions. Among the many items included in calculating the chart are: the production of pig iron, copper, coal, petroleum and lumber; receipts for cattle, hogs, sheep, wool, corn, wheat and oats; cotton in sight; consumption of cotton and wool; production of beef, pork, lard, lamb and mutton; output of flour and steel ingots; sugar meltings; lumber shipments; new building, imports and exports.

The chart records U.S. business conditions from 1904, and is brought up-to-date weekly. It is invaluable to executives and investors. This chart reveals business history—and indicates the trend of stocks, bonds, commodity prices and business conditions with remarkable thoroness and impartiality. With this chart can be secured Babson's Business and Financial Reports, containing comprehensive timely knowledge of present business and financial conditions and foresight into the future.

The cost of securing the knowledge revealed by the Babsonchart and by Babson's Reports would be prohibitive for any individual or concern—even the largest—but when this cost is divided among the thousands of Babson clients the cost is negligible.

DEMAND IRREGULAR FOR IRON AND STEEL

Weekly Reviews Report Gain in Some Groups Offset by Declines in Others.

PRICES STILL DOWNWARD

Iron and steel prices have undergone additional readjustments during the last week, according to the summaries of the trade publications. It is declared that the support the automotive industry and other lines are lending to the situation is neutralized by the cautiousness of other large buying groups, and production shows a further slight curtailment.

The Iron Age market summary says in part: "Iron and steel prices have undergone additional readjustments, buying remains exceedingly cautious and production shows further slight curtailment, with ingot output for the country averaging 77 per cent, compared with 78 per cent last week.

"In a spotty market, with expanding demand for certain products offset by diminishing requirements in other lines, it is difficult to discern a definite trend. Although steel plants have been producing considerably less than in 1929, their output compares favorably with that of previous years.

"Price weakness, although still evident, is not a new development in iron and steel, since the trend of the market has been downward since the middle of 1929. As measured by The Iron Age composite for finished steel, prices are $3.68 a net ton lower than twelve months ago and the recession in individual products has been even more severe, in the case of wire nails amounting to $10 a ton.

"The protracted character of the decline in prices has led some of the more hopeful spirits in the industry to look for a turn, although signs of such a change are still lacking.

Large Pipe Line Contracts.

"For the third consecutive week pipe line awards feature steel demand. The National Tube Company has booked a total of over 300,000 tons in three weeks. On top of 480 miles of twenty-four-inch seamless pipe for a Southwestern gas line to be laid for the H. L. Doherty interests, it will supply 250 miles of 6⅝-inch seamless pipe for part of a gasoline line to be built by the Sun Oil Company from Philadelphia to Cleveland and 80 miles of 8⅝-inch for a gas line for the Atlantic Refining Company. The long talked of Amarillo-Chicago gas line is now believed to be coming to a head, while the Southern Natural Gas Corporation plans to lay an 800-mile line in the Southwestern States."

The Iron Trade Review says in part:

"Steelmaking rates attest the dull market. For the fourth consecutive week Steel Corporation subsidiaries are unchanged at 80 per cent. Finishing mill rates at Youngstown are off slightly, to just below 70 per cent this week. At Cleveland they have declined from 85 per cent to 79, and at Buffalo from 70 per cent to 68. Chicago rates are little changed at 90 to 95 per cent, and Pittsburgh at 75.

"Freight car awards this week, other than 500 refrigerator cars for the Union Refrigerator Transit Company, were miscellaneous. Three thousand are pending, including 2,200 for the Illinois Central, 500 for the Minneapolis & St. Louis and 200 for the Erie. The Amtorg Trading Corporation, buying for Russia, is inquiring for 450 cars. April freight car buying totaled 1,941 units, compared with 6,001 in March and 8,205 last April. For 1930 to date freight car awards have totaled 29,829; last year, 49,368; and two years ago, 23,381.

Sheet Bookings Irregular.

"Some makers of sheets note slight improvement in demand, traceable to the automotive industry, but from miscellaneous sources bookings are lighter."

The Iron Age composite price for finished steel has dropped to 2.228 cents a pound, from 2.24 cents the preceding week. It is $3.68 a net ton below the price of a year ago. The pig iron composite price remains at $17.67 a gross ton, $1 below what it was a year ago.

The Iron Trade Review composite declined 32 cents in the last week to $33.96. Not since January, 1927, has the composite moved so violently in one week. For ten weeks now it has receded, and at present is the lowest since the first week of April, 1922.

WASHINGTON APPROVES HARLEM BRIDGE PLAN

War Department Sanction Clears the Way for City's Triborough Bridge System.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The War Department approved today an application of the New York City Department of Plant and Structures to build a bridge across the Harlem River between 125th Street, Manhattan, and Randall's Island.

At a hearing held by the district engineer in New York objections to the plans submitted were offered by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Tow Boat Exchange.

The city revised the plans, which provided for a bascule bridge, to arrange for a lift bridge and increased the vertical clearance from fifty to fifty-five feet, with a horizontal clearance of 290 feet between abutments of the channel span and 204 feet at right angles to the channel.

The Harlem River Bridge is one of four planned by the city in its triborough bridge system which will link Manhattan, Queens and the Bronx. The War Department has approved the other three, and work has been started on the Queens site at Jamaica. The entire system will cost about $30,000,000.

The delay in approving the Harlem Bridge resulted from a hearing at the Army Building, 34 Whitehall Street, last Summer, at which transportation men objected to the plan as submitted by the city's engineering department. The idea of the triborough bridge system was approved, but details of the Harlem structure were considered potentially dangerous. The plans were then revised, and at the suggestion of the army engineers a dam at the Bronx Kills was added to the bridge scheme to regulate the waters of the kills and the Harlem River.

Approval by the War Department of the Harle mBridge clears the way for the completion of the triborough bridge system.

Export Association Will Use Radio to Push Foreign Trade

A series of weekly radio talks in the interests of increased foreign trade will be launched late this month by the American Manufacturers' Export Association, according to a statement issued yesterday by that organization. The first address is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, May 31, and will be delivered over WEAF by Edward N. Hurley, president of the export association. Other addresses will be given each Saturday night thereafter.

The program, the first of its kind undertaken by a national organization of exporters, is made possible through the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States which will relinquish part of its radio time on Saturday nights to the association.

APRIL IRON PRODUCTION REDUCED FROM 1929

Daily Average Above Preceding Months, but Smallest for April Since 1922.

The country's iron production in April, as estimated by The Iron Age, was 3,181,868 tons, or an average of 106,062 tons per working day. This compares with 3,246,171 tons in March and a daily average of 104,715. Measured by the daily average the month's production last month was the smallest of any April since 1922, and the output during the four completed months, 12,094,423 tons, has been exceeded in ten out of the past fourteen years. The years during that period in which April output fell short of last month's production were 1922, 1921, 1918 and 1915.

PLEADS PHARMACY IDEALS.

President Dunning at Baltimore Asks Medical Cooperation.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, May 7.—A strong plea for closer cooperation between the American Pharmaceutical Association and the American Medical Association was made by Dr. H. A. B. Dunning, president of the former, in his annual address today to the 800 delegates of that body in its seventy-eighth annual convention here.

The most serious problem facing American pharmacy, President Dunning said, is the over-merchandizing craze among druggists.

It has become difficult, by viewing a drug store, to tell whether it is a drug store, a department store or a tea room, he declared. This condition interferes with the druggist's fundamental service, which is to serve humanity in its search for health, Dr. Dunning said. The ideals of pharmacy must be as high as the ideals which lie behind the practice of medicine and surgery, he continued.

"The public needs and will demand professional pharmacy service free of the distractions of over-commercializing influence and environment," he said.

EXECUTIVES TO MEET HERE.

Fundamental principles underlying the successful organization and operation of business concerns will be discussed at the annual Spring convention of the American Management Association to be held at the Hotel Astor on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Among the business men scheduled to speak are Edgar W. Smith, assistant to the president, export division, General Motors Corporation, who will speak on "Organization and Operating Principles"; Malcolm C. Rorty, vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, who will discuss "The Organization of the Managing Group," and J. P. Jordan of Stevenson, Harrison & Jordan, who will speak on "Principles of Incentives for Executives."

DRY GOODS JOBBERS TAKE MERGER STEP

FOUR MORE FIRMS SOUGHT

M. J. Howlett Explains Companies Will Be Recapitalized as United Dry Goods Corp.

Acquisition by the Ely & Walker Dry Goods Company of St. Louis of the assets of the Walton N. Moore Dry Goods Company, San Francisco, and the Watts-Ritter Company, Huntington, W. Va., was described here yesterday as the first step in the eventual formation of the United Dry Goods Corporation by H. J. Howlett, who has been active in promoting the merger. Plans under way, he said, call for the recapitalization of the Ely & Walker Company into the United Dry Goods Corporation. Negotiations are continuing, it is understood, for the acquisition of four other large wholesalers, which will make the combine the largest in the wholesale dry goods field.

The initial overtures for the merger began in September, 1928. They had reached almost the final stage last November when the crash in the stock market caused them to be dropped, Mr. Howlett said. The current Ely & Walker acquisition marks the latest development in the working out of the merger, with the other firms mentioned as eventual participants being A. Krolik & Co., Detroit; the Arbuthnot, Stephenson Company, Pittsburgh; Finch, Van Slyck & McConville, St. Paul, and one other large firm, the identity of which was not disclosed.

Originally, Mr. Howlett said, it was planned to bring eleven wholesale firms into the merger, but this number has now been pruned down to six or seven. Another modification of the scheme, he declared, has been the abandonment of the plan of having retail stores participate in the merger.

He added that all of the firms participating will retain their present management and trade unions. Application will be made to list the stock of the United Dry Goods Corporation on the New York Stock Exchange, according to Mr. Howlett. No definite date has been set for this action, which awaits completion of pending deals and the final set up of the organization. Prince & Whitely will handle the financing.

Sales of the Ely & Walker company last year totaled $44,000,000, those of the Moore company about $9,000,000 and of the Watts-Ritter concern about $4,000,000, a total of $57,000,000. The wholesale market purchases of all three firms will now be consolidated through the local Ely & Walker office at 57 Worth Street.

The preferred stock of the two purchased companies is being retired and payment for all other assets will be made in common stock of the Ely & Walker company. Transfer of the assets will be made about June 1.

The Ely & Walker company was founded in 1878 and during the last fifteen years has developed many nationally known manufactured lines. At present it is operating thirty-three factories and is also active in the converting field in a large way. Its capital and surplus is $18,297,000.

The locations of both the Moore and Watts-Ritter companies are believed strategic for the development of the national wholesale distribution plans as contemplated by the United Dry Goods Corporation.

Cloth Trade Near Standstill as Result of Indian Move.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—Indian plans to intensify the foreign boycott which V. J. Patel, aide to Mahatma Gandhi, yesterday in Bombay declared to be "more important than any other program of the Indian National Congress," have seriously disturbed French, German and Japanese cloth manufacturers as well as impoverished British factory owners.

"The best weapon for Indian independence," as Mr. Patel puts it, is considered likely in Manchester to bring Lancashire's cotton trade with India to a complete standstill. Already confidence has been so undermined that for some weeks the exports to India have been little more than a trickle.

Thousands of operatives have been joining the growing army of unemployed, now numbering almost 1,700,000, as mill after mill has closed its doors indefinitely. There is only the slightest chance of British cloth and cotton goods being sold in India in the next few months, according to advices here.

STRUCTURAL STEEL DROPS.

Week's Awards 27,000 Tons, as Against 42,000 Preceding Week.

Structural steel awards in the last week did not come up to the increased activity of the previous seven days, according to The Iron Age, which gives 27,000 tons as the amount ordered this past week, as compared with 42,000 the previous week. Discussing the details of the awards made during the week, the publication says:

"New work that came into the market amounted to a little more than 20,000 tons, of which 9,000 tons are for two New York office buildings, one at 70 Broad Street and the other at Broadway and Forty-first Street. Public schools in New York call for 1,350 tons.

"Outstanding awards of the week were 7,000 tons for bridge requirements of the Santa Fe Railroad, 3,575 tons for a postoffice in Baltimore, 3,000 tons for an office building in Kansas City, Mo.; 1,600 tons for tanks at Bay City, Mich., for the Pure Oil Company, and 1,600 tons for a power house at Indianapolis, Ind., for the Indianapolis Power and Light Company.

Recommends Pan-American Day.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The governing board of the Pan American Union today recommended that April 14 be observed as Pan-American Day in all the republics of the American Continent as the anniversary of the adoption by the First International Conference of American States of the resolution creating the Pan American Union. The day would be a commemorative symbol of the sovereignty of the American nations and their voluntary union. The national flags of all the countries would be displayed. The recommendation will be referred to the various Pan-American Governments for action.

Hot Weather Cuts Spring Buying.

Although welcome as a spur to consumer interest in Summer merchandise, the warm weather of the last week has brought with it no small problem in the merchandising of Spring lines. Retailers of men's clothing were said yesterday to be facing the loss of a large part of their normal Spring season. Their pre-Easter volume proved disappointing and the radical change in temperature swung interest to hot weather garments, with the result that the carryover into the Fall may prove sizeable. Similar situations have developed in boys' apparel, sports wear, sweaters, &c., in the merchandising of which the sudden hot weather found adverse reflection.

Foresee No Radical Style Changes.

The majority of designers now abroad will return within the next two or three weeks with ideas which will guide coat and dress preparations for the early Fall. As the situation appears now, there will be no radical change in the dress silhouette for the new season, one fashion authority here said yesterday. Most of the changes will concern details, she asserted, with the silhouette itself quite definitely set. It is still too early to discern trends in new coat styles, this stylist added, but in this field also it does not appear that any marked change in styles is likely.

Fur Sale Brings $4,500,000.

The annual Spring fur auction of Frederick Huth & Co. was brought to a close yesterday with the sale of a fair collection of silver fox pelts. Prices on fine grade skins remained unchanged, but all other types showed an advance of 25 per cent in price. The entire collection of silvers sold exceedingly well. Full and three-quarter silvers brought a top price of $285. Half-silvers brought a high of $190, and both one-quarter and dark silvers reached $82. Sales for the day were $200,000. The total for the entire auction was $4,500,000, more than half of which represented actual sales.

Spot Orders Tax Underwear Trade.

A flood of requests for spot merchandise to meet the current consumer demand for men's lightweight underwear is taxing the facilities of selling agents in the local market this week. The call for goods available for immediate delivery is also felt in the men's and women's hosiery field, where selling agents for popular price goods report a general inquiry on their lines. Most of the underwear mills have been able to meet the current requirements from reserve stocks, but a number are as much as three weeks behind on orders.

Sampling Fall Shoe Leathers.

While considerable sampling of leathers for women's Fall shoes is being done, buying for the new season tends to be cautious. Interest centres to a degree in kid and lightweight glazed calf, with patent leather commanding more attention than a year ago. It is held likely that there will be considerable use of genuine and simulated reptile leathers for trimmings, although some question exists as to how strong favor will be for shoes entirely of the reptile grains. At the moment there is a demand for white and linen shoes, together with active and spectator sports types.

Many Calls for Beach Garments.

Numerous calls have developed during the week for beach garments and bathing suits. Beach pajamas and overalls have been outstanding and new records for the sale of these items are forecast for the coming season. In bathing suits the trend is toward the modified sun tan versions, although there is a sprinkling of orders for the more extreme effects. The one-piece suit has met with expanded buying interest, particularly in navy and black. Stocks of bathing suits in the hands of the stores are reported light and with an early start on retail selling reorders are expected to prove heavy.

Manufacturers this week shipped the first samples of Fall furniture in preparation for the opening of Fall lines here next month. A representative assortment of the new lines will be assembled by the latter part of next week. Reports of increased activity in retail sales have brought encouragement to selling agents here who appear confident of a heavy reorder business during the month. A few reorders on Summer merchandise were received yesterday. Representatives of buying syndicates have also been in the market this week in search of similar merchandise.

Launch Straw Hat Displays.

Continued warm weather is prompting retailers to push ahead their straw hat preparations, and window trims will be made in many of the local stores today or tomorrow. While not displayed, straw hat shipments reached many of the chain units yesterday, and sales to consumers were made in quite a few instances. The sennit with medium crown and brim is expected to dominate, with Panamas and Milan body hats held likely to meet with a better demand than a year ago. The fancy bands will reflect a more conservative trend. Recent calls for Spring felts have declined somewhat because of the higher temperatures.

Lightweight Burlaps Lower.

Lightweight spot burlaps here have dropped 20 points under those of last week, but heavyweights are held at the previous level. A fair demand was experienced for both grades. Prices on futures declined from 5 to 15 points below the week preceding. Demand in the Calcutta market is reported fair. These prices were quoted here yesterday on standard forty-inch burlaps by C. E. Rockstroh & Co.:

	8-Oz.	10½-Oz.
Spots	5.30c	6.70c
May shipment	5.30c	6.60c
June shipment	5.30c	6.65c
July-September shipment	5.35c	6.75c
October-December shipment	5.40c	6.85c

Gray Goods Trading Sluggish.

Another day of sluggish trading on the gray goods market yesterday brought reports that 38½-inch 64-60s had weakened in price and could be obtained at 6 cents for near-by delivery. Buyers were unable to obtain cloth at the lower price yesterday, however, as mills refused offers of less than 6⅛ cents. All orders yesterday were for small lots. Prices for 38½-inch 60-48s were quoted at 5⅛ cents and for 39-inch 68-72s at 7 cents. A few limited orders for 36-inch 64-60s were filled at 5¾ cents.

NEW TRADING RULES FOR COTTONSEED OIL

GRADING METHOD OUTLINED

First-Call Transactions on Deliveries From November, 1930, to April 1931.

Trading in cottonseed oil under new rules will begin today on the New York Produce Exchange, it was decided by the board of managers in a resolution adopted yesterday. These rules provide that transactions on the first call may be for delivery in any month from November, 1930, to April, 1931, and that a new month be added to the futures market at the ending of each month of trading. Their purpose is to standardize the business done in that commodity.

The new rules set up also that a contract shall be for 60,000 pounds of loose oil. Transactions will be permitted under the old rules for delivery up to and including December, 1930, but the resolution provided that all bids and offers made under the old rules shall particularly specify "old contract." The new rules regarding contract grade, price basis, tenders and storage rate are:

CONTRACT GRADE—The contract grade shall be bleachable prime Summer yellow cottonseed oil, and Summer yellow to pass as prime bleachable must be clear, free from water and settlings, sweet in flavor and odor, and when bleached in accordance with the prescribed methods the color of the oil to be passed upon shall not be darker than the combined standard glasses 20 Yellow, 2.5 Red of Lovibond's color scale and shall not contain more than one-quarter of 1 per cent free fatty acid.

PRICE BASIS—The price basis shall be in cents and hundredths thereof per pound in licensed bonded warehouse storage tanks, basis f. o. b. New York.

TENDERS—Each contract shall be tendered only from bonded warehouse licensed by New York Produce Exchange, bonded warehouses being established at such point or points as designated by the Exchange.

STORAGE RATE—The storage rate in bonded warehouses shall be 10 cents per 100 pounds for the first month or fraction thereof and 7½ cents per 100 pounds for each succeeding month or fraction thereof.

BEATTY IS OPTIMISTIC ON BUSINESS IN CANADA

Canadian Pacific President Looks for Return of Normal Conditions Soon.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, May 7.—The same confidence in the future of Canada expressed by the Canadian Pacific Railway in its policies and former pronouncement was dominant in the address of E. W. Beatty, president, to the shareholders of the company at the annual meeting today.

There is not, in Mr. Beatty's opinion, any general or widespread depression in Canada and nothing of a fundamental character which should prevent the return of normal conditions within a few months.

The strength of the country, he believes, has been proved, and Canada has only a short step to take to reach a position of general and healthy prosperity.

A decrease in gross earnings of $8,931,000 and in net earnings of $3,957,000 was reported, due to the reduced movement in grain and in general merchandise in consequence of the lessened purchasing power of the country.

"The net operating revenue for the year," Mr. Beatty said, "amounted to 3.9 per cent on the investment in railway property and the surplus from railway operations was of very modest character. It is only fair to point out that if the company had received the fair rate of return permitted under the transportation act of the United States, its net earnings for 1929 would have been over $20,000,000 in excess of what they actually were."

With the beginning of the grain movement, Mr. Beatty said, the stockholders could be reasonably assured that the effect will be a gradual betterment in conditions, "and granted normal crop the Fall business should show an improvement over that of last year."

Robert S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Ont., was appointed to the directorate. He is president of the General Motors Corporation of Canada.

Brooklyn Buildings Rented.

The Irvean Jewelry Company, Inc., has leased 148 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, from the Jacob Realty Corporation. The Powell Real Estate Company, the broker, also leased 387 Jay Street to a cafeteria company for fifteen years at a total rental of $90,000, and the building at 703 Fulton Street for M. Felix & Co. to Nicholas Manos for another cafeteria.

MRS. OTTMANN LEFT $400,000 TO CHARITY

SON IS CHIEF BENEFICIARY

Mrs. Katherine D. Blake, Former Wife of Clarence Mackay, Gave Large Estate to Blake Children.

More than $400,000 is distributed among fifteen religious and educational and public institutions by the will of Mrs. Madeleine L. Ottmann, daughter of the late George Ehret, brewer, filed yesterday for probate. The testatrix, who died last Sunday at her home, 320 Park Avenue, inherited more than $5,000,000 from her father. The largest institutional legacies were $50,000 to Columbia University and $33,333.33 to Lenox Hill Hospital. The other bequests follow:

$15,000—Society of St. Vincent de Paul, House of Calvary, Catholic Institute for Blind, Seton Hospital.

$10,000—Trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral for maintenance and upkeep of Camp Lavelle, Monroe, N. Y.; House of Rest of Stainridge.

Mrs. Ottmann also left $20,000 to an institution in this State for cancer research to be chosen by Dr. Hugo Auchincloss, 171 East Seventieth Street.

Wilder G. Penfield, M. D., Montreal, gets $50,000 for neurological research work.

The chief beneficiary under the testament is a son, William Ottmann Jr., 18 years old, who lives at the Park Avenue address. He gets personal and household effects, a life estate in $1,000,000 and a $50,000 annuity from a trust created from the residue during his minority. Afterward he is to be paid the entire net income of the fund until he becomes 25, when he gets half the principal; the balance is to be paid him at 35. The youth's father, William Ottmann, from whom the testatrix was separated, is head of a printing and lithographing concern and resides at 105 East Seventy-third Street.

The principal of the $1,000,000 fund passes to the son's children at his death, and if he has none, bequests ranging from $20,000 to $100,000 go to Columbia and most of the other institutions named.

To her step-daughter, Arthemise B. Ottmann, 435 East Fifty-seventh Street, Mrs. Ottmann left $100,000 and jewelry, and to her brother, Louis J. Ehret, Savoy Plaza Hotel, $50,000.

Two nephews get $25,000 each and ten other relatives and employes get bequests of from $2,000 to $10,000 each.

Will of Mrs. Blake.

The will of Mrs. Katherine Duer Blake, former wife of Dr. Joseph A. Blake, distinguished surgeon, and of Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company, was offered yesterday for probate. It makes no provision for her three children by Mr. Mackay and leaves most of her large estate to four minor children by Dr. Blake.

The will names one of the Mackay children, John W. Mackay, 136 East Sixty-fourth Street, and Millie McWean, who has served the family as governess since 1913, as the Blake children's guardians and directs the executors to retain Miss McWean as their governess at an annual salary of $1,600, in addition to board, lodging and incidental expenses, until the youngest child becomes 21.

"In the exercise of the duties imposed on the guardians of my children," wrote Mrs. Blake, "with reference to their care, maintenance and education, it is my desire that the advice of Millie McWean as to their moral and physical welfare have due consideration given to it, as I have confidence in her loyal devotion to them and to me, and likewise that she will care for their welfare and bringing up in accordance with my views." Miss McWean, a native of Birkenhead, England, also gets $5,000 outright under the will.

The children, who live at 12 East Eighty-seventh Street, are Mary, 8 years old; William, 12; Joan, 13, and Katherine, 14. The residuary estate is to be held in trust for them until the death or marriage of Mary, when the principal is to be shared among them equally. Katherine receives her mother's books, and she and the others divide other effects equally.

Mrs. Blake, who belonged to an old New York family, expressed the hope that the Eighty-seventh Street apartment would remain the permanent home of all the children until Mary becomes 21 or marries, and authorizes the executors to pay the rent for the place.

Regarding the Mackay children—Mrs. Ellin Berlin, wife of Irving Berlin, song writer; Mrs. Katherine O'Brien and John William Mackay,—Mrs. Blake said in the will:

"I make no provision for the children of my marriage with Clarence H. Mackay because they have been amply provided for under a trust deed made by their grandfather, John W. Mackay, at the time of my marriage to his son, and will probably be otherwise amply provided for."

Henry W. Taft, brother of the late William Howard Taft, of 300 Park Avenue, was a witness to the document, which was signed on Jan. 10, 1929. Miss McWean, John W. Mackay and the Guaranty Trust Company were named executors. Mrs. Blake died on April 19 last.

William L. Abbott Will.

William Latham Abbott of Pittsburgh and Mountain Lake, Fla., who was chairman of the board of directors of the Carnegie Steel Company when he retired from business in 1892, left his entire estate of undetermined value in trust to his widow, Mrs. Annie Abbott of Cobourg, Can., according to his will, filed yesterday.

After her death the trust is to be continued during the lives of two daughters, Anne Abbott, Florence, Italy, who is to get an $8,000 annuity, and Ruth Abbott Cobourg, who gets a $6,000 annuity. The balance of income, if any, goes in equal shares to five other children.

A son, Franklin Abbott, St. James, L. I., and the City Bank Farmers Trust Company, are the executors. Mr. Abbott died here on May 2 leaving New York property valued at more than $10,000.

Ferguson Gets Long Island Estate.

Fred F. Ferguson, president of the Newspaper Enterprise Association, has bought for occupancy a five-acre estate known as Fairway in the Huntington Bay section of Long Island. The property faces the Huntington Bay golf course and overlooks the bay. The estate is valued at $60,000, according to Milton L'Ecluse, who arranged the sale in conjunction with Francis E. Ruland.

SUGAR, COFFEE, COCOA.

Sugar.

All future positions with the single exception of May established new low closing quotations in the sugar market yesterday. The changes were from 2 to 3 points lower through May, 1931. Raw sugar was easier, although there was a confirmed sale of 1,000 tons of duty-free Philippine raw for June-July shipment at 3.42 cents. At the close of 1.45 for July contract at last night's market a justified price for such a sale would be several points lower so that this actual sale was disregarded by traders but was held significant of the market's trend. Refiners are holding off and show no interest in sugar at 1½ cents a pound. The nearby closing prices on future positions last night would indicate that a demand for spot sugar might be developed at around 1 17-16.

There was no change in the refined sugar quotations at 4.90 and second hand refined continued to sell at 4.65.

Coffee.

The two May positions in the coffee futures market both for the A and D contracts showed yesterday the day's widest changes on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange. The contract A for May this year closed with an increase of 4 points and May, 1931, on the same contract closed 5 points higher. On the contract D, the present month showed an increase of 6 points while the May, 1931, position showed a net decline of 3 points. Other positions on the A contract were 4 points higher to 4 points lower, while on the D contract all were from 1 to 4 points lower. The F contract remained unchanged.

MAXIM BANS GUN SILENCER.

Adapts Invention to Other Needs—Sails on Aquitania.

Hiram P. Maxim, inventor, said before sailing yesterday for England, France and Germany on the Aquitania that he had discontinued manufacturing gun silencers because of the popular impression that this invention was an aid to crime. He added that about 2,500 gun silencers manufactured by the Maxim Silencer Company are in private hands.

Mr. Maxim said he had adapted his invention to automobile mufflers and exhaust pipes, and is going to Europe to study noises in the principal countries. He will return in three months. The Aquitania carried 805 passengers.

UTAH LEAD JURY PICKED.

Prosecutor Outlines Case in Second Trial on Mail Fraud Charge.

A jury was selected yesterday in Federal court before Judge John C. Knox in the second trial of Charles Beadon and four co-defendants indicted for alleged mail fraud in connection with the sale of stock of the Utah Lead Corporation of Delaware.

Irving Spieler, Assistant United States Attorney, who conducted the first trial, which ended in a disagreement when John Cruz, a bribed juror, held out for acquittal, outlined the government's case. He promised to show that Beadon and the others took in $140,000 through stock sales in 1928.

Beadon's co-defendants are Michael Barnett, Harry H. Phillips, William H. Rankin and Joseph Morris. They are accused of having used two market magazines to boost stock of Utah Lead. Arthur N. Sager, Joseph Shalleck and Edward H. Reynolds, their lawyers in the first trial, have been sentenced to prison for bribery.

REVIEW OF THE DAY IN REALTY MARKET

Leasehold Deals and Plans for Downtown Skyscraper Feature Manhattan Trading.

APARTMENTS IN DEMAND

Brokers Report Leasing of Offices and Residential Suites—Suburban Market Active.

With the exception of an announcement by Louis Adler, operator and builder, that he had bought the block bounded by Wall, Water, Pearl and Pine Streets for a skyscraper to be not less than sixty stories high and representing an investment of about $20,00,000, the real estate market yesterday was confined largely to leasehold transactions. These included recorded leaseholds and those announced by brokers.

There was a good market for commercial space and apartments, many of which were rented in new buildings. Suburban brokers were kept busy in trading that extended over a large territory in the metropolitan area.

In Lower Manhattan.

In lower Manhatan the six-story building at 125 Maiden Lane, 19 by 55 feet, and the one-story structure adjoining at 9 Fletcher Street, 20 by 28 feet, were leased by J. Clarence Davies for twenty-one years to the 125 Maiden Lane Corporation, Arthur Cutler, president. The deal was negotiated by Stanley M. Atlas, broker.

E. F. R. Lent has exercised his option to purchase the residence at 43 West Ninety-first Street, which leasehold he has held for the past two and a half years from George W. Nix. Mr. Lent owns the adjoining property at 45 West Ninety-first Street and now has a frontage of 39 feet. Hattie M. Melhuish was the broker in the transaction.

On Washington Heights Thomases & Platzner, brokers, leased for the estate of J. W. Bradley the four-story garage at 519 West 161st Street to the Greenmer Garage Company, A. Merdinger, president. The plot is 50 by 100 feet.

The premises at 216 West Forty-second Street, 25 feet wide, have been leased by the trustees of the will of Thomas T. Sturges to the Radio Amusement Corporation, Max Schaeffer, president, for twenty-one years from Oct. 1 of this year, the annual rental to be $12,500 in addition to taxes, assessments, &c. The lessee has the option to renew this lease for two twenty-one-year terms, the net rental for which shall be 4 per cent annually of the value of land as vacant.

Edgar S. and John S. Appleby of Glen Cove, have leased to the New York Stock Yard Company the three lots on the north side of Fortieth Street, 525 feet west of Eleventh Avenue, 75 feet wide, for ten years from May 1, 1930, the yearly rent to be $3,000 in addition to the taxes and assessments. The tenant may renew this lease for three ten-year terms, to May, 1970, at a net annual rent of 6 per cent of the appraised value of the land.

The other strip is to the north, 9 inches wide and 8 feet 4 inches long, at the north line of 183 Broadway, 97 feet 10 inches west of Broadway.

The premises known as 97 and 99 Seventh Avenue South, on a plot with a frontage of 59 feet about 16 feet south of Grove Street, were leased by Kate Alberti to Village Grove Amusements, Ltd., Meyer Horowitz, president, to be occupied only as a restaurant and cabaret. Sales Help Wanted—Male.

SALESMEN.

We wish to meet and talk with a few men of strong personality who know they are salesmen or who feel that they possess a real aptitude for sales work. These men will base their self-confidence on their knowledge of what real selling is. They have sold something of a collateral nature. They have obtained some success. The men who will interest us need not necessarily understand every ramification of finance but will have a flair for financial propositions.

Some of these men may have looked over openings in the financial field and may have arrived at the conclusion that sales success in this field depends upon capitalizing social standing or connections or going through a long low-paid period of building clientele or risking reputation on unsound undertakings. It is the real salesman who has arrived at this conservative questioning point of view that we are seeking—the man who is sure of himself and who rates his abilities and his reputation very highly. He is keen and ambitious, young enough, regardless of years, to be enthusiastic, and energetic and who, above all, is a man of decision and character. For the men we select there is a ground floor opportunity. They will receive a valuable sales training and full cooperation from men of broad experience and unusual success in developing men into high wage earners, and who can help them earn substantial commissions from the very start.

Some calls will be made upon qualified leads. The offering is one of character; security of principal; ability to pay semi-annual dividends, and based upon past returns, should be most profitable to the investor.

If you feel that your qualifications justify us considering you, telephone Ashland 5026, Extension 20, for an appointment, or better still, call in person if you like, 29th floor, 10 East 40th St., and a courteous interview will be afforded you. If you are the man we want, you will know what to say to sell yourself. All conferences and communication will be held in complete confidence by the executive officers of this company.

COLUMBUS TO ENTER LLOYD'S FAST GROUP

ON SEVEN-DAY SCHEDULE

Linked With Bremen and Europa in Express Service With Five Sailings in May and June.

The express liner Columbus of the North German Lloyd Line will dock tomorrow morning at Pier 4, Brooklyn, completing a round-the-world trip and at midnight will depart for Bremen as a transatlantic liner, thus opening the express service which the line planned when it built the liners Bremen and Europa.

With these three express liners operating between its Brooklyn terminus and the Channel ports and Bremen, and six cabin liners also in the service, the North German Lloyd Line will resume the place it held in the transatlantic field previous to the outbreak of the World War, when its liners Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, Kronprinzessen Cecilie, Kronprinz Wilhelm and Kaiser Wilhelm II placed it at the top of the list.

The three express liners will supply the fastest mail and passenger service on the North Atlantic and a frequency of sailing that has not heretofore been possible. Express sailings of the North German Lloyd ships will total five in May and June, four in July and September and six in August. Combined with the cabin service of the liners Stuttgart, Dresden, Berlin, Karlsruhe, Seydlitz and Yorck the sailings will total ten in May and September, nine in June and July, ten in September and eleven in August.

The Columbus was a nine-day ship until her withdrawal last Fall to be re-engined. She returned to the transatlantic service for one trip in January, equipped with new engines which permitted a trip from Brooklyn to the Channel ports in six days and to Bremen in seven days. This setting-up trip, having convinced officials of the line that the ship was prepared for express service, she was sent on a trip around the world, starting Jan. 21, while the new Europa was completed.

In the absence of the Columbus the Bremen and the Europa have maintained an express service which will be complete with her re-entry. The staff of officers who accompanied the ship on her world trip will continue to Bremen where the ship is scheduled to dock May 17. Six days later she will start back in the regular express service. Officials of the line said yesterday that the return of the Columbus and the express service which she makes possible means that the North German Lloyd has "completed its post-war come-back."

MUENCHEN TO LEAVE FOR HOME TOMORROW

The North German Lloyd liner Muenchen, which has had temporary repairs made to patch up the damage done to her hull in the fire at her pier some weeks ago, will leave tomorrow for Bremen with 5,000 tons of coal in the holds as ballast. The ship will not carry any passengers or cargo, the officials of the line said yesterday. The voyage to Germany is expected to take seventeen days as the Muenchen must not steam faster than seventeen knots.

The forecast for the next three days indicates fine weather on the Atlantic. Captain Brunner will keep the Muenchen south of the present eastbound tracks and if the weather becomes stormy he will proceed further to the southward. The Muenchen will go into drydock at Bremen and will not come back into the Atlantic passenger service until late in the Fall when it will have been entirely renovated.

APPROVES FARE CUT.

Shipping Board Favors Special Rates for Next Olympic Games.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Shipping Board approved today plans of the Transatlantic Conference to give a reduction of 20 per cent in passenger rates to competitors and officials of the Amateur Athletic Association and members of the International Olympic Committee who cross the Atlantic for the Olympic Games at Los Angeles and Lake Placid in 1932.

Approval was also given to a modification of an agreement between the Luckenbach Steamship Company and the Mallory Steamship Company covering through shipments of canned goods and dried fruit from Pacific Coast ports of call of Luckenbach to Tampa, Fla., with transshipment at New Orleans. The original agreement was approved by the board on Feb. 12, 1930. The purpose of the modification is to change the agreed rate of 65 cents per 100 pounds on canned goods to 58½ cents per 100 pounds, the apportionment of the through rate to be the same as set forth in the original agreement.

PIER APPRAISAL ORDERED.

Shipping Board Seeks Figures for Basis of Hoboken Sale.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Preparatory to offering for sale the government-owned piers at Hoboken, N. J., under the authorization recently given by Congress, the Shipping Board today directed the Merchant Fleet Corporation to obtain an appraisal of the property.

After the appraisal is submitted, in about three weeks, specifications for the advertisements will be formulated in compliance with the terms of the act.

The board dismissed a complaint by the United States Pipe and Foundry Company against the Tampa Inter-Ocean Steamship Company and the Kerr Steamship Company regarding rates on cast iron pipe shipments from the United States to Manila. The defense contended that their measurements were in accordance with general practice.

BEAM PHONE FOR HOMERIC.

Marconi Engineers to Install New Wireless on Liner.

The White Star liner Homeric, scheduled to reach Southampton Saturday, will be equipped by Marconi engineers during her stay with apparatus that will make possible a radio-telephone service operating on the "beam" transmitter principle which was perfected recently by Signor Marconi. Tests will be made this trip and the service will be placed at the disposal of passengers on the next trip west starting from Southampton on May 14.

Several liners, including the Majestic and Olympic of the White Star Line, have radio telephone service, but none operates on the beam principle. The radio transmitter of a beam system has wires so placed that the radio energy shoots into space like the pencil of light from a searchlight, as contrasted to the spraying in many directions in broadcasting. The energy thus is concentrated more effectively along the beam and can be furnished less expensively.

Signor Marconi carried on a successful experiment with the beam system on April 26 on his yacht, Elettra, while in Italian waters, his conversation being heard in the United States. An earlier experiment permitted Australia to hear him when the yacht was in Italian waters.

Liner Sights Two Icebergs.

Captain H. Filzinger, master of the North German Lloyd liner Karlsruhe, which docked from Bremen yesterday, told of sighting two large icebergs on the morning of May 2. Several other ships arriving recently have reported bergs far into the southern route. The ice patrol, which makes regular reports to ship captains, is keeping a careful watch.

SAILS TO PHOTOGRAPH LIFE ON OCEAN BOTTOM

J. E. Williamson Will Use Steel Tube to Observe Sharks in Bahama Seas.

John Ernest Williamson, pioneer of undersea photography, will sail tomorrow for the Bahamas to continue his studies of undersea life. He will sail on the Munargo of the Munson Line with Mrs. Williamson and their young daughter. They expect to be away for several months.

Going to the sea floor through the Williamson Tube to his submerged photographic studio, the explorer plans to cruise over wide areas of ocean bottom in search of all species of shark in the Bahama seas.

Mr. Williamson has already noted that a shark does not need to turn over to bite; and this time he will conduct experiments to prove the truth or falsehood of the belief that sharks will attack men and he will make pictures showing it.

A fleet of twelve vessels await him, among them the Jules Verne which carries the tube which was invented by his father, Charles Williamson, and consists of a steel tube, built like an accordian, with a large chamber with a glass window at the end.

Mr. Williams has made something like seventeen trips to the Bahamas. Last year he went for the Field Museum of Chicago.

Dollar-Hawaiian Merger Off.

The proposed merger of the American Hawaiian and Dollar Lines, which was understood to have been awaiting only the approval of stockholders, has been abandoned, it was learned yesterday. No explanation of the abandonment, for the present at least, of the plan was given.

FREEHOLD BOY WINS ORATORICAL ROUND

Will Speak at Finals Here May 16 for Northern New Jersey Lower Tier.

'JOHN MARSHALL' HIS THEME

Newark Evening High School Pupil Chosen for Second Place in the Contest.

Frederick Lombard of Freehold High School, Monmouth County, will represent Northern New Jersey's lower tier of counties in the regional championship on May 16 of the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution, which THE NEW YORK TIMES is conducting locally.

This was decided last night at New Brunswick when he won the regional semi-finals for this area held at Roosevelt Junior High School there and became the third regional finalist to qualify for the May 16 event at Town Hall here.

Seymour Kortez of Barringer Evening High School, Newark, won second place, taking the alternate's position.

As in the regional semi-final round througnout, extemporaneous speaking was combined last night with the prepared orations as an additional test of the contestants' research work. The New Brunswick program brought together five speakers in all—district winners in previous eliminations, which embraced the city of Newark and Union, Monmouth, Middlesex, Somerset and Hunterdon Counties. These five, with their prepared and ex tempore topics, were as follows:

ELIZABETH BODINE of Flemington High School, "The Constitution, the Need of a Great People" and "How Has National Experience Justified the 'Important Compromise' to Which You Refer?"

JOHN B. CULVER of Somerville High School, "The Constitution and World Peace" and "In What Respect Does 'the Constitution Need Clarification for Our Present-Day Needs'?"

FREDERICK LOMBARD of Freehold High School, "John Marshall and Federal Supremacy" and "What Attributes Are Essential in a Judge at the United States Supreme Court?"

JOHN OTTO of Roselle Park High School, "The Separation of Powers Versus the Supremacy of the Legislature" and "In Your Mind, Just How Is the American Government Superior to the English or Vice Versa?"

SEYMOUR KORETZ of Barringer Evening High School, Newark, "The Constitution" and "How Does the Fourteenth Amendment Show the Elasticity of the Constitution?"

The secondary topics for extempore discussion were prepared by a Northern New Jersey teachers' committee comprising Earle S. Palmer of Montclair High School, Miss Edith Giles of Emerson High School of Union City and Benjamin S. Haggetts of West Side High School, Newark.

Judge Freeman Woodbridge of New Brunswick presided at last night's contest, all arrangements for which were made by Robert C. Carlson, principal of New Brunswick High School. The judges were Samuel D. Hoffman, George R. Morrison and Frederick J. Sickles, Superintendent of Schools, all of New Brunswick; Miss Louise Sheldon of New Brunswick High School, and Dean Fraser Metzger of Rutgers University.

The five remaining selections for the Town Hall championship on May 16 will be completed this week. One will be chosen tonight at Washington Irving High School, Manhattan, at a regional semi-final contest bringing together picked speakers from the senior and evening high schools of the borough.

ALBANY, May 7.—The right of the Police Commissioner of New York City to make traffic rules and regulations, one of which was that pedestrians at unguarded crossings where there is neither a light nor a policeman have the right of way and that motorists must watch out for such pedestrians, was upheld by the Court of Appeals in a decision handed down yesterday and in which Judge Frederick E. Crane wrote an opinion.

The action was that of Rose Cherubino, as committee of the estate of Frank Cherubino against James Meenan and his wife. The Appellate Division, second department, affirmed a judgment for $17,000 in favor of Mrs. Cherubino. The appeal was on the ground that the trial court erred in admitting into evidence traffic regulation of the Police Commisisoner of New York which were invalid because the Police Commissioner, it was alleged, had no power to change by police regulation the common law as to the right of way between pedestrians and vehicles by giving pedestrians the right of way at street crossings.

Judge Crane pointed out that it is well settled that the Legislature may confer upon municipal authorities such power to make traffic rules. He quoted Section 315 of the City Charter.

"Acting under Section 315," Judge Crane wrote, "the Police Commissioner made a regulation reading as follows:

" 'Pedestrians, where no police officer is present and no traffic light control system is in operation, shall have the right of way on crossings, and vehicles must slow down or stop, if necessary, to permit pedestrians on crossings to pass.'

"At common law it was equally the duty of an approaching automobilist to slow down and stop, if necessary, to permit pedestrians on crossings to pass. The court seldom, if ever, charged the jury in those words, rather leaving it to twelve men to say whether in the exercise of reasonable care the vehicle should have slowed down and stopped under all circumstances of the case."

RESTAURANT HELD UP, TWO CAUGHT IN 8TH AV.

$371 Taken in 46th St. Basement Said to Have Been Found on Men Seized After Chase.

Two men, one with a loaded revolver, the other with a toy pistol, were captured in front of the Hotel Lincoln at 4:30 P. M. yesterday after they had taken $371.02 from Mike and Bill's basement restaurant at 262 West Forty-sixth Street, a few doors east of Eighth Avenue.

The prisoners, booked at the West Forty-seventh Street station on charges of robbery with a weapon, described themselves as Valdemar Farrell, 24 years old, of 312 West Twenty-eighth Street, and Marcus M. Miller, 19, of 322 West Nineteenth Street, recent arrivals from Nebraska, where they were ironworkers.

Vito Di Giacome, the "Bill" half of the restaurant partnership, was alone in the establishment when the two men knocked at the gate and were admitted. In the midst of a genial conversation they drew the pistols and covered Di Giacome, according to his complaint.

Miller, the proprietor said, took $44.02 from the cash register. Then he took $327 from Di Giacome's pockets, knocked him down, bound him and gagged him. The bonds were loosely-tied, however, and the men had hardly gained the street before Di Giacome was at their heels, shouting for the police.

Patrolman John Rogers and Traffic Policeman John Doman took up the chase, an excited and perspiring crowd tagging behind. Miller and Farrell ran to the corner and down Eighth Avenue. Two blocks down the chase ended.

Di Giacome identified the two men, who still had the money in their possession, according to the police. The prisoners, questioned in the police station, are alleged to have admitted that they committed the hold-up because they were strangers in the city and unable to find work.

ASKS AID FOR SCOUT CAMP.

Governor Appeals for Funds to Complete Sullivan County Project.

Governor Roosevelt, as president of the Boy Scout Foundation of New York, issued an appeal yesterday for funds to complete the Summer camp for Boy Scouts in Sullivan County.

"For several years," the Governor said in letters sent to possible contributors, "we felt the necessity of procuring a camp adequate to take care of immediate needs and future expansion. Boys were being turned away. After thorough investigation an admirable site was procured. The construction work is in its last phase; if sufficient funds can be procured we will complete and equip it by July 1."

SCRATCH KILLED DOCTOR.

British Coroner Finds Infection Was Fatal to Cancer Specialist.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 7.—Blood poisoning from a scratch received during a post-mortem examination at the Cancer Hospital was given as the cause of the death of Dr. H. J. Fry, one of the leading cancer authorities, at the inquest at Chelsea today.

On the day after he had made the post-mortem Dr. Fry complained of feeling unwell and next he found a small septic pimple on his forearm. He was in bed with a temperature for two days and then returned to work at the hospital. Four days later he again took to his bed and died from pyaemia.

The Chelsea coroner, H. R. Oswald, said if Dr. Fry had attended to the infection immediately he might have been alive today. "I have done the same thing myself as a student—cut my finger when operating on a subject—but I immediately cauterized the wound. It is very painful, but prevents complications," the coroner added.

Dr. Fry, who was 33 years of age, had devoted his life to cancer research. He was pathologist to the research institute of the Cancer Hospital and had been on the staff for eight years.
